ATTORNEY GENERAL'S MESSAGE

I'm pleased to announce that for the 11th consecutive year, the violent crime rate decreased in California, hitting its lowest level in nearly 30 years. All four violent crime categories – homicide, forcible rape, robbery, and aggravated assault – experienced declines in 2003 from their 2002 rates. Also, two of the three property crime categories, burglary and larceny-theft over $400, decreased this past year when compared to their 2002 rates. Only one of the seven major crimes, motor vehicle theft, increased in 2003, causing the overall property crime rate to increase 2.0 percent.

The rate for violent crime offenses decreased by 3.4 percent from 2002 to 2003:

- Homicide (1.2 percent of violent crimes) decreased by 1.5 percent.
- Forcible rape (4.8 percent of violent crimes) decreased by 4.2 percent.
- Robbery (31.1 percent of violent crimes) decreased by 3.6 percent.
- Aggravated assault (62.9 percent of violent crimes) decreased by 3.2 percent.

The rate for property crime offenses increased by 2.0 percent from 2002 to 2003:

- Burglary (34.7 percent of property crimes) decreased by 0.4 percent.
- Motor vehicle theft (34.7 percent of property crimes) increased by 6.7 percent.
- Larceny-theft over $400 (30.5 percent of property crimes) decreased 0.2 percent.

This positive news is no doubt a result of all the hard work and dedication that the entire law enforcement community in California puts forth to enforce our laws and provide for the safety of California residents. It is also the result of the diligence of many neighborhood leaders and community-based organizations who, through their tireless efforts and the positive examples they set, foster an atmosphere that is invaluable in helping to create safer and healthier communities. Their many contributions, including working closely with and assisting law enforcement agencies, are immensely important.

Despite the welcome news of continued declines in violent crime, we must never waiver in our duties to do everything possible to ensure the safety of all Californians. It is vital that we maintain our commitment to provide law enforcement all the necessary tools and resources they need to continue to effectively combat crime. I will continue to promote new technologies and procedures that enhance our ability to solve crimes. I will also continue serious and extensive dialogues with law enforcement experts and criminal justice researchers to develop and implement criminal justice policies and laws that not only are effective in solving crimes, but are also effective in preventing crimes before they occur. Our priority must not only be in solving crimes and fully prosecuting perpetrators, but must also focus on crime prevention.

As Californians, we are privileged to live in our nation's most populated and diverse state. We should continue to strive to make this truly golden state of ours the safest and healthiest environment possible to live and raise our families. As Attorney General, I will continue to do everything in my power to work toward this; you deserve, and should rightfully expect, nothing less.

BILL LOCKYER
Attorney General

- The violent crime rate increased from 153.1 in 1952 to its peak of 1,103.9 in 1992. The rate has since dropped to 569.4 crimes reported per 100,000 population in 2003. (Source: Table 1.)
- In 2003, the violent crime rate declined 3.4 percent, reaching its lowest level since 1973. (Source: Tables 1 and 2.)
- The decline in violent crime rates was driven by decreases in all four violent offense categories. (Source: Table 1.)
- In 2003, the property crime rate increased 2.0 percent due to a 6.7 percent increase in the motor vehicle theft rate. (Source: Table 2.)

ARRESTS (See pages 26-63.)

- The 2003 total arrest rate of 5,288.7 per 100,000 population at risk is just slightly higher than the low level reached in 2002. (Source: Table 16.)
- From 2002 to 2003, there was a 2.1 percent increase in the felony arrest rate, influenced mostly by the 3.1 percent increase in the adult felony arrest rate. (Source: Tables 2 and 17.)
- Since 1998, the rate of juvenile felony arrests decreased 33.4 percent and the rate of juvenile misdemeanor arrests decreased 29.6 percent. The rate of status offense arrests (truancy, incorrigibility, running away, and curfew violations) decreased 32.6 percent since 1998. (Source: Table 17.)
- From 1998 to 2003, the homicide arrest rate decreased 21.4 percent. The rate of juvenile arrests for homicide offenses decreased 54.9 percent since 1998. (Source: Table 22.)
- Since 1998, the narcotic arrest rate dropped 27.9 percent while the arrest rate for dangerous drugs increased 14.0 percent. (Source: Table 22.)

DISPOSITIONS (See pages 66-75.)

- In 2003, 68.0 percent of adult felony arrests resulted in a conviction. (Source: Tables 39 and 40.)
- Probation with jail continues to be the most frequent sentence given for adult felony arrests. (Source: Table 41.)
- In 2003, 16.9 percent of the adults convicted of violent offenses and 18.0 percent of those convicted of drug offenses were sentenced to state institutions (prison, California Rehabilitation Center, and California Youth Authority). (Source: Table 41.)

ADULT CORRECTIONS (See pages 78-85.)

- Since 1998, the rate of adults under state supervision has decreased 6.5 percent and the rate of adults under local supervision decreased 6.1 percent. (Source: Table 44.)
- In 2003, there was a 1.9 percent decrease in the rate of adults under supervision from 2002. (Source: Table 44.)

CRIMES

WHAT IS A CRIME?

A crime is an act specifically prohibited by law, or failure to perform an act specifically required by law, for which punishment is prescribed (California Penal Code section 15).

HOW ARE CRIMES COUNTED?

The Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Program was inaugurated in 1930 and is administered on the national level by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). It provides criminal statistics for use in law enforcement administration, operation, and management. In California, this program is administered by the Department of Justice (DOJ).

As part of the UCR Program, law enforcement agencies throughout the state report summary information to the DOJ on "selected" crimes. Reported crimes are classified by UCR definitions designed to eliminate differences among the various states' penal code definitions of crimes.

The crimes, selected because of seriousness, frequency of occurrence, and the likelihood of being reported to the police, are homicide, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny-theft, motor vehicle theft, and arson. These eight offenses are known as Part I crimes. Except for larceny-theft, UCR does not count misdemeanors and infractions.

The DOJ categorizes Part I crimes as either violent (homicide, forcible rape, aggravated assault, and robbery) or property (burglary, motor vehicle theft, and larceny-theft over $400) crimes. In 2003, larceny-theft over $400 was added to the property crime category to give a more representative depiction of crime in California and to correlate more closely to national data presentation. Note that since these data have only been available since 1983, property crime totals (number and rate per 100,000 population) from 1983 to 2003 have been adjusted accordingly. Therefore, property crime data presented in this report will differ from data published previously, and the reader is cautioned against making comparisons with previous publications.

The UCR Program accounts for Part I crimes only; however, some Part I crimes go undetected and therefore unreported. This, along with the hierarchy rule, accounts for a certain amount of underreporting in the system. Most crimes occur singly as opposed to more than one crime being committed within the same incident. The hierarchy rule assigns a value to each crime and requires that only the single most serious offense be reported. For example, if a person were to enter a bar, rob eight patrons, and kill the bartender, only the homicide would be reported. Arson is the exception. Since arson frequently occurs in conjunction with other crimes, it is felt that valuable information could be lost using the hierarchy rule. Therefore, arson is counted along with the other most serious offense.

WHAT IS A RATE?

A rate describes the number of events that occur within a given population. Crime rates and clearance rates are used in this section. Formulas for calculating both can be found in Appendix 2. Note that use of the California Crime Index has been suspended until a new national crime index is established by the FBI.

WHAT IS THE VALUE OF THE UCR PROGRAM?

Since its inception in 1930, UCR has become a nationwide program. All California law enforcement agencies participate. Quality-control surveys conducted by the DOJ staff have shown a high level of compliance with UCR reporting standards. The number of participants and the amount and quality of data collected under the stringent rules of the system make UCR a valuable program. In California, because of the high quality of its law enforcement agencies and their close cooperation with the DOJ, UCR data are, and have been for many years, an extremely good indicator of the extent of, and fluctuation in, crimes reported to law enforcement.

CRIME TRENDS, 1983-2003

CRIME IN CALIFORNIA, 1983-2003

By Category

Rate per 100,000 Population

Source: Table 1.

Data depicting crime in California have been published continuously for 51 years. The first "Crime in California" publication was issued in 1953 and reported data for the 1952 calendar year.

Comparing 1983 to 2003:

- The violent crime rate decreased 26.6 percent (from 775.6 to 569.4).
- The property crime rate decreased 39.1 percent (from 3,166.1 to 1,928.9).

The violent crime rate was on a general increase from 1983 to 1992, when it peaked at 1,103.9. Since then, the rate has seen annual decreases, dropping a total of 48.4 percent, including a 3.4 percent decrease from 2002 to 2003. The 2003 rate of 569.4 is the lowest since the 1973 rate of 558.3.

Since 1983, the property crime rate has fluctuated, with a peak of 3,332.4 seen in 1989. The rate then declined each year, with the exception of a slight increase in 1991, before reaching a low of 1,649.8 in 1999. The rate has seen annual increases since that time, including a 2.0 percent increase from 2002 to 2003. Note that larceny-theft over $400 was added to the property crime category in 2003 to give a more representative depiction of crime in California and to correlate more closely to national data presentation. These data are only available since 1983, hence the chart shown above.

Since 1983, there have been many changes in laws and data collection procedures. For instance, in 1986 legislation was enacted that required reporting domestic violence as criminal conduct. As a result, the aggravated assault rate increased over 35 percent in one year. These types of changes should be considered when comparing data.

Note that use of the California Crime Index has been suspended until a new national crime index is established by the FBI.

Value of Stolen and Recovered Property

As part of the UCR Program, law enforcement agencies submit monthly reports showing the estimated dollar value of property stolen and property recovered. In these reports, the type of property is categorized in a uniform manner. However, agencies do not report these data consistently and frequently vary in their methods of estimating the dollar value of stolen property. Furthermore, property stolen and property recovered in any given time period are not necessarily the same property. For these reasons, dollar values of such property must be viewed as rough estimates.

From 2002 to 2003:

- There was a 1.1 percent increase in the dollar value of all stolen property.
- There was a 6.0 percent increase in the dollar value of motor vehicles stolen.
- There was a 3.7 percent decrease in the dollar value of all other stolen property.

In 2003, of the total dollar value ($2,517,050,000) of all property reported stolen:

- Motor vehicles accounted for $1,315,870,000 (52.3 percent).

Clearances

Crimes can be cleared by arrests or "exceptional means." An offense is cleared or "solved" for crime reporting purposes when at least one person is arrested, charged with the commission of the crime, and turned over to the court for prosecution or referred to juvenile authorities. In certain situations a clearance may be counted by "exceptional means" when the police definitely know the identity of the offender, have enough information to support an arrest, and know the location of the offender but for some reason cannot take the offender into custody.

A clearance rate is the percentage obtained when the number of clearances reported are divided by the number of crimes reported.

Comparing 1998 to 2003:

- The violent crime clearance rate decreased from 51.8 to 48.0 percent.

From 2002 to 2003:

- The violent crime clearance rate increased from 46.1 to 48.0 percent.

Note: In 2003, larceny-theft over $400 was added to the property crime category to give a more representative depiction of crime in California. However, since clearance data are not collected for this offense, total property crime clearances and clearance rates are unavailable. These data will be reported in the future as they become available.

Clearances (continued)

In 2003,

- Aggravated assault had the highest clearance rate (58.3 percent), up 2.6 percent from 2002.
- Motor vehicle theft had the lowest clearance rate (9.4 percent).

WHAT IS AN ARREST?

Arrests occur when persons are taken into custody because they are believed to have violated the law. Not all arrests result in persons being placed in jail. Arrestees may be released by the arresting agency, may post bail, or may be released on their own recognizance to appear in court at a later date. Some are issued citations, much like traffic tickets, which direct them to appear in court.

Arrests are divided into two major groups: felony arrests and misdemeanor arrests. An arrest for a felony-level offense can result in a sentence to state prison if the offender is convicted as an adult. An arrest for a misdemeanor-level offense can result in a sentence of up to one year in a county jail, a fine, probation, restitution, or any combination of the four.

Juveniles may also be arrested for truancy, incorrigibility, running away, and curfew violations. These are commonly referred to as status offenses because agency intervention is based solely on the juvenile's status as a minor. Status offenses are acts that would not be "crimes" if committed by adults.

HOW ARE ARRESTS REPORTED?

Unlike crimes, which are classified by nationwide Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) standards, arrests are reported by California statute definition of the offense. This may cause some differences in the definitions of certain crimes and the reporting of the arrests for those crimes. For instance, theft from a locked automobile is a burglary by California Penal Code definition. The crime would be classified and reported as a theft under the UCR definition. The arrest offenses in this section are defined by California statute for which specific code sections are listed in Appendix 4.

All California law enforcement agencies report arrest and citation information to the Department of Justice on the "Monthly Arrest and Citation Register," which lists each arrestee; includes information on age, gender, and race/ethnic group; and specifies the "most serious" arrest offense and law enforcement disposition.

WHAT IS AN ARREST RATE?

An arrest rate describes the number of arrests made by law enforcement agencies per 100,000 total population or per 100,000 population considered to be at risk for arrest. The following section includes three at-risk comparison populations: total (10-69 years of age), adult (18-69 years of age), and juvenile (10-17 years of age). The formula used to calculate at-risk rates can be found in Appendix 2.

Note: The 1995 data include estimates. See Appendix 1, "Data Characteristics and Known Limitations."

The above chart displays arrest rates beginning with 1960, the first year complete data were available. Felony and misdemeanor arrest rates are based on population at risk, 10-69 years of age.

Comparing 1960 to 2003:

- There was a 55.8 percent increase in the rate of felony arrests (from 1,170.0 to 1,823.0).
- There was a 38.0 percent decrease in the rate of misdemeanor arrests (from 5,404.0 to 3,349.9).

Felony arrests as a proportion of total arrests increased from 15.4 percent in 1960 to 34.5 percent in 2003.

The 2003 misdemeanor arrest rate of 3,349.9 per 100,000 population at risk was slightly higher than the 2002 rate of 3,308.3. Misdemeanor arrests as a proportion of total arrests decreased from 71.4 percent in 1960 to 63.3 percent in 2003.

Status offense arrests as a proportion of total arrests decreased from 13.2 percent in 1960 to 2.2 percent in 2003.

Race/Ethnic Group of Arrestee

In 2003, of 1,438,863 arrests for felony and misdemeanor offenses:

- Arrests of whites accounted for 38.9 percent (559,584).
- Arrests of Hispanics accounted for 37.9 percent (545,753).
- Arrests of blacks accounted for 17.2 percent (247,438).
- Arrests of persons of other race/ethnic groups accounted for 6.0 percent (86,088).

The subjectivity of the classification and labeling process must be considered in the analysis of race/ethnic group data. As commonly used, race refers to large populations which share certain similar physical characteristics such as skin color. Because these physical characteristics can vary greatly within groups as well as between groups, determination of race is frequently, by necessity, subjective. Ethnicity refers to cultural heritage and can cross racial lines. For example, the ethnic designation "Hispanic" includes persons of any race. Most commonly, self-identification of race/ethnicity is used in the classification and labeling process.

Beginning with the Crime and Delinquency in California, 1991 publication, race/ethnic group designations used for data display purposes are the same as California Department of Finance, Demographic Research Unit, designations.

DISPOSITIONS

The Offender-Based Transaction Statistics (OBTS) system in California describes the processing of adults arrested for felony offenses from arrest through final disposition. Data on the adjacent flow chart pertain specifically to adult felony arrests that received final dispositions in 2003 and were added to the Automated Criminal History System (ACHS) by the Department of Justice by May 2004.

WHAT IS A FINAL DISPOSITION?

In the OBTS system, the term "final disposition" refers to a specific legal action that takes place following an adult felony arrest. Final dispositions shown occur at the law enforcement, prosecutor, or court level. For example, if an arrestee is released by a law enforcement agency or the complaint is denied by a prosecutor who has determined that there is not enough evidence to justify the filing of a complaint, the release is recorded as a final disposition. If an arrestee is referred to court for adjudication, the outcome (e.g., dismissal, diversion dismissal, acquittal, or conviction) is also recorded as a final disposition. "Intermediate" dispositions (e.g., placements into diversionary programs) are not included in the OBTS file.

ADULT FELONY ARREST DISPOSITIONS, 2003<sup>a</sup>

HOW ARE OBTS DATA REPORTED?

Dispositions of adult felony arrests were reported by approximately 1,200 agencies in 2003. These agencies include law enforcement, prosecutors, and courts of the California criminal justice system.

OBTS data are taken directly from the Department of Justice's Automated Criminal History System (ACHS). The arrest dispositions received generally describe statewide processing of adult felony arrestees through California's criminal justice system. (See Appendix 1, Data Characteristics and Known Limitations.)

STATE INSTITUTIONS <sup>2</sup>	11.8%
PROBATION WITH JAIL	41.8%
JAIL	2.6%
PROBATION	10.5%
FINE AND OTHER	1.3%
COURT DISMISSALS	14.3%
ACQUITTALS	0.3%

The OBTS data file for 2003 was closed in May 2004 and is considered preliminary. The "final" file will be closed in fall 2004. Fluctuations from year to year in counts may not necessarily be due to actual occurrences in the criminal justice system but only reflect the degree to which dispositions are reported and processed. Due to processing changes, 2002 OBTS convictions by offense data are not available. In 2003, a processing modification was made allowing these data to become available. See Appendix 1, Data Characteristics and Known Limitations, on page 168.

- State institutions ranged from 18.0 to 27.7 percent.
- Probation ranged from 6.3 to 31.0 percent.

During this time, the percentage sentenced to state institutions decreased 32.8 percent and the percentage sentenced to probation with jail dropped 25.1 percent. These changes are most likely the result of the implementation of Proposition 36 (Substance Abuse and Crime Prevention Act, 2000).

Conviction Rates

The conviction rates shown are calculated using two different bases. The first is based on total adult felony arrest dispositions and the second is based on total complaints filed. Each is valid and by presenting both, the reader is provided two perspectives from which to evaluate the effectiveness of the criminal justice system.

Conviction rates based on total adult felony arrest dispositions describe the overall processing of offenders by the criminal justice system. This method of calculation focuses on the proportion of convictions out of the total number of arrests.

WHAT IS ADULT CORRECTIONS?

Adults convicted in California courts are frequently placed under the jurisdiction of either the state correctional system or a correctional system operated by local government. The state correctional system provides confinement, rehabilitation, and parole services through the California Department of Corrections (CDC), which includes the California Rehabilitation Center (CRC). The state correctional system also includes the California Youth Authority (CYA) and the California Department of Mental Health (CDMH). Local correctional agencies provide confinement, rehabilitation, and probation services for those sentenced to their care and also those persons awaiting trial or sentencing.

HOW ARE ADULTS UNDER SUPERVISION COUNTED?

At the state level, supervision data are obtained annually from the CDC and CYA. At the local level, supervision data are obtained from the Board of Corrections and county probation departments.

WHAT IS A RATE?

A rate describes the number of events that occurred within a given population. The formula for calculating an adult correction rate can be found in Appendix 2.

HOW ARE EXPENDITURE AND PERSONNEL DATA REPORTED?

Expenditure data are obtained from the State of California Governor's Budget and the annual report of financial transactions concerning cities and counties in California. Both reports are provided by the Controller of the State of California.

Included in the criminal justice expenditures are salaries and employee benefits, services, and supplies. Capital outlay expenditures are excluded. Expenditures by the Department of Justice and regulatory agencies are also excluded.

Personnel data are obtained from the State of California Governor's Budget, the annual report of the Administrative Office of the Courts, and personnel surveys (one-day counts) conducted by staff of the Department of Justice. Personnel counts for the Department of Justice and other regulatory agencies are not included.

Note: The 2002/03 expenditure data were not available from the Controller of the State of California in time for inclusion in this publication. Therefore, charts and narrative for expenditure data cover the four-year period, 1997/98 to 2001/02, only. Expenditure data obtained from the Governor's Budget (state agencies) are displayed in Table 51 in the Data Tables Section.

Expenditures

Criminal justice expenditures are shown in both current and constant dollars.

Comparing fiscal year 1997/98 to 2001/02:

- There was a 20.7 percent increase in current-dollar expenditures and a 6.9 percent increase in constant-dollar expenditures.

Source: Table 49.

Note: The 2002/03 criminal justice expenditure data were not available in time for inclusion in this publication.

Constant dollars are adjusted to reduce the effects of inflation. The State and Local Government Implicit Price Deflator, provided by the California Department of Finance, is used to make this adjustment. Fiscal year 1980/81 is used as the base year.

Citizens' Complaints Against Peace Officers

Section 13012 of the Penal Code states, "The annual report of the department provided for in Section 13010 shall contain statistics showing: . . . (e) The number of citizens complaints received by law enforcement agencies under Section 832.5. These statistics shall indicate the total number of these complaints, the number alleging criminal conduct of either a felony or misdemeanor, and the number sustained in each category. The report shall not contain a reference to any individual agency but shall be by gross numbers only . . . ."

Section 832.5(a) of the Penal Code requires that "Each department or agency in this state that employs peace officers shall establish a procedure to investigate complaints by members of the public against the personnel of such departments or agencies, and shall make a written description of the procedure available to the public."

Because of the nature of the requirements of Penal Code section 832.5, reporting definitions and procedures vary among individual reporting agencies. The data shown are accurate and complete to the extent that contributing agencies met their reporting obligations.

Based on a survey conducted in 2004, it is estimated that complaints from inmates in prisons and jails may constitute approximately one-third of all complaints reported by law enforcement agencies.

Domestic Violence

Effective January 1, 1986, in compliance with Penal Code section 13730(a), law enforcement agencies began reporting monthly the number of domestic violence-related calls for assistance and indicating which cases involved the use of a weapon. This information is reported to the Attorney General.

Section 13730(b) of the Penal Code also instructs the Attorney General to report annually on the number of domestic violence-related calls received statewide, in each county, and by individual law enforcement agencies. Statewide data are reported here. County and agency-level data will be published in the Criminal Justice Profile, 2003 publication series.

Domestic violence is defined as ". . . abuse committed against an adult or a fully emancipated minor who is a spouse, former spouse, cohabitant, former cohabitant, or person with whom the suspect has had a child or is having or has had a dating or engagement relationship." [13700(b) PC]

Within this definition, abuse is further defined as ". . . intentionally or recklessly causing or attempting to cause bodily injury, or placing another person in reasonable apprehension of imminent serious bodily injury to himself or herself, or another." [13700(a) PC]

Notes: The California Crime Index has been temporarily suspended as efforts continue to redefine this measurement.

Dash indicates that data are not available.

Rates may not add to totals because of rounding.

Rates are based on annual population estimates provided by the Demographic Research Unit, California Department of Finance (see Table 58).

<sup>1</sup> In 2003, larceny-theft over $400 was added to the property crime category to give a more representative depiction of crime in California. Data prior to 1983 are not available. For additional information, see "Appendix 1, Data Characteristics and Known Limitations."

Notes: Dash indicates that data are not available.

Since 1952 there have been many changes in laws, data collection procedures, etc.; therefore, caution should be used when comparing data for the 1952-2003 time period.

Juvenile misdemeanor arrest data for 1973-2003 are not comparable to prior years due to changes in reporting criteria.

Population breakdowns by age are not available prior to 1960; therefore, populations at risk cannot be calculated for 1952-1959.

<sup>3</sup> Rates are based on the population at risk for each year. The categories are total (10-69 years of age), adult (18-69 years of age), and juvenile (10-17 years of age) (see Table 58).

 Data include convictions for both misdemeanors and felonies.
<sup>a</sup> Convicted offense category and type of sentence data are not provided for 2002 due to procedural changes that allowed a large percentage of convictions (felony and misdemeanor) to be incorrectly recorded as "all other offenses"; i.e., "violent," "property," and "drug" offenses were under-recorded and "all other offenses" were over-recorded.
<sup>b</sup> The 2003 OBTS file was closed in May 2004 and is considered "preliminary"; the "final" file will be closed in Fall 2004.

Notes: Dash indicates that data are not available.

Since 1952 there have been many changes in laws, data collection procedures, etc.; therefore, caution should be used when comparing data for the 1952-2003 period. Beginning in 1960, rates are based on the adult population at risk (18-69 years of age) for each year (see Table 58). Comparable population data are not available prior to 1960.

<sup>1</sup>Jail population will differ from previously published data due to a change in source. For additional information, see "Data Characteristics and Known Limitations" in the Appendix.

<sup>2</sup>Complete data were not available for three counties in 2001, two counties in 2002, and five counties in 2003. For additional information, see "Data Characteristics and Known Limitations" in Appendix 1.

<sup>4</sup> 1996 legislation accounts for the decrease in this category from 1998 to 2003.
<sup>8</sup> Counts may not add to the total due to projections and rounding of numbers made by the BOC.
<sup>9</sup> These rates are based on the adult population at risk (18-69 years of age) for each year (see Table 58).
<sup>10</sup> Complete data were not available for three counties in 2001, two counties in 2002, and five counties in 2003. For additional information, see "Data Characteristics and Known Limitations" in Appendix 1.

<sup>3</sup> Persons sentenced to CDC and transferred to the custody of CYA under Welfare and Institutions Code 17311.5(c).

<sup>5</sup> Adults returned from criminal court who had previous CYA commitments and/or who may have been under CYA jurisdiction at the time of the new commitment.

Notes: Dash indicates that data are not available.

Expenditure data for the Department of Justice and other regulatory agencies are not included.

<sup>a</sup> The 2002/03 data were not available from the Office of the State Controller in time for inclusion in this publication.

<sup>b</sup> As of fiscal year 1998/99, expenditure data for "Constables and marshals" and "Court reporters and transcribers" are included in the "Superior Court" category. These expenditures were previously included in the "Courts" category.

Notes: Personnel in the Department of Justice and state regulatory agencies are not included.

Counts may not match previously published data due to changes in categories and/or file adjustments.

<sup>1</sup> Law enforcement personnel counts are obtained from a one-day survey taken on October 31. All other personnel counts are taken on June 30. Department of Corrections and Youth Authority personnel are fiscal year counts obtained from the Governor's Budget.

<sup>2</sup> Prosecution, public defense, and probation department survey forms have been revised; beginning in 1996, counts reflect all full-time personnel, regardless of funding.

Notes: Data collection began in 1981.
 Because of the individual nature of the requirements of Penal Code section 832.5(a), reporting definitions and procedures vary among reporting agencies.
 The data collected under Penal Code section 13012(e) are accurate and complete to the extent that the contributing agency or agencies met reporting obligations.

<sup>1</sup> Based on a survey conducted in 2004, it is estimated that complaints from inmates in prisons and jails may constitute approximately one-third of all complaints reported by law enforcement agencies.

<sup>1</sup> Penal Code section 13730 does not require that the type of weapon involved in a domestic violence-related call be reported.

<sup>3</sup> Prior to 1989, the "personal weapon" category was not recognized by all reporting agencies as a type of weapon. When those agencies began reporting personal weapon calls as cases involving weapons, they did not provide the type of weapon designation. This accounts for the large increase in "not reported" weapons in 1989 and 1990.

<sup>a</sup> In April 2002, law enforcement agencies were given clarification about reporting personal weapons.

<sup>b</sup> The San Francisco Police Department was unable to provide complete data for 1997, and did not report data for 1998 and 1999 due to computer problems. In 1996, 6,422 domestic violence-related calls for assistance were reported by this department.

<sup>c</sup> The Oakland Police Department was unable to provide 1995 data. In 1994, 5,237 domestic violence-related calls for assistance were reported by this department.

<sup>d</sup> Data collection began in July 1986; therefore, only six months of data are available and displayed for 1986.

DATA CHARACTERISTICS AND KNOWN LIMITATIONS

CRIMES

Uniform Crime Reporting Program (UCR)

- Crime data from the UCR Program have been published continuously for 51 years and are available in a somewhat consistent format since 1952.
- The number of reported homicide, forcible rape, and aggravated assault crimes represents known victims, while for robbery, burglary, larceny-theft, motor vehicle theft, and arson, the number represents known incidents.
- In 2003, larceny-theft over $400 was added to the property crime category to give a more representative depiction of crime in California. Since these data have only been available since 1983, property crime data from 1983 to 2003 have been adjusted. Therefore, property crime data presented in this report will differ from data published previously.
- If multiple crimes occur during the same event, only the most serious (based upon a hierarchy) is counted. Arson is the exception.

ARRESTS

Monthly Arrest and Citation Register (MACR)

- Arrest data from the MACR reporting system date back to 1957. Prior to 1957, only adult felony arrest data were available.
- If a person is arrested for multiple offenses, MACR selects only the most serious offense, based on the severity of possible punishment.
- Felony arrest counts may include some misdemeanor warrants for felony offenses.
- The subjectivity of the classification and labeling process must be considered in the analysis of race/ethnic group data.
- The Bakersfield Police Department was unable to provide arrest data for February through December 1995. The 1995 estimates for this agency were calculated by averaging the number of arrests reported for 1992, 1993, and 1994. The Oakland Police Department was unable to provide any arrest data for 1995. This department requested that the number of arrests reported by their agency for 1994 be reduced by five percent to create 1995 estimates. Estimates by both agencies were added to the 1995 statewide MACR master file count for trend tables.

ADULT FELONY ARREST DISPOSITIONS

Offender-Based Transaction Statistics (OBTS)

- Disposition data from the OBTS system are available from 1975. The OBTS system, which began with a 25 percent sample in four counties in 1973, became operational on a statewide basis in 1975. All 58 counties were reporting by 1978.
- OBTS data are grouped by the year of disposition regardless of the year in which the arrest occurred.
- Adult Felony Arrest Disposition data represent final dispositions equal to approximately 65-75 percent of the total adult felony arrests made during a calendar year. Therefore, final dispositions may occur in a year following the year of arrest.
- The 1998 OBTS file was accessed in November 1999. The 1999 file was accessed in May 2001. The 2000 file was accessed in January 2002. The 2001 file was accessed in January 2003. The 2002 file was accessed in May 2003. The 2003 file was accessed in May 2004 and is considered preliminary.
- Caution should be used when comparing conviction and nonconviction dispositions since budget constraints necessitated the processing of conviction dispositions on a priority basis. The impact of this procedural change has yet to be determined.
- Only the final disposition of an arrest event is selected for statistical purposes. Intermediate dispositions (diversion programs, suspended proceedings, reopenings, retrials, or subsequent actions) are not included in OBTS data.
- If a person is arrested for multiple offenses, OBTS selects only the most serious offense, based on the severity of possible punishment. If there are multiple court dispositions, OBTS selects the most serious court disposition and the associated offense.
- OBTS data on state institutional commitments may vary from information compiled and reported by other state agencies because of differences in the data collection systems and criteria.
- The OBTS file includes some persons whose age at arrest was under 18. These minors received a final disposition in adult court under provisions of the Welfare and Institutions Code sections 602, 707(a), 707(b), 707(c), and 707.1(a).
- 2002 OBTS data for convictions by type of offense are not available due to a procedural change that allowed a large percentage of convictions to be incorrectly recorded as "all other offenses." This caused "violent," "property," and "drug" offenses to be under-recorded and "all other offenses" to be over-recorded.

ADULT CORRECTIONS

- Adult corrections data are compiled from a number of sources and are complete from 1966. State supervision data are available from 1960, and state institutional data are available from 1952.
- The source for county and city jail data is now the California Board of Corrections (BOC), "Jail Profile Survey." Data will not match previously published data due to the change in data source.
- Counts may not add to the total due to projections and rounding of numbers made by the BOC.
- CJSC jail population counts in this publication are based on type II, III, and IV facilities only. Some juveniles may be included.
- Probation data include adults placed on supervised probation only. Court probation, diversion, and summary probation are not included.
- Persons are counted once for each jurisdiction. Therefore, data include original grants of probation and do not include subsequent grants of probation to persons already under probation supervision ordered by the same level court in the same county. Also, the probationers under jurisdiction of both superior and lower courts (or unified courts) and any who are jurisdictional cases of more than one county are counted more than one time in statewide totals.
- Labels were changed from Superior and Lower court to Felony and Misdemeanor offense because of court unification.
- For 2001, data submitted by San Bernardino County and Yolo County were missing three months of reporting due to data system problems. San Francisco County did not report data for 2001 due to data system problems.
- For 2002, data submitted by Marin County was missing two months of reporting due to data system problems. San Francisco County did not report data for 2002 due to data system problems.
- For 2003, Contra Costa, Siskiyou, Tulare, and Yolo counties did not report misdemeanor counts resulting in active probation cases. San Francisco County did not report data for 2003 due to data system problems and budgetary issues.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE EXPENDITURES AND PERSONNEL

- Expenditure data, as published in previous CJSC publications, are available from the 1967/68 fiscal year, while personnel data are available from 1969.

- The UCR definition specifies that law enforcement agencies should only report personnel paid by funds designated for law enforcement.
- Expenditure data for 2002/2003 were not available from the Office of the State Controller in time for inclusion in this publication.
- The 1996 data collection survey forms were revised in an attempt to collect counts on the number of criminal justice personnel employed by prosecutors, public defenders, and probation departments, regardless of the funding source. Prior to 1996, counts excluded state- and federally-funded positions.

CITIZENS' COMPLAINTS AGAINST PEACE OFFICERS

- Citizens' Complaints Against Peace Officers has been collected since 1981. Data are available in a statewide total only.
- Because of the nature of the requirements of Penal Code section 832.5, reporting definitions and procedures may vary among individual reporting agencies.
- In 2003, 98.4 percent of the law enforcement agencies were able to report CCAPO data. There were 14 agencies that did not report data for 2003; however, these agencies reported less than 0.1 percent of the total CCAPO data in 2001 and 2002.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

- Reporting of Domestic Violence-Related Calls for Assistance began in July 1986. The first full year of reporting was 1987.
- The definition of "domestic violence" is subject to varying interpretations by law enforcement agencies. As a result, different types of domestic relationships are included in the database.
- San Francisco Police Department did not report data from April 1997 to December 1999.
- Included in the data are any cases which resulted in a report being written by the responding law enforcement agencies. Data, therefore, include both cases where an arrest was made and those where circumstances did not warrant an arrest.
- In April 2002, law enforcement agencies were given clarification about reporting personal weapons. This corresponds to a notable decrease in the number of personal weapons reported.

APPENDIX 2

COMPUTATIONAL FORMULAS

CRIMES

Crime rate - A crime rate describes the number of crimes reported to law enforcement agencies per 100,000 total population. A crime rate is calculated by dividing the number of reported crimes by the total population. The result is multiplied by 100,000. For example, in 2003 there were 63,597 robberies in California and the population was 35,934,000. This equals a robbery crime rate of 177.0 per 100,000 general population.

$$\frac{63,597}{35,934,000} = .001770 \times 100,000 = 177.0$$

Clearance rate - A clearance rate describes the percentage of clearances reported to the number of crimes reported. A clearance rate is calculated by dividing the number of clearances by the number of crimes reported. The result is multiplied by 100. For example, in 2003 there were 1,323 clearances for homicide crimes and 2,402 homicides reported. This equals a homicide clearance rate of 55.1 percent.

$$\frac{1,323}{2,402} = .55079 \times 100 = 55.1 \text{ percent}$$

ARRESTS

Arrest rate - An arrest rate describes the number of arrests made by law enforcement agencies per 100,000 total population or per 100,000 population considered to be at risk for arrest. Regardless of the population used, both rates are calculated in the same manner. An arrest rate is calculated by dividing the number of reported arrests by the desired population. The result is multiplied by 100,000. For example, in 2003 there were 507,081 total felony arrests. The total population was 35,934,000 and the population at risk (10-69) was 27,815,344.

$$\frac{507,081}{35,934,000} = .014111 \times 100,000 = 1,411.1 \text{ per } 100,000 \text{ population}$$

$$\frac{507,081}{27,815,344} = .018230 \times 100,000 = 1,823.0 \text{ per } 100,000 \text{ population at risk}$$

ADULT FELONY ARREST DISPOSITIONS

Conviction rate - A conviction rate describes the proportion of defendants convicted within a given population. Conviction rates are computed using two different bases: total dispositions and total complaints filed. Both are calculated in the same manner. The total number of convictions is divided by the desired population and multiplied by 100. For example, 206,226 adult felony arrests resulted in a conviction in 2003. There were 303,102 total felony arrest dispositions and 250,327 total complaints filed. The conviction rate for total felony arrest dispositions was 68.0 percent and for total complaints filed was 82.4 percent.

$$\frac{206,226}{303,102} = .680384 \times 100 = 68.0 \text{ percent of total felony arrest dispositions}$$

$$\frac{206,226}{250,327} = .823826 \times 100 = 82.4 \text{ percent of total complaints filed}$$

ADULT CORRECTIONS

Adult correction rate - An adult correction rate describes the number of adults under supervision per 100,000 adult at-risk population. An adult correction rate is calculated by dividing the number of adults under supervision by the adult population at risk (18-69). The result is multiplied by 100,000. For example, in 2003 there were 687,007 adults under state and local supervision and the adult population at risk was 23,295,523. This equals an adult correction rate of 2,949.1 per 100,000 population at risk.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Percent change - A percent change describes the change in number or rate from one year to another. A percent change is calculated by subtracting the base-year data from the current-year data. The result is divided by the base-year data and multiplied by 100. For example, in 2003 the robbery crime rate was 177.0. In 1998 the robbery crime rate was 205.3. The percent change in rate from 1998 to 2003 is a 13.8 percent decrease.

$$\frac{177.0 - 205.3}{205.3} = -.137847 \times 100 = -13.8 \text{ percent}$$

Populations at risk - The Arrest section of this report includes three comparison populations: total (10-69 years of age), adult (18-69 years of age), and juvenile (10-17 years of age).

When a series of rates are calculated using different populations, the rate calculated for the total will not be equal to the sum of the rates for the parts. For example, the arrest rate calculated using the total at-risk population will not equal the juvenile arrest rate (based on the juvenile at-risk population) plus the adult arrest rate (based on the adult at-risk population).

Also, the percent changes calculated for these at-risk rates cannot be added. This is because the percent change in the total arrest rate is the result of independent changes in both the number of arrests and the at-risk populations of adults and juveniles.

NOTES

Crime in California presents statistics showing the amounts and types of offenses known to public authorities and the administrative actions taken by the criminal justice system. For 51 years, Crime in California has provided information on crimes and the criminal justice process. The collection and publication of these data are mandated by California Penal Code sections 13010-13012.

- Crime and arrest rates are calculated using annual population estimates provided by the Demographic Research Unit, California Department of Finance. Intercensal population data are revised after each decennial census. Upon receipt of the intercensal revisions, crime and arrest rates are recalculated.

- A number of factors can influence counts in particular jurisdictions. These factors should be considered when using crime statistics, especially for comparative purposes.

Variations in composition of the population, particularly age structure.
 Population density and size of locality and its surrounding area.
 Stability of population with respect to residents' mobility, commuting patterns, and transient factors.
 Modes of transportation and highway system.
 Economic conditions, including median income and job availability.
 Cultural conditions, such as education, recreation, and religious characteristics.
 Family conditions with respect to divorce and family cohesiveness.
 Effective strength of law enforcement agencies.
 Administrative and investigative emphases of law enforcement.
 Policies of other components of the criminal justice system (i.e., prosecutorial, judicial, correctional, and probational).
 Attitudes of citizenry toward crime.
 Crime reporting practices of citizenry.
 Illegal drug supply, cost, and demand.

- Historical data are included in this Crime in California report to provide long-term trend data. The time periods for which data are available vary from database to database depending upon the date each program was instituted. For additional information, see Appendix 1, Data Characteristics and Known Limitations, on pages 168-169.
- Since 1952, there have been many changes in laws and data collection procedures. For instance, in 1986 legislation was enacted which required reporting domestic violence as criminal conduct. As a result, the aggravated assault rate increased over 35 percent in one year. These types of changes should be considered when comparing data.
