

CRIME in 2003 January Through June

This report compares preliminary crime counts for January through June 2003 with final counts for the same period in 2002 for California law enforcement jurisdictions serving populations of 100,000 or more. The 79 jurisdictions which met this criterion in 2002 and 2003 account for approximately 65 percent of all crimes reported in the state.

Law enforcement jurisdictions are grouped into three categories:

- Police departments (provide law enforcement services to cities).
- Sheriff's departments (provide law enforcement services to unincorporated areas¹ within counties).
- Contract cities (cities that contract for law enforcement services, usually with a sheriff's department, rather than maintain their own police force).

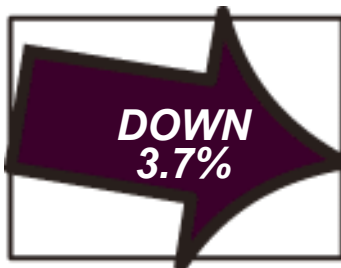

The 2003 crime data used in this report are preliminary and are subject to change. It should also be noted that crime rates are not used in this report but are included in the annual Crime in California publication.

Facts at a Glance

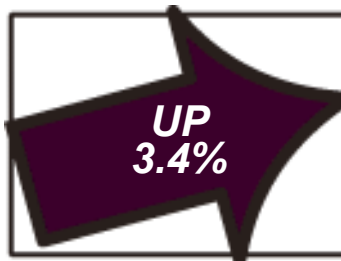

CALIFORNIA CRIME INDEX (CCI) offenses include homicide, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, and motor vehicle theft.

During the first six months of 2003, the number of reported CCI offenses increased 0.9 percent when compared to the same period in 2002.

The VIOLENT CRIME category includes the offenses of homicide, forcible rape, robbery, and aggravated assault.

During the first six months of 2003, the number of reported violent crimes decreased 3.7 percent when compared to the same period in 2002. The decrease in this category can be attributed to a decrease in each of the violent offense categories for this period.

The PROPERTY CRIME category includes the offenses of burglary and motor vehicle theft.

During the first six months of 2003, the number of reported property crimes increased 3.4 percent when compared to the same period in 2002. The increase in this category was mostly influenced by an increase in the number of reported motor vehicle thefts for this period.

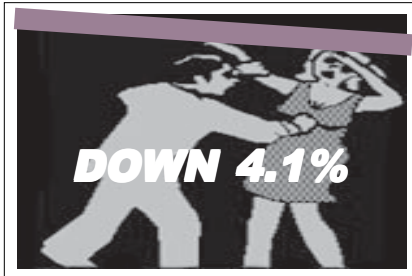

¹An unincorporated area of a county is any area not within a city limit.

Notes: A dash indicates one or more of the following: 1) data are not available or 2) percent changes are not calculated because of incomplete data or because the base number is less than 50.

This report includes data submitted to the Criminal Justice Statistics Center by the cutoff date of August 22, 2003.

Crime counts reflect the number of actual offenses reported (unfounded crime counts are not included).

Sheriff department crime counts do not include contract cities that report under their own National Crime Information Center number.

The California Highway Patrol reports motor vehicle theft for some sheriff's departments; therefore, sheriff department counts for this category may not reflect all reported motor vehicle thefts in their jurisdiction.

² Huntington Beach and Torrance Police Departments and the Sonoma and Contra Costa County Sheriff's Departments were unable to provide crime data for the full six-month period due to problems with their records management systems. Therefore, to maintain comparability of the 2002 data with the 2003 data, available counts for these agencies are shown but not included in the subtotals or total jurisdiction counts.

³ The Orange County Sheriff's Department has identified an under-reporting problem for the years 2000-2002; therefore, caution should be exercised when using these data.

⁴ After this report was prepared the Oakland Police Department advised that their reporting was significantly backlogged during this time period, January-June, 2003.
