ATTORNEY GENERAL'S MESSAGE

California's crime rate made history in 1996 with the largest one-year drop ever in violent crime, property crime, homicide and the California Crime Index (CCI) since the state began collecting crime statistics in 1952. All six CCI offense categories declined for the third straight year and only for the fifth time in California's history.

- CCI down 12.6 percent.
- Violent crimes down 10.8 percent.
- Property crimes down 13.5 percent.
- Homicide down 18.2 percent.
- Forcible rape down 4.0 percent.
- Robbery down 10.9 percent.
- Aggravated assault down 11.1 percent.
- Burglary down 12.8 percent.
- Motor vehicle theft down 14.5 percent.

The effects of tough-on-crime measures such as "Three Strikes and You're Out," community-oriented policing, truth in sentencing and the restoration of the death penalty are working just as they were intended -- deterring many crimes before they create new victims and shutting the prison door on hyperactive career criminals. Since 1993, the year before the enactment of "Three Strikes," the CCI has dropped 24.0 percent, violent crime has dropped 19.9 percent and the homicide rate has dropped an astounding 30.2 percent.

Over the past five years, the rate of juvenile felony arrests has declined 20.8 percent, the juvenile violent crime arrest rate has fallen 9.6 percent and the juvenile homicide arrest rate has plummeted 51.9 percent. Meanwhile, the status offense rate (truancy, incorrigibility, running away, and curfew violations) continues its apparent inverse relationship with other juvenile arrest rates by increasing 36.3 percent over the last five years.

However, two juvenile felony arrest categories experienced a significant increase over the past five years -- felony marijuana and dangerous drug arrests with a more than 50 percent increase. These arrests are not just for possessing drugs but for selling and transporting as well and should cause alarm among all Californians.

We should recognize that the historic drop in California's crime rate to 1968 levels is a sign that we are on the right track, but we should not be satisfied. More can be done. Our commitment to public safety should be to drive our crime rate down to levels last seen in the 1950's. So far, we are halfway there. With a continued commitment and effort by the Legislature, law enforcement, and the community, particularly victims' rights groups, we will make our goal.

HIGHLIGHTS

CRIMES (See pages 2-25.)

- The California Crime Index (CCI) rate increased from 898.1 in 1952 to its peak of 3,922.1 in 1980. The CCI then dropped to 2,558.9 crimes reported per 100,000 population in 1996. (Source: Table 1.)
- The CCI decreased for the fifth consecutive year. From 1995 to 1996, the CCI rate decreased 12.6 percent. (Source: Table 2.)
- From 1995 to 1996, violent crimes decreased 10.8 percent in rate. Property crimes decreased 13.5 percent in rate. (Source: Table 2.)
- In 1996, the homicide rate reached its lowest point since 1973 at 9.0 per 100,000 population. (Souree: Table 1.)

ARRESTS (See pages 28-67.)

■ The 1996 felony arrest rate of 2,089.6 per 100,000 population at risk is the lowest since 1985. The 1996 misdemeanor arrest rate of 4,114.6 per 100,000 population at risk reached an all-time low. (Source: Table 16.)

- From 1995 to 1996, there was a 3.7 percent decrease in the total arrest rate. This was the seventh consecutive year of decline. (Sources: Tables 16 and 17.)
- Since 1991, the rate of juvenile felony arrests decreased 20.8 percent while juvenile misdemeanor arrests increased 2.4 percent and status offenses (truancy, incorrigibility, running away, and curfew violations) increased 36.3 percent. (Source: Table 17.)

HIGHLIGHTS

- From 1991 to 1996, the homicide arrest rate decreased 37.3 percent. The rate of juvenile arrests for homicide offenses has decreased 51.9 percent since 1991. (Source: Table 22.)

■ Since 1991, adult felony marijuana arrests have dropped 5.1 percent in rate while the juvenile felony marijuana arrest rate increased 56.2 percent. (Source: Table 22.)

DISPOSITIONS (See pages 70-83.)

- In 1996, almost seven out of ten adult felony arrest dispositions resulted in a conviction. (Source: Table 39.)
- Probation with jail continues to be the most frequent sentence given. (Source: Table 41.)
- In 1996, only 19.0 percent of the adults convicted of violent offenses were sentenced to state institutions (prison, CRC, and CYA). Nearly ten percent did not serve any time in jail or prison for their conviction. (Source: Table 41.)

ADULT CORRECTIONS (See pages 86-93.)

- Since 1991, the rate of adults under state supervision has increased 23.7 percent. (Source: Table 44.)

■ Local supervision accounted for approximately 60 percent of all adults under supervision throughout the 1991-1996 period. (Source: Table 44A.)

INTRODUCTION

Crime and Delinquency in California presents statistics showing the amounts and types of offenses known to public authorities and the administrative actions taken by the criminal justice system. For over 40 years, Crime and Delinquency in California has provided information on crimes and the criminal justice process. The collection and publication of these data are mandated by California Penal Code sections 13010-13012.

NOTES

- Crime and arrest rates are calculated using annual population estimates provided by the Demographic Research Unit, California Department of Finance. Intercensal population data are revised after each decennial census. Upon receipt of the intercensal revisions, crime and arrest rates are recalculated.
- In prior years, Crime and Delinquency in California included a Juvenile Justice System section. Budgetary constraints in 1990 eliminated funding for collection of information on juvenile dispositions and caseloads. With the passage of Assembly Bill 488 in 1995 and with grant funds provided by the Office of Criminal Justice Planning (OCJP), the system is being restored. Current plans call for juvenile disposition data from county probation departments to be available for the 1997 calendar year. Juvenile arrest information is still available and is included in the arrest section.
- Historical data are included in this Crime and Delinquency report to provide long-term trend data. The time periods for which data are available vary from data base to data base depending upon the date each program was instituted.

Crime data from the Uniform Crime Reporting Program have been published continuously for over 40 years and are available in a somewhat consistent format from 1952.

Arrest data from the Monthly Arrest and Citation Register reporting system are complete from 1957. Prior to 1957, only adult felony arrest data were available.

Disposition data from the Offender-Based Transaction Statistics (OBTS) system are available from 1975. The OBTS system, which began with a 25 percent sample in four counties in 1973, became operational on a statewide basis in 1975. All 58 counties were reporting by 1978.
Adult corrections data are compiled from a number of sources and are complete from 1966. State supervision data are available from 1960, and state institution data are available from 1952.

Expenditure data, as published in previous Crime and Delinquency publications, are available from the 1967/68 fiscal year while personnel data are available from 1969.
Citizens' Complaints Against Peace Officers has been collected since 1981. Data are available in a statewide total count only. Reporting of Domestic Violence-Related Calls for Assistance began in July 1986. The first full year of reporting was 1987.

Since 1952, there have been many changes in laws and data collection procedures. For instance, in 1986 legislation was enacted which required reporting domestic violence as criminal conduct. As a result, the aggravated assault category increased over 35 percent in rate in one year. These types of changes should be considered when comparing data.

CRIMES

WHAT IS A CRIME?

A crime is an act specifically prohibited by law, or failure to perform an act specifically required by law, for which punishment is prescribed.

- Felonies are serious crimes for which the offender can be sentenced to state prison.
- Misdemeanors are less serious crimes for which an offender can be sentenced to probation, jail, fine, or a combination of these.
- Infractions are the least serious crimes and are usually punishable by a fine.

HOW ARE CRIMES COUNTED?

There are two primary methods of data collection used to indicate the scope of crime and its trend fluctuations: the Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Program and the National Crime Victimization Survey (NCVS) Program.

The Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Program was inaugurated in 1930 and is administered on the national level by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). It provides criminal statistics for use in law enforcement administration, operation, and management. In California, this program is administered by the Department of Justice (DOJ).

As part of the UCR Program, law enforcement agencies throughout the state report summary information to the DOJ on "selected" crimes. Reported crimes are classified by UCR definitions designed to eliminate differences among the various states' penal code definitions of crimes. This information is not only incorporated in this Crime and Delinquency report; it is processed and forwarded to the FBI for use in its annual publication, Crime in the United States.

The crimes, selected because of seriousness, frequency of occurrence, and the likelihood of being reported to the police, are: homicide, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny-theft, motor vehicle theft, and arson. These eight offenses are known as Part I or Index crimes. Except for larceny-theft, UCR does not count misdemeanors and infractions.

The DOJ differs slightly from the FBI in presentation of crime data. The California Crime Index (CCI) comprises homicide, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, and motor vehicle theft. When a 1983 California law raised the lower limit of felony theft from $$ 200$ to over $$ 400$, the DOJ dropped theft ( $$ 200$ and over) from its measure of crime. Law enforcement agencies began submitting arson crime data in 1979; 1980 was the first year of complete reporting. Therefore, to maintain long-term felony trend data in the CCI , the DOJ excludes larceny-theft and arson.

The UCR Program accounts for Index crimes only; however, some Index crimes go undetected and therefore unreported. This, along with the hierarchy rule, accounts for a certain amount of underreporting in the system. Most crimes occur singly as opposed to more than one crime being committed within the same incident. The hierarchy rule assigns a value to each crime and requires that only the single most serious offense be reported. For example, if a person were to enter a bar, rob eight patrons, and kill the bartender, only the homicide would be reported. Arson is the exception. Since arson frequently occurs in conjunction with other crimes, it is felt that valuable information could be lost using the hierarchy rule. Therefore, arson is counted along with the other most serious offense.

The National Crime Victimization Survey (NCVS) Program has been conducted regularly by the federal government since 1973. The method is similar to public polling, in which a representative sample of households and commercial organizations is selected and the occupants interviewed to determine the crimes that have been committed against the occupants and/or their premises. The amount of crime is determined by the responses of the representative sample, expressed in percentages of the entire population.

WHAT IS A RATE?

A rate describes the number of events that occur within a given population. Crime rates and clearance rates are used in this section. Formulas for calculating both can be found in the Appendix.

CRIMES

CAN JURISDICTIONAL COMPARISONS BE MADE?

A number of factors can influence crime counts in particular jurisdictions. These factors should be considered when using crime statistics, especially for comparative purposes.

- Variations in composition of the population, particularly age structure.
- Population density and size of locality and its surrounding area.
- Stability of population with respect to residents' mobility, commuting patterns, and transient factors.
- Modes of transportation and highway system.
- Economic conditions, including median income and job availability.
- Cultural conditions, such as education, recreation, and religious characteristics.
- Family conditions with respect to divorce and family cohesiveness.
- Effective strength of law enforcement agencies.
- Administrative and investigative emphases of law enforcement.
- Policies of other components of the criminal justice system (i.e., prosecutorial, judicial, correctional, and probational).
- Attitudes of citizenry toward crime.
- Crime reporting practices of citizenry.

WHAT IS THE VALUE OF THE UCR PROGRAM?

Since its inception in 1930, UCR has become a nationwide program. All California law enforcement agencies participate. Quality control surveys conducted by the DOJ staff have shown a high level of compliance with UCR reporting standards. The number of participants and the amount and quality of data collected under the stringent rules of the system make UCR a valuable program.

In 1982, the federal Bureau of Justice Statistics and the FBI initiated a joint study of the national UCR Program. The study was completed in 1985 with a recommendation to develop an Incident-Based Reporting (IBR) system. This system would focus on individual criminal incidents rather than the summary information in the existing UCR Program.

Under an IBR system, law enforcement agencies would submit a separate record on each criminal incident, along with information on the victim, suspect, and arrestee involved. An IBR system would provide data that more accurately measure the total number of crimes occurring in society, the severity of those crimes, and profile the victims of those crimes.

The FBI began the implementation phase of IBR in 1986. South Carolina was selected as a test site and data collection started early in 1987. Based on experience gained in the project, the FBI developed and released final guidelines for the national system in August 1988. The national system is now designated as the National Incident-Based Reporting System (NIBRS).

In April 1987, limited federal grant funds were made available to state UCR programs. California used these funds to evaluate the feasibility of converting to an IBR system. When state funding is available, California will begin developing an IBR system that will more accurately portray crime and delinquency in California.

WHAT DOES IT ALL MEAN?

Crime is not an easy thing to measure. In California, however, because of the high quality of its law enforcement agencies and their close cooperation with the DOJ, UCR data are, and have been for many years, an extremely good indicator of the extent of, and fluctuation in, crimes reported to law enforcement.

CRIME TRENDS, 1952-1996

Data depicting crime in California have been published continuously for over 40 years. The first Crime in California publication was issued in 1953 and included data for the 1952 calendar year.

Comparing 1952 to 1996:

■ The California Crime Index (CCI) rate increased 184.9 percent (from 898.1 to 2,558.9).

- The violent crime rate increased 454.0 percent (from 153.1 to 848.2 ).

■ The property crime rate increased 129.6 percent (from 745.0 to $1,710.7$ ).
The CCI rate increased almost continuously from 1952 through its peak year of 1980. Since then, the rate has been in a general decline. In 1996, the CCI rate dropped to a 27 -year low of 2,558.9 per 100,000 population.

The violent crime rate has grown at more than twice the rate of the CCI and three and one-half times the rate of property crime since 1952. In 1992, the rate reached its highest level at 1,103.9. In 1952, reported violent crime accounted for 17.0 percent of the CCI. In 1996, reported violent crime accounted for 33.1 percent.

The property crime rate, like the CCI, peaked in 1980. In 1952, reported property crime accounted for 83.0 percent of the CCI. In 1996, reported property crime accounted for 66.9 percent.

Since 1952, there have been many changes in laws and data collection procedures. For instance, in 1986 legislation was enacted which required reporting domestic violence as criminal conduct. As a result, the aggravated assault category increased over 35 percent in rate in one year. These types of changes should be considered when comparing data.

In 1996, more than four out of ten (45.7 percent) larceny-theft crimes involved theft from motor vehicles and theft of motor vehicle accessories.

Value of Stolen and Recovered Property

As part of the UCR Program, law enforcement agencies submit monthly reports showing the estimated dollar value of property stolen and property recovered. In these reports, the type of property is categorized in a uniform manner. However, agencies do not report these data consistently and frequently vary in their methods of estimating the dollar value of stolen property. Furthermore, property stolen and property recovered in any given time period are not necessarily the same property. For these reasons, dollar values of such property must be viewed as rough estimates.

From 1995 to 1996:

- There was a 10.1 percent decrease in the dollar value of all stolen property.
- There was a 9.3 percent decrease in the dollar value of motor vehicles stolen.
- There was a 10.8 percent decrease in the dollar value of all other stolen property.

In 1996,
Of the total dollar value $($ 2,333,824,000)$ of all property reported stolen:

- Motor vehicles accounted for $$ 1,114,525,000$ (47.8 percent).
- All other property accounted for $$ 1,219,299,000$ (52.2 percent).

In 1996,
Of the total dollar value $($ 850,669,000)$ of property reported recovered:

- Motor vehicles accounted for $783,948,000 (92.2 percent).
- All other property accounted for $66,721,000 (7.8 percent).

Arson - Any willful or malicious burning or attempt to burn, with or without intent to defraud, a dwelling house, public building, motor vehicle or aircraft, personal property of another, etc.

Comparing 1991 to 1996:

- The rate of reported arsons decreased 12.3 percent.

- Structural properties accounted for $$ 112,058,000$ (80.1 percent).
- Mobile properties accounted for $25,189,000 (18.0 percent).
- Other properties accounted for $2,682,000 (1.9 percent).

Clearances

A clearance rate is the percentage obtained when the number of clearances reported are divided by the number of crimes reported. Crimes can be cleared by arrests or "exceptional means." An offense is cleared or "solved" for crime reporting purposes when at least one person is arrested, charged with the commission of the crime, and turned over to the court for prosecution or referred to juvenile authorities. In certain situations a clearance may be counted by "exceptional means" when the police definitely know the identity of the offender, have enough information to support an arrest, and know the location of the offender but for some reason cannot take the offender into custody.

Comparing 1991 to 1996:

- The clearance rate for the California Crime Index offenses increased from 22.9 to 23.4 percent.

■ The violent crime clearance rate increased from 46.9 to 47.6 percent.

- The property crime clearance rate decreased from 12.2 to 11.4 percent.

From 1995 to 1996:

ARRESTS

WHAT IS AN ARREST?

Arrests occur when persons are taken into custody because they are believed to have violated the law. Not all arrests result in persons being placed in jail. Arrestees may be released by the arresting agency, may post bail or may be released on their own recognizance to appear in court at a later date. Some are issued citations, much like traffic tickets, which direct them to appear in court at a later date.

Arrests are divided into two major groups: felony arrests and misdemeanor arrests. An arrest for a felony-level offense can result in a sentence to state prison if the offender is convicted as an adult. An arrest for a misdemeanor-level offense can result in a sentence of up to one year in a county jail, a fine, probation or any combination of the three.

Juveniles may also be arrested for truancy, incorrigibility, running away, and curfew violations. These are commonly referred to as status offenses because agency intervention is based solely on the juvenile's status as a minor. Status offenses are acts that would not be "crimes" if committed by adults.

ARRESTS

HOW ARE ARRESTS REPORTED?

Unlike crimes, which are classified by nationwide Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) standards, arrests are reported by California statute definition of the offense. This may cause some differences in the definitions of certain crimes and the reporting of the arrests for those crimes. For instance, theft from a locked automobile is a burglary by California Penal Code definition. The crime would be classified and reported as a theft under the UCR definition. The arrest offenses in the following section are defined by California statute for which specific code sections are listed in the Appendix.

All California law enforcement agencies report arrest and citation information to the Department of Justice on the "Monthly Arrest and Citation Register," which lists each arrestee; includes information on age, gender, and race/ ethnic group; and specifies the "most serious" arrest offense and law enforcement disposition.

WHAT IS AN ARREST RATE?

An arrest rate describes the number of arrests made by law enforcement agencies per 100,000 total population or per 100,000 population considered to be at risk for arrest. The following section includes three at-risk comparison populations: total (10-69 years of age), adult (18-69 years of age), and juvenile (10-17 years of age). The formula used to calculate at-risk rates can be found in the Appendix.

- Arrests of blacks accounted for 18.2 percent $(289,144)$.
- Arrests of persons of other race/ethnic groups accounted for 5.4 percent $(84,901)$.
ubjectivity of the classification and labeling process must be considered in the analysis of race/ethnic group data. As commonly used, race refers to large populations which share certain similar physical characteristics such as skin color. Because these physical characteristics can vary greatly within groups as well as between groups, determination of race is frequently, by necessity, subjective. Ethnicity refers to cultural heritage and can cross racial lines. For example, the ethnic designation "Hispanic" includes persons of any race. Most commonly, self-identification of race/ ethnicity is used in the labeling process.

Beginning with the Crime and Delinquency in California, 1991 publication, race/ethnic group designations used for data display purposes are the same as California Department of Finance, Demographic Research Unit, designations.

ADULT FELONY ARREST DISPOSITIONS

The Offender-Based Transaction Statistics (OBTS) system in California describes the processing of adults arrested for felony offenses from arrest through final disposition. Data on the adjacent flow chart are preliminary and pertain specifically to adult felony arrests that received final dispositions in 1996 and were added to the Automated Criminal History System (ACHS) by the Department of Justice through May 1997.

WHAT IS A FINAL DISPOSITION?

In the OBTS system, the term "final disposition" refers to a specific legal action that takes place following an adult felony arrest. Final dispositions can occur at the law enforcement, prosecutor, lower court, or superior court levels. For example, if an arrestee is released by a law enforcement agency or by a prosecutor who has determined that there is not enough evidence to justify the filing of a complaint, this release is recorded as a final disposition. If an arrestee is referred to court for adjudication, the outcome (i.e., dismissal, diversion dismissal, acquittal, or conviction) is also recorded as a final disposition. "Intermediate" dispositions (e.g., placements into diversionary programs) are not available.

HOW ARE OBTS DATA REPORTED?

Dispositions of adult felony arrests were reported by approximately 1,200 agencies in 1996. These agencies include law enforcement, prosecutor, lower court, and superior court levels of the California criminal justice system.

OBTS data are taken directly from the department's Automated Criminal History System (ACHS). All arrest information is entered into ACHS from fingerprint cards, while most disposition data are entered from "Disposition of Arrest and Court Action" (JUS 8715) forms received by the Department of Justice.

The arrest dispositions received generally describe statewide processing of adult felony arrestees through California's criminal justice system. (See Appendix for known data limitations.)

Fingerprint and disposition processing priorities instituted by the Department of Justice because of budget constraints caused the 1993 OBTS file to be smaller in number than prior years. The 1993 file also has fewer law enforcement releases and complaints denied than normal. The 19931996 files remain open; therefore, counts published represent preliminary data. See Data Characteristics and Known Limitations on page 177.

CONVICTION RATES

The conviction rates shown are calculated using two different bases. The first is based on total adult felony arrest dispositions and the second is based on total complaints filed. Each is valid and by presenting both, the reader is provided two perspectives from which to evaluate the effectiveness of the criminal justice system.

Conviction rates based on total adult felony arrest dispositions describe the overall treatment of offenders by the criminal justice system. This method of calculation focuses on the proportion of convictions out of the total number of arrests.

WHAT IS ADULT CORRECTIONS?

Adults convicted in California courts are frequently placed under the jurisdiction of either the state correctional system or a correctional system operated by local government. The state correctional system provides confinement, rehabilitation, and parole services through the California Department of Corrections (CDC) which includes the California Rehabilitation Center (CRC). The state correctional system also includes the California Youth Authority (CYA) and the California Department of Mental Health (CDMH). Local correctional agencies provide confinement, rehabilitation, and probation services for those sentenced to their care and also house persons awaiting trial or sentencing.

HOW ARE ADULTS UNDER SUPERVISION COUNTED?

At the state level, supervision data are obtained annually from CDC and CYA. At the local level, supervision data are obtained from county and city jail facilities and county probation departments.

WHAT IS A RATE?

A rate describes the number of events that occur within a given population. The formula for calculating an adult correction rate can be found in the Appendix.

HOW ARE EXPENDITURE AND PERSONNEL DATA REPORTED?

Expenditure data are obtained from the State of California's Governor's Budget and the annual report of financial transactions concerning cities and counties in California. Both reports are provided by the Office of the State Controller.

Included in the criminal justice expenditures are salaries and employee benefits, services, and supplies. Capital outlay expenditures are excluded. Expenditures by the Department of Justice and other regulatory agencies are also excluded.

Personnel data are obtained from the State of California's Governor's Budget, the annual report of the Administrative Office of the Courts, and personnel surveys (one-day counts) conducted by staff of the Department of Justice. Personnel counts for the Department of Justice and other regulatory agencies are not included.

Citizens' Complaints Against Peace Officers

Section 13012 of the Penal Code states, "The annual report of the department provided for in Section 13010 shall contain statistics showing: . . . (d) The number of citizens complaints received by law enforcement agencies under Section 832.5. Such statistics shall indicate the total number of such complaints, the number alleging criminal conduct of either a felony or misdemeanor, and the number sustained in each category. The report shall not contain a reference to any individual agency but shall be by gross numbers only . . . ."

Section 832.5(a) of the Penal Code requires that "Each department or agency in this state which employs peace officers shall establish a procedure to investigate citizens' complaints against the personnel of such departments or agencies, and shall make a written description of the procedure available to the public."

Because of the nature of the requirements of Penal Code section 832.5, reporting definitions and procedures vary among individual reporting agencies. The data shown are accurate and complete to the extent that contributing agencies met their reporting obligations.

${ }^{1}$ Hands, feet, etc.

Effective January 1, 1986, law enforcement agencies began reporting domestic violencerelated calls for assistance and indicating which cases involved the use of a weapon in compliance with Penal Code section 13730(a). This information is reported monthly to the attorney general.

Section 13730(b) of the Penal Code also instructs the attorney general to report annually on the number of domestic violence-related calls received statewide, in each county, and by individual law enforcement agencies. Statewide data are reported here. County and agency-level data will be published in the Criminal Justice Profile, 1996 publication series.

Domestic violence is defined as ". . . abuse committed against an adult or a fully emancipated minor who is a spouse, former spouse, cohabitant, former cohabitant, or person with whom the suspect has had a child or is having or has had a dating or engagement relationship." [13700(b) PC]

Within this definition, abuse is further defined as ". . . intentionally or recklessly causing or attempting to cause bodily injury, or placing another person in reasonable apprehension of imminent serious bodily injury to himself or herself, or another." [13700(a) PC]

Notes: Dash indicates that data are not available.
Santa Clara County did not report for 1975 through 1977 and Alameda County did not report tor 1975 and 1976.
Dpdated preliminary 1993, 1994 , and 1995 files were accessed in May 1997 and may not match previously pubished data.
The 1993 file is lower in number than normal beecause of fingerprint and disposition processsing priortites. In addition, processing priorties caused the 1993 file to be underrepresented in the law enforcement releases and complaints denied categoriess.
The complaints denied category includes single complaints, combined cases, and peetions to revoke probation.

${ }^{1}$ The complaints denied category includes single complaints, combined cases, and petitions to revoke probation
${ }^{2}$ The "dismissed, acquitted" category includes diversions which have been dismissed.

One-day count taken each year on the fourth Thursday in September
The variation in this category from 1993 to 1994 is primarily due to a shift trom estimates to actual counts by Los Angeles County
These rates are based on the adult population at risk ( $18-69$ years of age) for each year (see Table 58 ).

probation and do not include subsequent grants of probation to persons already under probation supervision by the same level court in the same county.
The variation in this category from 1993 to 1994 is primarily due to a shift from estimates to actual counts by Los Angeles County.

CRC counts are for commitments to the Civil Narcotics Addicts program.
${ }^{2}$ Counts are for commitments of adults from criminal courts.
${ }^{3}$ Persons sentenced to CDC and transferred to the custody of CYA under Welfare and Institutions Code 1731.5(c).
Adults returned from criminal court who had previous CYA commitments and/or who may have been under CYA jurisdiction at the time of the new commitment.
${ }^{5}$ These rates are based on the adult population at risk (18-69 years of age) for each year (see Table 58).

Law enforcement personnel counts are obtained from a one-day survey taken on October 31. Probation department counts are taken January 1 while all other personnel counts are taken on June 30. Department of Corrections and Youth Authority personnel are fiscal year counts obtained from the Governor's Budget.
${ }^{2}$ Prosecution, public defense, and probation department survey forms have been revised; beginning in 1996, counts reflect all full-time personnel, regardless of funding.

Highway Patrol, effective July 1995

Because of the individual nature of the requirements of Penal Code section $832.5(\mathrm{a})$, reporting definitions and procedures vary among reporting agencies. The data collected under Penal Code section 13012(d) are accurate and complete to the extent that the contributing agency or agencies met reporting obligations.

${ }^{1}$ Penal Code section 13730 does not require that the type of weapon involved in a domestic violence-related call be reported.
${ }^{2}$ Hands, feet, etc.
${ }^{3}$ Prior to 1989 the "personal weapon" category was not recognized by all reporting agencies as a type of weapon. When those agencies began reporting personal weap calls as cases involving weapons, they did not provide the type of wapon designation. This accounts for the large increase in "not reported" weapons in 1989 and 1990. The Oakland Police Department was unable to provide 1995 data. In 1994, 5,237 domestic vionce roted calls for assistance were reported by this department.
${ }^{6}$ Data collection began in July 1986; therefore, only six months of data are available and displayed for 1986

DATA CHARACTERISTICS AND KNOWN LIMITATIONS

CRIMES

Uniform Crime Reporting Program (UCR)

- The number of reported murder, forcible rape, and aggravated assault crimes represents known victims, while for robbery, burglary, larceny-theft, motor vehicle theft, and arson, the number represents known incidents.
- The following agencies did not report complete data for 1996: Colfax, Dorris, San Mateo, Selma, and Trinidad police departments.
- Estimated data were provided by Oakland Police Department for 1995. Dollar values and most supplementary variables were not provided.

ARRESTS

Monthly Arrest and Citation Register (MACR)

- If a person is arrested for multiple offenses, MACR selects only the most serious offense, based on the severity of possible punishment.
- Felony arrest counts may include some misdemeanor warrants for felony offenses.
- The subjectivity of the classification and labeling process must be considered in the analysis of race/ ethnic group data.
- The following agencies did not report complete data for 1996: Colfax, Dorris, San Mateo, Selma, and Trinidad police departments.
- In order to display meaningful trend information, 1995 data presented on pages 30 through 63 include estimated data for the Bakersfield Police Department and the Oakland Police Department. When combined, arrest data for these two agencies comprise a significant percentage of statewide data.

The Bakersfield Police Department was unable to provide arrest data for February through December 1995. The 1995 estimates for this agency were calculated by averaging the number of arrests reported for 1992, 1993, and 1994. The result was added to the original 1995 statewide MACR master file count (after the January 1995 data reported by the agency were extracted). The Oakland Police Department was unable to provide any arrest data for 1995. This department requested that the number of arrests reported by their agency for 1994 be reduced by 5 percent to create 1995 estimates. The result was added to the original 1995 statewide MACR master file count.

ADULT FELONY ARREST DISPOSITIONS Offender-Based Transaction Statistics (OBTS)

Adult Felony Arrest Disposition data normally represent final dispositions on approximately 60 percent of the total adult felony arrests made during a calendar year. In the aggregate, the data generally describe state dispositional patterns.

Fingerprint and disposition processing priorities instituted by the Department of Justice because of budget constraints have had an impact on the 1993, 1994 and 1995 OBTS files. The 1993 file represents final dispositions on approximately 55 percent of the total adult felony arrests, the 1994 file approximately 58 percent, the 1995 file approximately 56 percent and the 1996 file approximately 64 percent. In addition, the 1993 file has fewer law enforcement releases and complaints denied dispositions than normal because of the processing priorities.

- County- and agency-level data will not be available until the 1993, 1994, 1995, and 1996 files are more representative.
- Data selected for the 1991 and 1992 OBTS report files include dispositions given in the calendar year and processed by the DOJ through August of the following year. The preliminary 1993, 1994, 1995, and 1996 OBTS report files were accessed in May 1997.
- OBTS data are grouped by the year of disposition regardless of the year in which the arrest occurred.
- In order for a disposition to be entered into the state's Automated Criminal History System (ACHS) and made available for statistical purposes, an arrest event fingerprint card MUST be received. A disposition which cannot be linked to a fingerprint card will not appear on the OBTS file.

■ Only the final disposition of an arrest event is selected for statistical purposes. Intermediate dispositions (diversion programs, suspended proceedings, reopenings, retrials, or subsequent actions) are not included in OBTS data.

- If a person is arrested for multiple offenses, OBTS selects only the most serious offense, based on the severity of possible punishment. If there are multiple court dispositions, OBTS selects the most serious court disposition and the associated offense.
- OBTS data on state institutional commitments may vary from information compiled and reported by other state agencies because of differences in the data collection systems and criteria.
- The OBTS file includes some persons whose age at arrest was under 18. These minors received a final disposition in adult court under provisions of the Welfare and Institutions Code sections 602, 707(a), 707(b), 707(c), and 707.1(a).

ADULT CORRECTIONS

Probation data include adults placed on supervised probation only. Court probation, diversion, and summary probation are not included.

- Persons are counted once for each jurisdiction. Thus, data include original grants of probation and do not include subsequent grants of probation to persons already under probation supervision ordered by the same level court in the same county. Also, probationers under jurisdiction of both superior and lower courts and any who are under the jurisdiction of more than one county are counted more than one time in statewide totals.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE EXPENDITURES AND PERSONNEL

■ The UCR definition specifies that agencies should only report custodial personnel paid by funds designated for law enforcement. In 1988, sheriffs' departments' custodial personnel were excluded from the law enforcement personnel survey regardless of the funding source.

■ Expenditure data for 1995/96 were not available from the Office of the State Controller in time for inclusion in this publication.

- The 1996 data collection survey forms were revised in an attempt to collect counts on the number of criminal justice personnel employed by prosecutors, public defenders and probation departments, regardless of the funding source. Prior to 1996, counts excluded state- and federally-funded positions.

CITIZENS' COMPLAINTS AGAINST PEACE OFFICERS

Because of the nature of the requirements of Penal Code section 832.5, reporting definitions and procedures may vary among individual reporting agencies.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

- The definition of "domestic violence" is subject to varying interpretations by law enforcement agencies. As a result, different types of domestic relationships are included in the data base.
- Penal Code section 13730 does not require that a type of weapon be specified. Most, but not all, agencies report the breakdown of weapon types.
- Included in the data are any cases which resulted in a report being written by the responding law enforcement agencies. Data, therefore, include both cases where an arrest was made and those where circumstances did not warrant an arrest.

COMPUTATIONAL FORMULAS

CRIMES

Crime rate - A crime rate describes the number of crimes reported to law enforcement agencies per 100,000 total population. A crime rate is calculated by dividing the number of reported crimes by the total population. The result is multiplied by 100,000. For example, in 1996 there were 94,137 robberies in California and the population was $32,383,000$. This equals a robbery crime rate of 290.7 per 100,000 general population.

\frac{94,137}{32,383,000}=.002907 \times 100,000=290.7

Clearance rate - A clearance rate describes the percentage of clearances reported to the number of crimes reported. A clearance rate is calculated by dividing the number of clearances by the number of crimes reported. The result is multiplied by 100 . For example, in 1996 there were 1,743 clearances for homicide crimes and 2,910 homicides reported. This equals a homicide clearance rate of 59.9 percent.

\frac{1,743}{2,910}=.598969 \times 100=59.9 \text { percent }

Abstract

ARRESTS Arrest rate - An arrest rate describes the number of arrests made by law enforcement agencies per 100,000 total population or per 100,000 population considered to be at risk for arrest. Regardless of the population used, both rates are calculated in the same manner. An arrest rate is calculated by dividing the number of reported arrests by the desired population. The result is multiplied by 100,000 . For example, in 1996 there were 533,989 total felony arrests. The total population was $32,383,000$ and the population at risk (10-69) was $25,554,242$.

\begin{aligned}
& \frac{533,989}{32,383,000}=.016490 \times 100,000=1,649.0 \text { per 100,000 population } \\
& \frac{533,989}{25,554,242}=.020896 \times 100,000=2,089.6 \text { per 100,000 population at risk }
\end{aligned}

ADULT FELONY ARREST DISPOSITIONS

Conviction rate - A conviction rate describes the proportion of defendants convicted within a given population. Conviction rates are computed using two different bases: total dispositions and total complaints filed. Both are calculated in the same manner. The total number of convictions is divided by the desired population and multiplied by 100. For example, 197,309 adult felony arrests resulted in a conviction in 1996. There were 285,038 total felony arrest dispositions and 237,029 total complaints filed. The conviction rate for total felony arrest dispositions was 69.2 percent and for total complaints filed was 83.2 percent.
$\frac{197,309}{285,038}=.692219 \times 100=69.2$ percent of total felony arrest dispositions
$\frac{197,309}{237,029}=.832426 \times 100=83.2$ percent of total complaints filed

ADULT CORRECTIONS

Adult correction rate - An adult correction rate describes the number of adults under supervision per 100,000 adult at-risk population. An adult correction rate is calculated by dividing the number of adults under supervision by the adult population at risk (18-69). The result is multiplied by 100,000. For example, in 1996 there were 613,407 adults under state and local supervision and the adult population at risk was $21,825,735$. This equals an adult correction rate of $2,810.5$ per 100,000 population at risk.

\frac{613,407}{21,825,735}=.028105 \times 100,000=2,810.5

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Percent change - A percent change describes the change in number or rate from one year to another. A percent change is calculated by subtracting the base year data from the current year data. The result is divided by the base year data and multiplied by 100. For example, in 1996 the robbery crime rate was 290.7. In 1991 the robbery crime rate was 408.2. The percent change in rate from 1991 to 1996 is a 28.8 percent decrease.

\frac{290.7-408.2}{408.2}=-.287849 \times 100=-28.8 \text { percent }

Populations at risk - The Arrest section of this report includes three comparison populations: total (10-69 years of age), adult (18-69 years of age), and juvenile (10-17 years of age).

When a series of rates are calculated using different populations, the rate calculated for the total will not be equal to the sum of the rates for the parts. For example, the arrest rate calculated using the total at-risk population will not equal the juvenile arrest rate (based on the juvenile at-risk population) plus the adult arrest rate (based on the adult at-risk population).

Also, the percent changes calculated for these at-risk rates can not be added. This is because the percent change in the total arrest rate is the result of independent changes in both the number of arrests and the at-risk populations of adults and juveniles.

    These data include adults placed on supervised probation only. Data are limited to original grants of probation and do not include subsequent grants of probation to persons already under probation supervision by the same level court in the same county.
    The variation in this category from 1993 to 1994 is primarily due to a shift from estimates to actual counts by Los Angeles County.
    ${ }^{2}$ These rates are based on the adult population at risk (18-69 years of age) for each year (see Table 58).
    "Other" includes transfers of jurisdiction from one county to another, deaths, sentences vacated, successful appeals, deportations, etc.
    Some of the variation in this category from 1995 to 1996 may be due to a change in reporting standards initiated by the Sacramento County Probation Department.
    ${ }^{5}$ Programmatic adjustments made by several counties account for most of the increase in this category for 1991 and 1992
