

Law Student Opportunities Remote Intern Program

Public Rights Division Land Law Section - Statewide

The Land Law Section of the California Department of Justice, Office of the Attorney General, seeks interested law students and recent graduates eager to represent the State of California in its efforts towards promoting and ensuring environmental justice, public coastal access, and natural resource conservation on state-owned lands.

The Land Law Section represents state agencies in litigation and administrative proceedings involving the public's relationship with lands that the State owns and administers for public access, recreation, development, or conservation. Attorneys within the section advise, defend, and prosecute on behalf of state agencies that regulate development, including housing and community development, coastal development and offshore oil drilling, conservation of environmentally sensitive habitats, and the administration of state parks.

Land Law Section interns will gain broad exposure to the practice of law. Our interns are frequently tasked with drafting law and motion, researching and writing memoranda on novel issues of law affecting state environmental resources, assisting with drafting and responding to discovery requests, and reviewing and assessing evidence. In addition, interns will have exposure to multi-section efforts between Land Law and other sections within the office on matters related to fair housing, homelessness, and agricultural workers and the environment.

In response to COVID-19, all 2021 interns will work remotely, but will have the unique opportunity to work on diverse projects from the various Land Law Section teams throughout the state. Specifically, Land Law has teams in Los Angeles, San Diego, Sacramento, and Oakland. Supervising attorneys are also committed to mentoring and guiding interns through their legal research, writing, and career development, and will host virtual panels on a regular basis to ensure a robust and enriching internship experience.

Applicants should possess excellent research and analytical skills and can submit applications at any point during the year. Hiring decisions are made on a rolling basis for summer and school-year internships. Internship positions are unpaid but may qualify for law school credit.
