

TIPS for Servicemembers

Continued from previous page

- Shop around: Making a few calls before you choose a storage company can help you get the best deal and make sure your things are safe.

Additional Resources

Ask your base legal office for help. For the legal office's contact information, ask your command or visit the Armed Forces Legal Assistance Program website at <http://legalassistance.law.af.mil/>.

California National Guard personnel can also get help from the State Staff Judge Advocate's Office - go to <http://www.calguard.ca.gov/> for contact information.

For information on civilian legal aid resources, go to <http://www.lawhelpca.org>.

The Attorney General's Office cannot give legal advice, but filing a consumer complaint is helpful because it alerts the Office to consumer issues and may help with the Office's investigations. File a complaint with the Attorney General's Office at <https://oag.ca.gov/consumers> or (800) 952-5225.

For more information about military consumer protection, visit <https://oag.ca.gov/consumers/general/military>.

For questions regarding the Department of Justice, contact the Public Inquiry Unit at (916) 210-6276 (voice), or (800) 952-5225 (toll-free in California).
