TEXAS HOLD'EM

In Texas Hold-Em each player receives two uninterrupted cards singly dealt face down as their initial hand. There is a round of betting after these cards have been delivered. Three board cards (called "the Flop") are now turned simultaneously face up in the center of the table and another round of betting occurs. The next two board cards are turned face up in the center of the table, one at a time with a round of betting after each card. These board-cards are community cards shared by all active players at the table. At completion of each hand each active player will have 7 cards, two personal and five community cards that are turned face-up in the center of the table. A player may use any combination of five cards (one in their hand, four from the board, etc.) to determine their best high hand.

Hold-Em uses a dealer button to indicate the player who in theory dealt the cards for that pot. The player with the dealer button is the last to receive cards on the initial deal and has the right of last-action on all betting rounds except the first. One or more blind bets are used to start the action and initiate play. Blinds are posted by the player who is on the button and the first player to the left of the button. Action is initiated on the first betting round by the player on the immediate of the last blind. On all subsequent betting rounds the action is begun by the first active player clockwise from the button. All blinds are considered to be live and if there are no raises, blinds may raise themselves when the action comes to them.

Texas Hold'em is offered from 7:00 pm - 2:00 am on Thursdays.

Texas Hold'em and Omaha

The player with the button is the "small blind" and places one chip on the button. The player to his left is the "big blind" and places three chips in front of him/her. The dealer collects these two blinds and places them in front of the drop box before any cards are dealt. After the first three cards have been dealt the four chips are dropped into the box.

OMAHA

In Omaha each player receives four uninterrupted cards dealt face down as their initial hand. A player must use two cards in their hand and three cards from the board to determine their best high hand and two cards from their hand and three from the board to determine their best low hand. A low hand must be 8 high or under. All other rules for Texas Hold-em apply.

Omaha is offered from 6:00 pm - 2:00 am on Mondays and Thursdays and Sundays.
