

California Health & Safety Code §11481

§ 11481. The Research Advisory Panel may hold hearings on, and in other ways study, research projects concerning the treatment of abuse of controlled substances.

The Panel may approve research projects, which have been registered by the Attorney General, concerning the treatment of abuse of controlled substances and shall inform the chief of such approval. The Panel may withdraw approval of a research project at any time and when approval is withdrawn shall so notify the chief.

The Panel shall, annually and in the manner determined by the Panel, report to the Legislature and the Governor those research projects approved by the Panel, the nature of each research project, and where available, the conclusions of the research project.
