Dear {{CUST_FULL_NM}}:

We take the security of your information seriously and want to let you know about an incident related to your personal and financial information.

Here's what happened and how it affects you

What happened	We recently learned that between April and November 2020 a call center employee may have allowed an unauthorized third party to overhear their call with you about your Chase account. The employee may also have shown the third party their screen.
What information was involved	During that conversation, some information such as your name, address, account number, Social Security number and email address may have been disclosed.
What we are doing	We have terminated the employee, and our monitoring hasn't identified any unusual transactions in your accounts related to the call. You won't be liable for any fraudulent activity on your Chase accounts that you promptly tell us about.
What you can do	It's always a good practice to review your accounts regularly on chase.com and in monthly statements.
Other important information	We continually review our systems and processes to protect our customers' information.
For more information	Go to chase.com/privacy or call 1-888-868-8618.

You Can Take Additional Steps to Help Protect Yourself

Place a one year fraud alert on your credit file

An initial one year fraud alert tells anyone requesting your credit file that you might be at risk for fraud. A lender should verify that you have authorized any request to open a credit account in your name, increase the credit limit and/or get a new card on an existing account. If the lender can't verify this, they shouldn't process the request.

Contact any one of the credit reporting agencies to set up an initial one year fraud alert.

Place a security freeze on your credit file

A security freeze on your credit file prevents anyone from accessing your credit report and therefore from issuing credit in your name. However, placing a security freeze also may delay, interfere with, or prevent the timely approval of any requests you make for new loans, credit, mortgages, employment, housing or other services.

Contact all three of the credit reporting agencies above to set up a security freeze with each of them.

Order your free annual credit reports

Visit annualcreditreport.com or call 1-877-322-8228 to get a free copy of your credit reports. Once you receive them:

- Verify that all information is correct.
- Look for discrepancies such as accounts you didn't open or creditor inquiries you didn't authorize.
- Contact the credit reporting agency if you notice incorrect information or have questions.

Manage your personal information

- Carry only essential documents with you.
- Be cautious about sharing your personal information with anyone else.
- Shred receipts, statements, and other documents containing sensitive information.
- Use anti-virus software on your computer and keep it updated.

Use tools to monitor your credit and financial accounts

- We suggest that you carefully review your credit reports and bank, credit card and other account information on chase.com and in statements for any transaction you don't recognize.
- We can provide copies of past statements at no cost to you.
- Call us at 1-888-868-8618 to report unauthorized transactions.
- Work with us to close your account(s) and open new ones with new account numbers.
- Create alerts with your credit card company and bank to notify you of activity.
- File an identity-theft report with your local police and contact the credit reporting agency that issued the report if you find unauthorized or suspicious activity on your credit report.
