Notice of Data Breach

Dear :

We write to inform you about a matter that may involve your information. This letter provides you with information about what happened, steps we have taken in response, and steps you may take should you feel it is appropriate.

What Happened? In November 2025, we learned that a third-party vendor with authorized access to certain cloud-hosted firm resources may have unintentionally permitted, directly or indirectly, unauthorized access to cloud-hosted firm documents. In response, we took steps to confirm this matter did not involve our computer network and reviewed information provided by the cloud provider. The provider advised that certain documents were accessed between October 27 and November 4, 2025. Upon receiving this information, we began a review of the potentially impacted documents to determine what information was contained in them, and to whom the information related. This review was necessary for us to identify potentially affected individuals so we could arrange to provide those individuals with notice and an offer of complimentary identity monitoring. The review of the files was complete on December 4, 2025.

What Information Was Involved? The types of information present in the potentially accessed documents includes name and the following: .

What We Are Doing. We arranged for the party responsible for this matter to delete the accessed files. We are also notifying individuals to ensure they are aware of this matter. Additionally, we are providing individuals with free resources and guidance, including identity monitoring services. While no safeguards can fully prevent all cybersecurity matters, we are evaluating additional technical measures, as well as reviewing our vendor vetting and supervision practices, to reduce the risk of an issue like this reoccurring. We will continue to evaluate and update our policies and practices as appropriate.

What You Can Do. We encourage individuals to remain vigilant against incidents of identity theft and fraud by reviewing their account statements, if appropriate, and monitoring their free credit reports for suspicious activity and to detect errors. Individuals may also review the “Steps Individuals Can Take To Protect Personal Information” section of this letter. Further, individuals may enroll in the complimentary identity monitoring services. The enrollment instructions can be found in the “Enroll in Monitoring Services” section of this letter. Please note that, due to privacy restrictions, we are unable to automatically enroll individuals in the complimentary identity monitoring services.

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order a free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. Consumers may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of their credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a one-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If consumers are the victim of identity theft, they are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should consumers wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in a consumer’s name without consent. However, consumers should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in their credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application they make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, consumers cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on their credit report. To request a credit freeze, individuals may need to provide some or all of the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if they are a victim of identity theft.

Should consumers wish to place a credit freeze or fraud alert, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
