[Notice of Data Breach]

Dear Sample A. Sample:

I write to inform you of a recent event that may affect the security of certain of your personal information that was maintained by my accounting firm. While I have received no indications of actual misuse of your information as a result of this event, this letter provides information about the event, the response, and resources available to you to help protect your information from possible misuse, should you feel it appropriate to do so.

What Happened? On February 15, 2023, portable hard drives containing data backups of my firm's computer system were stolen from my personal vehicle. Upon discovery, I immediately reported the theft to local law enforcement and initiated an internal investigation to determine the scope of any potential impact. While I continue to cooperate with the ongoing law enforcement investigation, it is possible the drives may not be recovered. In an abundance of caution, I undertook an extensive review of my firm's records to determine which clients' information may have been contained on the drives so I could inform them of the theft. I recently concluded my review and confirmed contact information for my clients to provide notifications.

What Information Was Involved? My investigation determined that the stolen hard drives may have contained your name and [data elements].

What We Are Doing. The confidentiality, privacy, and security of information in my firm's care are among my highest priorities, and I take this event very seriously. Although I do not have any indication of identity theft or fraud as a result of this event, I am offering complimentary credit monitoring and identity restoration services through Experian for twenty-four (24) months as an added precaution. I also reported this event to law enforcement and assisted with their investigation.

What You Can Do. I encourage you to remain vigilant against incidents of identity theft and fraud and to review your account statements and free credit reports for suspicious activity and to detect errors. Additional information and resources are included in the enclosed Steps You Can Take to Protect Personal Information. You may also enroll in the complementary credit monitoring services available to you. Enrollment instructions are enclosed with this letter.

For More Information. If you have additional questions, please call the dedicated assistance line at (833) 549-2142, toll-free Monday through Friday from 6 am – 8 pm Pacific, or Saturday and Sunday from 8 am – 5 pm Pacific (excluding major U.S. holidays). Be prepared to provide engagement number B088298. You may also write to me at 290 E. Verdugo Ave, Suite 204, Burbank, California 91502.

Sincerely,

Ara Haddadian

STEPS YOU CAN TAKE TO HELP PROTECT PERSONAL INFORMATION

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. You may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of your credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a one-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any one of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. You should be aware, however, that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, you cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on your credit report. To request a security freeze, you will need to provide the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if you are a victim of identity theft.

Should you wish to place a credit freeze, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:

Additional Information

You may further educate yourself regarding identity theft, fraud alerts, credit freezes, and the steps you can take to protect your personal information by contacting the consumer reporting bureaus, the Federal Trade Commission, or your state attorney general. The Federal Trade Commission may be reached at: 600 Pennsylvania Avenue NW, Washington, DC 20580; www.identitytheft.gov; 1-877-ID-THEFT (1-877-438-4338); and TTY: 1-866-653-4261. The Federal Trade Commission also encourages those who discover that their information has been misused to file a complaint with them. You can obtain further information on how to file such a complaint by way of the contact information listed above. You have the right to file a police report if you ever experience identity theft or fraud. To file a report with law enforcement for identity theft, you will likely need to provide some proof that you have been a victim. Instances of known or suspected identity theft should also be reported to law enforcement and your state attorney general. This notice has not been delayed by law enforcement.
