Re: Notice of Data Breach

Dear <<Name 1>>:

Avid Technology is writing to inform you of an event that may impact some of your personal information. We wanted to provide you with information about the event, our response, and steps you may take to better protect against the possibility of fraud, should you feel it is necessary to do so.

What Happened? In October of last year, Avid determined there had been unauthorized access to certain Avid employee email accounts. Avid first identified suspicious activity within an email account on September 24, 2018, and promptly launched an investigation into the nature and scope of the incident, the information that may have been improperly accessed, and the identities of the impacted individuals. Avid also took steps to secure the email accounts. The investigation determined a rule to forward all incoming messages to an unauthorized email account was established on an employee’s account from October 8, 2018 to October 12, 2018. Avid then began an extensive programmatic and manual review of the impacted account to determine if any sensitive data was contained in the account. Avid began notifying individuals on or around June 5, 2019, while this data review was underway. On August 16, 2019, we completed the process of identifying individuals who may have had personal information accessible in the account. We recently concluded a thorough, manual review of our records to identify contact information for the remaining individuals with information accessible within the account.

What Information Was Involved? We determined an email message containing the following types of information relating to you may have been available within the account, but were not forwarded, during this incident: <<Data Elements>>.

Under U.S. law you are entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. You may also contact the three major credit bureaus directly to request a free copy of your credit report.

You have the right to place a “security freeze” on your credit report, which will prohibit a consumer reporting agency from releasing information in your credit report without your express authorization. The security freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a security freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, you cannot be charged to place or lift a security freeze on your credit report. Should you wish to place a security freeze, please contact the major consumer reporting agencies listed below:

In order to request a security freeze, you will need to provide the following information:

1. Your full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. If you have moved in the past five (5) years, provide the addresses where you have lived over the prior five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver's license or ID card, military identification, etc.);
7. If you are a victim of identity theft, include a copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft.

As an alternative to a security freeze, you have the right to place an initial or extended "fraud alert" on your file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a one-year alert that is placed on a consumer's credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer's credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer's identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any one of the agencies listed below:
