What you need to do

1. Go to discover.com/activate or call 1-800-347-2275 to activate your new card
 - Activate your new card immediately to ensure uninterrupted use.
 - If you have additional designs, you will receive them separately.
 - Additional cards will need to be activated when you receive them.
2. Your current card will be deactivated
 - Your current card will be deactivated the day you call to activate your new card. Even if you don't, it will be deactivated for your protection on 02/12/2014, regardless of the expiration date.
 - Destroy your current card immediately.
3. Update your account information at merchants
 - If you pay bills automatically with your Discover card, you'll want to contact those businesses immediately to update your account information.
 - We also recommend updating your information at any merchant websites where you have stored your Discover account information.

Why you're getting a new card

Target announced that they have experienced unauthorized access to payment card data from U.S. Target stores. This incident did not involve any Discover® card systems, and there is no evidence that an unauthorized individual is using this account number. To reduce the possibility of fraud occurring on your account, we are issuing you a new card.

For the security of your account, we replaced the security codes on the back of your card without changing your account number.

Target has published additional information at <https://corporate.target.com/discover/article/important-Notice-Unauthorized-access-to-payment-card>

Discover is committed to the security of your account, and we are proactively monitoring it for unusual activity. Remember, with our $0 Fraud Liability Guarantee, you are never responsible for unauthorized charges on your Discover card account.

As a cardmember, you're always protected against fraud
