

NOTICE OF DATA BREACH

You Can Trade, Inc. ("YCT"), a subsidiary of TradeStation Group, Inc., is an online education service company (hereinafter collectively referred to as "TradeStation"), that values and respects your privacy, which is why we are writing to make you aware of a recent incident that involves some of your personal data.

WHAT HAPPENED

On May 28, 2020 YCT discovered that certain personal data of YCT customers and prospective customers ("YCT Data") was accessed by one or more unauthorized persons.

WHAT INFORMATION WAS INVOLVED

The data accessed may have included personal data such as: first name, last name, username, password (salted and hashed), email address, and phone number. If you purchased a subscription with You Can Trade, Inc., additional personal data involved includes your billing address, credit card type, but only the last four digits of your credit card number and credit card expiration date. Given the types of personal data that may be affected (particularly given that passwords are salted and hashed which means that they are not visible and the fact that limited credit card data was accessed), we believe it is unlikely that there will be harmful consequences from this incident.

WHAT WE ARE DOING

TradeStation has an enterprise-wide Information Security department whose responsibilities include all TradeStation subsidiaries, including YCT. TradeStation has implemented preventive measures to safeguard your personal data that includes a variety of technical and administrative measures designed to protect electronic systems and the information on those systems from unauthorized access, use, and other malicious acts. However, in the event of an incident TradeStation has a comprehensive incident response plan that facilitates the detection, review, and containment of an incident.

TradeStation has implemented additional security measures to prevent a reoccurrence. Additionally, TradeStation identified two domains (shayand.com and youcantrade.urtestsite.com) that accessed the YCT DATA and were mimicking the appearance of YCT's website. We promptly acted and shut down both domains.

WHAT YOU CAN DO

As a precautionary measure, we recommend that you remain vigilant and do not click on any emails that you may receive that may seem suspicious and/or may contain any links or language with the above referenced domains (shayand.com or youcantrade.urtestsite.com). If you do have an account with YCT, please make any changes to your account by logging directly onto the YCT website (www.youcantrade.com).
