Re: <<Variable Header>>

Dear <<Name 1>>:

Filters Now, LLC (“Filters Now”) is writing to inform you of an event that may impact the privacy of some of your personal information. While we are unaware of any actual misuse of your information related to this event, we are providing you with information about the event, our response, and steps you may take to protect against any misuse of your information, should you feel it appropriate to do so. Please know we take this event very seriously and have been working diligently to investigate and respond.

What Happened? On or about March 17, 2022, we became aware of suspicious activity within one of our databases that stores credit card information sourced from our e-commerce website, www.filters-now.com. We immediately launched an investigation to determine the nature and scope of the event. The investigation recently determined that an unknown individual gained unauthorized access to a database which stored certain customer information from www.filters-now.com between July 23, 2019, and March 8, 2022. The investigation was unable to determine which credit cards may have been accessed by the unauthorized actor during this time. Additionally, although credit card numbers were tokenized and protected by encryption, the investigation was unable to rule out the possibility that credit card numbers could have been accessed by the threat actor. Therefore, in an abundance of caution, once the investigation was complete, we undertook a thorough review of our records to determine which customers made purchases during that time. This review was recently completed.

What Information Was Involved? Our records indicate you made a purchase on our website during the above time period. Therefore, the following information related to you may have been impacted: name and payment card information, including card number and expiration date.

What We Are Doing. We take this event and the security of personal information in our care very seriously. We have strict security measures in place to protect the data on our systems, and we continue to assess and update our security measures. Upon learning of this event, we promptly took steps to confirm the security of our systems and investigate the activity. We worked quickly to secure our website and implement additional network and endpoint monitoring to reduce the risk of recurrence. We are also notifying regulators of this event, as necessary.

What You Can Do. We encourage you to remain vigilant against incidents of identity theft and fraud, to monitor your accounts for any unusual activity and to detect errors, and to report any instances of theft or fraud to law enforcement. Please review the enclosed Steps You Can Take to Help Protect Personal Information, which contains information on what you can do to better safeguard your information.

For More Information. We understand that you may have questions about this event that are not addressed in this letter. If you have additional questions or concerns, please call our toll-free dedicated assistance line at 855-943-4122. This toll-free line is available Monday through Friday (excluding U.S. holidays) between 9 am and 9 pm Eastern.

Sincerely,

Filters Now, LLC

STEPS YOU CAN TAKE TO HELP PROTECT PERSONAL INFORMATION

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. You may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of your credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any one of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, you cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on your credit report. To request a security freeze, you will need to provide the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if you are a victim of identity theft.

Should you wish to place a credit freeze, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
