Re: Notification of Privacy Incident

Dear [Recipient's Name],

As a trusted steward of your personal information, Alight Solutions is committed to the privacy and security of your data. We regret to inform you of a privacy incident that involved some of your personal information and wish to explain the incident, the steps we have taken in response, and measures you can take as well.

What happened?

On September 23, 2025, Alight was notified that another Alight client received a report that contained your information. They notified us of the error and confirmed they did not retain any of your information. Alight determined that the inadvertent disclosure was the result of a human error, not any malicious action. The information involved in this matter was accessible only to an authorized client contact who has a duty to maintain confidentiality.

What information was involved?

The information may have included your name, social security number, addresses and benefit plan enrollment information.

What are we doing in response?

Upon discovery, Alight immediately started an investigation and received written confirmation from the unintended recipient that they deleted the data and did not use or share it with anyone else. We have conducted a review of our data handling procedures and have implemented additional steps in this process to prevent similar incidents in the future. Additional training has also been provided to all agents that work with these reports.

To help relieve concerns and restore confidence following this incident, we are offering complimentary credit monitoring and identity restoration services through Experian for 12 months. To take advantage of these free credit monitoring and identity theft protection services, please follow the instructions in Attachment A. You must enroll by January 31, 2026, to receive these services.

What can you do?

We recommend vigilance in monitoring all of your accounts for any unusual activity. For more information on how to protect your identity, and to claim our credit monitoring, refer to the attached guide.

For more information:

If you have any questions or concerns regarding this incident, please contact [Contact Information] Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Eastern Time. We sincerely apologize for any inconvenience this may have caused.

More Information about Identity Protection

Below are additional helpful tips you may want to consider protecting your personal information.

Review Your Credit Reports and Account Statements & Notify Law Enforcement of Suspicious Activity

As a precautionary measure, we recommend that you remain vigilant by reviewing your credit reports and account statements closely. If you detect any suspicious activity on an account, you should promptly notify the financial institution or other company with which the account is maintained. You also should promptly report any fraudulent activity or any suspected incidents of identity theft to proper law enforcement authorities. If you believe you are the victim of identity theft or have reason to believe your personal information has been misused, you should immediately contact law enforcement, the Federal Trade Commission ("FTC") and/or the Attorney General's office in your home state. You can also contact these agencies for information on how to prevent or avoid identity theft, and you can contact the FTC at:

Federal Trade Commission Consumer Response Center 600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW Washington, DC 20580 http://www.identitytheft.gov/ 1-877-IDTHEFT (438-4338)

Copy of Credit Report

You may obtain a free copy of your credit report from each of the three major credit reporting agencies once every 12 months by visiting https://www.annualcreditreport.com, calling toll-free 877-322-8228, or by completing an Annual Credit Report Request Form and mailing it to the Annual Credit Report Request Service, P.O. Box 105281, Atlanta, GA 30348- 5281. You can print this form at https://www.annualcreditreport.com/manualRequestForm.action. Credit reporting agency contact details are provided below.

^{} The Identity Theft Insurance is underwritten and administered by American Bankers Insurance Company of Florida, an Assurant company. Please refer to the actual policies for terms, conditions, and exclusions of coverage. Coverage may not be available in all jurisdictions.

When you receive your credit reports, review them carefully. Look for accounts or credit inquiries that you did not initiate or do not recognize. Look for information, such as home address and Social Security number, that is inaccurate. If you see anything you do not understand, call the credit reporting agency at the telephone number on the report.

Fraud Alert

You may want to consider placing a fraud alert on your credit file. An initial fraud alert is free and will stay on your credit file for at least 90 days. The alert informs creditors of possible fraudulent activity within your report and requests that the creditor contact you prior to establishing any accounts in your name. If you have already been a victim of identity theft, you may have an extended alert placed on your report if you provide the appropriate documentary proof. An extended fraud alert stays on your credit report for seven years. To place a fraud alert on your credit report, contact any of the three credit reporting agencies identified above.

Security Freeze

You have the right to place a security freeze on your credit file free of charge. This will prevent new credit from being opened in your name without the use of a PIN number that is issued to you when you initiate the freeze. A security freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. As a result, using a security freeze may delay your ability to obtain credit. In order to place a security freeze, you may be required to provide the consumer reporting agency with information that identifies you including your full name; social security number; date of birth; current and previous addresses; a copy of your state-issued identification card; and a recent utility bill, bank statement, or telephone bill.

Federal Fair Credit Reporting Act Rights

The Fair Credit Reporting Act ("FCRA") is federal legislation that regulates how consumer reporting agencies use your information. It promotes the accuracy, fairness, and privacy of consumer information in the files of consumer reporting agencies. As a consumer, you have certain rights under the FCRA, which the FTC has summarized as follows: you must be told if information in your file has been used against you; you have the right to know what is in your file; you have the right to ask for a credit score; you have the right to dispute incomplete or inaccurate information; consumer reporting agencies must correct or delete inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information; consumer reporting agencies may not report outdated negative information; access to your file is limited; you must give your consent for reports to be provided to employers; you may limit "prescreened" offers of credit and insurance you get based on information in your credit report; and you may seek damages from violators. Identity theft victims and active-duty military personnel have additional rights.

For more information about these rights, you may go to www.ftc.gov/credit or write to: Consumer Response Center, Room 13-A, Federal Trade Commission, 600 Pennsylvania Avenue NW, Washington, DC 20580.

Additional Resources

If you are the victim of fraud or identity theft, you also have the right to file a police report.

You may consider starting a file with copies of your credit reports, any police report, any correspondence, and copies of disputed bills. It is also useful to keep a log of your conversations with creditors, law enforcement officials, and other relevant parties.
