Re: Notice of Data Breach

Dear <<Name 1>>:

Meriplex is writing to inform you of a recent incident that may impact the privacy of some of your personal information. Meriplex has access to your information because we provide some remote IT services to Malaga Bank. We would like to inform you of what happened, how we are handling it, and steps you may take to protect against any misuse of your information, should you choose to do so.

What Happened? On August 30, 2022, Meriplex became aware of suspicious activity by one of its employees. Meriplex took immediate action to secure its systems, including terminating the employee, notifying state and federal law enforcement, and launching an investigation with third-party forensic specialists. As a result of that investigation, Meriplex learned that certain information about some customers of Malaga Bank was downloaded by Meriplex’s former employee without authorization. An analysis of the data involved was initiated on September 26, 2022.

What Information Was Involved? Information downloaded by this individual included your name and Social Security number. Although we have no evidence currently to indicate any information was subject to actual or attempted misuse following the unauthorized download, we are proactively informing all impacted individuals.

What We Are Doing. The confidentiality, privacy, and security of the information we maintain is one of our highest priorities. In response to this event, Meriplex has implemented additional controls such as password rotation, data loss prevention, USB restrictions, and a review of all system accesses. We are notifying potentially impacted individuals, including you, to offer services and resources to stay protected against any potential consequences. As a precaution, we invite you to take advantage of immediate access to credit monitoring and identity theft protection services for twenty-four (24) months at no cost to you, through Equifax. You can find information about how to enroll in these services in the enclosed “Steps You Can Take to Help Better Protect Your Information” document.

What You Can Do. We encourage you to remain vigilant against incidents of identity theft and fraud by reviewing your account statements and monitoring your free credit reports for suspicious activity and to detect errors. If you see charges or activity that you did not authorize, contact the relevant financial institution or credit bureau to report the activity immediately. You may also review the information contained in the attached “Steps You Can Take to Help Better Protect Your Information” document.

For More Information. We understand that you may have questions about this incident that are not addressed in this letter. If you have additional questions, please call our dedicated assistance line at 855-913-0436, 9am to 9pm Eastern, Monday through Friday, except major U.S Holidays. We take this incident very seriously and sincerely regret any inconvenience or concern this incident may have caused you. ¹WebScan searches for your Social Security Number, up to 5 passport numbers, up to 6 bank account numbers, up to 6 credit/debit card numbers, up to 6 email addresses, and up to 10 medical ID numbers. WebScan searches thousands of Internet sites where consumers’ personal information is suspected of being bought and sold, and regularly adds new sites to the list of those it searches. However, the Internet addresses of these suspected Internet trading sites are not published and frequently change, so there is no guarantee that we are able to locate and search every possible Internet site where consumers’ personal information is at risk of being traded.

²The Automatic Fraud Alert feature is made available to consumers by Equifax Information Services LLC and fulfilled on its behalf by Equifax Consumer Services LLC.

³Locking your Equifax credit report will prevent access to it by certain third parties. Locking your Equifax credit report will not prevent access to your credit report at any other credit reporting agency. Entities that may still have access to your Equifax credit report include: companies like Equifax Global Consumer Solutions, which provide you with access to your credit report or credit score, or monitor your credit report as part of a subscription or similar service; companies that provide you with a copy of your credit report or credit score, upon your request; federal, state and local government agencies and courts in certain circumstances; companies using the information in connection with the underwriting of insurance, or for employment, tenant or background screening purposes; companies that have a current account or relationship with you, and collection agencies acting on behalf of those whom you owe; companies that authenticate a consumer’s identity for purposes other than granting credit, or for investigating or preventing actual or potential fraud; and companies that wish to make pre-approved offers of credit or insurance to you. To opt out of such pre-approved offers, visit www.optoutprescreen.com.

⁴The Identity Theft Insurance benefit is underwritten and administered by American Bankers Insurance Company of Florida, an Assurant company, under group or blanket policies issued to Equifax, Inc., or its respective affiliates for the benefit of its Members. Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. You may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of your credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any one of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, you cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on your credit report. To request a security freeze, you will need to provide the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if you are a victim of identity theft.

Should you wish to place a credit freeze, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
