Dear <<Name 1>>:

The National Wildlife Federation (“NWF”) is writing to inform you about an incident that may affect the security of your payment card information. This notice provides information about the incident, NWF’s response, and resources available to you to help protect your information from possible misuse, should you feel it necessary to do so.

What Happened? On or about December 4, 2020, NWF received notice from its third-party IT website security vendor of a potential data security incident that may have resulted in the compromise of payment cards used at Zoobooks.com. Upon receiving this notice, NWF immediately began an internal investigation to determine the nature and scope of this potential incident. As part of its investigation, NWF retained third party computer forensic specialists to determine what happened, how the incident happened, and what information was involved. Through the investigation, on January 8, 2021, NWF determined that malicious code could have facilitated the unauthorized acquisition of customers’ payment card information entered on Zoobooks.com between February 6, 2019 and December 10, 2020. NWF worked with its third-party vendors to immediately remediate this issue.

What Information Was Involved? NWF’s investigation determined that malicious code capable of capturing customer order and payment information, such as name, address, payment card number, expiration date, and CVV number, for payment cards was used on Zoobooks.com between February 6, 2019 and December 10, 2020.

What We Are Doing. NWF treats its responsibility to safeguard customer information as an utmost priority. NWF has security measures in place to protect its customers’ information. Upon discovery and confirmation of this incident, NWF worked with its third-party vendors to further secure Zoobooks.com moving forward. NWF continues to review its security policies and procedures as part of its ongoing commitment to information privacy and security.

What You Can Do. NWF encourages you to remain vigilant against incidents of identity theft and fraud and to review your account statements, and credit reports for suspicious activity. You may also review the enclosed “Steps You Can Take to Prevent Identity Theft and Fraud.”

For More Information. NWF regrets any concern or inconvenience this situation has caused you and understand that you may have questions about this incident that are not addressed in this letter. If you have additional questions, or need assistance please call our dedicated assistance line at (855) 654-0866, Monday – Friday, 9am to 9pm Eastern Time, except holidays.

Sincerely,

Richard Brown

Steps You Can Take to Prevent Identity Theft and Fraud

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. You may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of your credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any one of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, you cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on your credit report. To request a security freeze, you will need to provide the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, military identification, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if you are a victim of identity theft.

Should you wish to place a fraud alert or credit freeze, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:

Additional Information

You may further educate yourself regarding identity theft, fraud alerts, credit freezes, and the steps you can take to protect your personal information by contacting the consumer reporting bureaus, the Federal Trade Commission, or your state Attorney General. The Federal Trade Commission may be reached at: 600 Pennsylvania Avenue NW, Washington, DC 20580; www.identitytheft.gov; 1-877-ID-THEFT (1-877-438-4338); and TTY: 1-866-653-4261. The Federal Trade Commission also encourages those who discover that their information has been misused to file a complaint with them. You can obtain further information on how to file such a complaint by way of the contact information listed above. You have the right to file a police report if you ever experience identity theft or fraud. Please note that in order to file a report with law enforcement for identity theft, you will likely need to provide some proof that you have been a victim. Instances of known or suspected identity theft should also be reported to law enforcement and your state Attorney General. This notice has not been delayed by law enforcement.
