Subject: Important Information About Your Reddit Account

As a precautionary measure in response to the security incident we announced here, we're requiring some of our users to reset their Reddit account passwords.

Please reset your password here to continue using your account:
<https://www.reddit.com/prefs/update>

You will need to use the desktop site to do so if you are on mobile.

We recommend that you use long, complex passwords (at least 12 characters - a short sentence works beautifully), and do not reuse your password on any other site.

We apologize for any inconvenience.
