

Hi [name],

Recently, we detected suspicious activity on your StumbleUpon account. To keep you safe we have locked your account and reset your password.

To regain access, you will need to confirm your username ([name]) and email address here.

How can this happen? People often use the same password across multiple services, which can put you at risk. To minimize your exposure, StumbleUpon recommends using unique passwords for each service that you use.

Thanks for your cooperation as we seek to restore your account,

Team StumbleUpon
