WSSC ANTI-TRUST DISCUSSION GUIDELINES

I. GENERAL

The antitrust laws and the cases interpreting them do not clearly define all antitrust violations. Often, the resolution of an antitrust claim will turn on whether the action, such as reliability of the integrated grid or the enhancement of competition outweigh any countervailing anticompetitive effects. These are factual issues which may not be able to be resolved except by a fact finder such as a judge or jury. Notwithstanding this vagueness in the law, certain activities are clearly prohibited. Part II sets out the clearly prohibited activities. WSSC members should refrain from the prohibited activities in all WSSC meetings and in other WSSC-related communications with WSSC members. Even aside from the clearly prohibited activities, there may be other actions which could violate the antitrust laws which are not expressly dealt with herein. In considering nonreliability matters, so long as the action serves to promote or enhance competition, there should be little likelihood of an antitrust problem. Questions or requests for advice of WSSC counsel should be directed to the WSSC's Executive Director.

II. PROHIBITED ACTIVITIES

WSSC members should refrain from the following when acting in their capacity as WSSC members (i.e., at WSSC meetings and informal discussions, conference calls, etc):

- Discussions involving non-public pricing information, especially margin (profit) and confidential internal cost information and members' expectations as to their future prices or internal costs.
- A member discussing its confidential marketing strategies.
- Discussions which are intended to reach agreement or to cause an action regarding how customers and geographical areas are to be divided among competitors unless such agreement or action would be expressly permitted by state law or will be effective only if accepted by a regulatory agency.
- Discussions which are intended to reach agreement or to cause actions to exclude competitors from markets unless such agreement or action would be expressly permitted by state law or will be effective only if accepted by a regulatory agency.

III. ACTIVITIES WHICH ARE PERMITTED

WSCC members may discuss and approve:

- Reliability matters, including operation and planning matters such as establishing reliability criteria, operating procedures, operating transfer capabilities, and plans for new facilities.
- Other matters if any agreement or action will be permitted by express state approval or any such action or agreement will be filed with a governmental body such as FERC for its acceptance.
- Public pricing and public cost information.
- Planning and/or operating procedures that ensure that the operation of a project does not jeopardize the reliability of the interconnected system.

For any matters which you desire to discuss which may adversely affect competition, you should have a legitimate reason for the discussion, such as to promote reliability, develop reliability criteria, policies, and operating procedures, enhance system operations, or to reach a settlement. If you do not have a legitimate WSCC business reason for discussing a matter which could adversely affect competition, please refrain from discussing the matter during WSCC meetings and other WSCC-related communications. You should also ensure that WSCC procedures are followed in conducting WSCC business.
