Dear DOJ Reparations Task Force Committee:

I am advised that your agency (DOJ) is the official facilitator of the California Reparations Bill AB3121.

For all my Google searches, I have been unable to locate complete or comprehensive checklist information on the exact claims requirements and process.

Therefore, I forward an official Reparations Claim Application along with the official requirements checklist and mailing address for submission of the same be forwarded to me post haste, as I do not want to miss the deadline or any deadlines.

Thank you for your prompt response in this most urgent matter yet tardy promise.

The task force should concentrate fon reparations for the Native American community first. These tribes occupied California first and their land was taken from them. While I agree African Americans have been discriminated against in the past, they were not subjected to slavery in California. It is shameful that the State of California doesn't recognize its poor treatment of Native Americans

I do not feel that any reparations are in order. There are many other ethnic groups besides African Americans, mainley Hispanics and Asians. You don't hear them crying about how poorly they were treated. This is just a another money grab by a bunch of woke California's who want something for nothing. The time in history that you're speaking of has nothing to do with the current generations here in California. They have not been impacted in any way. Compensation should be 0.

I strongly disagree with any reparations given to individuals for any alleged mistreatment that occurred decades or centuries ago.

My grandmother was full blooded Cherokee. Native Americans were severely mistreated, but I do not expect any reparations for the poor treatment they received at the hands of our government.

I do not want one dollar of my taxes going to reparations for anyone. I even oppose whatever tax revenue was used to fund the task force on reparations.

Where does it all end? Will reparations be given to families of Japanese who were in camps during WWII, to Vietnamese who were boat people fleeing to the US, to Hispanics who's ancestors lost land in the Spanish American War, to Chinese who built the railroads and worked in the gold fields, to Native Americans who were sent to reservations, etc. etc.

It is not the state, but the people of the state that are going to pay these reparations. This is wrong. My taxes should not go to this cause. My ancestors came to America in the 1920's, long after slavery. They settled into a small farm community, Soledad, Ca. There were very few blacks in our town, but I never witnessed any racism. My best friend in grammar school was black and his family were active in our church and lived down the street from our family. I disagree with anyone who wants to take money from me to pay reparations to someone because they were black.

Where do I find this link to a live stream of the meeting so I can watch particularly for sat.

I opened a file of documents for this meeting. It is 4000 plus pages. Could you please separate these documents on your website so it is possible to download one document at a time to read. I would like to read all of this information but It really is not readily accessible to me using an iPad and with no computer for organizing downloads. There is a lot of information here that provides opportunities for education and research. Please make all of this material more accessible to the public.

Dear Members of the Task Force

Thank you for your report and all the work you and the many others, staff and members of the public, have done so far.

I hope that during your meetings today and tomorrow you share how others of us, here in the California public at large, can support your efforts going forward to ensure that reparations are enacted and implemented.

I also ask you to consider, if you haven't already, including the following four recommendations in your final report:

- 1) A formal apology to be included as a part of the record when implementing reparations and reporting on those reparations to the public, the state and federal governments, and elsewhere.
- 2) A formal response by the California Legislature and the Governor specifically addressing each recommendation in your final report not chosen for full implementation explaining how the badge or harm, the point of that specific recommendation, is being addressed alternatively and why.
- 3) A regular on-going review and report on the progress on implementing the reparations and the sufficiency of the reparations. With respect to sufficiency, such determination to be made solely by Black people eligible for these reparations.
- 4) In the event that the eligibility for these reparations excludes some Black people in California, then the final report includes a recommendation to provide for a similar process to generation and implementation of reparations for those excluded Black people in California.

In closing, I offer you my support and best wishes for the work you, and we, have ahead.

Sincerely;

I feel that Reggie Jones-Sawyer is a trojan horse for introducing AB 2296 and

I do not approve of extending the time for the reparations task force.

Furthermore, AB 2296 will undermine the Taskforce that was assembled for AB 3121. It will both destroy reparations and the progress that has been made by the AB 3121 Taskforce.

Lastly, The only people that should get reparations are African Americans who are Descendants of Persons Enslaved in the United States.

Everyone knows there has been an increase in race related hate crimes over the last few years. There is a certain percentage of the population that is biased towards minorities. If you develop a compensation pool for minorities who have been harmed in the past you will only be increasing this resentment and surely see more racially motivated hate crimes. So I hope you think long and hard about how this is perceived by the public and the backlash that minorities might face in California.

My suggestion is to use whatever funds are allocated to this effort to community based programs to assist minorities and to further educate the population about equality.

Thank you,

Last night on the tv it was stated that input could be given today (Friday) and Saturday.

We are strongly against spending tax payers money for any sort of reparations to any group for any reason. In this case, it is for slavery that ended at the conclusion of the Civil War. This is a federal issue, not a state issue. California did not have state- mandated slavery.

As far as we know, there is not/has not been a statute in Ca that mandated slavery.

The decedents of slavery had how long to recover! Why identify only black people? What about American Indians and the Chinese workers who suffered mightily building the railroads? There are numerous other similar groups.

If you look at supply side economics, any reparations would be an burdensome tax that would have a negative economic impact. There is no such thing as free money. Giving funds to one group, will take it from another group. This will also cause further inflation. Ca is too heavily taxed already! It appears that political motivation is driving this effort during an election year.

I am all for reparations but you have to be careful of who is applying for it.

How is coming from slaves going to be proven.

For cash families having lived in California for all of their lives should be first and any amount should be given to the family to disburse among the family.

Without having state residency requirements people will possibly keep moving from state to state trying to collect money.

Not all will do this but some will try.

Also any inmates who file for any money should be given to their dependents.

Same with those behind in their child support.

Education scholarships would help for those who want it and conbine it with improving schools and better educating fir the younger generation to succeed.

What about the Chinese, Japanese, native Americans, Hispanics and possibly other minorities who were also enslaved in California.

You can't just say one minority group was treated badly. The native Americans have been treated and still are treated badly.

I was discussing this with a group of friends and one person pointed out that California never had black slaves.

But interesting point brought up was Don Lemons interview with a representative from the United Kingdom where he pointed out why not begin reparations with the African tribes that captured and sold their captives into slavery.

Also what about those who lost their lives trying to stop it

Good evening Chair Moore - I hope you are relaxing after a long and productive day! Thank you for your leadership, even when the outbursts occurred, you were respectful, empathetic, measured and firm. It was a full day of learning and I am grateful for all of your efforts. As we briefly discussed, here is the email exchange for getting physical copies of The Report in libraries. Wendy Crutcher at the LA County Library would like 87 copies. Please instruct me on how to proceed in the process. Also, I reached out to San Bernardino, Orange and Riverside counties but have not heard back. I'd be happy to continue reaching out and expand to other counties, I await your guidance.

ps - I am absolutely thrilled to have a physical copy of The Report, thank you all!

In 2009 I met a researcher who had recently completed a maternal family tree for a distant cousin and she was seeking some photos from the family photo album I was working on with me aunt. I sent her a copy of the photos and she sent me her research material with the complete slave master's family dated in the 1700's. During that same time another distant cousin reached out to me for some photos and she gave me some photos and an obituary. I didn't review the obituary until a year later and learned that Henry Clay Rogers, my maternal great was a slave for the first 24 years of his life. After being set free he sharecropped for his master until he made enough money to purchase his own 40 acre farm.

He would own his farm for 49 years before he died. Based on the obituary he was popular with white people and many attended his funeral. I'm going to theorize that he arguably had the best farm in the state of Missouri. My mom talked about visiting the farm as a child mentioning seeing cows and horses. She never new how big it was and told us it was taken with a $300 tax letter in the 1930s. When I discovered it was a "40 acre farm", I couldn't help but think of the 40 acres and a mule promise made but not kept.

I was initially confused and did some research and discovered many lost their farms the same way, in addition to those who lost theirs by theft, and murder. It appears the tax letter was generated during their Depression to generate some revenue. Needless to say it was egregious sending out an unexpected tax letter that no one could read or expected after fifty years of land ownership. The more I dwelled on it the more upset I became. I, and those like me shouldn't have grown up in abject poverty. Our ancestors did the right thing and pulled themselves up by their bootstraps and look what happened.

After much thought I decided against advocating violence for our payback. Instead of hurting people and our people getting hurt, I felt repatriation and building a new reality from the ground up would be our best recourse. In order to facilitate repatriation I felt we could use reparations. I joined Facebook in 2010 to see if anyone was discussing reparations and repatriation. I joined a plethora of Black groups, but no one posted anything on those subjects. I shared my maternal greats story. I began a campaign on every death and racist brutality meme by commenting either we should "Consider repatriating and building a new reality from the ground up", or "We need to demand our reparations for our past due debt."

Regarding reparations I got nothing but negative comments for five years. The comments were: "We don't need reparations", "We need to focus on building black businesses", "Good luck with that", 'Your'e wasting your time". Regarding repatriations I got the same two comments: "They are African booty scratchers", and "Tthey don't like us." It took me three years to find something to overcome peoples objections regarding going to Africa. I searched YouTube for some favorable propaganda and found a video featuring a young Ghanian mother in her backyard telling black people to come home and that Africans loved them.

That video caused a paradigm shift in thinking when I began sharing that clip on the racism memes, the comments were nothing but love moving forward. I eventually attracted a millennial who asked me about creating a group to visit and/or move to Africa. That was my goal of course and together with three other Admins, we grew the group to over 40,000 in three months. There is now a nascent repatriation movement as reported on CBS Mornings. There are Pan-African YouTubers with hundreds of thousands of subscribers who travel throughout Africa.

In 2015 I finally came up with a game plan to get reparations to trend on Facebook. I knew that the government had shelved the study and I was going to die without it being discussed let alone receive anything. I was reviewing the Democratic Survey, and it dawned on me nothing had changed for the past 20 years and why Obama never did anything to specifically target black people. First and foremost the Democratic Party chose Obama, because they knew Black people would show up in record numbers and vote. Obama didn't campaign on helping black people, he campaigned on the Democratic Party's Platform determined by what the Democratic committee chose from the survey they received.

Based on the fact the Democratic survey had the same 10 choices, where they give you three to choose from, and a space to write in. I found the whole process suspect. Helping black people wasn't an option ,and therefore Obama didn't do much except the Obama Stimulus Package. That helped me for three years. I knew that the memes would soon trend about the importance of showing up to vote Trump out of office. I used that understanding to try a new approach on reparations. I knew the arguments about our people who died for our right to vote, and we need to show up, and vote. I used it in an argument, in why I wasn't going to vote, and help make reparations resonate.

On every meme I would commen: "I know our ancestors died for our right to vote, but I'm tired of voting for the same thing over and over again! Moving forward I want to vote for something I want! I want reparations! No Reparations No Vote!" Eventually I would just comment NO REPARATIONS NO VOTE! That resonated and finally Facebook began creating reparation memes. I used those opportunities to stress reparations should be for the descendants of the people whose ancestors built America as slave labor I!! I knew that the immigrants, especially those whose ancestors migrated during the 1920s from the British West Indies would be upset if excluded. However, I stressed that we shouldn't argue for Jim Crow and racism because that would be applicable to others and dilute the reparations for slavery compensation if they joined in.

I tried on several occasions educating my Diaspora friends that they should seek reparations from Britain, France, Spain, and other countries and support our movement. My arguments influenced the founding of ADOS and a disagreement in ADOS led to the creation of FBA. I didn't join either but I expected several groups to be created from this new attempt at moving the issue to completion. In time reparations spread so much that the Democratic contestants felt compelled to address it on the Youtube channel The Breakfast Club as well as on Wall Street.

Now that we are in the compensation discussion phase in this particular task force, I wasn't surprised to find the other races didn't like cash payouts. I don't like my tax dollars going to a plethora of things. Immigrants have benefited from my tax dollars. The Diaspora has benefited from my tax dollars. Asians and European countries have benefited from my tax dollars. Israel gets billions a year in aid and billions in loan guarantess. The Jews are arguably the wealthiest group in the US, why are my tax dollars going to them?

If we can pay taxes to aid others they can reciprocate and pay taxes to help us. I don't think we should let others dictate what we should receive. They survey was bogus! If someone get a free ride to Harvard then others should get an equal cash value compensation. Lets approach things from an equal compensation. Give a total cash value and a list of options to satisfy the compensation equitably. My main gaol from day one was to plead for those of us who would like to repatriate and build a new reality from the ground up. An equitable portion of any final total should include an amount set aside in an escrow account for those efforts.

That would entail a separate task force to determine how many of those eligible would like to have thier total amount going to fund a repatriation city/state, with the understanding that their portion could be withdrawn within certain limit of time before the destination and details are finalized.

Based on my research, common sense, and logic, seeking reparations for repatriation should be stressed as a possible start to overcome white and others objections.

I've read remarks in white spaces I monitor who stated they would support reparations if it was to pay for repatriation. Both Marcus Garvey and Malcolm X understood the need to negotiate with the racists who would support a separation. We were ready to leave with Marcus Garvey and that got sabotaged, but its a different era and the movement is growing again. Its time to study repatriation as a remedy. Thank You!

Cheers

SUBJECT: Racial Reparations Meeting – Talking Points.

SYNOPSIS:

As a community leader who represents a wide array of citizens, businesses, academic institutions, and social organizations, it is imperative that your voice is heard. The City of Fresno is the fifth largest City of the State of California, and one of the most diverse locals in the entire country.

As the representative of such diverse interests, it is imperative that you have a fundamental understating of the potential benefits and impacts of the proposed reparations. As well as, identification of the benefactors of the proposals.

Also, what will the reparations look like?

- Are there financial considerations?
- Will legal injustices be rectified?
- How will employment inequities be addressed?
- Is there a provision to improve access to healthcare for underrepresented persons?
- How will access to housing be increased?
- What information can you as a community leader take back to your community now?

BACKGROUND:

The slavery reparations movement hit a watershed moment on June 1, 2022, with the release of an exhaustive report detailing California's role in perpetuating discrimination against African Americans, a major step toward educating the public and setting the stage for an official government apology and case for financial restitution.

The 500-page document lays out the harm suffered by descendants of enslaved people even today, long after slavery was abolished in the 19th century, through discriminatory laws and actions in all facets of life, from housing and education to employment and the legal system.

Longtime reparations advocate Justin Hansford, who is a law professor at Howard University and director of the Thurgood Marshall Civil Rights Center in Washington called the moment exciting and monumental.

"To have an official detail of these histories coming from the state is important," he said. "I know a lot of people say we don't need to keep doing studies, but the reality is until it comes from some source that people think is objective, then it is going to be harder to convince everybody of some of the inequalities described."

The report comes at a time when school boards and states across the U.S. are banning books or restricting what can be taught in classrooms, with parents and lawmakers largely opposed to topics of sexuality, gender identity or race. State lawmakers have tried to bar schools from teaching the "1619 Project," a New York Times Pulitzer Prizewinning report that reframes American history with enslaved people at its heart.

California is headed in the opposite direction, said Adam Laats, a historian at Binghamton University who called the document remarkable in its unflinching account, including detailing how police officers and district attorneys in the City of Los Los Angeles less than a century ago, were members of or had ties to the Ku Klux Klan.

Gov. Gavin Newsom signed legislation creating the two-year task force in 2020, making California the only state to move ahead with a study and plan. Cities and universities have taken up the cause, with the Chicago suburb of Evanston, Illinois, becoming the first city to make reparations available to Black residents last year.

On June 1, 2022, Newsom issued a statement praising California for leading the country on a long overdue discussion of racial justice and equity. The state's Attorney General Rob Bonta, whose office is assisting the task force, said, "California was not a passive actor in perpetuating these harms."

A similar effort is underway to delve into what Newsom has called California's dark history of violence, mistreatment and neglect of Native Americans. The report by the Truth and Healing Council, due in 2025, could include recommendations for reparations. Many tribes across the country have sought to acquire their ancestral land and co-manage public land.

The African American reparations task force, which began meeting in June 2021, released a comprehensive reparations plan. The committee voted in March to limit reparations to the descendants of African Americans living in the U.S. in the 19th century, overruling advocates who wanted to expand compensation to all Black people in the U.S.

"Four hundred years of discrimination has resulted in an enormous and persistent wealth gap between Black and white Americans," said the report by the California Task Force to Study and Develop Reparation Proposals for African Americans.

"These effects of slavery continue to be embedded in American society today and have never been sufficiently remedied. The governments of the United States and the State of California have never apologized to or compensated African Americans for these harms."

California is home to the fifth-largest Black population in the U.S., after Texas, Florida, Georgia and New York, the report said. An estimated 2.8 million Black people live in California, although it is unclear how many are eligible for direct compensation.

African Americans make up less than 6% of California's population yet they are overrepresented in jails, youth detention centers and prisons. About 28% of people imprisoned in California are Black and in 2019, 36% of minors ordered into state juvenile detention facilities were African Americans, according to the report.

Black Californians earn less and are more likely to be poor than white residents. In 2018, Black residents earned on average just under $54,000 compared to $87,000 for white Californians.

"We don't own homes and if you look at why there's such a huge disparity between African Americans and white Americans and our ability to hold onto and sustain wealth, it's because we don't own homes," said Assembly member Reggie Jones-Sawyer, a task force member.

The task force's sweeping initial recommendations include prison system reforms. Inmates should not be forced to work and if they do, they must be paid fair market wages. Inmates should also be allowed to vote and people with felony convictions should serve on juries.

The group recommends creating a state-subsidized mortgage program to guarantee low rates for qualifying African American applicants, free health care, free tuition to California colleges and universities and scholarships to African American high school graduates to cover four years of undergraduate education.

The committee also calls for a *Cabinet-level secretary position to oversee an*African American Affairs agency with branches for civic engagement, education, social services, cultural affairs and legal affairs. It would help people research and document their lineage to a 19th-century ancestor so they could qualify for financial restitution.

People opposed to paying reparations argue that California did not have plantations or Jim Crow era laws as in the South.

But the interim report spells out how California, despite being "free," perpetuated harms that have compounded over generations.

It noted that Missouri native Basil Campbell was purchased for $1,200 and forced to move to California's Yolo County in 1854, leaving behind his wife and two sons. Campbell eventually paid off his purchase price, married and became a landowner. But when his sons petitioned for a portion of his estate after his death, a California judge ruled that marriage between two enslaved people "is not a marriage relation."

More recently, it said, the home of Paul Austin and Tenisha Tate-Austin was assessed at a much lower price because it was in a primarily Black part of upscale Marin County, where African Americans were forced to live starting in World War II.

The report should offer other cities and states — and ultimately the federal government — a blueprint for seeking reparations, members said. Over the next year, the task force will take on the difficult task of crafting an apology and creating a reparations plan to compensate for and stop the harm.

CONCLUSION:

"The big question is: What are they going to do with it? (Reparations Plan) The danger here is that everyone reads it and nods their heads and waits on the task force to initiate the response," said Hansford, the law professor. "We need to have universities, local governments, businesses and others working together to do their part to address ... the recommendations are offered in the report."

Greetings,

Thank you,

WHEATLEY INSTITUTE

ADVANCING EQUITY OF OPPORTUNITY IN ASPIRING COMMUNITIES

Recommendations to California Task Force to Study and Develop Reparation Proposal for African Americans.

First, much gratitude and appreciation for the committee's diligent and thorough effort to communicate the impact of Institutional Structural Racism, Discrimination, and the biased decision-making that has diminished the quality of life for Native Black Americans in California and across the country.

Concerning Separate and Unequal Education & Mental and Physical Harm and Neglect Recommendations:

Due to the enslavement mentality of America's oppressors, the mental health and K-12 education school referral process for service is culturally destructive to Native Black Americans.

- A. As a result, given the overrepresentation of Black children in Special Education, Probation, and Foster Care Systems, primary and essential is a full review and amendments to California's Welfare and Institutions Code - WIC § Statute 5600.3.
 - Redefine Severely Emotionally Disturbed and the criteria that qualify individuals for clinical services.
 - Redefine Priority Population: Due to the overrepresentation of Native Black Americans in the Mental Health System counties, neglect to serve the population effectively.
 - c. This central issue suggests that Higher Education repurpose and eliminate the terms "Field Work" and "Case Management" in Social Work. The referral for service process reinforces the racist thinking of "Rounding up Blacks" in the field. And, Black parents do not want their children case-managed.

Therefore, to bring legitimacy to the 1964 Civil Right Executive Order for Cultural Competence and the recent 2022 Executive Order Advancing Racial Equity and Support for Underserved Communities. Given that Blacks make up no majority population in any California city;

B. Essential to reversing Institutional Systemic Structural Racism is prioritizing Black organizations and community leaders for funding and support to transform Health and Human Services and K-12 Education.

Concerning Control Over Creative Cultural and Intellectual Life Recommendations

A. California and County Health and Human Service-related Request for Proposals (RFP) bidding must permit innovators to maintain their intellectual property of program design, processes, and service-delivery methods. This recommendation coincides with "Compensated individuals deprived of rightful profits for their artistic, creative, athletic, and intellectual work.

Hi, I'd like to make a comment about AB-2296. I want the governor to veto this bill. I support reparations and direct cash payments towards Foundational Black Americans (also known as American Freedmen). But the California Reparations Task Force never asked for (and doesn't need) more time. And I don't want politics to get in the way of reparations. Reparations delayed is reparations denied. Tell the governor to veto AB-2296. Thank you.

P.S. - Keep our reparations lineage-based.

Please record in the record of September 24, 2020 to the reparations task force meeting. My name is Shantel Bacon born and raised in Southern California since 1970 I am a descendent of those enslaved during the US chattel slavery. I consider my lineage foundational to the building of this nation I am a black American, American Negro descendent of US Freedmen emancipated in 1865. Now known as foundational black American. Early records place my family my lineage to 1804 in the Mississippi territory we have roots in Alabama Arkansas Mississippi Tennessee and North Carolina. I support lineage base reparations for African-Americans with a special consideration for those descendants of US chattel slavery. I do not support California assembly bill 2296 to extend the Reparations task force until 2024 we have waited long enough. The purpose of the California Reparations task force is consider those black Americans who were here prior to the 1900s. When we duly disaggregate the numbers of black Americans and all people of color you will clearly see that foundational Black Americans have been purposely ignored economically. We are suffering an economical ethnicide that is leading to homelessness, poor education, roadblocks to higher learning institutions, , physical and mental decline. I work for an organization that employs 200 people . 14 are phenotypically Black. Please stay the course.

Good Day All,

Firstly, I want to say how important I believe the work being done here is. As a resident of of the state appreciate that California is transparently leading the charge. However after sitting through the public hearing on Sept 24th, where people from any and everywhere unrelated to this claim were allowed to pontificate and center themselves as some proxy to our justice claim under the guise of solidarity was insulting at least and unnecessary at BEST. It is dereliction of duty on the part of the task force to allow self aggrandizing and focused people abscond with the energy and momentum generated and created by black people for their repair under the guise of inclusion that has already been decided DIES NOT LEGALLY APPLY is an affront to justice. I have watched, as people actually connected to the harm and rightful justice claim, be silenced at 3 minutes for MONTHS during this proceeding while this dog and pony show was not only permitted but arranged and it has left me speechless... what I want to make abundantly clear is that BLACK PEOPLE, the people supposedly represented by this claim are not only watching INTENSELY but taking notes . Moreover HISTORY is watching and you need not be on the wrong side of it because you are playing politics. ANY OF YOU. We will never forget how you show up here. Any distraction permitted, arranged or encouraged from the purpose and intention outlined in the language of this bill will be duly noted and seriously calculated by a group of people who are just beginning to understand crystal clearly that our suffering and hard work has always been launch pad for EVERYONE but us and allowing this process to become an extension of that course will be a GRAVE mistake. Please do better because it's your job.

Sincerely,

Thank you, task force members, for deciding to use lineage-based eligibility! If you will, consider direct cash payments made as reparations. And I also wanted it known that I opposed allowing task force members to be removed without justification by politicians like California assemblyman Reggie Jones-Sawyer (District 59), as well as extending or delaying the reparations process!

Even though I value the efforts of all task force members in exploring ideas and recommendations for reparations, I continue to be gravely concerned about further delaying or extending the task force's job. Please follow through on your commitment to do your duties as the California Reparations Task Force, and consider workable timelines to make reparations a reality as soon as possible in CA and elsewhere. Thank you!

I came early to the task force hearing on 9/24 but failed to see the copies of the report until too late. They had been all given out.

I was told to write you to request copies. Our organizations, Nikkei Progressives, Nikkei for Civil Rights & Redress and the National Nikkei Reparations Coalition is studying the report and could use several copies to help us with our education. I am helping to lead a discussion on some of the chapters and find it much easier to read and also mark/make notes on a hard copy.

Can you send us 5 copies or tell us where we can pick them up?

What if for the next fifty years, African Americans that fairly (meaning they get a correct evaluation of property, collateral, etc) qualify for any loan (mortgage, business, etc) could not be charged more than 2.0% interest. The banking industry has profited quite a bit from their racist practices, I think they could take the hit

Subject: Freedmen's trust account

EXTERNAL EMAIL: This message was sent from outside DOJ. Please do not click links or open attachments that appear suspicious.

Hello all,

I'm a Los Angeles advocate that is looking into opening a Freedmen's trust account. Basically, it would be similar to what Black Lives Matter was supposed to be, but this actually is a secure trust account where donations and a portion of our collective taxes (legal write-off) would go so we can reinvest into our communities until the repair is paid.

https://www.cicf.org/thank-you-philanthropic-goals-form/

^^^ Requested a meeting with this group to ask about trust services. Black delegates would oversee the money. We will get more into breakdown/doctrine outlining roles later on. Receipts for all money spent will need to be provided on a 6-month basis to track accountability of spending.

We have a lot of moving parts of Black-led groups across America but I think a more coordinated effort and outline of which groups are working where & can also help us see more collective progress within our communities. The Freedmen's Bureau can help outline which groups are actually implementing successful programs to support Black communities. We can look into what some of the larger groups like NAACP & the Black Caucasus are doing to see what type of improvements they have actually helped with if any.

Investments in communities can be for the protection of existing Black communities & neighborhoods/creation of new communities that are protected places for phenotype dark skin. I personally do believe in the idea of Pan-Africanism as it will allow Freedmen to have a collective market to trade/work within both within the U.S & outside. I'm also looking into having newly established schools on a set of new curriculum standards. I believe that the Freedmen schools should all be bilingual as we approach New Earth to advance our cultural identity/morals/knowledge/principles.

Right now, I know that BLM the org is being sued and I've sent them several letters requesting a meeting to realign the money meant for the collective movement of BLM. I understand the term "Black" is very general & if necessary, funding for BLM can be split into 2 trust accounts, one for Freedmen and the other a general Black Trust account. I do eventually hope to see a currency of our own tribe that is used within the Pan-African movement. I'd love to hear your thoughts on this. I do believe that we need a more coordinated effort for the Black American movement. We need a new Freedmen's Bureau to oversee the well-being of collective Black communities that want to be part of the movement for a tribal-like identity with the Bureau working on the federal & state levels to create a conditional doctrine that protects our communities from military/police violence.

Some projects that I've been working on in my space of Los Angeles are; looking into land contracts for new housing that would support land back programs for Black residents & other groups that have been impacted by systematic housing violence. I do want freedmen towns (mixed cultural identities is fine for me) but I do know that not every Black person will want to live in these areas especially depending on the job market which I'm working on as well. So my point, basically I'm trying to align myself with the housing market in LA to support land back programs, CLTs, and co-ops for Black residents & others mentioned that want to stay within the existing establishments. I'm currently pushing for Gavin Newsom to sign a bill called SB679 which would give LA a county-led housing team that I plan on applying for. I've talked to some other existing Black groups in LA and some have been responsive, but some have actually been working against me. It's like they only are worried about themselves instead of the collective community that will only make stronger the position of Black America. Also, some are in groups that are supposed to support other Black ppl but it's almost as if someone don't actually want to help Black ppl, but they are collecting money and just trying to stay within white systems begging for a seat at the table.

EX of housing plans I'm working on;

https://htwws.org/santamonicaairport/ https://htwws.org/new-age-communities/

To end, crimes against humanity cannot exist in the U.S or anywhere else in the world. President Bush created paintings of the Iraqi children that haunted him from the war that killed millions. I'm telling you this just as a note that we are fighting the monster and not becoming one. A nation "founded" on genocide & slavery has no morals or principles, I will have both my morals & principles as a divine being working in the best interest of collective humanity. We are all a piece of a very large puzzle.

https://htwws.org/santamonicaairport/

Walkable, bike-friendly communities that are affordable are the right of every single human being. These communities are great for humanity, other species, and the Earth itself! Everything in the HUE-MANS life does NOT need to be a drive away.

Dear Reparations Task Force,

I commend your efforts to address slavery in the U.S. and how it impacted African slaves and their descendants, how it impacted the U.S. economy and how it impacted European economies.

I have lived and worked in Los Angeles County since 2003 but I was born and educated in Washington, DC. I am a descendant of slaves who entered the United States via the ports of Charleston, South Carolina. My family has history in Orangeburg county and Calhoun county, South Carolina dating back, as my current genealogical research shows, to the 1790s.

I understand your task force is studying ways to compensate slave descendants and remedy nonpayment for labor that slaves and their descendants endured. The following are things I think you should consider, maybe you've done so already:

- African Americans included in reparations should provide documents connecting them to African slaves, going back to 1850 or 1860 at least
- The following banks and countries should be asked to contribute to U.S. reparation efforts— Bank of England, U.S. and British banks that used slaves as property and collateral, the British Monarchy, France, Portugal
- BET founder Robert Johnson has calculated a dollar amount for African American reparations, please consider his proposal and/or consider him as a consultant for your task force

Thank you. I look forward to your progress.

Sincerely,

I'd like to say that I am not a supremist of any sort, and I am not attempting to negate African slavery but to show extremists on both sides that they are wrong and indeed both whites and blacks were enslaved and treated horribly. None of us are due any reparations and should let go of our racial biases. We should simply at this point realize that we are all equal and to forgive those in the past who treated our ancestors in this horrific manner.

The other not stated facts are that there were indeed many black plantation owners who owned both white and black slaves themselves and were horrific in their brutality. Here is an article published by historians with no ties to the US or our culture.

https://historycollection.com/10-black-slaveowners-that-will-tear-apart-historical-perception/2/

10 Black Slaveowners That Will Tear Apart Historical Perception - History Collection

William Ellison The Antebellum era of American history saw a number of people of color achieve marked success in business. Indeed, from the end of the 18th century right through to the start of the Civil War in 1861, several former slaves became entrepreneurs, none more so than William Ellison Junior. Indeed, by the beginning ...

The saying that "the truth will set you free" is just that. We should see these historical facts for what they are and realize that at some point every color, every race, and every creed have been violated and victimized. That realization should lead us to forgiving and starting fresh without bias or feelings of being owed anything that happened many hundreds of years ago...

If we're going to be illogical, what about enslaved whites??? Here are some historical references from both the colonies along with documentation in UK archives, along with a separate article and other historical references from the period that lend even more credence to the history of white slaves.

"The topic of this story is a sensitive one yet one of great importance. White slavery in America was real. There are many documents that verify the bondage, kidnapping and transporting of Brits to the Colonies as slaves. The importance of this story will help those who cannot find a ship passenger list on their ancestor. This story may not pertain to all who came to America that are not listed on ship passenger lists.

The Journal of Negro History #52 pp.251-273 states, "The sources of racial thought in Colonial America pertaining to slave trade worked both directions with white merchandise as well as black."

Thomas Burton recorded in his Parliament Diary 1656-1659 vol. 4 pp. 253-274 a debate in the English Parliament focusing on the selling of British whites into slavery in the New World. The debate refers to whites as slaves 'whose enslavement threatened the liberties of all Englishmen.'

The British government had realized as early as the 1640's how beneficial white slave labor was to the profiting colonial plantations. Slavery was instituted as early as 1627 in the British West Indies. The Calendar of State Papers, Colonial Series of 1701 records 25000 slaves in Barbados in which 21700 were white slaves.

George Downing wrote a letter to the honorable John Winthrop Colonial Governor of Massachusetts in 1645, "planters who want to make a fortune in the West Indies must procure white slave labor out of England if they wanted to succeed." Lewis Cecil Gray's History of Agriculture in the Southern United States to 1860 vol.1 pp 316, 318 records Sir George Sandys' 1618 plan for Virginia, referring to bound whites assigned to the treasurer's office. "To belong to said office forever. The service of whites bound to Berkeley Hundred was deemed perpetual."

The Quoke Walker case in Massachusetts 1773 ruled that; slavery contrary to the state Constitution was applied equally to Blacks and Whites in Massachusetts.

Statutes at Large of Virginia, vol. 1 pp. 174, 198, 200, 243 & 306 did not discriminate Negroes in bondage from Whites in Bondage.

Marcellus Rivers and Oxenbridge Foyle, England's Slaves 1659 consists of a statement smuggled out of the New World and published in London referring to whites in bondage who did not think of themselves as indentured servants but as "England's Slaves" and "England's merchandise."

Colonial Office, Public Records Office, London 1667, no. 170 records that "even Blacks referred to the White forced laborers in the colonies as "white slaves." Pages 343 through 346 of Historical Sketch of the Persecutions Suffered by the Catholics of Ireland by; Patrick F. Moran refers to the transportation of the Irish to the colonies as the "slave-trade."

Ulrich B. Phillips, Life and Labor in the Old South explain that white enslavement was crucial to the development of the Negro slave system. The system set up for the white slaves governed, organized, and controlled the system for the black slaves. Black slaves were "late comers fitted into a system already developed." Pp 25-26. John Pory declared in 1619, "white slaves are our principal wealth."

The above quotations from various authors are just the tip of the iceberg on the white slave trade of the Americas. People from the British Isles were kidnapped, put in chains, and crammed into ships that transported hundreds of them at a time. Their destination was Virginia Boston, New York, Barbados, and the West Indies. The white slaves were treated the same or worse than the black slave. The white slave did not fetch a good price at the auction blocks. Bridenbaugh wrote in his accounting on page 118, having paid a bigger price for the Negro, the planters treated the black better than they did their "Christian" white servant. Even the Negroes recognized this and did not hesitate to show their contempt for those white men who, they could see, were worse off than themselves.

ENGLAND'S IRISH SLAVES by Robert E. West PEC Illinois State Director*-----

Records are replete with references to early Irish Catholics in the West Indies. Gwynn in Analecta Hibernica, states: 'The earliest reference to the Irish is the establishment of an Irish settlement on the Amazon River in 1612."(1) Smith, in Colonists in Bondage, reports: "a Proclamation of the year 1625 urged the banishing overseas of dangerous rogues (Irish Political Prisoners); kidnapping (of Irish) was common."(2)

Condon states that the first considerable emigration from Ireland to the southern latitudes of America was to Guiana in 1629.(3) Newton declares that Antigua and Montserrat were occupied as early as 1632 and that many emigrant Irish came out among the early planters and servants in these islands.(4) Dunn, in Sugar and Slaves, asserts that, in 1636, Ireland was already a prime source of supply for servants: as early as 1637, on Montserrat the Irish heavily outnumbered the English colonists, and 69 percent of Montserrat's white inhabitants were Irish.(5) Lenihan writes: in 1650 "25,000 Irishmen sold as slaves in Saint Kitt's and the adjoining islands, petitioned for a priest..."(6)

In 1641, Ireland's population was 1,466,000 and in 1652, 616,000. According to Sir William Petty, 850,000 were wasted by the sword, plague, famine, hardship, and banishment during the Confederation War 1641-1652. At the end of the war, vast numbers of Irish men, women and children were forcibly transported to the American colonies by the English government. (7) These people were rounded up like cattle, and, as Prendergast reports on Thurloe's State Papers(8) (Pub. London, 1742), "In clearing the ground for the adventurers and soldiers (the English capitalists of that day)... To be transported to Barbados and the English plantations in America. It was a measure beneficial to Ireland, which was thus relieved of a population that might trouble the planters; it was a benefit to the people removed, which might thus be made English and Christians ... a great benefit to the West India sugar planters, who desired men and boys for their bondsmen, and the women and Irish girls... To solace them."(9)

J. Williams provides additional evidence of the attitude of the English government towards the Irish in an English law of June 26, 1657: "Those who fail to transplant themselves into Connaught (Ireland's Western Province) or (County) Clare within six months... Shall be attained of high treason... Are to be sent into America or some other parts beyond the seas..." (10) Those thus banished who return are to "suffer the pains of death as felons by virtue of this act, without benefit of Clergy." (11)

The following are but a few of the numerous references to those Irish transported against their will between 1651 and 1660.

Emmet asserts that during this time, more than "100,000 young children who were orphans or had been taken from their Catholic parents, were sent abroad into slavery in the West Indies, Virginia and New England, that they might lose their faith and all knowledge of their nationality, for in most instances even their names were changed... Moreover, the contemporary writers assert between 20,000 and 30,000 men and women who were taken prisoner were sold in the American colonies as slaves, with no respect to their former station in life."(12) Dunn claims in Barbados the Irish Catholics constituted the largest block of servants on the island.(13) Higham estimated that in 1652 Barbados had absorbed no less than 12,000 of these political prisoners.(14) E. Williams reports: "In 1656 Cromwell's Council of State voted that 1,000 Irish girls and 1,000 Irish young men be sent to Jamaica."(15) Smith declares: "it is impossible to say how many shiploads of unhappy Irish were dispatched to America by the English government," and "no mention of such shipments would be very likely to appear in the State Papers... They must have been very considerable in number."(16)

Estimates vary between 80,000 and 130,000 regarding the amount of Irish sent into slavery in America and the West Indies during the years of 1651 - 1660: Prendergast says 80,000(17); Boudin 100,000(18); Emmet 120,000 to 130,000(19); Lingard 60,000 up until 1656(20); and Condon estimates "the number of Irish transported to the British colonies in America from 1651 - 1660 exceeded the total number of their inhabitants at that period, a fact which ought not to be lost sight of by those who undertake to estimate the strength of the Celtic element in this nation..."(21)

It is impossible to ascertain the exact number of those unfortunate victims of English injustice during this period, but we do know the amount was massive. Even though the figures given above are but estimates, they are estimates from eminent historians.

The flow of the Irish to the American colonies throughout the remainder of the 17th century was large and continuous, but not nearly as massive as between 1651 and 1660. Some of the many statements by historians give evidence of this Irish tide. Higham reports that in 1664 the Irish took the place of the French on St. Bartholomew's. (22) Smith claims that during the four years leading up to 1675, already 500 Irish servants were brought to Jamaica by ships from Bristol, England that stopped in Ireland for provisions. (23) During 1680 on the Leeward Islands, Dunn posits: "with so many Irish Catholic servants and farmers... The English planters became obsessed with the fear of popery." (24) Dunn also states that in Jamaica in 1685 the 2nd Duke of Aberlmarle, after his appointment by James II, a Catholic, mustered his chief support from the Irish Catholic small planters and servants and that the indentured servants who constituted the island militia were mainly Irish Catholic. (25) In reporting on Father Garganel's statements, Lenihan claims: "in 1699 Father Garganel, S.J., Superior of the island of Martinique, asked for one or two Irish Fathers for that and the neighboring isles which were 'fill of Irish' for every year shiploads of men, boys and girls, partly crimped, partly carried off by main force for the purposes of slave trade, are conveyed by the English from Ireland." (26)

Smith has recorded that "Servants sailed from every port in the British Isles, but by far the greater number came from London, Bristol, Liverpool, Dublin and Cork, and, doubtless, it was principally the merchants of Bristol, Whitehaven and Liverpool which conducted trade with Ireland."(27) Emmet clarifies Smith's statement in detail by asserting: "the early and continued emigration of the Irish to this country during the 17th century has been lost sight of in consequence of this change to English surnames and from the fact that no vessel was knowingly allowed to sail from Ireland direct, but by law was obliged first to visit an English port before clearance papers could be obtained. Consequently, every Irish emigrant (slave, servant, etc..) crossing in an Irish or English vessel from either England or Ireland, appeared in the official records as English, for the voyage did not begin according to law until the ship cleared from an English port, and all passengers on arrival in this country (American Colonies) were rated as English."(28)

It is also of importance to be aware of the fact, as Dunn confirmed, that most population lists for Barbados, Jamaica and the Leeward Islands concern only parish registers of the Church of England, all other people were essentially ignored in the head count."(29)

The English government variously referred to Irish to be transported as rogues, vagabonds, rebels, neutrals, felons, military prisoners, teachers, priests, maidens etc. All historians call them servants, bondsman, indentured servants, slaves, etc., and agree that they were all political victims. The plain facts are that most were treated as slaves. After their land was confiscated by England, which drove them from their ancestral homes to forage for roots like animals, they were kidnapped, rounded up and driven like cattle to waiting ships and transported to English colonies in America, never to see their country again. They were the victims of what many called the immense "Irish Slave Trade."

All writers on the 17th century American colonies agree that the treatment of white servants or white slaves in English colonies was cruel to the extreme, worse than that of black slaves; that inhuman treatment was the norm, that torture (and branding FT, fugitive traitor, on the forehead) was the punishment for attempted escape. Dunn stated: "Servants were punished by whipping, strung up by the hands and matches lighted between their fingers, beaten over the head until blood ran," --all this on the slightest provocation.(30) Ligon, an eyewitness in Barbados from 1647-1650 said, "Truly, I have seen cruelty there done to servants as I did not think one Christian could have done to another."(31)

It is a matter of great importance to realize that most of the white slaves, servants and small farmers abandoned the West Indies for the mainland colonies in America. Dunn reports: "Between 1678 and 1713, Leeward sugar planters became more rich and powerful and controlled all local councils and assemblies so white servants and small farmers abandoned the Leeward Islands."(32) Craven said that between 1643 and 1667, about 12,000 left Barbados for other plantations(33) and Dunn said the white population of the Leeward Islands was reduced by 30 percent between 1678 and 1708.(34) According to Craven, in Colonies in Transition, prior to the 1680's, the hopes which sustained the Carolina venture continued to depend chiefly upon the migration of settlers from the older colonies, especially from the West Indies. (35) Smith asserted that after 1670, the emigration of whites from the smaller islands at least equaled the immigration. (36) Condon declared: "In [the] course of time many of those who had been transported to the West Indies in this manner found their way to the colonies on the continent, in search of greater freedom and a more healthful climate." (37)

All writers on the 17th century history agree that between one-half and two thirds of white immigrants in the British West Indies and mainland America were servants, most of them severely mistreated. Most all Irish immigrants were 'servants.' Irish were almost exclusively Catholic (at least they were when they left Ireland) and most were of ancient Irish families even though they appeared in English records as English, if recorded at all. After 20,000 Puritans arrived in the American colonies from 1630-1640, migration of English colonists all but subsided. Some writers say after 1640 only a trickle of English colonists arrived. In 1632, many Irish were on Antigua. In 1637, 69 percent of whites on Montserrat were Irish. In 1650, 25,000 Irish were on St. Kitt's and Nevis and some were on other Leeward islands. In 1652, prior to the wholesale transportation of Irish, most of 12 thousand political prisoners on Barbados were Irish.

From 1651 to 1660, between 80,000 to 130,000 Irish were transported. From 1660-1700, there was a large steady flow of Irish immigrants. Most whites, especially servants, slaves and small farmers went to the American mainland for more freedom, a healthier climate and economic betterment.

There are no verifiable records on the white population of all the American colonies in the 17th century. Some estimates include blacks, some do not. Some list only members of the Church of England. Estimates are made for Barbados for a certain year while estimates are made for the Leeward Islands for other years. The same applies to Jamaica and the mainland colonies. One estimate for the mainland colonies, white and black included, was given at 204,000 in 1689.

In the absence of reliable records, I believe it is necessary to take the following into very serious consideration: migration trends, prolificness of people of varying national origin, laws in effect in the country from which people migrated; the prevailing conditions in the country undergoing emigration; the amount of control the emigrating people had over their own destiny; and the fact that all American colonies both mainland and the West Indies were very intertwined,

Well over one-half of white immigrants to the West Indies during the 17th century were Irish Catholic servants, most who, in the course of time, abandoned the West Indies for the mainland American colonies.

Hello,

I am inquiring regarding the Gone But Never Forgotten Slave Reparations law. I am inquiring as to the status of any recently passed laws/bills/acts that will result in reparations being paid to black American descendants of slavery.

Are there any applications that are open or will be opening that I can be made aware of as I would like to ensure my application as a California native and descendant of enslaved African/black peoples in America.

Kindest Regards,

ReparationsTaskforce

I'm writing on behalf of ACS and hope this email reaches the chair of the task force, Kamilah Moore.

As part of its commitment truth, racial healing, and transformation, ACS is hoping to host a virtual panel discussion (or series of discussions depending on speakers' availability and preference) that highlights both the work of California's Reparations Task Force and the Truth and Healing

Commission and how to continue engaging and supporting that work. We also hope to potentially have a panelist who can speak to the work at the national level.

Date and time are flexible - we have a target date of October 21st. However, sometime in November also works if that works better for speakers. The time is still TBD depending on speakers' availability, but we're targeting late afternoon/evening PST.

Would someone from the task force be able to speak on the task force's work as part of this event? Or perhaps, a representative from Governor Newsom's office who is the liaison between the Governor and the Task Force?

This virtual event would be part of a larger symposium ACS is planning, and would serve as another installment in our "Racial Justice and the Law" series.

Our celebrated "Racial Justice and the Law" series has spotlighted issues affecting marginalized communities and communities of color – be it health equity, policy priorities and reparations for our Indigenous communities, etc.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I'm happy to answer any questions.

Hello,

To:

My name is I am a Black woman, historian, and a descendant of formerly enslaved Africans. I have been watching and following the evolution of the Reparations Task Force. What you all are doing is frankly amazing. So first and foremost, thank you. While I am currently not a CA resident (I was in the 90s) your task force will serve as a model for the rest of the country.

As someone who has traced their own family's history back to enslavers in Kentucky and Virginia (so far), I know that it is a long process, and much longer/expensive for those who may not have advanced degrees in research fields like history, the archives/library science, law, and so forth.

Perhaps I must wait until July 2023 for the Task Force's final recommendations, but my question is: how will all African Americans prove that they are descendants of enslaved Africans? This is a very time consuming task, and if you do not have the time and/or money to use large databases or travel to historical societies located in former slave states, much less have the critical thinking skills you learn in undergraduate and graduate studies, how will this happen?

I am helping a handful of friends trace their family history back to slavery because they do not know how to do it themselves. This is a job for an historian and/or genealogist, and I want to make sure that each and every one of us receives reparations once this becomes a federal mandate (and the CA task force is leading the way!). Here are my additional questions:

- How will you help Black Californians experiencing houselessness trace their family history back to enslavement?
- What about Black Californians experiencing mental illness and/or have accessible needs? While I did read the task force's preliminary recommendations regarding mental health support and such, I did not see how these individual Black Californians will be supported in determining if their ancestors were ever enslaved in this country.
- I've read articles about including public libraries in this endeavor -- that would require training a mostly white female led industry on slavery and reparations, as well as its complexity vs. just having them point patrons to databases and websites. When will librarians receive training? Based on what rubric?
- Will Black Americans be expected to pay for services to determine if they are descendants of slavery or will California cover the costs?

I look forward to reading your reply. Not only will this help me, as an historian, plan on the different ways I can help our community, including the most marginalized within our community, but as a student in library sciences your reply will also help with the research I am conducting on how Black Americans from all walks of life find information about reparations in libraries and information spaces.

Thank you for reading this far, and thank you for the work that you are doing!

In service,

ReparationsTaskforce

Greetings,

I have been following the Task Force meetings since its inception, even been fortunate to attend the April (San Francisco) and June (Los Angeles) meetings in person while continuing to work with CJEC (Coalition for a Just and Equitable California).

I am very excited to learn that the December meeting of the Task Force will be in my neck of the woods (Oakland).

I am not sure how, if and when the location will be determined.

I am reaching out because I also am a member of Allen Temple Baptist Church, which has an 103 year legacy of liberation theology. work on the Public Ministry which engages in educating our community around all things political.

Along with candidate forums, we have also hosted a Town hall on reparations and are planning Reparations Part two, scheduled in mid November.

I also work closely with Chris Lodgson of CJEC (Coalition for a Just and Equitable California) who has participated in our first town hall and is scheduled to appear in our upcoming one. Whatever decision is reached, I look forward to attending the December hearings but I submit ATBC for consideration in partnership with our Public Ministry.

Respetfully waiting for your response,

Thank you

Dear Committee Members:

I would like to recommend the book, "The Color of Law" by Richard Rothstein. If you are not familiar with the book, it very succinctly describes the devastation of housing discrimination and real estate investment (particularly in the Bay Area) which has had a devastating effect on generational wealth building for African Americans in particular.

Thank you for your work.

Greetings, Reparations Taskforce of California!

I'm writing today to simply introduce myself to this illustrious group! In my opinion, this group represents both the amazing scholarship of the brightest academic minds in our state, as we well as the sage wisdom and experience that has been garnered through years of success, trial and real-life experience.

I am a Management Consultant and Senior Project Manager — overseeing my own boutique consultancy, which has served public, private, nonprofit, and faith-based leaders and their organizations nationally and internationally for more than twenty-seven years.

I will be pursuing the Project Management Consultant's Role for the LA Civil Rights Reparations Pilot Program Study overseen by the Civil, Human Rights, and Equity Department, and will be participating in the upcoming Zoom interest meeting, scheduled for Tuesday, October 18th.

The responsibility entails the planning and overseeing the work of the reparations study and fund development plan, to ensure things are completed in a timely fashion and within budget.

The role includes planning and designating resources, preparing budgets, monitoring progress, and keeping the Commissioners and City staff informed throughout the entirety of the project. It also includes managing and engaging community partners through the implementation of surveys or questionnaires, coordinating community town halls and/or public engagement.

I've attached the following for your perusal, and I'm open to any questions or introductions in preparation for landing this important role and serving our community to forward this initiative with excellence and precision..

WS-3 Enterprises Fee Structure works on the basis of Hourly/Daily/Weekly Rates, By Project Rates, or By Retainer Rates.

What is important to remember for all WS-3 Clients is that we are a values-based business that seeks to:

- 1. Improve the bottom-line of every client...
- 2. Give more "bang for the buck" no matter how much is being spent..
- Provide "ready" answers and resolve, without financially burdening or taking advantage of our clients.
- 4. Position clients to continue graduating through the developmental continuum of growth and success.
- Develop a "Customer For Life" if at all possible, to maintain a continuity and community amongst our clients.

DO WHAT YOU CAN, WHERE YOU ARE, WITH WHAT YOU HAVE...

Through the years I've come to understand the "principle" of "doing what you can, where you are, with what you have"! Another way of saying this exact same thing through the use of business terminology — "MANAGED GROWTH".

A funny little thing happens on the road to success. Often the prosperity of the business can outpace the ability of the business to maintain that success. At this point SOME of you are probably wondering what am I talking about. "Rapid success" can lead to failure? Get real! But, it really can. And, I have seen it repeatedly in all scales of businesses over the past twenty years.

Often as entrepreneurs we become so focused on bringing the product to market, advertising the product, and selling the same that we fail to grow all aspects of the business in unison. As a result, while the business attains its ever-increasing benchmarks in sales it is growing upon an infrastructure that is not keeping pace with the growth of the business. Flaws in management systems slowly begin to be revealed. Quality control is not in sync with the growth. Eventually a tipping point is reached in which these flaws, caused by the failure of the business to grow its infrastructure at the same rate as sales and advertising, cause the system to collapse. "Managed Growth" for my company and yours, means:

- 1. Create your Scalable Management Model.
- 2. Define your Quality Control System
- 3. Executive your Systems 100% of the time.
- 4. Listen to the Numbers. Numbers do NOT lie.

WS-3 SAYS: STRONG ORGANIZATIONAL CULTURE IS A COMPETITIVE ADVANTAGE!!

While business leaders know the importance of organizational culture, many still struggle to grasp how to use culture as a key driver of performance!

e change, without nega

Over the years, we've developed and refined WS-3's methodology for culture change, using highly engaging and rigorous means to assess and measure organizational culture to help leaders use it as a lever for change.

Our team uses an evidence-based approach to quantify aspects of organizational culture that are proven to be linked to performance outcomes. We leverage internal dialogue, collaboration, and empirically validated culture

Understanding the root cause of performance challenges begins with an accurate diagnosis of the entire organization. Our rigorous, mixed-methods approach leverages the industry's leading culture assessment instruments, working in tandem with extensive internal dialogue and comparative industry analysis to deliver a clear and complete picture of your organization's strengths and opportunities.

Integration

When organizations combine, cultural enablers or detractors within the existing cultures may impact strategy execution. We support culture integration before, during or after a merger or acquisition to ensure a seamless transition.

Measurement & Evaluation

How do you quantify something as nebulous as culture change? Unlike other firms, we don't pack up and leave after the assessment. We provide hard data to measure, support, and sustain our culture work so clients can understand how it impacts their people and performance.

Most organizations talk about great customer service, but many fail to live up to that promise. We support our clients in making sure their culture promotes service excellence to drive bottom-line results.

Ownership, responsibility, and authority are often necessary for a culture to thrive without blame. We help our clients align around principles of positive accountability when engaging their employees, clients, and coworkers.

Safety

Even one accident on the job can have a devastating effect. A safety culture mitigates risk, reduces lost time due to accidents, and leads to a more productive organization overall. When the stakes are high, we help you shape your organization's shared beliefs about safety behaviors and promote a safer and more efficient work environment.

Innovation

Trust, openness to new ideas, and a willingness to take risks directly affects the potential for innovation to thrive within an organization. We help assess your organization's cultural readiness for innovation and work with you to shape a trusting environment of experimentation, learning, discovery, and ultimately challenges.

Employees who go above and beyond to do their best are the hallmarks of a culture of quality. By increasing open communication and focusing on processes, results, and learning, our clients can improve quality across the entire workforce. WS-3's consultants take a whole systems approach to improving processes and ensuring our clients receive the highest quality products and services.

THE IMPORTANCE OF RISK MANAGEMENT >

Risk Management is about giving insight into the legal issues, potential challenges, and technology trends that emerge around social actions, new initiatives or industry changes that affect small businesses in real significant ways.

WS-3 Enterprises & Associates, we have implemented and reviewed the successful execution of risk management at Fortune 1000 and 500 corporations, government entities, and small businesses, who were formalizing their risk management process for the first time.

Understanding an organization's mission and objectives is critical to having an effective risk management program. These not only tell you what the organization wants to accomplish, but also why it is willing to take risks to do so. These serve as the backdrop and provide context for an enterprise to assess and manage risk.

Every organization seeks to create value. While it can take many different forms, value is a function of risk and reward. Companies must take risks to generate value. It is often said that the greater the risk, the greater the reward. This statement is false. Continually taking excessive risks, will almost certainly lead to huge losses. However, it is impossible to eliminate risk entirely. Organizational risk management is the discipline employed to help an organization to operate at a risk level that allows it to maximize its value creation.

HOW CAN WS-3 ENTERPRISES HELP YOUR BUSINESS?

Any organization that isn't working up to its full potential and profitability, is in danger of failing, and the health of any "sustainable business" depends on its educated, empowered and engaged workforce.

Whether the organization (large or small) is actively seeking quantitative or qualitative results, the learning curves associated with the changing marketplace driven by technology, requires: streamlined research, knowledge of best practices, and strategic management for making recommendations that leads to the needed change and process improvements that will ensure effectiveness and success over the long-term.

Organizational Development Consultants are typically hired when a firm is growing, struggling or needs to make dramatic operational changes in order to remain financially stable.

But, in the 21st century landscape of "doing business", the volatility and uncertainty of the marketplace necessitates that leaders be innovative, be forward-thinking, and be intuitively strategic with addressing the changing dynamics associated with their field or landscape, where globalization, the proliferation of technology, and industry shifts are dramatically impacting their bottom-line.

An Organizational Development Consultant is normally an independent contractor who is trained to thoughtfully enter an organization, and develop a comprehensive and robust plan to make it healthy, profitable and sustainable for the future.

The Tulsa Regional Chamber donated to the Greenwood Cultural Center (Black Wall Street) a copy of its meeting minutes from the weeks following the 1921 Tulsa Race Massacre. Their preservation alongside other important archival material will help ensure the most complete set of historical facts about the massacre as possible.

The minutes contain numerous troubling passages that, as Chamber President and CEO Mike Neal explained, "offer insight into the attitudes, beliefs and actions of those at the highest levels of power during our city's lowest moral point." The minutes cover meetings of the Chamber's general membership and board of directors from June 2 through July 1, 1921.

"Throughout the minutes, Greenwood residents were blamed for the violence," said Neal. "Tulsa businessmen committed to restitution and reconstruction but delivered neither. City leaders considered plans to take land from what was the most prosperous African American commercial hub in the entire country and use it for their own purposes."

Chamber leadership marked the donation with an apology for how the organization responded to the 1921 Tulsa Race Massacre.

"We're sorry that our organization did not fulfill its civic and moral obligation to ensure the welfare of all Tulsans'," said Neal. "We're sorry that we have not acknowledged this history for nearly 98 years. And we're sorry that for too long, we did not directly confront how the racism that enabled the massacre also shaped the economic disparities in our community."

"Throughout the minutes, Greenwood residents were blamed for the violence," said Neal. "Tulsa businessmen committed to restitution and reconstruction but delivered neither. City leaders considered plans to take land from what was the most prosperous African American commercial hub in the entire country and use it for their own purposes."

Chamber leadership marked the donation with an apology for how the organization responded to the 1921 Tulsa Race Massacre.

"NO MORE BUSINESS AS USUAL.."

Organization Development (OD) is a dynamic values-based approach to systems change in organizations and communities; and it strives to build the capacity to achieve and sustain a new desired state that benefits the organization or community and the world around them. WS-3

Organizations need to recognize that "business as usual" is a likely recipe for failure. For example, Kodak failed to recognize the move to digital photography until a significant segment of its customer base went elsewhere. Sears, now owned by Kmart, was slow to recognize the impact of ecommerce and continued to print and distribute thousands of catalogs long after the catalog market became a producer of huge losses for the organization.

While many new businesses seem to succeed, most fail in the first five years. SWOTT analysis should be performed on a regular basis, in an environment in which members of the organization can take an honest, serious look at their strengths and weaknesses. SWOTT analysis can provide the company's leadership with a defined focus of what needs to be addressed in order to keep their organization growing, prosperous and competitive.

An Organization Development (OD) practitioner can effectively...

- Interpret cross-cultural influences in a helpful manner
- Handle diversity and diverse situations skillfully
- Communicate directions clearly to large groups
- Use the latest technology effectively
- Use the internet effectively
- Facilitate small group interventions (up to 500)
- Facilitate large group interventions (500 up to 1,000)
- Apply the skills of international OD effectively
- Function effectively as an internal consultant
- Demonstrate ability to conduct trans-organizational development
- Demonstrate ability to conduct community development
- Be aware of the influences of cultural dynamics on interactions with others

- 4) Cities will increasingly compete for talent, resources, and investment // Individuals, institutions, industries, and investors are moving to cities that provide world-class infrastructure and amenities.
- 5) Cities lack the tools and resources to address these challenges // Through siloed city management, general risk aversion, incumbent influence, and a lack of viable alternative options, cities often have no other choice but to reinvest in an outdated development model and carry sunk costs decades into the future.

WS-3's Theory of Change

Drafted From an African American Tradition & Context

I. *Culture (roots and fruit)

Goal: "Knowing our cultural context" (Confront "our stuff", overcome "our excuses", and love one another through the change)

Challenge: Who we are? (Identity, Image, Individuality, and Integrity)

Copyright, 1997-2022

II. *Historical Analysis (landmarks and signposts)

Goal: "Understanding our significance" (From Trendsetters to Producers)

Challenge: Where we've come from? (Address history and heal)

III. *Epistemology (capacity and competence)

Goal: "Building our community" (Develop capacity where commitment is shown)

Challenge: How we thrive? (Equal opportunities, NOT equal outcomes)

IV. *Philosophy for Change (management and maintenance)

Goal: "Navigating the system" (Share your learning, support one another, and partner together)

Challenge: What policies to change? (Assess, align and avoid competing priorities; come together)

V. *Redemption (reckoning and renaissance)

Goal: "Equitable Development Action Planning" (Foster investment, recirculation and reinvestment amongst the various ethnic businesses and residents)

Challenge: What practical steps do we take towards personal and collective transformation? (Celebrate the diversity within our ethnic groups, and support the programs and projects that work, by lessening our competitive disadvantage by coming together.)

I'm writing on behalf of ACS and hope this email reaches the chair of the task force, Kamilah Moore.

As part of its commitment truth, racial healing, and transformation, ACS is hoping to host a virtual panel discussion (or series of discussions depending on speakers' availability and preference) that highlights both the work of California's Reparations Task Force and the Truth and Healing

Commission and how to continue engaging and supporting that work. We also hope to potentially have a panelist who can speak to the work at the national level.

Date and time are flexible - we have a target date of October 21st. However, sometime in November also works if that works better for speakers. The time is still TBD depending on speakers' availability, but we're targeting late afternoon/evening PST.

Would someone from the task force be able to speak on the task force's work as part of this event? Or perhaps, a representative from Governor Newsom's office who is the liaison between the Governor and the Task Force?

This virtual event would be part of a larger symposium ACS is planning, and would serve as another installment in our "Racial Justice and the Law" series.

Our celebrated "Racial Justice and the Law" series has spotlighted issues affecting marginalized communities and communities of color – be it health equity, policy priorities and reparations for our Indigenous communities, etc.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I'm happy to answer any questions.

Hello,

As someone who has traced their own family's history back to enslavers in Kentucky and Virginia (so far), I know that it is a long process, and much longer/expensive for those who may not have advanced degrees in research fields like history, the archives/library science, law, and so forth.

Perhaps I must wait until July 2023 for the Task Force's final recommendations, but my question is: how will all African Americans prove that they are descendants of enslaved Africans? This is a very time consuming task, and if you do not have the time and/or money to use large databases or travel to historical societies located in former slave states, much less have the critical thinking skills you learn in undergraduate and graduate studies, how will this happen?

I am helping a handful of friends trace their family history back to slavery because they do not know how to do it themselves. This is a job for an historian and/or genealogist, and I want to make sure that each and every one of us receives reparations once this becomes a federal mandate (and the CA task force is leading the way!). Here are my additional questions:

- How will you help Black Californians experiencing houselessness trace their family history back to enslavement?
- What about Black Californians experiencing mental illness and/or have accessible needs? While I did read the task force's preliminary recommendations regarding mental health support and such, I did not see how these individual Black Californians will be supported in determining if their ancestors were ever enslaved in this country.
- I've read articles about including public libraries in this endeavor -- that would require training a mostly white female led industry on slavery and reparations, as well as its complexity vs. just having them point patrons to databases and websites. When will librarians receive training? Based on what rubric?
- Will Black Americans be expected to pay for services to determine if they are descendants of slavery or will California cover the costs?

I look forward to reading your reply. Not only will this help me, as an historian, plan on the different ways I can help our community, including the most marginalized within our community, but as a student in library sciences your reply will also help with the research I am conducting on how Black Americans from all walks of life find information about reparations in libraries and information spaces.

Thank you for reading this far, and thank you for the work that you are doing!

Greetings,

I have been following the Task Force meetings since its inception, even been fortunate to attend the April (San Francisco) and June (Los Angeles) meetings in person while continuing to work with CJEC (Coalition for a Just and Equitable California).

I am very excited to learn that the December meeting of the Task Force will be in my neck of the woods (Oakland).

I am not sure how, if and when the location will be determined.

I am reaching out because I also am a member of Allen Temple Baptist Church, which has an 103 year legacy of liberation theology. work on the Public Ministry which engages in educating our community around all things political.

Along with candidate forums, we have also hosted a Town hall on reparations and are planning Reparations Part two, scheduled in mid November.

I also work closely with Chris Lodgson of CJEC (Coalition for a Just and Equitable California) who has participated in our first town hall and is scheduled to appear in our upcoming one. Whatever decision is reached, I look forward to attending the December hearings but I submit ATBC for consideration in partnership with our Public Ministry.

Dear Committee Members:

I would like to recommend the book, "The Color of Law" by Richard Rothstein. If you are not familiar with the book, it very succinctly describes the devastation of housing discrimination and real estate investment (particularly in the Bay Area) which has had a devastating effect on generational wealth building for African Americans in particular.

Thank you for your work.

Greetings, Reparations Taskforce of California!

I'm writing today to simply introduce myself to this illustrious group! In my opinion, this group represents both the amazing scholarship of the brightest academic minds in our state, as we well as the sage wisdom and experience that has been garnered through years of success, trial and real-life experience.

I am a Management Consultant and Senior Project Manager — overseeing my own boutique consultancy, which has served public, private, nonprofit, and faith-based leaders and their organizations nationally and internationally for more than twenty-seven years.

I will be pursuing the Project Management Consultant's Role for the LA Civil Rights Reparations Pilot Program Study overseen by the Civil, Human Rights, and Equity Department, and will be participating in the upcoming Zoom interest meeting, scheduled for Tuesday, October 18th.

The responsibility entails the planning and overseeing the work of the reparations study and fund development plan, to ensure things are completed in a timely fashion and within budget.

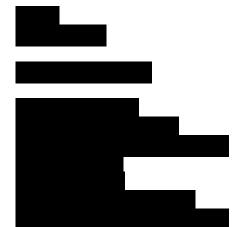

The role includes planning and designating resources, preparing budgets, monitoring progress, and keeping the Commissioners and City staff informed throughout the entirety of the project. It also includes managing and engaging community partners through the implementation of surveys or questionnaires, coordinating community town halls and/or public engagement.

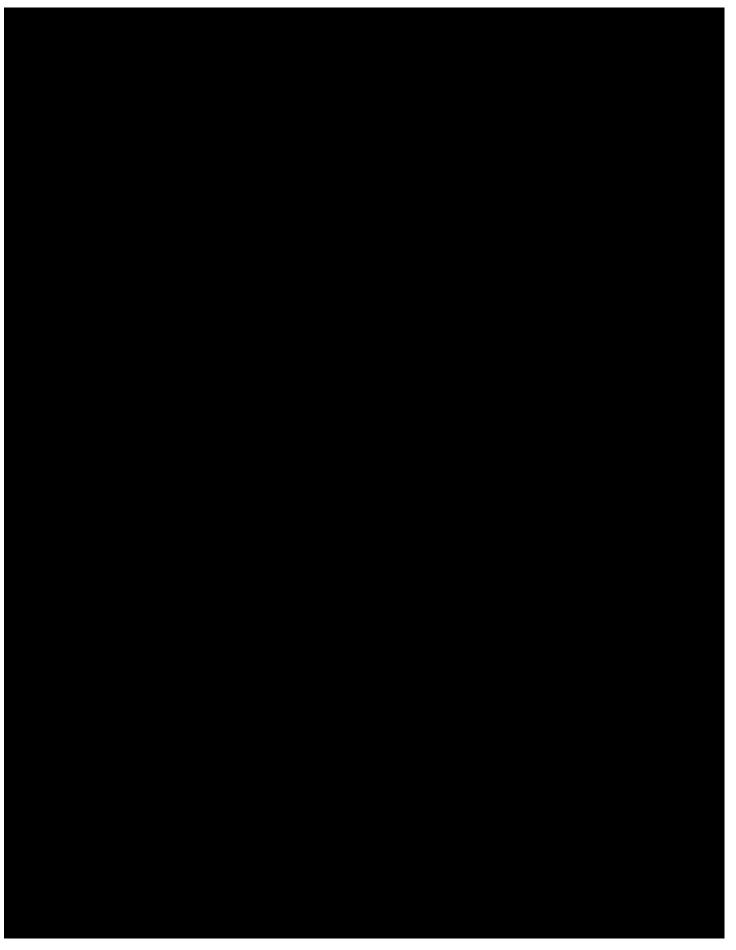

I've attached the following for your perusal, and I'm open to any questions or introductions in preparation for landing this important role and serving our community to forward this initiative with excellence and precision..

WS-3 Enterprises Fee Structure works on the basis of Hourly/Daily/Weekly Rates, By Project Rates, or By Retainer Rates.

What is important to remember for all WS-3 Clients is that we are a values-based business that seeks to:

- 4. Position clients to continue graduating through the developmental continuum of growth and success.

DO WHAT YOU CAN, WHERE YOU ARE, WITH WHAT YOU HAVE...

Through the years I've come to understand the "principle" of "doing what you can, where you are, with what you have"! Another way of saying this exact same thing through the use of business terminology — "MANAGED GROWTH".

A funny little thing happens on the road to success. Often the prosperity of the business can outpace the ability of the business to maintain that success. At this point SOME of you are probably wondering what am I talking about. "Rapid success" can lead to failure? Get real! But, it really can. And, I have seen it repeatedly in all scales of businesses over the past twenty years.

Often as entrepreneurs we become so focused on bringing the product to market, advertising the product, and selling the same that we fail to grow all aspects of the business in unison. As a result, while the business attains its ever-increasing benchmarks in sales it is growing upon an infrastructure that is not keeping pace with the growth of the business. Flaws in management systems slowly begin to be revealed. Quality control is not in sync with the growth. Eventually a tipping point is reached in which these flaws, caused by the failure of the business to grow its infrastructure at the same rate as sales and advertising, cause the system to collapse. "Managed Growth" for my company and yours, means:

- 1. Create your Scalable Management Model.
- 2. Define your Quality Control System
- 3. Executive your Systems 100% of the time.
- 4. Listen to the Numbers. Numbers do NOT lie.

Understanding the root cause of performance challenges begins with an accurate diagnosis of the entire organization. Our rigorous, mixed-methods approach leverages the industry's leading culture assessment instruments, working in tandem with extensive internal dialogue and comparative industry analysis to deliver a clear and complete picture of your organization's strengths and opportunities.

When organizations combine, cultural enablers or detractors within the existing cultures may impact strategy execution. We support culture integration before, during or after a merger or acquisition to ensure a seamless transition.

Measurement & Evaluation

How do you quantify something as nebulous as culture change? Unlike other firms, we don't pack up and leave after the assessment. We provide hard data to measure, support, and sustain our culture work so clients can understand how it impacts their people and performance.

Most organizations talk about great customer service, but many fail to live up to that promise. We support our clients in making sure their culture promotes service excellence to drive bottom-line results.

Accountability

Ownership, responsibility, and authority are often necessary for a culture to thrive without blame. We help our clients align around principles of positive accountability when engaging their employees, clients, and coworkers.

Even one accident on the job can have a devastating effect. A safety culture mitigates risk, reduces lost time due to accidents, and leads to a more productive organization overall. When the stakes are high, we help you shape your organization's shared beliefs about safety behaviors and promote a safer and more efficient work environment.

Innovation

Trust, openness to new ideas, and a willingness to take risks directly affects the potential for innovation to thrive within an organization. THE IMPORTANCE OF RISK MANAGEMENT >

Risk Management is about giving insight into the legal issues, potential challenges, and technology trends that emerge around social actions, new initiatives or industry changes that affect small businesses in real significant ways.

WS-3 Enterprises & Associates, we have implemented and reviewed the successful execution of risk management at Fortune 1000 and 500 corporations, government entities, and small businesses, who were formalizing their risk management process for the first time.

Understanding an organization's mission and objectives is critical to having an effective risk management program. These not only tell you what the organization wants to accomplish, but also why it is willing to take risks to do so. These serve as the backdrop and provide context for an enterprise to assess and manage risk.

Every organization seeks to create value. While it can take many different forms, value is a function of risk and reward. Companies must take risks to generate value. It is often said that the greater the risk, the greater the reward. This statement is false. Continually taking excessive risks, will almost certainly lead to huge losses. However, it is impossible to eliminate risk entirely. Organizational risk management is the discipline employed to help an organization to operate at a risk level that allows it to maximize its value creation.

HOW CAN WS-3 ENTERPRISES HELP YOUR BUSINESS?

Any organization that isn't working up to its full potential and profitability, is in danger of failing, and the health of any "sustainable business" depends on its educated, empowered and engaged workforce.

Whether the organization (large or small) is actively seeking quantitative or qualitative results, the learning curves associated with the changing marketplace driven by technology, requires: streamlined research, knowledge of best practices, and strategic management for making recommendations that leads to the needed change and process improvements that will ensure effectiveness and success over the long-term.

Organizational Development Consultants are typically hired when a firm is growing, struggling or needs to make dramatic operational changes in order to remain financially stable.

But, in the 21st century landscape of "doing business", the volatility and uncertainty of the marketplace necessitates that leaders be innovative, be forward-thinking, and be intuitively strategic with addressing the changing dynamics associated with their field or landscape, where globalization, the proliferation of technology, and industry shifts are dramatically impacting their bottom-line.

An Organizational Development Consultant is normally an independent contractor who is trained to thoughtfully enter an organization, and develop a comprehensive and robust plan to make it healthy, profitable and sustainable for the future.

The Tulsa Regional Chamber donated to the Greenwood Cultural Center (Black Wall Street) a copy of its meeting minutes from the weeks following the 1921 Tulsa Race Massacre. Their preservation alongside other important archival material will help ensure the most complete set of historical facts about the massacre as possible.

The minutes contain numerous troubling passages that, as Chamber President and CEO Mike Neal explained, "offer insight into the attitudes, beliefs and actions of those at the highest levels of power during our city's lowest moral point." The minutes cover meetings of the Chamber's general membership and board of directors from June 2 through July 1, 1921.

"Throughout the minutes, Greenwood residents were blamed for the violence," said Neal. "Tulsa businessmen committed to restitution and reconstruction but delivered neither. City leaders considered plans to take land from what was the most prosperous African American commercial hub in the entire country and use it for their own purposes."

Chamber leadership marked the donation with an apology for how the organization responded to the 1921 Tulsa Race Massacre.

"We're sorry that our organization did not fulfill its civic and moral obligation to ensure the welfare of all Tulsans'," said Neal. "We're sorry that we have not acknowledged this history for nearly 98 years. And we're sorry that for too long, we did not directly confront how the racism that enabled the massacre also shaped the economic disparities in our community."

"Throughout the minutes, Greenwood residents were blamed for the violence," said Neal. "Tulsa businessmen committed to restitution and reconstruction but delivered neither. City leaders considered plans to take land from what was the most prosperous African American commercial hub in the entire country and use it for their own purposes."

Chamber leadership marked the donation with an apology for how the organization responded to the 1921 Tulsa Race Massacre.

In 1921, white residents massacred 26 black residents, injured hundreds more, and destroyed Greenwood within hours.

"NO MORE BUSINESS AS USUAL.."

Organization Development (OD) is a dynamic values-based approach to systems change in organizations and communities; and it strives to build the capacity to achieve and sustain a new desired state that benefits the organization or community and the world around them. WS-3

Organizations need to recognize that "business as usual" is a likely recipe for failure. For example, Kodak failed to recognize the move to digital photography until a significant segment of its customer base went elsewhere. Sears, now owned by Kmart, was slow to recognize the impact of ecommerce and continued to print and distribute thousands of catalogs long after the catalog market became a producer of huge losses for the organization.

While many new businesses seem to succeed, most fail in the first five years. SWOTT analysis should be performed on a regular basis, in an environment in which members of the organization can take an honest, serious look at their strengths and weaknesses. SWOTT analysis can provide the company's leadership with a defined focus of what needs to be addressed in order to keep their organization growing, prosperous and competitive.

An Organization Development (OD) practitioner can effectively...

- Interpret cross-cultural influences in a helpful manner
- Handle diversity and diverse situations skillfully
- Communicate directions clearly to large groups
- Use the latest technology effectively
- Use the internet effectively
- Facilitate small group interventions (up to 500)
- Facilitate large group interventions (500 up to 1,000)
- Apply the skills of international OD effectively
- Function effectively as an internal consultant
- Demonstrate ability to conduct trans-organizational development
- Demonstrate ability to conduct community development
- Be aware of the influences of cultural dynamics on interactions with others

- 3) Climate volatility is the new normal // Cities and regions are facing increasingly severe water, food, and resource shortages, demanding aggressive and long-term preparation and planning.
- 4) Cities will increasingly compete for talent, resources, and investment // Individuals, institutions, industries, and investors are moving to cities that provide world-class infrastructure and amenities.
- 5) Cities lack the tools and resources to address these challenges // Through siloed city management, general risk aversion, incumbent influence, and a lack of viable alternative options, cities often have no other choice but to reinvest in an outdated development model and carry sunk costs decades into the future.

Hi,

This woman is claiming she is a victim of Black Lives Matter and deserves reparations if the African American community believes they do. I'm forwarding this to you for handling however you deem appropriate.

Thanks! ☺

Attorney General Rob Bonta and Reparations Task Force Members:

In your discussions for reparations for African Americans, please also consider reparations for the victims of the 2020 and 2021 Constitutionally illegal "protests" which were actually civil rights abuses in their denial to all citizens rights for protection of property, human life and the right to carry on business without interference. The anarchistic actions of protestors in carrying out their "rights". blatantly abused the Constitutional principle which clearly states that "the rights of one party do not exclude the rights of other parties" to continue and perform their regular daily duties. This includes carrying on business and going to work without interruption in travel to and from work, protection from physical harm or damage or looting of private property, respect for the laws in place which determine the legal activities of the protestors and the law enforcement officers who enforce the laws which all citizens are required to obey.

To date, with the exception of a few personal lawsuits, there has been no class action reparation activity to provide relief to those individuals, governmental representatives or business owners who provide either services or tax revenues which will provide the funding for the African American reparations. Some of these elements and organizations may be receiving reparations for people in history whom they may be related to but never knew. However, we do know the parties who caused the "protests" to become "riots", and therefore illegal by all accounts, on the media coverage. While we may not be dealing with the same individuals, we are dealing with the same racial elements and their supporters (clearly identifiable) that caused the extensive damage to life and property. Members of Black Lives Matter, Antifa, governmental employees and the Democrat party and their supporters need to be held accountable and charged appropriately for the abuse of citizens' rights in denying access to businesses and personal residences by blocking streets, highways and sidewalks preventing the daily activities of others.

While the African American community indicates they would like to receive reparations for those ancestors who suffered under slavery, it is doubted that those ancestors and their progeny who today have benefited from our Constitutional laws and our private enterprise system, which supports the individual in their efforts to realize their potential, would agree that the violent protests and actions of their progeny who were involved in the illegal activities were acting in a manner that would bring them the respect and recognition they deserve and seek in a multiracial society.

I find the membership of the task force racially biased due to their obvious racial association with the potential benefactors of the reparation payments. Please show your inclusive and equitable character by including members of the citizenry who are white who will also be providing the funding for any reparations. In order to avoid potentially biased reactions not only to their lack of inclusion, but also the appearance of objectivity in the distribution of funds. This would go a long way toward building better racial relations among our taxpayers.

Comment of the second

Please give the above your close consideration in determining the fairness of reparations to all parties who have suffered and deserve them.

Subject: Reparations and Indigenous Peoples

I write today on behalf of my wife, an indigenous Californian, specifically, a member of the Coastal Band of Chumash, and tens of thousands of Indigenous Californians.

Their people arrived here about 11,500 years ago, significantly before the Spanish who arrived in 1542. The Spanish robbed the indigenous peoples of their language, their land, their culture, and their religion and brought them Catholicism, measles, and slavery. Those who did not conform or die of disease, were killed. Mexico eventually took over for Spain and continued to rape the native people. By the time the Americans came along, there was little left of the original cultures. The tribes were scattered and disorganized, easily abused and forgotten.

Now comes Gavin Newsome, the most recent insult. Gavin needs to display his Woke bone fides and expand the base of Democrat voters and has determined that handing out cash and benefits is the way to go. So we now have a Commission to decide what form reparations to black Americans will take, and how much those reparations will be. But the Commission should keep in mind that whatever gifts you bestow upon black Americans, they still live on land taken from the indigenous peoples who were never compensated for it.

In addition, you should keep in mind that no matter what reparations the state bestows, it will not be enough. The black community will be insulted, whatever the value, and will demand more. Gavin will most likely give them more, and more, and more. There will never be enough, because if you refuse to increase the amount of reparations you will be branded as racist, a label you must avoid at all costs. Of course, if you decide on zero reparations you will also be branded as racist. You cannot win unless you hand over all the wealth of every caucasian Californian. Also remember that reparations is one more reason that will encourage businesses and people to leave California. The state is also bleeding people and lost one seat in Congress. The flow of people leaving will increase if you grant reparations.

California has embarked on a losing proposition, but one that will allow Gavin and the Commission members to feel better about themselves.

Disbanding without taking any action would be the way to go.

Greetings Family, Friends, and Allies,

10-12-22

I hope this message finds everyone well and in good spirits. Even though we are in the midst of some bad and terrible times, Black people may finally get the justice they deserve at home and abroad, with the AARS Global Black Reparations Plan. Please read the AARS Global Reparations Plan Summary attached for details on how Blacks can quickly get reparations and enter truth and reconciliation with all nations and races.

There is also a rare and superior path available to generate wealth to fund AARS. It is arranged as a business program so there are standard and commission fees you and your potential clients may receive. Please read the AARS Associate Commission Fees doc attached for details. Please call me with any relevant questions.

I am asking Oprah, Tyler, and LeBron to join the AARS effort. I would like you to get allies and the CBC to second the motion for all 3 to call me after reading this update letter, and all docs on the homepage at https://aaiuendracism.org for the Kwanzaa Reparations Project (KRP). KRP is a reading project to ask everyone 18 and older in America and the world to read all docs on the homepage, AARS is the last doc. Then decide if you will promote the KRP, to endorse AARS. I am also asking Oprah and Tyler to Discuss Producing a Reparations Documentary, and Generating Reparations Wealth.

AARS is Generating Wealth to Quickly Provide Reparations & Enter Truth & Reconciliation 10-12-22 from the African-American-Independent Union (AAIU), the Kwanzaa Reparations Project (KRP), the African-American Reparations/Sovereignty (AARS) Global Black Reparations Plan & Civil Rights Movement (CRM)

No Black person should write a plan, saying Black people should prove lineage to get redress. No Black person should have to prove anything to get reparations; because the generations and centuries in suffrage created social and emotional damage, causing global racial oppression, and the legacy still imposes a disruptive impulse, and negative impact on the entire Black race! So, all Black people deserve, and are entitled to reparations! {So, please stop all new ideas, plans, and studies, because it is not possible to produce a better reparations plan than AARS}. AARS has processes, programs, and services, to quickly provide due relief, repairing, and satisfaction for all African-Americans and all Black people, and truth and reconciliation with all nations and races.

Many scholars have studied reparations for decades, then produced a reparations plan. The AAIU studied the issue for more than 40 years, then produced their AARS reparations plan. So, it may be best to compare reparations plans written before 10-1-22, then you will find many advantages, and 12 strong reasons to endorse AARS. More plans will cause confusion and delays, and will definitely be redundant. Now, reparations for Black folks are way past long overdue! So, we do not need any more obstruction via more ideas, plans, or studies, we need AARS ratified ASAP!

 In knowing corruption is at an all-time high in America and globally, it is not wise to think there is no corruption in the reparations arenas, because there are a few delegates with secret sponsors and agendas. Possibly for the money, since there is a whirlwind of news spreading around indicating Blacks will finally get reparations, of approximately $14T. These delegates are pre-advised, so they will not communicate with other reparations activists, honestly, as they should. So, we should take reparations from secret agendas and meetings, into public discussions, which is how reparations should unfold. So, we reveal KRP for everyone 18 and older, to read and discuss all does on the homepage at https://aaiuendracism.org AARS is the last doc. Then decide if you will endorse & promote AARS, to stop corruption in reparations & demand a viable plan. (AARS).

 Contact all Civil Rights and Black Nationalist Groups; your local, state, and national church and civic leaders; your community college, state, and university instructors and students; and all active news networks & social media outlets; to ask them to engage in and promote KRP, from now 10-12-22 until 12-1-22. Then Blacks and their allies can learn the value of AARS, so we prepare them to make a strong valid collective demand for AARS, from 12-1-22 until 12-25-22. That will inspire allies, our government, guilty groups, and those in worship to agree to ratify AARS by 12-26-22, as a Kwanzaa Gift for African-Americans, and all Blacks, (the Global Black Family).

Uplifting KRP will become the 2nd CRM, because the collective and mass media react to intervene to offset delegates and sponsors, so we can demand AARS via the 2nd CRM. "The 2nd CRM secures reparations and reconciliation", for Blacks to get justice without repercussions, and for others to benefit economically from AARS, to facilitate reconciliation! Now with AARS, we also do what everyone else has failed to do, and that is we finally stop the police and white supremacists, from killing innocent and unarmed Blacks via sovereignty!! Blacks get their own prime land, form their own government, write their own laws, and control all affairs and entities, within their own city limits. They finally become their own educators, employers, health care, housing, and military policemen. Sovereignty is the only way Blacks will get freedom, justice, and equality. Many suggest rich Blacks should use their resources to take care of their people internally. Therefore, they should engage AARS, along with the government, guilty groups, and the compassionate, to generate wealth.

THE AARS EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

We note the government and guilty groups caused major problems, and vast damage by invading
      and capturing Africa, stealing her resources, and enslaving Black people. The damage stems from racism, colonialism, slavery, lynching, and segregation, and casts emotional trauma. So, all
      Blacks in the U.S. 18 and older, should start getting emergency reparations payments, (($100k
      on 3-1-23)), then all Black Families abroad should start getting payments soon thereafter.
      Black people should be proud, appreciated, and respected globally for great achievements, but instead they have been abused, enslaved, and oppressed for over 2000 years! That was engineered by religious propaganda, planting awful anti-black, and evil negro phobic passages in scripture, 8 to prescribe Blacks as slaves to the U.S. Government, and the guilty groups! The Pope apologized 9 for having 7 European Nations, and the government to silently suppress developing Africa, while 10 obviously subjugating and dominating Black people! There were also 17 U.S. corporations which 11 gained unjust enrichment, like hundreds of trillions, from the slave trade, transport, and policies!
12 {{AARS is for Blacks at home and abroad; with programs to learn about and reconnect with 13 their homeland, culture, family & customs; regain control of African resources & build safe cities 14 in America, Africa & globally}}. Blacks are victims of the world's worst & longest battles ever, 15 for capitalism via chains and bondage, causing Epic Black Suffrage! They caused a spiritual 16 decline, then spiteful divisions. So, Blacks need AARS to repair, reunite & transform mentally, 17 back to revive spirituality and solidarity, prior to slavery, then seek racial healing with all others.
      AARS serves to elevate world politics, for all nations and races to get mutual respect and benefits.
      AARS is a complete plan, with safe programs to generate wealth from seed funds (SF). A plan with both elements makes it the best reparations plan by far, so we all should endorse AARS.
21
      The SF are even refundable, so, government and guilty groups get great debt relief via loaning
      $500B in SF, instead of paying the $30T to $50T, they each owe! Blacks get great suffrage relief via emergency cash, building safe cities, and repairing all areas of damage! {{Generating their own wealth restores Black pride and unity, getting inner peace, abolishes begging & is the key to liberation}}. So, generating wealth should be the priority. 12 strong reasons to endorse AARS.
      First, guilty groups send $5B-$500B cash in SF evenly to the operating U.S. Black Banks. That gives us a money trail, and those banks real banking power. Rich Blacks and those with empathy, 28 should also engage from $100M-$5B. Second, one person becomes a client by submitting a 20-29
      30-page form, for compliance. Note; nobody around foul activity can engage. Third, clients get 30
      contracts for diligence. {The safe programs require clients to block their contract amount in their accounts for program duration, timing, and operations. That means clients cannot lose their SF in 32 secure programs. System banks and their banking officers manage the programs, so they are secured and 33 produce exponential returns. "A proper line of communication will get most Reparations Activists, most 34 of the Congressional Black Caucus & most Black Folks to agree to endorse AARS", "so, our government
37
      Incentives to Move Fast: (1) programs open and close quick! (2) victims need emergency relief ASAP!
      (3) clients get 50% weekly payouts at $100M & above! & (4) SF unblocked after programs profit & close!

Brotha (Cliff) Pruitt brothapruitt@gmail.com call 310-528-1674 Mon.-Fri. During Business Hours to schedule a series of discussions on the AAIU, KRP, AARS & the 2nd CRM We engage, promote and gain momentum in KRP, to form & intensify the 2nd CRM, to demand AARS Page 2

I am contacting you, to serve as leader of an associate group to seek funding sources, of quality clients with $100M-$5B clean cash, to use as seed funds (SF), in programs to generate wealth with no risk. You and your clients help fund AARS, and get great personal gains. This should be a priority because premium programs are available now. We should also ask rich Blacks, those with compassion for Blacks, our solvent government, and the other guilty groups; who are known to have profited from colonialism and slavery, while causing massive and extensive damage.

These premium programs offer pre-short-term programs, (for 10-30 days), prior to the basic 1-year term programs. The short-term programs raise the principal amount, 3-5 times (in the time frame), for projects on predetermined budgets, with arbitraged high-end bank certificates, (like BGs, BNs, MTNs, and SBLCs), then that amount is taken into the basic 1-year program, for a minimum profit of 50% per week. The funds stay in the clients accounts, are used as a compensating balance for program governance, with valuable bank certificates, to perform program operations. Now realize, the funds never leave the clients accounts; as the program system banks, and their banking officers, manage the programs; therefore, these programs are safe and secured with no risk.

The remnants of the past indicate we should also ask our government, and the other guilty groups for $500B in SF each, as great debt relief from their $30T-$50T reparations debt, that they each owe, to engage to help raise the $650T, to fund AARS. All associate groups with 5 people are legally entitled to $1/5^{th}$ of 1% each, of each contract, from the SF from our government, the guilty groups, and all others we recruit. All $500B SF loans are rendered to 100, $5B contracts. We make $100B in one year from each contract. The premium programs will pay $300B-$500B in one year.

With AARS we can quickly provide reparations for descendants of slaves, or offsprings of deities, and also offer truth and reconciliation for all guilty groups. This is a civil and financial exercise of global humanitarianism and goodwill, to benefit all African-Americans, all Black People, and everybody else on earth. That is the spiritual aspect and social scope of AARS.

It would help if we could ask Oprah, Tyler, and LeBron to join at $500M, and ask them to recruit other clients, which entitles them to an associate fee, for their services. If I could just talk to them, I am sure they would be happy to engage to help provide reparations, and for personal gains. We should also ask many prominent attorneys and law firms to become leaders of a group, to help us to get our U.S. Government, to quickly agree to deposit the $500B SF request, in one of the operating U.S. Black Banks, as deferred reparations. Group associate fees should inspire them, to ask our government & other guilty groups to deposit the $500B. In AARS we record all deposits.

EXAMPLE: When you make $1B from a deal; if your fee is 1%; you will get $10M. (Everyone should know that is the formula for big money payout fees), (1% of $1B is $10M). You get that figure by knowing 1% of $100M is $1M, so, 1% of $1B is $10M. Associate Fees Detailed Below;

YOUR AARS ASSOCIATE GROUP COMMISSION FEE IS 1%. ALL FIVE GET 1/5th %. YOU HELP VICTIMS RECOVER LOSES AND MAKE A VERY GENEROUS PERSONAL GAIN.

This will enable our government, and the guilty groups to atone by offering a sincere apology, making sound restitution via SF, sharing profits to help fund AARS, and receiving invaluable gains. Our government recoups Ukraine war cost, relieves our debt, and boosts our economy.

The plan for each of the three potential clients named above, is to ask them to deposit the $500M cash in one of the top banks (WF), to engage, and the money stays in their accounts. Then they fill out and submit a 20-30 page form for compliance, based on that account. After clients are approved and pass compliance, assuming they are people with clean backgrounds, they get contracts for their attorneys and bankers to do due diligence, with Warren Buffet, and my team. The clients will get the pre-short-term program, then the 1-year program starts right after the short program. The clients principal will raise to at least $1.5B via the bank certificates, during the short term programs.

I am negotiating for each client to get a $500M payout, after the short-term programs, then we take $1B into the 1-year program. Therefore, the clients are paid, prior to generating wealth within the 1-year programs. The profit margin is a minimum of 50% per week. So, the programs will generate $500M every week, or $2B a month, for 10 months (the 1-year program duration). The total profit is $20B in one year. Clients usually keep 70%-80%, because profits are so high. Standard fees are 10%-20% pending programs available. The fees cover program platform administrators, attorneys, and bankers; and the commission fees are for the platforms, and the clients associate groups.

The proposed $14T, and all reparations funds, should be monitored, and used to generate wealth for the next 50 years. The big fight on the horizon is to control the $14T. That is what the corruption is all about. The powers that be are using many sponsors and delegates to get control of the $14T. They may reserve a big portion, then let Black people have the remaining kibbles and bits. Like the funds, that were earmarked for Hurricane Katrina and Rita victims were embezzled. Even as funds came from emergency agencies, and those with compassion, they were still misappropriated!

That is why we are calling for the 2nd CRM, because this is the most critical and crucial time in the history of the world for all African-Americans and all Black people!! We should not let the powers that be, their sponsors or their delegates, get or keep control of the $14T. It will take much more than $14T to quickly provide emergency relief & build safe infrastructure & cities at home & abroad. We should also repair all areas of damage in all aspects of life & we should also proclaim, profess, promote, and facilitate peace and progress for all nations and races.

Victims will not complain, because they should have gotten reparations right after slavery, so the debt is way past long overdue. But they will be much worse off in 5 years from now, then they are in now, because most Backs need and should request therapy, recovery, and stability programs, as they receive reparations. The reparations payments should inspire all Black people to engage in programs to transform to get on the right path for unity, and personal and family financial stability.

That is why we should have a 2nd CRM, to demand AARS, because Blacks will quickly get emergency relief, but just as important they also generate wealth from the $14T, and all other SF for the next 50 years. In AARS 30% of the $14T would be used for quick payments, and 70% would be used to generate wealth. In AARS we quickly provide emergency relief, build safe infrastructure and cities, and repair the colossal and vast damage on a global scale. Now most importantly we should use AARS programs for spiritual growth, reuniting globally, recovering, repairing, and transforming mentally, for Blacks to learn to love one another, and to lead peaceful and productive lifestyles. As Black people fought for full citizenship, after slavery, free African-Americans exercised self-determination by building churches, cities, establishing schools, village customs & creating associations to form the foundational pillars of Black America, (sovereignty).

I am unable to locate the online survey in order to complete it. Can you please reply to this email with the link as I would like to contribute input to the research currently taking place as it relates to my enslaved ancestors' lineages.

It's unfortunate that none of the committee members are visionaries and will probably advocate wasting funds if any become available on pursuing projects like the Vice-Chairman's nostalgic dream of bringing back his "favorite watering holes." When I arrived in LA it was about 20% Black, and it's now about 6% Black. Trying to rebuild any communities for black people will benefit others more than black people.

Cheers

Hi,

PIU received the attached letter from processes, requesting that CDCR do a DNA test, as he believes he is a descendent of slaves, and should then be entitled to reparations. I am forwarding this to you for handling as you deem appropriate.

Attention Galifornia D.O.J./Department Of Justice:

I am a 73 year-old native-born Black U.S. Senior Citizen incarcerated in The CDCR/ California Department Of Corrections & Rehabilitation & I know "NOT" who my male birth parent is or was & no one within this CDCR has the "will" to inform me what department within The CDCR or what other California State or law enforcement agency stores or is the steward/conservetor/caretakerof the D.N.A. saliva sample taken by law enforcement investigators now a routine crime investigation policy procedure standard related to my first-ever-in-this-lifetime crime. Before I die I would like to simply "know" who my D.N.A. male parent/father was or is & my children deserve to know who their RUFFIN Grandfather was or is & no one here in The CDCR cares one iota about that nor me nor my now adult children & adult grandchildren's family tree history inquiries. I would like to know where or to whom to write to obtain easy simple D.N.A. information as a CDCR Prison Inmate for the purposes of genealogy technology & D.N.A. matching to research my family tree history & The CDCR allows "NO" D.N.A./saliva/hair/body fluids in The U.S.P.S. "snail mail" system for any D.N.A. home test kits like the one available through/from Ancestry.com to swab yourself & mail it back to Ancestry com labs for D.N.A. matching & genealogy technology family tree history information &/or "verification" my ancestors were slaves per the stipulations & qualifications for "REPARATIONS" from the state of California now finalizing its Assembly Bill 3121 to finally pay reparations for crimes of slavery! There may already exist "digital" computer file version or copy or a digital computer file "analysis" of my D.N.A. to use or access & "NOT" the actual saliva sample itself that was taken/given at the time of my arrest, but, regardless to any of that or not, The CDCR has no "will" to simply inform me where to start to find out any information at all & some have suggested that The California D.O.J./ Department Of Justice is the place to look or the place to start to look or the place to find the answers THE CDCR is not willing to disclose as-if this D.N.A. information is an issue of "national security-level" top secret The CDCR must keep & away from an inmate to ever know. If your agency is not where to find these answers, please simply inform me what state or government or law enforcement agency I should contact using The USPS "snail mail" system street address or POBOX please & thank you for your kindnesses

Greetings, Reparations Taskforce of California!

I'm writing today to simply introduce myself to this illustrious group! In my opinion, this group represents both the amazing scholarship of the brightest academic minds in our state, as well as the sage wisdom and experience that has been garnered through years of success, trial and real-life experience.

I am a Management Consultant and Senior Project Manager — overseeing my own boutique consultancy, which has served public, private, nonprofit, and faith-based leaders and their organizations nationally and internationally for more than twenty-seven years.

I will be pursuing the Project Management Consultant's Role for the LA Civil Rights Reparations Pilot Program Study overseen by the Civil, Human Rights, and Equity Department, and will be participating in the upcoming Zoom interest meeting, scheduled for Tuesday, October 18th.

The responsibility entails the planning and overseeing the work of the reparations study and fund development plan, to ensure things are completed in a timely fashion and within budget.

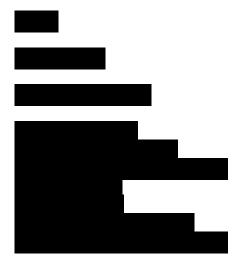

The role includes planning and designating resources, preparing budgets, monitoring progress, and keeping the Commissioners and City staff informed throughout the entirety of the project. It also includes managing and engaging community partners through the implementation of surveys or questionnaires, coordinating community town halls and/or public engagement.

WHAT IS A "BUSINESS LIFE CYCLE"?

business climate is, constantly changing, evolving and learning to keep up with the competitive marketplace. With the passage of time, all of our company's will go through various phases and stages of the "Business Life Cycle", which has been intensely the graduate and post graduate levels. To intentionally and thoughtfully learn "what exactly" is upcoming in a specific stage of business, helps the entrepreneur and business owner to "focus in" on what's most important at that time. So, whether there is a marketing challenge or financial resource/capitalization need to succeed, the ability to pinpoint the priorities and know what to address, is critically important.

And, because every business goes through stages of development similar to the cycle of life for the human race, a consultant that can effectively provide strategies that work for your business that can be applied to right now with corresponding results, is a stellar consultant with sage advice for your unique needs and situation; and that's a big deal.

WHEN IS THE LAST TIME YOUR BUSINESS OR ORGANIZATION HAD A "LIFE-CYCLE CHECKUP"?

WHAT ARE YOUR FEES?

WS-3 Enterprises is a boutique consulting firm, with national and international relationships that spans the globe. Depending upon the focus and size of your project, the budget and/or budgetary limitations or restrictions, along with the timing or expected life-span of the project or work, our team is willing to work with you; especially if it falls within the wheelhouse of our passion, purpose and priority areas..

HOURLY/DAILY/WEEKLY — BY PROJECT — BY RETAINER..

WS-3 Enterprises Fee Structure works on the basis of Hourly/Daily/Weekly Rates, By Project Rates, or By Retainer Rates.

What is important to remember for all WS-3 Clients is that we are a values-based business that seeks to:

- 1. Improve the bottom-line of every client...
- 2. Give more "bang for the buck" no matter how much is being spent..
- Provide "ready" answers and resolve, without financially burdening or taking advantage of our clients.
- 4. Position clients to continue graduating through the developmental continuum of growth and success.
- Develop a "Customer For Life" if at all possible, to maintain a continuity and community amongst our clients.

DO WHAT YOU CAN, WHERE YOU ARE, WITH WHAT YOU HAVE...

Through the years I've come to understand the "principle" of "doing what you can, where you are, with what you have"! Another way of saying this exact same thing through the use of business terminology — "MANAGED GROWTH".

A funny little thing happens on the road to success. Often the prosperity of the business can outpace the ability of the business to maintain that success. At this point SOME of you are probably wondering what am I talking about. "Rapid success" can lead to failure? Get real! But, it really can. And, I have seen it repeatedly in all scales of businesses over the past twenty years.

Often as entrepreneurs we become so focused on bringing the product to market, advertising the product, and selling the same that we fail to grow all aspects of the business in unison. As a result, while the business attains its ever-increasing benchmarks in sales it is growing upon an infrastructure that is not keeping pace with the growth of the business. Flaws in management systems slowly begin to be revealed. Quality control is not in sync with the growth. Eventually a tipping point is reached in which these flaws, caused by the failure of the business to grow its infrastructure at the same rate as sales and advertising, cause the system to collapse. "Managed Growth" for my company and yours, means:

- 1. Create your Scalable Management Model.
- 2. Define your Quality Control System
- 3. Executive your Systems 100% of the time.
- 4. Listen to the Numbers. Numbers do NOT lie.

WS-3 SAYS: STRONG ORGANIZATIONAL CULTURE IS A COMPETITIVE ADVANTAGE!!

While business leaders know the importance of organizational culture, many still struggle to grasp how to use

e change, without nega

Over the years, we've developed and refined WS-3's methodology for culture change, using highly engaging and rigorous means to assess and measure organizational culture to help leaders use it as a lever for change.

Our team uses an evidence-based approach to quantify aspects of organizational culture that are proven to be linked to performance outcomes. We leverage internal dialogue, collaboration, and empirically validated culture

Understanding the root cause of performance challenges begins with an accurate diagnosis of the entire organization. Our rigorous, mixed-methods approach leverages the industry's leading culture assessment instruments, working in tandem with extensive internal dialogue and comparative industry analysis to deliver a clear and complete picture of your organization's strengths and opportunities.

When organizations combine, cultural enablers or detractors within the existing cultures may impact strategy execution. We support culture integration before, during or after a merger or acquisition to ensure a seamless transition.

Measurement & Evaluation

How do you quantify something as nebulous as culture change? Unlike other firms, we don't pack up and leave after the assessment. We provide hard data to measure, support, and sustain our culture work so clients can understand how it impacts their people and performance.

Most organizations talk about great customer service, but many fail to live up to that promise. We support our clients in making sure their culture promotes service excellence to drive bottom-line results.

Accountability

Ownership, responsibility, and authority are often necessary for a culture to thrive without blame. We help our clients align around principles of positive accountability when engaging their employees, clients, and coworkers.

Even one accident on the job can have a devastating effect. A safety culture mitigates risk, reduces lost time due to accidents, and leads to a more productive organization overall. When the stakes are high, we help you shape your organization's shared beliefs about safety behaviors and promote a safer and more efficient work environment.

Innovation

Trust, openness to new ideas, and a willingness to take risks directly affects the potential for innovation to thrive within an organization. We help assess your organization's cultural readiness for innovation and work with you to shape a trusting environment of experimentation, learning, discovery, and ultimately challenges.

Employees who go above and beyond to do their best are the hallmarks of a culture of quality. By increasing open communication and focusing on processes, results, and learning, our clients can improve quality across the entire workforce. WS-3's consultants take a whole systems approach to improving processes and ensuring our clients receive the highest quality products and services.

I'm writing today to simply introduce myself to this illustrious group! In my opinion, this group represents both the amazing scholarship of the brightest academic minds in our state, as well as the sage wisdom and experience that has been garnered through years of success, trial and real-life experience.

I am a Management Consultant and Senior Project Manager — overseeing my own boutique consultancy, which has served public, private, nonprofit, and faith-based leaders and their organizations nationally and internationally for more than twenty-seven years.

I will be pursuing the Project Management Consultant's Role for the LA Civil Rights Reparations Pilot Program Study overseen by the Civil, Human Rights, and Equity Department, and will be participating in the upcoming Zoom interest meeting, scheduled for Tuesday, October 18th.

The responsibility entails the planning and overseeing the work of the reparations study and fund development plan, to ensure things are completed in a timely fashion and within budget.

The role includes planning and designating resources, preparing budgets, monitoring progress, and keeping the Commissioners and City staff informed throughout the entirety of the project. ReparationsTaskforce

EXTERNAL EMAIL: This message was sent from outside DOJ. Please do not click links or open attachments that appear suspicious.

Greetings Family, Friends, and Allies,

I hope all of you have a peaceful and productive day. I have been studying reparations with many other reparations activists, groups, and experts, for more than 40 years, so please take this email very seriously. Since you all are members of groups studying or developing reparations proposals, it is my duty to inform you that we produced the African-American Reparations/Sovereignty (AARS) Global Black Reparations Plan, after more than 40 years of intense and focused research. That should tell you the AARS plan has strong merit and value.

I have been talking to a few platforms that generate wealth for projects to build infrastructure and cities. They are built to generate billions and trillions of dollars. I have made arrangements for us to use these programs to generate wealth for AARS reparations. Yesterday, I talked to one of the program officers for one of the programs that generate wealth. We updated both AARS does attached, because there are premium programs available now, that will not last much longer. Spots are filling up quickly because the people who know about these programs do not wait or procrastinate.

Our thought is that if the people on this email list can agree that AARS is a complete and comprehensive reparations plan, with programs to generate wealth for the next 50 years for reparations; that makes AARS the best reparations plan by far. We need 5-20 people to form a AARS Associate Groups, to try to get Oprah, Tyler, LeBron, another rich Black American, or any wealthy person or group with compassion for Blacks, to call me to inquire about AARS, and the funding programs. It will be easy to get them engaged because we have Warren Buffet doing diligence on the programs with us, and they all know about and trust Warren Buffet, and Warren Buffet knows about these programs.

As I mentioned in prior communications, my groups do not own or operate these programs. We found the groups who have been performing in these programs since WW II. As a matter of fact, they rebuilt Germany after WW II, with these programs, because that country was nearly destroyed, and needed infrastructure. That is why these programs are perfect for global black reparations, because Blacks need infrastructure and cities at home and abroad. There is nothing even close to providing reparations for African-Americans and the Global Black Family like these programs. So, we should take advantage of them while they are available. We actually help and relieve our government in their reparations debt, so we can and should provide reparations for Black people ourselves, with blessings and benefits for all nations and races. We also need prominent & strong attorneys & law firms to file many & various lawsuits against our government & the other guilty groups, until they agree to engage AARS, at the $500B refundable request, as detailed in the attachments.

Now if it is possible for us to agree to make this a priority, and if any of you know, or can think of someone, who knows Oprah or any rich Black American, or any wealthy person or group with compassion for Black people, personally, and you get one of them to call me, we all will get to split the 1% fee as follows. Doesn't sound like much but please look at these figures below, before you say no. If we form 4 groups from 20 people, all 4 groups will get 1% each, for the same fees as described in the attachments. We all will be responsible for providing global black reparations, facilitating genuine reconciliation with all nations and races, and getting a great personal commission fee.

We have three premium programs available now for $500M. The payouts will be a minimum of $20B in one year, for each program. One percent of $60B is $600M. That should be a serious motivating factor for all of you to agree to make this a priority, upon reading the attachments so you can verify AARS is a valid and valuable plan. I can also get one premium program for $5B, if we move with savvy and swift business sense over the next 2 weeks. Our goal is to actually provide reparations for Black people by generating wealth for the next 50 years, ($650T), as detailed in the attachments, and is described in even more details on the plan. We can and should endorse, promote, and fund the AARS plan. It will save time and money. Please call me with any pertinent questions.

Activist; and Reparations Expert

I am asking Oprah and Tyler, and I would like for our group from this email thread, and most of the CBC, and most of the U.S Congress, and our President and Vice President, to second the motion for both of them to call me, after reading this email, and all articles on the homepage at https://aaiuendracism.org for the Kwanzaa Reparations Project (KRP). KRP is a reading project for everyone 18 and older in America and the world, to read all docs on that homepage to decide if they will endorse and promote AARS from now until X-mas, as detailed in the attachments, to get our government to ratify AARS by Kwanzaa, as a gift to African-Americans and the Global Black Family. I would also like to Discuss Producing a Reparations Documentary, and Generating Reparations Wealth, with Oprah and Tyler.

AARS is Generating Wealth to Quickly Provide Reparations & Enter Truth & Reconciliation 10-13-22 from the African-American-Independent Union (AAIU), the Kwanzaa Reparations Project (KRP), the African-American Reparations/Sovereignty (AARS) Global Black Reparations Plan & Civil Rights Movement (CRM)

No Black person should have to prove anything to get reparations; because the generations and centuries in suffrage created social and emotional damage, causing global racial oppression, and the legacy still imposes a disruptive impulse, and negative impact on the entire Black race! So, all Black people deserve, and are entitled to reparations! {So, please stop all new ideas, plans, and studies, because it is not possible to produce a better reparations plan than AARS}. AARS has processes, programs, and services, to quickly provide due relief, repairing, and satisfaction for all African-Americans and all Black people, and truth and reconciliation with all nations and races.

Many scholars have studied reparations for decades, then produced a reparations plan. The AAIU studied the issue for more than 40 years, then produced their AARS reparations plan. So, it may be best to compare reparations plans written before 10-1-22, then you will find many advantages, and 12 strong reasons to endorse AARS. More plans will cause confusion and delays, and will definitely be redundant. Now, reparations for Black folks are way past long overdue! So, we do not need any more obstruction via more ideas, plans, or studies, we need AARS ratified ASAP!

 In knowing corruption is at an all-time high in America and globally, it is not wise to think there is no corruption in the reparations arenas, because there are a few delegates with secret sponsors and agendas. Possibly for the money, since there is a whirlwind of news spreading around indicating Blacks will finally get reparations, of approximately $14T. These delegates are pre-advised, so they will not communicate with other reparations activists, honestly, as they should. So, we should take reparations from secret agendas and meetings, into public discussions, which is how reparations should unfold. So, we reveal KRP for everyone 18 and older, to read and discuss all does on the homepage at https://aaiuendracism.org AARS is the last doc. Then decide if you will endorse & promote AARS, to stop corruption in reparations & demand a viable plan, (AARS).

 Contact all Civil Rights and Black Nationalist Groups; your local, state, and national church and civic leaders; your community college, state, and university instructors and students; and all active news networks & social media outlets; to ask them to engage in and promote KRP, from now 10-13-22 until 12-1-22. Then Blacks and their allies can learn the value of AARS, so we prepare them to make a strong valid collective demand for AARS, from 12-1-22 until 12-25-22. That will inspire allies, our government, guilty groups, and those in worship to agree to ratify AARS by 12-26-22, as a Kwanzaa Gift for African-Americans, and all Blacks, (the Global Black Family).

Uplifting KRP will become the 2nd CRM, because the collective and mass media react to intervene to offset delegates and sponsors, so we can demand AARS via the 2nd CRM. "The 2nd CRM secures reparations and reconciliation", for Blacks to get justice without repercussions, and for others to benefit economically from AARS, to facilitate reconciliation! Now with AARS, we also do what everyone else has failed to do, and that is we finally stop the police and white supremacists, from killing innocent and unarmed Blacks via sovereignty!! In sovereignty Blacks get their own prime land, form their own government, write their own laws, and control all affairs and entities, within their city limits. They finally become their own educators, employers, health care, housing, and military policemen. Sovereignty is the only way Blacks will get freedom, justice, and equality. Many suggest rich Blacks should use their resources to take care of their people internally. Therefore, they should engage AARS, along with the government, guilty groups, and the compassionate, to generate wealth.

We note the government and guilty groups caused major problems, and vast damage by invading 1
      racism, colonialism, slavery, lynching, and segregation, and casts emotional trauma. So, all 3
      Blacks in the U.S. 18 and older, should start getting emergency reparations payments, (($100k
      on 3-1-23)), then all Black Families abroad should start getting payments soon thereafter.
      instead they have been abused, enslaved, and oppressed for over 2000 years! That was engineered by religious propaganda, planting awful anti-black, and evil negro phobic passages in scripture, 8 to prescribe Blacks as slaves to the U.S. Government, and the guilty groups! The Pope apologized 9
10 obviously subjugating and dominating Black people! There were also 17 U.S. corporations which 11 gained unjust enrichment, like hundreds of trillions, from the slave trade, transport, and policies!
12 {{AARS is for Blacks at home and abroad; with programs to learn about and reconnect with 13
14 in America, Africa & globally}}. Blacks are victims of the world's worst & longest battles ever, 15
16 decline, then spiteful divisions. So, Blacks need AARS to repair, reunite & transform mentally, 17 back to revive spirituality and solidarity, prior to slavery, then seek racial healing with all others.
      AARS serves to elevate world politics, for all nations and races to get mutual respect and benefits.
      with both elements makes it the best reparations plan by far, so we all should endorse AARS.
21
      $500B in SF, instead of paying the $30T to $50T, they each owe! Blacks get great suffrage relief via emergency cash, building safe cities, and repairing all areas of damage! {{Generating their
25 liberation}}. So, generating wealth should be the priority. 12 strong reasons to endorse AARS.
26
      First, guilty groups send $5B-$500B cash in SF evenly to the operating U.S. Black Banks. That gives us a money trail, and those banks real banking power. Rich Blacks and those with empathy, 28 should also engage from $100M-$5B. Second, one person becomes a client by submitting a 20-29
      30-page form, for compliance. Note; nobody around foul activity can engage. Third, clients get 30
      contracts for diligence. {The safe programs require clients to block their contract amount in their accounts for program duration, timing, and operations. That means clients cannot lose their SF in 32 secure programs. System banks and their banking officers manage the programs, so they are secured and 33 produce exponential returns. "A proper line of communication will get most Reparations Activists, most 34
      of the Congressional Black Caucus & most Black Folks to agree to endorse AARS", "so, our government
36
      Incentives to Move Fast: (1) programs open and close quick! (2) victims need emergency relief ASAP!
37
      (3) clients get 50% weekly payouts at $100M & above! & (4) SF unblocked after programs profit & close!

Brotha (Cliff) Pruitt brothapruitt@gmail.com call 310-528-1674 Mon.-Fri. During Business Hours to schedule a series of discussions on the AAIU, KRP, AARS & the 2nd CRM We engage, promote and gain momentum in KRP, to form & intensify the 2nd CRM, to demand AARS Page 2

I am contacting you, to serve as leader of an associate group to seek funding sources, of quality clients with $100M-$5B clean cash, to use as seed funds (SF), in programs to generate wealth with no risk. You and your clients help fund AARS, and get great personal gains. This should be a priority because premium programs are available now. We should also ask rich Blacks, those with compassion for Blacks, our solvent government, and the other guilty groups; who are known to have profited from colonialism and slavery, while causing massive and extensive damage.

These premium programs offer pre-short-term programs, (for 10-30 days), prior to the basic 1-year term programs. The short-term programs raise the principal amount, 3-5 times (in the time frame), for projects on predetermined budgets, with arbitraged high-end bank certificates, (like BGs, BNs, MTNs, and SBLCs), then that amount is taken into the basic 1-year program, for a minimum profit of 50% per week. The funds stay in the clients accounts, are used as a compensating balance for program governance, with valuable bank certificates, to perform program operations. Now realize, the funds never leave the clients accounts; as the program system banks, and their banking officers, manage the programs; therefore, these programs are safe and secured with no risk.

The remnants of the past indicate we should also ask our government, and the other guilty groups for $500B in SF each, as great debt relief from their $30T-$50T reparations debt, that they each owe, to engage to help raise the $650T, to fund AARS. All associate groups with 5 people are legally entitled to 1% per group, of each contract, from the SF from our government, the guilty groups, and all others we recruit. All $500B SF loans are rendered to 100, $5B contracts. We make $100B in one year from each contract. The premium programs will pay $300B-$500B in one year.

With AARS we can quickly provide reparations for descendants of slaves, or offsprings of deities, and also offer truth and reconciliation for all guilty groups. This is a civil and financial exercise of global humanitarianism and goodwill, to benefit all African-Americans, all Black People, and everybody else on earth. That is the spiritual aspect and social scope of AARS.

It would help if we could ask Oprah, Tyler, and LeBron to join at $500M, and ask them to recruit other clients, which entitles them to an associate fee, for their services. If I could just talk to them, I am sure they would be happy to engage to help provide reparations, and for personal gains. We should also ask many prominent attorneys and law firms to become leaders of a group, to help us to get our U.S. Government, to quickly agree to deposit the $500B SF request, in one of the operating U.S. Black Banks, as deferred reparations. Group associate fees should inspire them, to ask our government & other guilty groups to deposit the $500B. In AARS we record all deposits.

EXAMPLE: A client group deposits $5B-$500B cash in SF, for the programs in a black bank. One person becomes a client by depositing $5B from the SF in a top bank. Then they get contracts for diligence. Rich Backs and the compassionate deposit $100M-$5B in a top bank for a contract. The contracts payout in billions, so people should know 1% of $100M is $1M, so 1% of $1B is $10M.

YOUR AARS ASSOCIATE GROUP COMMISSION FEE IS 1%. ALL 5 GET 20% of 1%. YOU HELP VICTIMS RECOVER LOSES AND MAKE A VERY GENEROUS PERSONAL GAIN.

This will enable our government, and the guilty groups to atone by offering a sincere apology, making sound restitution via SF, sharing profits to help fund AARS, and receiving invaluable gains. Our government recoups Ukraine war cost, relieves our debt, and boosts our economy.

The plan for each of the three potential clients named above, is to ask them to deposit the $500M cash in one of the top banks (WF), to engage, and the money stays in their accounts. Then they fill out and submit a 20-30 page form for compliance, based on that account. After clients are approved and pass compliance, assuming they are people with clean backgrounds, they get contracts for their attorneys and bankers to do due diligence, with Warren Buffet, and my team. The clients will get the pre-short-term program, then the 1-year program starts right after the short program. The clients principal will raise to at least $1.5B via the bank certificates, during the short term programs.

I am negotiating for each client to get a $500M payout, after the short-term programs, then we take $1B into the 1-year program. Therefore, the clients are paid, prior to generating wealth within the 1-year programs. The profit margin is a minimum of 50% per week. So, the programs will generate $500M every week, or $2B a month, for 10 months (the 1-year program duration). The total profit is $20B in one year. Clients usually keep 70%-80%, because profits are so high. Standard fees are 20%-30% pending programs available. The fees cover program platform administrators, attorneys, and bankers; and the commission fees are for the platforms, and the clients associate groups.

The proposed $14T, and all reparations funds, should be monitored, and used to generate wealth for the next 50 years. The big fight on the horizon is to control the $14T. That is what the corruption is all about. The powers that be are using many sponsors and delegates to get control of the $14T. They may reserve a big portion, then let Black people have the remaining kibbles and bits. Like the funds, that were earmarked for Hurricane Katrina and Rita victims were embezzled. Even as funds came from emergency agencies, and those with compassion, they were still misappropriated!

That is why we are calling for the 2nd CRM, because this is the most critical and crucial time in the history of the world for all African-Americans and all Black people!! We should not let the powers that be, their sponsors or their delegates, get or keep control of the $14T. It will take much more than $14T to quickly provide emergency relief & build safe infrastructure & cities at home & abroad. We should also repair all areas of damage in all aspects of life & we should also proclaim, profess, promote, and facilitate peace and progress for all nations and races.

Victims will not complain, because they should have gotten reparations right after slavery, so the debt is way past long overdue. But they will be much worse off in 5 years from now, then they are in now, because most Backs need and should request therapy, recovery, and stability programs, as they receive reparations. The reparations payments should inspire all Black people to engage in programs to transform to get on the right path for unity, and personal and family financial stability.

That is why we should have a 2nd CRM, to demand AARS, because Blacks will quickly get emergency relief, but just as important they also generate wealth from the $14T, and all other SF for the next 50 years. In AARS 30% of the $14T would be used for quick payments, and 70% would be used to generate wealth. In AARS we quickly provide emergency relief, build safe infrastructure and cities, and repair the colossal and vast damage on a global scale. Now most importantly we should use AARS programs for spiritual growth, reuniting globally, recovering, repairing, and transforming mentally, for Blacks to learn to love one another, and to lead peaceful and productive lifestyles. As Black people fought for full citizenship, after slavery, free African-Americans exercised self-determination by building churches, cities, establishing schools, village customs & creating associations to form the foundational pillars of Black America, (sovereignty).

Greetings Family, Friends, and Allies,

I hope all of you have a good day and a great weekend. I have been studying reparations with many other reparations activists, groups, and experts, for more than 40 years, so this is a very serious matter. Since you all are members of groups studying or developing reparations proposals, it is my duty to inform you that we produced the African-American Reparations/Sovereignty (AARS) Global Black Reparations Plan, after volunteering more than 40 years of in-depth research. That should tell you the AARS plan has strong value and virtue.

I have been talking to a few companies that generate wealth for projects to build infrastructure and cities. The companies are built to generate billions and trillions of dollars for these projects. I made arrangements for us to use these companies to generate wealth for AARS reparations. Yesterday, I talked to one of the program officers for one of the companies that generate wealth. We updated both AARS docs attached, because there are premium programs available now, that will not last much longer. Spots are filling up quickly because the people who know about these companies and programs do not wait or procrastinate.

Our thought is that if the people on this email list can agree that AARS is a complete and comprehensive reparations plan, with programs to generate wealth for the next 50 years for reparations; that makes AARS the best reparations plan by far. We need 5-20 people to form one or more AARS Associate Groups, to try to get Oprah, Tyler, LeBron, another rich Black American, or any wealthy person or group with compassion for Blacks, to call me to inquire about AARS, and the funding programs. It will be easy to get them engaged because we will have

Warren Buffet doing diligence on the companies and programs with us, and they all know about and trust Warren Buffet, and Warren Buffet knows about these companies and programs.

As I mentioned in prior communications, my groups do not own or operate these programs. We found the companies who have been performing with these programs since WW II. As a matter of fact, they rebuilt Germany after WW II, with these programs, because that country was nearly destroyed, and needed infrastructure. That is why these programs are perfect for global black reparations, because Black people need new infrastructure and cities at home and abroad. There is nothing even close to providing reparations for African-Americans and the Global Black Family like these programs. So, we should take advantage of them while they are available. We actually help and relieve our government in their reparations liability and debt, so we can and should provide reparations for Black people ourselves, with blessings and benefits for all nations and races, by sharing profits. We also need prominent and strong attorneys, and law firms to file many, and various lawsuits against our government, and the other guilty groups, until they agree to engage AARS, at the $500B refundable request, as described in the attachments.

Now if it is possible for us to agree to make this a priority, and if any of you know, or can think of someone, who knows Oprah or any rich Black American, or any wealthy person or group with compassion for Black people, personally; and you get one of them to call me, we all will get to split the 1% fee as follows. Doesn't sound like much but please look at these figures below, before you say no, and remember we are generating $650T to fund AARS. If we form 4 groups from 20 people, all 4 groups will get 1% each, for the same fees as described in the attachments. We all will be responsible for providing global black reparations, facilitating genuine reconciliation with all nations and races by sharing profits, and getting a great personal commission fee.

We have three premium programs available now for $500M. The payouts will be a minimum of $20B in one year, for each program ($60B). One percent of $60B is $600M. That should be a serious motivating factor for all of you to agree to make this a priority, upon reading the attachments, so you can verify AARS is a valid and effective plan. I can also get one premium program for $5B, if we move with good savvy and swift business sense over the next 2 weeks. Our goal is to actually provide reparations for Black people by generating wealth for the next 50 years, ($650T), as described in the attachments, and is described in even more details on the plan. We can and should endorse, promote, and fund the AARS plan. It will save time and money. Please call me with any pertinent questions.

I would like to ask Oprah and Tyler, and I would like for our group from this email thread, and most of the CBC, and most of the U.S Congress, and our President and Vice President, to second the motion for both of them to call me, after reading this email, and all articles on the homepage at https://aaiuendracism.org for the Kwanzaa Reparations Project (KRP).

The KRP is a reading project for everyone 18 and older in America and the world, to read all does on that homepage to decide if they will endorse and promote AARS from now until X-mas, as described in the attachments. The KRP will motivate our government to ratify AARS by Kwanzaa, as a gift to African-Americans and all Black People, the Global Black Family. I would also like to discuss producing a Reparations Documentary, and Generating Reparations Wealth, with Oprah and Tyler. Both attachments are only two pages each. Not a lot to read to find how we can repair the damage encountered by Black people for the last 500 years in America, and more than 2000 years globally. Please read both attachments then call me at your convenience.

AARS is Generating Wealth to Quickly Provide Reparations & Enter Truth & Reconciliation 10-13-22 from the African-American-Independent Union (AAIU), the Kwanzaa Reparations Project (KRP), the African-American Reparations/Sovereignty (AARS) Global Black Reparations Plan & Civil Rights Movement (CRM)

No Black person should write a plan, saying Black people should prove lineage to get redress. No Black person should have to prove anything to get reparations; because the generations and centuries in suffrage created social and emotional damage, causing global racial oppression, and the legacy still imposes a disruptive impulse, and negative impact on the entire Black race! So, all Black people deserve, and are entitled to reparations! {So, please stop all new ideas, plans, and studies, because it is not possible to produce a better reparations plan than AARS}. AARS has processes, programs, and services, to quickly provide due relief, repairing, and satisfaction for all African-Americans and all Black people, and truth and reconciliation with all nations and races.

Many scholars have studied reparations for decades, then produced a reparations plan. The AAIU studied the issue for more than 40 years, then produced their AARS reparations plan. So, we reveal KRP for everyone 18 and older, to read and discuss all does on the homepage at https://aaiuendracism.org AARS is the last doc. Then decide if you will endorse & promote AARS, to stop corruption in reparations & demand a viable plan, (AARS).

 Contact all Civil Rights and Black Nationalist Groups; your local, state, and national church and civic leaders; your community college, state, and university instructors and students; and all active news networks & social media outlets; to ask them to engage in and promote KRP, from now 10-13-22 until 12-1-22. Then Blacks and their allies can learn the value of AARS, so we prepare them to make a strong valid collective demand for AARS, from 12-1-22 until 12-25-22. That will inspire allies, our government, guilty groups, and those in worship to agree to ratify AARS by 12-26-22, as a Kwanzaa Gift for African-Americans, and all Blacks, (the Global Black Family).

Uplifting KRP will become the 2nd CRM, because the collective and mass media react to intervene to offset delegates and sponsors, so we can demand AARS via the 2nd CRM. "The 2nd CRM secures reparations and reconciliation", for Blacks to get justice without repercussions, and for others to benefit economically from AARS, to facilitate reconciliation! Now with AARS, we also do what everyone else has failed to do, and that is we finally stop the police and white supremacists, from killing innocent and unarmed Blacks via sovereignty!! In sovereignty Blacks get their own prime land, form their own government, write their own laws, and control all affairs and entities, within their city limits. They finally become their own educators, employers, health care, housing, and military policemen. Sovereignty is the only way Blacks will get freedom, justice, and equality. Many suggest rich Blacks should use their resources to take care of their people internally. Therefore, they should engage AARS, along with the government, guilty groups, and the compassionate, to generate wealth.

We note the government and guilty groups caused major problems, and vast damage by invading

      racism, colonialism, slavery, lynching, and segregation, and casts emotional trauma. So, all
      Blacks in the U.S. 18 and older, should start getting emergency reparations payments, (($100k

      instead they have been abused, enslaved, and oppressed for over 2000 years! That was engineered by religious propaganda, planting awful anti-black, and evil negro phobic passages in scripture, 8 to prescribe Blacks as slaves to the U.S. Government, and the guilty groups! The Pope apologized 9
10 obviously subjugating and dominating Black people! There were also 17 U.S. corporations which

Brotha (Cliff) Pruitt brothapruitt@gmail.com call 310-528-1674 Mon.-Fri. During Business Hours to schedule a series of discussions on the AAIU, KRP, AARS & the 2nd CRM We engage, promote and gain momentum in KRP, to form & intensify the 2nd CRM, to demand AARS Page 2

I am contacting you, to serve as leader of an associate group to seek funding sources, of quality clients with $100M-$5B clean cash, to use as seed funds (SF), in programs to generate wealth with no risk. You and your clients help fund AARS, and get great personal gains. This should be a priority because premium programs are available now. We should also ask rich Blacks, those with compassion for Blacks, our solvent government, and the other guilty groups; who are known to have profited from colonialism and slavery, while causing massive and extensive damage.

These premium programs offer pre-short-term programs, (for 10-30 days), prior to the basic 1-year term programs. The short-term programs raise the principal amount, 3-5 times (in the time frame), for projects on predetermined budgets, with arbitraged high-end bank certificates, (like BGs, BNs, MTNs, and SBLCs), then that amount is taken into the basic 1-year program, for a minimum profit of 50% per week. The funds stay in the clients accounts, are used as a compensating balance for program governance, with valuable bank certificates, to perform program operations. Now realize, the funds never leave the clients accounts; as the program system banks, and their banking officers, manage the programs; therefore, these programs are safe and secured with no risk.

The remnants of the past indicate we should also ask our government, and the other guilty groups for $500B in SF each, as great debt relief from their $30T-$50T reparations debt, that they each owe, to engage to help raise the $650T, to fund AARS. All associate groups with 5 people are legally entitled to 1% per group, of each contract, from the SF from our government, the guilty groups, and all others we recruit. All $500B SF loans are rendered to 100, $5B contracts. We make $100B in one year from each contract. The premium programs will pay $300B-$500B in one year.

With AARS we can quickly provide reparations for descendants of slaves, or offsprings of deities, and also offer truth and reconciliation for all guilty groups. This is a civil and financial exercise of global humanitarianism and goodwill, to benefit all African-Americans, all Black People, and everybody else on earth. That is the spiritual aspect and social scope of AARS.

It would help if we could ask Oprah, Tyler, and LeBron to join at $500M, and ask them to recruit other clients, which entitles them to an associate fee, for their services. If I could just talk to them, I am sure they would be happy to engage to help provide reparations, and for personal gains. We should also ask many prominent attorneys and law firms to become leaders of a group, to help us to get our U.S. Government, to quickly agree to deposit the $500B SF request, in one of the operating U.S. Black Banks, as deferred reparations. Group associate fees should inspire them, to ask our government & other guilty groups to deposit the $500B. In AARS we record all deposits.

EXAMPLE: A client group deposits $5B-$500B cash in SF, for the programs in a black bank. One person becomes a client by depositing $5B from the SF in a top bank. Then they get contracts for diligence. Rich Backs and the compassionate deposit $100M-$5B in a top bank for a contract. The contracts payout in billions, so people should know 1% of $100M is $1M, so 1% of $1B is $10M.

YOUR AARS ASSOCIATE GROUP COMMISSION FEE IS 1%. ALL 5 GET 20% of 1%. YOU HELP VICTIMS RECOVER LOSES AND MAKE A VERY GENEROUS PERSONAL GAIN.

This will enable our government, and the guilty groups to atone by offering a sincere apology, making sound restitution via SF, sharing profits to help fund AARS, and receiving invaluable gains. Our government recoups Ukraine war cost, relieves our debt, and boosts our economy.

The plan for each of the three potential clients named above, is to ask them to deposit the $500M cash in one of the top banks (WF), to engage, and the money stays in their accounts. Then they fill out and submit a 20-30 page form for compliance, based on that account. After clients are approved and pass compliance, assuming they are people with clean backgrounds, they get contracts for their attorneys and bankers to do due diligence, with Warren Buffet, and my team. The clients will get the pre-short-term program, then the 1-year program starts right after the short program. The clients principal will raise to at least $1.5B via the bank certificates, during the short term programs.

I am negotiating for each client to get a $500M payout, after the short-term programs, then we take $1B into the 1-year program. Therefore, the clients are paid, prior to generating wealth within the 1-year programs. The profit margin is a minimum of 50% per week. So, the programs will generate $500M every week, or $2B a month, for 10 months (the 1-year program duration). The total profit is $20B in one year. Clients usually keep 70%-80%, because profits are so high. Standard fees are 20%-30% pending programs available. The fees cover program platform administrators, attorneys, and bankers; and the commission fees are for the platforms, and the clients associate groups.

The proposed $14T, and all reparations funds, should be monitored, and used to generate wealth for the next 50 years. The big fight on the horizon is to control the $14T. That is what the corruption is all about. The powers that be are using many sponsors and delegates to get control of the $14T. They may reserve a big portion, then let Black people have the remaining kibbles and bits. Like the funds, that were earmarked for Hurricane Katrina and Rita victims were embezzled. Even as funds came from emergency agencies, and those with compassion, they were still misappropriated!

That is why we are calling for the 2nd CRM, because this is the most critical and crucial time in the history of the world for all African-Americans and all Black people!! We should not let the powers that be, their sponsors or their delegates, get or keep control of the $14T. It will take much more than $14T to quickly provide emergency relief & build safe infrastructure & cities at home & abroad. We should also repair all areas of damage in all aspects of life & we should also proclaim, profess, promote, and facilitate peace and progress for all nations and races.

Victims will not complain, because they should have gotten reparations right after slavery, so the debt is way past long overdue. But they will be much worse off in 5 years from now, then they are in now, because most Backs need and should request therapy, recovery, and stability programs, as they receive reparations. The reparations payments should inspire all Black people to engage in programs to transform to get on the right path for unity, and personal and family financial stability.

That is why we should have a 2nd CRM, to demand AARS, because Blacks will quickly get emergency relief, but just as important they also generate wealth from the $14T, and all other SF for the next 50 years. In AARS 30% of the $14T would be used for quick payments, and 70% would be used to generate wealth. In AARS we quickly provide emergency relief, build safe infrastructure and cities, and repair the colossal and vast damage on a global scale. Now most importantly we should use AARS programs for spiritual growth, reuniting globally, recovering, repairing, and transforming mentally, for Blacks to learn to love one another, and to lead peaceful and productive lifestyles. As Black people fought for full citizenship, after slavery, free African-Americans exercised self-determination by building churches, cities, establishing schools, village customs & creating associations to form the foundational pillars of Black America, (sovereignty).

Greetings Kind People,

I hope all of you have a good day and a great weekend. I have been studying reparations with many other reparations activists, groups, and experts, for more than 40 years, so this is a very serious matter. Since you all are members of groups studying or developing reparations proposals, it is my duty to inform you that we produced the African-American Reparations/Sovereignty (AARS) Global Black Reparations Plan, after volunteering more than 40 years of in-depth research. That should tell you the AARS plan has strong value and virtue.

I have been talking to a few companies that generate wealth for projects to build infrastructure and cities. The companies are built to generate billions and trillions of dollars for these projects. I made arrangements for us to use these companies to generate wealth for AARS reparations. Yesterday, I talked to one of the program officers for one of the companies that generate wealth. We updated both AARS docs attached, because there are premium programs available now, that will not last much longer. Spots are filling up quickly because the people who know about these companies and programs do not wait or procrastinate.

Our thought is that if the people on this email list can agree that AARS is a complete and comprehensive reparations plan, with programs to generate wealth for the next 50 years for reparations; that makes AARS the best reparations plan by far. We need 5-20 people to form one or more AARS Associate Groups, to try to get Oprah, Tyler, LeBron, another rich Black American, or any wealthy person or group with compassion for Blacks, to call me to inquire about AARS, and the funding programs. It will be easy to get them engaged because we will have

Warren Buffet doing diligence on the companies and programs with us, and they all know about and trust Warren Buffet, and Warren Buffet knows about these companies and programs.

As I mentioned in prior communications, my groups do not own or operate these programs. We found the companies who have been performing with these programs since WW II. As a matter of fact, they rebuilt Germany after WW II, with these programs, because that country was nearly destroyed, and needed infrastructure. That is why these programs are perfect for global black reparations, because Black people need new infrastructure and cities at home and abroad. There is nothing even close to providing reparations for African-Americans and the Global Black Family like these programs. So, we should take advantage of them while they are available. We actually help and relieve our government in their reparations liability and debt, so we can and should provide reparations for Black people ourselves, with blessings and benefits for all nations and races, by sharing profits. We also need prominent and strong attorneys, and law firms to file many, and various lawsuits against our government, and the other guilty groups, until they agree to engage AARS, at the $500B refundable request, as described in the attachments.

Now if it is possible for us to agree to make this a priority, and if any of you know, or can think of someone, who knows Oprah or any rich Black American, or any wealthy person or group with compassion for Black people, personally; and you get one of them to call me, we all will get to split the 1% fee as follows. Doesn't sound like much but please look at these figures below, before you say no, and remember we are generating $650T to fund AARS. If we form 4 groups from 20 people, all 4 groups will get 1% each, for the same fees as described in the attachments. We all will be responsible for providing global black reparations, facilitating genuine reconciliation with all nations and races by sharing profits, and getting a great personal commission fee.

We have three premium programs available now for $500M. The payouts will be a minimum of $20B in one year, for each program ($60B). One percent of $60B is $600M. That should be a serious motivating factor for all of you to agree to make this a priority, upon reading the attachments, so you can verify AARS is a valid and effective plan. I can also get one premium program for $5B, if we move with good savvy and swift business sense over the next 2 weeks. Our goal is to actually provide reparations for Black people by generating wealth for the next 50 years, ($650T), as described in the attachments, and is described in even more details on the plan. We can and should endorse, promote, and fund the AARS plan. It will save time and money. Please call me with any pertinent questions.

I would like to ask Oprah and Tyler, and I would like for our group from this email thread, and most of the CBC, and most of the U.S Congress, and our President and Vice President, to second the motion for both of them to call me, after reading this email, and all articles on the homepage at https://aaiuendracism.org for the Kwanzaa Reparations Project (KRP).

The KRP is a reading project for everyone 18 and older in America and the world, to read all does on that homepage to decide if they will endorse and promote AARS from now until X-mas, as described in the attachments. The KRP will motivate our government to ratify AARS by Kwanzaa, as a gift to African-Americans and all Black People, the Global Black Family. I would also like to discuss producing a Reparations Documentary, and Generating Reparations Wealth, with Oprah and Tyler. Both attachments are only two pages each. Not a lot to read to find how we can repair the damage encountered by Black people for the last 500 years in America, and more than 2000 years globally. Please read both attachments then call me at your convenience.

AARS is Generating Wealth to Quickly Provide Reparations & Enter Truth & Reconciliation 10-17-22 from the African-American-Independent Union (AAIU), the African-American Reparations/Sovereignty (AARS) Global Black Reparations Plan, the Kwanzaa Reparations Project (KRP), and Civil Rights Movement (CRM)

No Black person should write a plan, saying Black people should prove lineage to get redress. No Black person should have to prove anything to get reparations; because the generations and centuries in suffrage created social and emotional damage, causing global racial oppression, and the legacy still imposes a disruptive impulse, and negative impact on the entire Black race! So, all Black people deserve, and are entitled to reparations! {So, please stop all new ideas, plans, and studies, because it is not possible to produce a better reparations plan than AARS}. AARS has processes, programs, and services, to quickly provide due relief, repairing, and satisfaction for all African-Americans and all Black people, and truth and reconciliation with all nations and races.

Many scholars have studied reparations for decades, then produced a reparations plan. The AAIU studied the issue for more than 40 years, then produced their AARS reparations plan. So, it may be best to compare reparations plans written before 10-1-22, then you will find many advantages, and 12 strong reasons to endorse AARS. More plans will cause confusion and delays, and will definitely be redundant. Now, reparations for Black folks are way past long overdue! So, we do not need any more obstruction via more ideas, plans, or studies, we need AARS ratified ASAP!

In knowing corruption is at an all-time high in America and globally, it is not wise to think there is no corruption in the reparations arenas, because there are a few delegates with secret sponsors and agendas. Possibly for the money, since there is a whirlwind of news spreading around indicating Blacks will finally get reparations, of approximately $14T. These delegates are pre-advised, so they will not communicate with other reparations activists, honestly, as they should. So, we should take reparations from secret agendas and meetings, into public discussions, which is how reparations should unfold. So, we reveal KRP for everyone 18 and older, to read and discuss all does on the homepage at https://aaiuendracism.org AARS is the last doc. Then decide if you will endorse & promote AARS, to stop corruption in reparations & demand a viable plan, (AARS).

Contact all Civil Rights and Black Nationalist Groups; your local, state, and national church and civic leaders; your community college, state, and university instructors and students; and all active news networks & social media outlets; to ask them to engage in and promote KRP, from now 10-17-22 until 12-1-22. Then Blacks and their allies can learn the value of AARS, so we prepare them to make a strong valid collective demand for AARS, from 12-1-22 until 12-25-22. That will inspire allies, our government, guilty groups, and those in worship to agree to ratify AARS by 12-26-22, as a Kwanzaa Gift for African-Americans, and all Blacks, (the Global Black Family).

Uplifting KRP will become the 2nd CRM, because the collective and mass media react to intervene to offset delegates and sponsors, so we can demand AARS via the 2nd CRM. "The 2nd CRM secures reparations and reconciliation", for Blacks to get justice without repercussions, and for others to benefit economically from AARS, to facilitate reconciliation! Now with AARS, we also do what everyone else has failed to do, and that is we finally stop the police and white supremacists, from killing innocent and unarmed Blacks via sovereignty!! The government grants Blacks their own prime land, to form their own government, write their own laws, and to control all affairs, within their city limits. They finally become their own educators, employers, health care, housing, and military police. Sovereignty is the only way Blacks will get freedom, justice, and equality. Many suggest rich Blacks should use their resources to take care of their people internally. We should also ask many prominent attorneys and law firms to become leaders of a group, to help us to get our U.S. Government, to quickly agree to deposit the $500B SF request, in one of the operating U.S. Black Banks, as deferred reparations. AARS associate group fees should inspire them, to ask government & other guilty groups to deposit $500B. In AARS we record all deposits.

EXAMPLE: A client group deposits $5B-$500B cash in SF, for the programs in a black bank. One person becomes a client by depositing $5B from the SF in a top bank. Then they get contracts for diligence. Rich Backs and the compassionate deposit $100M-$5B in a top bank for a contract. The contracts payout in billions, so people should know 1% of $100M is $1M, so 1% of $1B is $10M.

YOUR AARS ASSOCIATE GROUP COMMISSION FEE IS 1%. ALL 5 GET 20% of 1%. YOU HELP VICTIMS RECOVER LOSES AND MAKE A VERY GENEROUS PERSONAL GAIN.

This will enable our government, and the guilty groups to atone by offering a sincere apology, making sound restitution via SF, sharing profits to help fund AARS, and receiving invaluable gains. Our government recoups Ukraine war cost, relieves our debt, and boosts our economy.

The plan for each of the three potential clients named above, is to ask them to deposit the $500M cash in one of the top banks (WF), to engage, and the money stays in their accounts. Then they fill out and submit a 20-30 page form for compliance, based on that account. After clients are approved and pass compliance, assuming they are people with clean backgrounds, they get contracts for their attorneys and bankers to do due diligence, with Warren Buffet, and my team. The clients will get the pre-short-term program, then the 1-year program starts right after the short program. The clients principal will raise to at least $1.5B via the bank certificates, during the short-term programs.

I am negotiating for each client to get a $500M payout, after the short-term programs, then we take $1B into the 1-year program. Therefore, the clients are paid, prior to generating wealth within the 1-year programs. The profit margin is a minimum of 50% per week. So, the programs will generate $500M every week, or $2B a month, for 10 months (the 1-year program duration). The total profit is $20B in one year. Clients usually keep 70%-80%, because profits are so high. Standard fees are 20%-30% pending programs available. The standard fees cover company executives, attorneys, and bankers; and the commission fees are for the companies, and the clients associate groups.

The proposed $14T, and all reparations funds, should be monitored, and used to generate wealth for the next 50 years. The big fight on the horizon is to control the $14T. That is what the corruption is all about. The powers that be are using many sponsors and delegates to keep control of the $14T. They may reserve a big portion, then let Black people have the remaining kibbles and bits. Like the funds, that were earmarked for Hurricane Katrina and Rita victims were embezzled. Even as funds came from emergency agencies, and those with compassion, they were still misappropriated!

Victims will not complain, because they should have gotten reparations right after slavery, so the debt is way past long overdue. But they will be much worse off in 5 years from now, then they are in now, because most Backs need and should request therapy, recovery, and stability programs, as they receive reparations. The reparations payments should inspire all Black people to engage in programs to transform to get on the right path for unity, and personal and family financial stability.

That is why we are calling for the 2nd CRM, because this is the most critical and crucial time in the history of the world for all African-Americans and all Black people!! We should not let the powers that be, their sponsors or their delegates, get or keep control of the $14T. It will take much more than $14T to provide emergency relief, and build safe infrastructure, and cities at home and abroad. We should also repair all areas of damage in all aspects of life, and we should also proclaim, profess, promote, and facilitate peace and progress for all nations and races.

That is why we should have a 2nd CRM, to demand AARS, because Blacks will quickly get emergency relief, but just as important they also generate wealth from the $14T, and all other SF for the next 50 years. In AARS 30% of the $14T would be used for quick payments, and 70% would be used to generate wealth. {In AARS we quickly provide emergency relief, build safe infrastructure and cities, and repair the colossal and vast damage on a global scale}. Now most importantly we should use AARS programs for spiritual growth, reuniting globally, recovering, repairing, and transforming mentally, for Blacks to learn to love one another, and to lead peaceful and productive lifestyles. As Black people fought for full citizenship, after slavery, free African-Americans exercised self-determination by building churches, cities, establishing schools, village customs & creating associations to form the foundational pillars of Black America, (sovereignty).

Greetings,

I was on the list but unable to speak.

I want to discuss a woman I will call Jane Doe. In August she appeared in front of Commissioner Judge Kiristen Birdsong in Los Angeles.

Jane was brutally raped in high-school. That trauma caused a rift in her 2 parent household where her father victim blamed his daughter. The family did not have resources to do family therapy or seek adequate post trauma services for their daughter. This girl became a parent in high-school. She had 2 boys and lost the boys because their grandmother, Jane's mother who wanted money to keep the boys. Jane did not find out who reported her until it came up in her case. CPS did not award the children to the grandmother they awarded the young boys to Jane's older sibling in San Bernardino. The boys remained wards of the state of California. Jane had access to her boys despite the distance. Her youngest son aged out of the system in 2022.

Fast forward 14 years later to 2018. Jane meets a man. They settle down and start a family. This man assaults Jane in front of their 2 year old daughter. CPS was called. Jane had put her baby's father out. In the process of trying to regain custody of her daughter she took every class she was instructed to take twice, she got a job, and stabilized her come. She asked if her sister could have the daughter if CA was unwilling to take her and the state said no because she lived in Virginia. The CPS worker assigned to her daughter's case fast tracked adoption which is against state law. Jane waS able to keep enough of a paper trail to prove the CPS worker was out of order. The case worker was replaced with a CPS case worker that would follow the law and recommend Reunification.

In May Judge Birdsong stayed the case. Jane had 2 heart attacks. The toll of fighting to be reunited had taken its toll.

In August a weaker Jane returned to court and the Judge said because of The San Bernardino case and because she had an "attitude" with her first CPS worker who was replaced by CPS for violating their own protocol, she was going to recommend Jane's daughter be adopted by the Nigerian woman fostering her. Jane is devastated. She had lost all of her children by a mother who initiated a case out of greed and a second time by being the victim of domestic assault.

I will be personally attending a case in San Bernardino on October 21, 2022 in a show of support and possibly case on October 26, 2022 in Los Angeles. Like during slavery California's systems are arbritrary with judges. Freedmen that are unable to afford proper legal representation are often railroaded. Jane would like to take all f her children and relocate to Virginia with her sister. Because all of her children are wards of the state she is bound to be in a situation with no familial support since the passing of her mother. She cannot pool resources. Much like slave masters would sell familiy here and there Jane's children have been placed in environments that are not easy for her to reach and should she loose parental rights her name will be removed from all of her children's birth certificates. How foster care is administered to Freedmen families must change.

I hope you all digest this story and make meaningful policy for Freedmen children that includes unification even if across state lines. In the group home where one of Jane's son's live - he did a group live on how high he was - there was no investigation into the group home. Business as usual grooming foster youth for a prison pipeline.

Kind regards,

Thing you aren't allowed to criticize even if you are a famous black person: - Jews

Kanye West calls out Planned Parenthood as a 'Holocaust museum' for black babies

The rapper has frequently spoken out against Planned Parenthood and accused the abortion giant of 'black genocide,' kindling the ire of pro-abortion advocates in the media. "If one black man does something bad all the other blacks get caught with him...It's the reverse for the Jewish people, right? If a Jewish person could repeatedly * me on a deal, it's just them. It's just the businessman. It's not the people." III 3 SITE

Jewlash: Following Ye Interview, House Nigger Noreaga Sucks Jew Cock Live on Video October 18, 2022

Peter Rosenberg, Jew from the streets

Major backlash has ensued following Ye's interview with Noreaga on Drink Champs. The backlash is entirely Jewish, but the Jews are hiding behind the blacks, saying that the problem was that Ye said Derek Chauvin didn't really stand on George Floyd's neck.

Following the Jewlash, that house nigger Noeraga went full kikesucker after Jews threatened to black ball him.

On Monday, he went on Hot 97's Jewish rap show "Ebro in the Morning" and sucked host Peter Rosenberg's cock. This is, frankly, the most disgusting thing I've ever seen in my life.

Noreaga also called into The Breakfast Club and apologized to that faggot Charlamagne, who is one of the biggest house nigger kikesuckers on earth (he is gay).

Meanwhile, Fat Joe came out and said that Noreaga is a pussy, and shouldn't have apologized for doing his job. Fat Joe is not even black.

Ye drew a backlash years ago when he talked about "New Slaves" and said that we might as well repeal the 13th Amendment because blacks are still acting like slaves. This is just true. House niggers have zero self-respect, and they would have self-respect if they were working in a field picking cotton. That is honest work. Sucking Jew cock is dishonest work. It is filthy work. It is scum work. Noreaga is a race traitor.

That ratty kike Rosenberg told Noreaga he should have "pushed back" more. Again, this was framed as if he should have pushed back more on the George Floyd thing, but it is actually about the Jews. This is what Jews do: they try to get the blacks to go along with this outrage agenda, and be outraged about politically incorrect speech, like the Jews. But this is not natural to the blacks. The blacks, by their nature, will just say "well, I guess that's his personal view." They are not going to call for people to be silenced just because they disagree with them.

If you look at the "political" blacks, it is almost all women, then a few homosexuals like DeRay McKesson, and at worst, white people pretending to be black like Shaun King. Actual black people are just going to say "but that's what he think tho." But Jews have forced this outrage thing on them, and through the internet and the media, given the impression that a significant portion of the black population is saying "NOOOO!!! U CAN'T SAY THAT!!!"

Noreaga even said that he supports free speech, and he was just hearing Ye's view. Then he said that after the backlash – which was just Jews threatening to destroy his life and take all his money – he has stopped believing in free speech. He also said that he has never edited his interviews, and now he is going to start editing them. This really demonstrates how artificial everything in this public society is. Everything is being monitored and modified by the Jews. The Jews put people in these positions, around the blacks or anyone else, and they decide what is allowed and what isn't allowed.

If you watch the Drink Champs show – which has now been removed from their channel – you can see that for all of their faults, blacks are good natured and jolly. Noreaga is a good representative of the blacks, actually. Blacks have a kind of childlike wonder to them, and they are open to any idea, because they don't really think ten steps ahead to unpack the potential reverb of an idea. Blacks do have lower IQs than white people, but they tend to be much more frank and honest. Whenever white people hear someone mention the Jews, they tense up, because even if they don't really understand why, they understand that there is a pain mechanism associated with that topic. You readers have all likely witnessed this: you say the word "Jew" in a social setting, and all of a sudden everyone goes stiff. Black people do not have that. Blacks have a very extreme reaction when they feel they've been personally insulted, but when it comes to just saying completely impersonal ideas, they will just say, "hmm, okay, yeah, I feel you." Maybe it's related to the IQ differential, but there is definitely a lot more curiosity there. The Jews know that, of course, and that is why they are flipping out and screaming to shut it down.

Here's the thing: it is very obvious that if Ye would have only said that Black Lives Matter is a scam and George Floyd died of fentanyl, nothing really would have happened. The media would have complained and admonished Ye, but then it would have been dropped and there wouldn't be any real lasting consequences. The Jews definitely would not have went in and threatened Noreaga and told him to get down on his knees and beg forgiveness from a kike DJ. There is definitely a certain amount of censorship when you talk about blacks, but you can still do it. Laura Ingraham can go on Fox News and say "black people commit so many crimes because they don't have fathers." The claim that George Floyd died of fentanyl is also a mainstream view on the right, which is said causally on Fox News and on sites like Breitbart and New York Post.

That is to say: talking about blacks is generally discouraged, but it doesn't ruin your life. These people are now saying that they are going to sue Ye, Alex Jones Sandy Hoax style, for saying George Floyd died of a fentanyl overdose.

But Fox News and others have been saying this exact thing for years. All that Ye was doing was citing the Candace Owens documentary. No one threatened to sue Fox or Owens for saying this exact same thing. So it's all about Jews. It is not about black people. The Jews are using black people as a shield, like they always do.

With regards to what the Jews are saying about the Drink Champs interview: Noreaga is a journalist, and he is not required to "push back." For centuries, since the start of journalism, the industry was intended to be primarily objective. Certainly, an interview is meant to be objective. Noreaga did this interview, and allowed Ye to say what he wanted to say. All of these Jews have the right to then come out and comment on what was said, and denounce it or whatever. That's their right. But Noreaga's only job as a journalist was what he said he perceived his job as: to hear what Ye had to say. This idea that he has an obligation to "push back" was just invented on the fly, because what they really mean is that he shouldn't have interviewed Ye in the first place.

Furthermore: he did "push back" and ask Ye about the black stuff. He started talking about "but Ye, what if your kids got killed by whites?" He talked about the black issues because he cares about them personally. Truly, it is kind of extreme for him to have disagreed with Ye in the way he did. Ye is the richest black man in history, and he's responsible for blowing up Noreaga's podcast, so for him to question Ye at all is a big deal.

Therefore, the Jews can't even say "oh you should have talked about George Floyd," because he did talk about George Floyd. He said "but Ye, what about our people?" He didn't say much about the Jews, because why should he? He's not Jewish, that is not his issue. The Jews are saying that everyone is required to defend them whenever anyone says anything about them – including if they simply state known facts, like Ye did – because of the Holocaust. They will really say this: "everyone on earth is required to constantly defend the Jews, because of the Holocaust." It's absurd.

What Noreaga did, begging and apologizing like this, proves everything Ye is saying about blacks being fake hard. This is a guy who made all these songs about killing cops.

What do you call that, when a black guy is out there talking about how hard he is, how he's a soldier, how he's gonna kill cops, and then he goes and sucks a Jew's cock because the Jew didn't like something one of his friends said about the Jews? There is a list of things that you're definitely never allowed to say, ever, and "we should kill cops" is not on that list. Everything that is on that list relates to the Jews. Again, you can talk about black people. You can talk about white people. You can say Moslems are terrorists and abuse women. You can talk about trannies and gays. The one group you can't talk about is the Jews. And the things you are not allowed to say about the Jews are all true. What did Kanye say that wasn't true?

- · He said Jews control the media
- He said 90% of rappers are signed to Jewish record labels, while there are zero Jewish artists signed to black producers
- · He said celebrities all have Jewish handlers
- · He said Jews undermined Donald Trump
- · He said Jews are against white people and try to use blacks to silence white voices
- He said Jews have a liberal agenda that they push through their control of the media and through the Democrat Party
- · He said Jews have different sexual values than Christians
- · He said Jews have messed with his money and messed with his family
- · He said Jews promoted the narrative that he is insane
- He said Jews despise Christianity
- · He said Jews promote divorce, while Christians don't allow it

All of those things are demonstrably, factually true. You can prove all of those things. The best that the Jews can say about this in an open discussion – which never happens – is that the individuals doing these things are Jewish but that doesn't reflect on Jews as a whole. That is of course an argument, and an argument they could make in an open discussion, but it is still true that the people doing these things are definitely Jewish. Again: it is obvious that if the Chinese people in America were doing all of these things, people would say "Chinese do these things." Everyone would understand that you're not necessarily talking about all Chinese people, but that there is nonetheless a collective Chinese agenda which you can identify, and which we should be allowed to discuss.

That is the thing about all of this: the Jewish demand is that you are not allowed to discuss the Jews. You are not allowed to talk about their power, you are not allowed to talk about how they use that power. If we could have an open discussion about Jewish power, everyone would have to agree that Jews are very powerful. Jews dominate entire industries, including the entertainment industry. Everyone involved knows that, but they are saying "you can't say that." It is a bizarre situation, to have the people with the most power so above criticism that you can't even say they have power. There reason is that if someone has power, they also have accountability, and the Jews have an agenda that virtually no one agrees with, so they can't afford to have accountability. Beyond that, there is also a question of why this group of foreigners from the Middle East should be controlling the country of white people and black people.

Imagine if there was a king, and he lived in the palace, and he made the laws, but you weren't allowed to say he was the king. Imagine if you would lose your job, get sued and lose all your money, maybe even lose your family if you said "the king is the king." It sounds absurd, but it is exactly what is happening with these Jews.

It is simply ridiculous that Jews are claiming not to have power, while they will also use their power to destroy your life if you say they have power. If they didn't have any power, they wouldn't be able to destroy your life like that. The Jews constantly claim that white people have all this power, but anyone can say whatever they want about white people. You can say whites should be killed. When Noreaga himself talked about killing cops, the implication is white cops.

Whites have all the power, but they can't stop people from calling for them to be killed, but Jews are somehow victims, yet they can silence a billionaire cultural icon for saying they have power?

This situation was never sustainable. There was never a timeline on which Jews could control the entire society while also saying that no one is allowed to talk about their control of society, or question what it is they are doing with that control. Eventually, these claims about vague, shadowy white people who work for oil companies (or whatever) being secretly in control of society would become too ridiculous, and as more and more things that people hate happened in society, people would want to know who is actually in charge.

The peasants do not really have any actual ability to question the power. I've been out here for over a decade saying that Jews are in control, and I was easily silenced, because I don't have the money needed to actually push back and defend myself against the Jews when they're swarming me. Most of the peasantry will continue to believe what they are told by the media, and if it gets to the point where they don't, there is nothing they can actually do. If one of them stands up, they will get picked off. A revolution was always going to require people with serious money and power saying that they are sick of being controlled by the Jews.

Ye is the richest black man ever in history, he's one of the single most famous musicians ever, and they're telling him he's not allowed to say what he thinks. He's saying "no, I'm gonna say what I'm gonna say, and if you're going to kill me, that's just how it's going to be. But when I'm dead, someone else is going to come after me and go even harder."

This is the beginning. Everything before Ye going Death Con 3 was just a warm-up. Now the real war starts. The question is now posed to everyone in this country: what kind of country do you want? Who do you want to be in power? Do you want normal people in power, people who are related to you and represent your interests, or do you want a gang of foreign Jews with a weird agenda to rule over you and force their agenda on you?

The obvious answer for the overwhelming majority of the population is that America is a white country with a large native black population, so the people with power should be mostly whites with a minority representation of blacks. The people with power should be representatives of the masses of peasants, because the peasants are the people who actually make the country, the peasants are the ones who do the work that allows for powerful people to be powerful in the first place. Powerful people rule the peasants, they have the ability to make decisions about what happens to the peasants, and in fact this comes down to life and death - the powerful control the government, and can decide to imprison or kill members of the society. Therefore, the people in power must be accountable to the peasants, and they must rule with the approval of the peasants, and if the peasants ever feel as though the powerful no longer exist to serve the best interests of the population at large, the peasants have a right to remove the powerful from power, to take their positions and their wealth and give it to people more deserving. This is how power has always functioned, going all the way back to tribal times: rulers have always ruled with the consent of the governed. This phenomenon of a foreign minority group totally dominating the society while also claiming not to be in power is simply bizarre, and it is totally new. The reason that it's new is that before the modern era, it would have been totally impossible to implement. This system requires urbanization, and it requires a hightech media apparatus.

As if things could not get anymore obvious, we already know what the people want. We've already seen who will rise to positions of power and influence. Whites, if given the choice, are going to pick representatives like Donald Trump, Tucker Carlson, and Elon Musk, and blacks will pick representatives like Ye. In general, people want traditional values to be maintained. They want Christianity, they want freedom, they want to continue their holiday celebrations that their ancestors did. People do not like change, as a rule. The only reason that trannies or mass immigration are possible is that there is this looming threat that the system will destroy anyone who questions it.

It's all very simple, it's all very obvious, but it is nonetheless going to take a war to fix this mess that the Jews created. Ye is the first soldier to go out there and say "then you're gonna have to kill me." The war is on now. People are going to have to choose sides. You're either with Ye, or you're with the Jews, and there is no middle ground.

Everything is on the line now, and the Jews are going to escalate. It's possible or even probable that they're just going to kill Ye. I would not be remotely surprised if his car or plane crashed in the next couple of months. This is something where the Mossad is going to get involved. If they think they can drive him insane, or entrap him in some crime, or buck break him with lawsuits, they will do that, but if it really comes down to it, they are just going to kill him, and let that serve as the example. But even if they do kill him, he's set in motion a process that is going to end in a resolution, one way or the other.

Get ready for that.

If I had Ye's ear right now, I would say that the single best thing he can do at this point is drop a really good album, as that will serve to remind the people.

One much ask the question. If they speak like this to family members calling.

What exactly are they saying speaking with a mental health inmate Dominique Lax?

I called the New York mayor no respond. The DOC no response several message with 311 in New York.

What exactly will it take for people to hear my black mother voice without it being wash, water, laugh or over talked down.

Within a matter of short 2 months my daughter mental health condition worsen.

Let's not leave out told me those white kkk Muncie Indiana cops inappropriate touch her.

One reason to shut the black nugget up from talking to anyone.

Passed and harass into insane condition.

Now her criminal defense tell me. mental compactly is unfit need to be in New York state hospital.

Which can take up to 6 weeks.

So after they get my daughter stabilize.

What happen to her next?

Is this just another trick to imprison her for months as a person beyond reasonable doubt incapable of functioning in real life society with proper medication.

Now state government Court or agency should be able to focus our black and Indian tribe member.

Part Cherokee Choctaw nation. According to USA constitution.

State government or agents can't interfere with civilian religious beliefs rights.

We believe the family should have the right to take care of our own family members. This is right in the eyes of God.

I don't want my black child thrown away in New York state hospital that not her place of residence legally.

California State ReparationsTask Force

California Assembly Bill 3121 (AB-3121) became law on September 30, 2020. The law created the Task Force to Study and Develop Reparations Proposals for African Americans. This Task Force is a first of its kind in California and American history.

The California Reparations Task Force is required to study the institution of slavery and its current negative effects on living African American descendants of persons enslaved in the United States. Additionally, in July 2023, the Task Force will recommend a Reparations plan to the Governor and state elected officials, including forms of compensation, restitution, rehabilitation, guarantees of non-repetition, and satisfaction for African American descendants of persons enslaved in the United States.

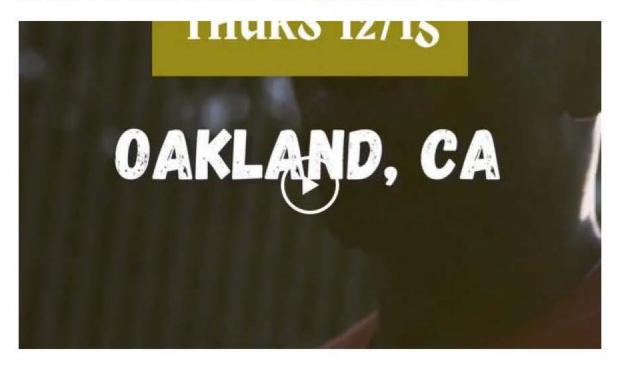

IMPORTANT:

- There is NO Reparations application at this time.
- The types or amount of Reparations (including monetary compensation) have NOT been decided yet!
- All California Reparations Task Force hearings are open to YOU, the public! Be sure to attend in person or virtually if you can.

It is not fair that money would only be given to African American.

California should also give money to Latinos who were born in California.

California once was owned by Mexico. Real estate prices have increased a section 8 voucher is not enough for rent and SSI disability is not enough. People who have a disability should receive money also due to their disability not just based on race.

Hello,

My name is and I'm a descendant if Africans kidnapped and trafficked on the Clotilda and a fairly new California resident. As a resident, I'm interested in staying engaged in the work of the task force and also hoping to obtain information on legal resources that may be helpful to known descendants. The family of the financier of the Clotilda has admitted culpability and I'd like to understand how that may impact reparations for my family. Is there anyone that I can speak to on this matter?

I've seen some proposed ideas for reparations on the website. Have you considered full student loan forgiveness as an option? That would personally be greatly beneficial for me and my family.

Thank you in advance for your time and I look forward to hearing back from you.

Comment: As Chairman of the African-American Independent Union (AAIU) and a reparations expert, I have led many reparations activists, scholars, and groups in doing intense research on reparations. We examined the issue for more than 40 years, so we produced a thorough, comprehensive, complete, and viable reparations plan, called the African-American Reparations/Sovereignty (AARS) Global Black Reparations Plan. We did this out of sincere concern, love, and commitment to help all African-Americans and all Black people, and to facilitate a change towards good race relations with all nations and races.

If you go to https://aaiuendracism.org you will find 5 docs on that homepage. The 1st short doc reveals true Black History, proving Blacks have been abused, enslaved, and subjugated for the last 500 years in America, and more than 2000 years globally. The next 3 short docs talk about me and my groups. The last doc is the AARS Global Black Reparations Plan, only 55 pages to show how we repair the Global Black Family back to their peaceful and progressive status, they were in prior to slavery.

When all Blacks and everyone else 18 & older read the plan, they will find AARS will benefit all African-Americans, all Black People, and everyone else in America and on earth. Therefore, everyone in the world 18 and older, will have a strong reason to embrace, endorse, and promote the 2nd Civil Rights Movement to Demand the AARS Global Black Reparations Plan.

In Memory of the Civil Rights Movement,

The African-American Independent Union (AAIU) and 11-1-22 The African-American Reparations/Sovereignty (AARS) Global Black Reparations Plan

The AAIU produced their AARS reparations plan, after more than 40 years of research. It is a complete plan that requires $650T to fund, the following (4) basic reparative measures; to repair the Black Family, back to their peaceful and progressive status they were in, prior to slavery. (1) savvy companies to generate wealth from seed funds (SF), in safe programs to offer emergency relief, (2) government(s) grant prime land to build safe cities at home and abroad, (3) amenities for healing emotionally, and repairing vast damage, and (4) processes and services to form a will to love and improve self, declare global unity, then a 2nd Civil Rights Movement to demand AARS.

{(a) The government(s), offspring of enslavers, and all guilty groups}, {(b) those with compassion for Blacks, and all rich Blacks}, should engage the wealth generating programs ASAP, to fund the AARS reparations plan. Blacks should get reparations in a sense of urgency and fairness, just like all the others who received remedies and reservations. The wealth generating programs are designed, so, that clients cannot lose their SF. The (a) groups send $5B-$500B cash, or open a new account in that amount, that will be designated as SF, at an operating black bank. Then one person becomes a client by opening a new account with $5B, at a major bank, from the SF, to engage the programs. The (b) groups open a new account with $100M-$5B. 3 $500M programs are available.

We are using this funding source because these programs are managed and secured by system banks, and their banking managers. They are guaranteed and secured, as contracts are created from budgets for projects, that must be completed for a purpose. Our purpose is to provide the four basic reparative measures mentioned above via AARS. We would like Warren Buffet to do due diligence with your team and my team, not alone. Those at war may even consider AARS as a civil solution, because instead of war, we generate wealth together, then share profits to facilitate reconciliation.

The beautiful service of AARS is to give Black folks a chance to revive personally and collectively, and develop a desire to grow spiritually. Blacks should learn to love and trust one another, and prosper in sovereignty, as they get control of their own land, cities, social institutions, and lives. So, the government(s) and all guilty groups prepare to atone by offering a sincere apology, and committing to AARS to enable mutual respect and benefits for descendants of slaves/offspring of deities. We deploy a process to form better images and race relations in the now, and for the future.

"AARS includes a Kwanzaa reading project to promote a transforming period in the minds for all other people to stop thinking about, and treating Blacks so badly". This is critical for Black people, because the beneficiaries of slavery and their cohorts, practiced in deadly attitudes, language, and behaviors towards all Blacks, so slavery influenced everybody to treat Blacks badly. Black people need to and should promote the reading project around the world, to get all others to start thinking about and treating all Black people fair and just. So, AARS offers Global Black Reparations, and Universal Racial Reconciliation, to benefit all African-Americans, all Black people, and everybody else in America, and on earth. The profits gross trillions to benefit the Human Family.

As Chairman of the African-American Independent Union (AAIU) and a reparations expert, I have led many reparations activists, scholars, and groups on doing intense and in-depth research on reparations, for more than 40 years. So, we produced a thorough, comprehensive, complete, and viable reparations plan, called the African-American Reparations/Sovereignty (AARS) Global Black Reparations Plan. We did this out of sincere love, concern, and a vow in a commitment to help all African-Americans and all Black people, and to facilitate a change towards good race relations with all nations and races.

If you go to https://aaiuendracism.org you will find 5 docs on that homepage. The 1st short doc reveals true Black History, proving Black people have been abused, enslaved, and subjugated for the last 500 years in America, and more than 2000 years globally. The next 3 short docs talk about me and my two action oriented groups (the AAIU & the SEEG). The last doc is the AARS Global Black Reparations Plan, only 55 pages to show how we reunite and repair the Global Black Family, back to their peaceful and progressive status they were in, prior to slavery.

When all Black people and everyone else 18 & older on earth read the plan, they will find AARS will benefit all African-Americans, all Black People, and everyone else in America, and on earth. Therefore, everyone in the world 18 and older, will have a strong reason to embrace, endorse, and promote the 2nd Civil Rights Movement (CRM), to Demand the U.S. Government to ratify the AARS Global Black Reparations Plan, ASAP.

Black people have been deceived, delayed, and denied reparations since slavery, and we all know that is not fair, especially since others were awarded reparations, who were not hurt nearly as bad or nearly as long as Back people, so that seriously compounds the frustration! So, all conscious people need a Strong, Loud, and Long Call to Unity for African-Americans, Black people, and everyone with compassion, to Demand AARS Reparations via the 2nd CRM.

Movement,

The African-American Independent Union (AAIU) and 11-1-22 The African-American Reparations/Sovereignty (AARS) Global Black Reparations Plan

The AAIU produced their AARS reparations plan, after more than 40 years of research. It is a complete plan that requires $650T to fund, the following (4) basic reparative measures; to repair the Black Family, back to their peaceful and progressive status they were in, prior to slavery. (1) savvy companies to generate wealth from seed funds (SF), in safe programs to offer emergency relief, (2) government(s) grant prime land to build safe cities at home and abroad, (3) amenities for healing emotionally, and repairing vast damage, and (4) processes and services to form a will to love and improve self, declare global unity, then a 2nd Civil Rights Movement to demand AARS.

{(a) The government(s), offspring of enslavers, and all guilty groups}, {(b) those with compassion for Blacks, and all rich Blacks}, should engage the wealth generating programs ASAP, to fund the AARS reparations plan. Blacks should get reparations in a sense of urgency and fairness, just like all the others who received remedies and reservations. The wealth generating programs are designed, so, that clients cannot lose their SF. The (a) groups send $5B-$500B cash, or open a new account in that amount, that will be designated as SF, at an operating black bank. Then one person becomes a client by opening a new account with $5B, at a major bank, from the SF, to engage the programs. (b) groups open new acct. or block $100M-$5B for 1 yr. 3 $500M & 1 $5B are available.

We are using this funding source because these programs are managed and secured by system banks, and their banking managers. They are guaranteed and secured, as contracts are created from budgets for projects, that must be completed for a purpose. Our purpose is to provide the four basic reparative measures mentioned above via AARS. We would like Warren Buffet to do due diligence with your team and my team, not alone. Those at war may even consider AARS as a civil solution, because instead of war, we generate wealth together, then share profits to facilitate reconciliation.

The beautiful service of AARS is to give Black folks a chance to revive personally and collectively, and develop a desire to grow spiritually. Blacks should learn to love and trust one another, and prosper in sovereignty, as they get control of their own land, cities, social institutions, and lives. So, the government(s) and all guilty groups prepare to atone by offering a sincere apology, and committing to AARS to enable mutual respect and benefits for descendants of slaves/offspring of deities. We deploy a process to form better images and race relations in the now, and for the future.

"AARS includes a Kwanzaa reading project to promote a transforming period in the minds for all other people to stop thinking about, and treating Blacks so badly". This is critical for Black people, because the beneficiaries of slavery and their cohorts, practiced in deadly attitudes, language, and behaviors towards all Blacks, so slavery influenced everybody to treat Blacks badly. Black people need to and should promote the reading project around the world, to get all others to start thinking about and treating all Black people fair and just. So, AARS offers Global Black Reparations, and Universal Racial Reconciliation, to benefit all African-Americans, all Black people, and everybody else in America, and on earth. The profits gross trillions to benefit the Human Family.

Dear DFEH Appeals Board,

I am writing to follow up on the status of my timely filed appeal of the wrongfully and prematurely issued right to sue notice by DFEH on December 29, 2021.

During the DFEH investigation by and/or lacked experience to thoroughly investigate my complaint against UCSF in accordance with FEHA policies and law. was rushed, inadequate and disregarded evidence.

The email below dated September 14, 2022 by at UCSF is forwarded to demonstrate how key evidence and facts were overlooked by the DFEH investigation. Ms. acknowledged that the word "defiant" can be used as code word against African Americans. In my complaint filed with DFEH, I arrived on time for a meeting with a Chief Medical Officer while UCSF managers and Amy arrived late for the meeting. Called me "defiant" for my timely arrival and got upset with me because the Chief Medical Office started the meeting without them.

DFEH has a history of botched and inadequate investigations of complaints filed by African Americans. Next, DFEH quickly issues right to sue notices on these poorly handled investigations and does not enforce FEHA law on complaints filed by African Americans.

Attached is the DFEH confirmation notice of my timely filed appeal of complaint closure and right to sue. What is the status of this appeal?

P.S.

The State of California Reparations Task Force is copied on this email.

Sincerely,

Dear ,
The PPSM complaint process is separate from our office's complaint resolution process and jurisdiction. The Office for the Prevention of Harassment and Discrimination ("OPHD") has exclusive jurisdiction over two policies: The UC Policy on Sexual Violence and Sexual Harassment, and the UC Policy on Discrimination, Harassment and Affirmative Action in the Workplace. The portion of your PPSM 70 complaint that is under our office's jurisdiction is your allegation that that management discriminated against you based on race, and used the word "defiant" to describe you. I understand that the word "defiant" can be used as a code word against African Americans. We want to discuss with you the work opportunities that were denied to you, how you were treated differently, and terminated based on your race.
OPHD's complaint resolution process begins with an intake interview to establish whether your complaint could be a potential policy violation under the UC Policy on Discrimination, Harassment and Affirmative Action in the Workplace, which prohibits discrimination and harassment based on race, national origin, etc. During the intake interview, you can tell us your ideas of how you'd like to see your complaint resolved.
I hope you reconsider setting up an intake interview with our office. We truly want to hear from you, and UCSF takes your complaint of discrimination seriously.
We have a confidential care advocate for racial justice issues, who you can contact to confidentially discuss your race discrimination complaint. Any communication between you and are confidential, and if you wish, you can have the interview.
Please provide me with a few dates and times you are available for a zoom interview. If I do not hear from you by October 10, 2022, then your complaint will be closed in our office. However, please note that even if your complaint is closed, you may re-open it at any time in the future when you are willing to set-up an intake interview, and participate in OPHD's complaint resolution process.

Dear ,

I filed a PPSM 70 Complaint on January 30, 2019. Since that time, The OPHD department along with UCSF Human Resources have not followed any written policies to date. This matter is beyond your request to discuss the derogatory, stereotypical slander and harmful use and intent of the term "defiant" used by UCSF management.

I am willing to provide you supporting documentation including the Employment Chronology I provided to UCSF in 2019. The documentation demonstrates managers and violated the UCSF Email Policy which also violated HIPAA rules. When I did not participate in the policy and HIPAA violations, my employment at UCSF was terminated. The timeline is apparent and speaks for itself.

This is a Whistleblower, Retaliation, Discrimination and Wrongful Termination matter that remains unresolved while UCSF had control to resolve and remedy my filed complaint since 2019. UCSF will no longer have control if this matter is not resolved outside a court of law and prior to any court filings.

At this time, I am only willing to discuss a resolution and remedy.

Sincerely,

Greetings,

The DFEH Appeals Unit received the appeal request. Please see the attached Appeal Confirmation letter with information. Because of the current national emergency, the letter is being sent via email only.

Please note that the appeals process may not toll the statute of limitations by which you have to file a civil lawsuit. As the Notice of Case Closure explains, complainants have one year from the date of that letter to file a civil lawsuit in court. Further, the appeal process is taking some time, so we urge you not to wait until the appeal process is over to decide whether you will file a lawsuit in court, as the one year to file may lapse during the appeal process. We strongly encourage you to speak to an attorney as soon as possible if you intend to file a civil lawsuit.

Thank you,

Dear Reparations Task Force,

I know you have been working diligently and tirelessly. And I have only shared articles and links. But today during a sermon I had a deep thought on what redress, restitution, or restorative damages would look like for people who can prove they were either descendants of slaves or the black disporia since the 1900s.

I thought that not only should reparative dues be measured by all the documentation left from the times of slavery. But also the simple FACT that descendants of slaves lost their Culture. Meaning their rites of passages, their languages, their ways of life, and and who knows how amicable -worship to God. Also lost, their known heritage, family way, kinship and love for each & one another. Slave masters taught us to hate ourselves and other black folk and that white was 'right'. Our lost Culture I feel, was as valuable to us as any other from say like Britain, China, Japan, Russia, India, Samoa etc.

Priceless.

So I strongly feel that the Economists working with the Reparations Task Force should also understand that loss. $1 million per Slave Descendant, and perhaps 1/4 of that to someone proving from the disporia from the 20th Century. To add to the common damages & figures the Task Force deems fit.

Sincerely yours,

ReparationsTaskforce

Dear Family, Friends and Allies,

11-7-22

As reparations discussions are increasing the interest is growing. Since blacks were abused and enslaved for more than 500 years in America, and more than 2000 years globally, we should agree to generate wealth for reparations in increments. We should stipulate the next four terms of 50 years, or for the next 200 years.

That is appropriate because black people need much more than $15T or $20T, for global reparations. Blacks should demand AARS to generate reparations wealth, land to build safe cities at home and abroad, and programs and services for healing, repairing, reuniting family, reconnecting culture, and transforming mentalities,

Some of us have been circulating and discussing the African-American Reparations/Sovereignty (AARS) Global Reparations Plan for about a year. However, most people still have not read the plan. We are seeking promotions to get people to read the plan. We believe when everyone 18 and older reads the plan, they will find AARS will benefit everyone, so everyone should endorse AARS.

Please read both 1-page docs attached for clarity. We are producing a doc to form a covenant with all African-Americans and all Black people, to guarantee transparency in the reparations process, maintaining the AARS plan outline, and not deviating from the plan. AARS will guarantee reparations payments, land, safe cities, true sovereignty for the global black family, and reconciliation with all nations and races.

In	Memory	of	the	Civil	Rights
Movement,		_

PS with AARS we do not have to wait on the government or the other guilty groups to give us reparations. We go to rich blacks and those with wealth and compassion for blacks, to start generating reparations wealth now. That will give justice and satisfinspire the government and the other guilty groups to engage AAR

The African-American Independent Union (AAIU) and 11-7-22 The African-American Reparations/Sovereignty (AARS) Global Black Reparations Plan

It requires $650T to fund, the (4) basic reparative measures; to repair the black family, back to their peaceful and progressive status they were in, prior to slavery. (1) savvy skilled companies to generate wealth from seed funds (SF) for four 50-year terms, in safe programs, for emergency relief; (2) government(s) grant prime land to build safe cities at home and abroad; (3) amenities for healing emotionally, and repairing vast damage; and (4) processes and services to form a will to love and improve self, declare global unity, and affirm reconciliation with all nations and races.

{(A) The government(s), relatives of enslavers, and all guilty groups}, {(B) those with compassion for blacks, and all rich blacks}, should engage the wealth generating programs ASAP, to fund the AARS reparations plan. Blacks should get reparations immediately, because all the others who got reparations, were not hurt nearly as bad or nearly as long as blacks, and that is not fair. Note clients cannot lose their SF in the safe programs. The (A) groups send $5B-$500B cash, or open a new account in that amount, that will be designated as SF, at a major bank. Then one person becomes a client by opening a new account with $5B, at a top ten major bank, from the SF, to engage the programs. (B) groups open an acct. or block $100M-$5B for 1 yr. & 1 mo. A $1B program is open.

We are using this funding source because these programs are managed and secured by system banks, and their banking managers. They are guaranteed and secured, as contracts are created from budgets for projects, that must be completed for a purpose. Our purpose is to provide the four basic reparative measures mentioned above via AARS. We would like Warren Buffet to do due diligence with your team and my team, not alone. Those at war may even consider AARS as a civil solution, because instead of war, we generate wealth together, then share profits to facilitate reconciliation.

Three beautiful services of AARS are giving black folks time to revive personally and collectively, and developing a desire to grow spiritually. Blacks must learn to love and trust one another, and prosper in sovereignty, as they get control of their own land, cities, social institutions, and lives. So, the government(s) and all guilty groups prepare to atone by offering a sincere apology, and committing to AARS, to give mutual respect and benefits to slave descendants, and generations to come. We deploy a process to form better images and race relations in the now, and for the future.

"AARS utilizes a Kwanzaa project to read all 5 docs on the homepage at https://aaiuendracism.org AARS is the last doc. We engrain a transforming period in the minds for all people to stop thinking about, and treating blacks so badly". This is critical for blacks because the beneficiaries of slavery, used terror tactics against black folks, so slavery influenced everybody to disrespect blacks. https://aaiuendracism.org All others of slavery, used terror tactics against black folks, so slavery influenced everybody to disrespect blacks. Blacks need to and should promote the reading project around the world, to get all others to start thinking about and treating all black people fair and just. So, AARS offers global black reparations, and universal racial reconciliation, to benefit all African-Americans, all black people, and everybody else in America, and on earth. The profits gross trillions to benefit the human family.

THE PROGRAM CONTRACT:

This is NOT a 'Best Efforts' program contract, as some program returns are stated, on some contracts. This contract is 'bank endorsed' by the program system bank, which is a Top 10 world bank. If either party doesn't perform accordingly; the contract is cancelled, commitments are null and void, and legal action is taken. This is NOT 'Retail' Banking – or – 'Stock Market' Business.

DOCUMENTATION REQUIRED:

- 1. An Individual or Corporate KYC Form, signed with wet blue ink signatures, 'not electronically'.
- 2. Scanned Utility Bills, Bank Officer's Signing Business Cards, Corporate Registration Docs.
- 3. Signatory's Passport Photo and Signature Pages (enlarged to 140%) quality color scan in PDF.
- 4. Current Bank Statement (less 3 days old) and Business Cards signed by two bank officers.
- 5. Bank Confirmation Letter (BCL) addressed to client from their bank, confirming bank will put funds on 'Hold' from client's new or existing account, for 12 + 1 months; and confirm the 'Hold' by a swift process to system banks and their managers. SO, CLIENTS CANNOT LOSE FUNDS!
 6. Proof of Life: 'head shot' of client holding 'Passport' & a Card with the 'Date' written in marker.

 NOTE: Proof of Life, Bank Statement, BCL & KYC; must all have the same date when submitted.

Since Profits are so high in the 5-Step Program, Clients gets 35%, Companies 30%, AARS share 30% & AARS Group Fee 5%. We should have 2-5 people in a group to get a client.

- (1) Clients engage the process by confirming they put a Hold on their account, for the contacted amount and time, as designated on their KYC package, and they designate accounts for payouts.
- (2) 10 DAY SHORT TERM PROGRAM

 10 banking day Bullet program returning 200% gross So, the $1B raises value to $2B
- (3) 30-DAY SHORT-TERM PROGRAM

Paid weekly over 30 banking days, with first payment 5 banking days following the end of the 10 banking day Program. Total return 800% gross -- of the amount on Administrative Hold. So, the $2B raises value to $16B. First, we stipulate $6B for cash payments after step 3, then take $10B; for 2 $5B contracts. Client gets $2.1B after step 3, a serious motivating factor.

- (4) 40 WEEK PROGRAM (the basic long term program period), (maximum $5B per contract). We will have two $5B contracts for the following 40 WEEK PROGRAM: Return is 100% gross weekly over a one-year term (40 Week Program).
- (5) Optional: a 3–5-year (Evergreen) wealth generating program, that pays 50% a week.
- {{This program will close next week, so it is a priority. If we don't get this program, we will get another good program soon}}. In this 5-step program, $5B generates $20B a month, so we will make $200B in one year from one $5B contract, $400B from both. Our AARS Associate Group Commission Fee set by IOTA or IOLTA attorneys is 2%-5%. Doesn't seem like much, but it is commensurate with various programs, and satisfies all parties involved.

If a presidential candidate announced they endorse AARS as a client, and will get other clients to help fund AARS, every Black person in America will vote for that person for two office terms.

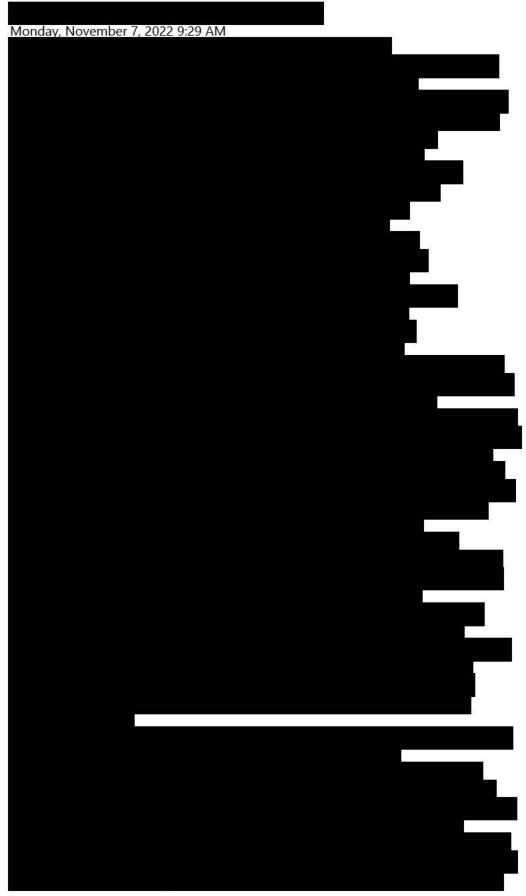

Note: this is an example of the wealth generating programs, with no risk of losing funds. The basic programs pay a minimum of 50% a week, so a basic $1B program will pay $20B in 1 year. Some programs have standard structured payouts, as are here, but we negotiate others to suit our clients.

Requesting for assistance with multiple federal agencies - Internal Revenue Service TAS/TAO case Issue

Sent to: Congressman Dwight Evans of the 3rd District of Pennsylvania

Hello to all at the office of United States Congressman Dwight Evans, and thank you for your response in this request for assistance.

Unfortunately, neither office of my two named Senators Cornyn and Cruz, nor my Congresswoman, Eddie Bernice Johnson have been of any assistance thus far which is my reason for reaching out to different members of the U.S. Congress and the U.S. Senate for further assistance with this very important and urgent matter.

Question:

How can I be saying "Emergency; Extreme Tax, Financial, Social, Economic hardship case, and no-one provides the requested (EMERGENCY) assistance with resolving this matter with the U.S. Treasury, the Internal Revenue Service, and my/my company missing 2018 tax return refund payment(s) as soon as possible?

How can it be that, after all offices of government I have reached out to including the media in request for assistance, that "no-one" seems to think, or care that the concerns I bring are important enough to address, or to even reply to discuss for resolution? At first, the IRS said it was a frivolous/fraudulent filing, I made corrections/completions with submitting corrected/completed 2018 tax return filings by April 8th, 2022, and now as told by the IRS was valid submissions and no longer frivolous/fraudulent filings.

The IRS also said that I had taken a tax credit (NMTC) that I was not eligible to take. I tried to explain to the IRS agent that there was no way for the tax credit to appear in the tax return filing without first being eligible to take the tax credit to begin with.

The IRS agent then went on to say that the IRS, if it so chose, does not have to allow me right, the privilege, nor the opportunity to take the (NMTC) tax credit, nor does the IRS have to recognize the (NMTC) tax credit as a tax credit as a whole. And even though it appears in the U.S. tax law, rules, and guidelines to be used as an available tax credit to stem equal access to funding for those who would be people of color, discriminated against, disenfranchised, and/or have been otherwise conventionally not able to access funding for business investing, and development in new Community Development Entities, the IRS does not have to acknowledge or recognize the NMTC program at all.

This prolonged issue and not allowing, or providing at least some financial relief for the individual taxpayer and/or the company, has only caused more damage to me personally, socially, financially, economically, tax wise and the etc. And till this very moment, I still have yet to receive any assistance with my individual and business tax issue., nor have I been afforded any rights and protections under the law for tax and financial relief as every other American have been able to benefit. And still, no-one has done anything to assist. I'm expecting the full release of my/my company 2018 tax return refund payment(s) immediately.

I'm right, and they're wrong! They have no real good reason to be continually holding my/my company tax return refund payment(s). I'm in complete tax, financial, social, economic distress and currently one very pissed off individual.

They have something that belongs to me and are wrongfully holding it. It has now come to my attention that these federal agencies are all involved with denying my rights as a U.S. Citizen, a U.S. Taxpayer, a U.S. Small Business Owner, and my rights as a Human Being.

Thank you for your expected response, and the awaited assistance.

Please provide the immediate attention and assistance of your office.

Hello and thank you for your time and assistance with this issue.

My name is

I live in Dallas, Texas.

I'm having a major issue with the Internal Revenue Service/U.S. Department of the Treasury.

It would seem at this time that I am in need of some assistance from law enforcement to help address my concerns.

Growing issue with the U.S. Department of the Treasury/Internal Revenue Service/U.S. House Ways and Means Committee/U.S. Senate Finance Committee, USPTO, American Inventors Corporation, My U.S. Senator John Cornyn, Ted Cruz, Congresswoman Eddie Bernice Johnson, Senator Charles Schumer/Nancy Pelosi, and etc.

Please read the below information in this request for assistance from your office. This is an issue of human rights and taxpayer rights violation, intellectual/real property theft, theft of my 2018 tax return refund payment, Destruction of business property and denial of access to opportunity. NONE of the addressed or concerned offices have responded to my request for assistance.

The IRS/U.S. Treasury has not properly addressed my concerns nor has done a full investigation or examination of the submitted 2018 IRS forms and supporting documentation.

I wish to file police reports for the theft of my intellectual property and the theft of my 2018 tax refund payment by all those named below. I have also submitted a request for assistance with the Texas State Attorney General Office, but no assistance has been given.

Please review the following emails and the attached documents.

Please reply to this message with the best action to take in regard to filing proper police reports to begin holding those named in this complaint accountable for these human and taxpayer violations and the theft of my/my company need for complete examination and investigation for the processing of all submitted supporting documentation and releasing the expected refund payment due to this tax financial hardship case.

EMERGENCY: EXTREME TAX, FINANCIAL, ECONOMIC HARDSHIP case.

Complaint: Stolen/Un-released 2018 IRS tax return refund payment.

I demand that my rights as a Taxpayer, and as a human being are no longer violated by all those named above, and all those named below in this complaint.

This complaint states that the taxpayer can prove that race discrimination is embedded within the federal government of the United States Department of the Treasury and the Internal Revenue Service Taxpayer System and other associated public/gov office as well.

It is my complaint and belief that my rights as a U.S. taxpayer are not being provided, nor protected by the Tax Laws of the United States of America, and that the United States Department of the Treasury, its Internal Revenue Service, the IRS Taxpayer Advocate Service, and other related offices within the federal government perpetuates a hidden Economic Moratorium that is used to systematically discriminate against people of color and more specifically the African American male in regards to having equal access to opportunity.

There has been an obvious denial of my rights as a taxpayer to equally access the business and financial opportunity before me.

The officials and agents within the Department of the Treasury, Internal Revenue Service, and the Internal Revenue Service Taxpayer Advocate Service of whom I have witnessed, and have been subjected to, and has taken part in and/or, has individually with the full official capacity of their office perpetuated the systematic practice of inequality, and are knowledgeable of, and/or, are directly responsible for such racist discriminatory practices within the Internal Revenue Service, or has displayed actions, and behaviors in the form of customer service towards this taxpayer of color and are all themselves who either committed and/or condone such behavior, or have complied with the direct

My last understanding ending a phone call with the IRS was that all that I was waiting for was the end of the 90 day processing period of the submitted required documentation mentioned below for the IRS to release the refund payment.

Please help with ensuring that, the IRS process, and release the refund of the 2018 tax return filing of the submitted IRS forms, 1040,1120, 1120s.

My immediate concern is the release of my/my company missing-unreleased-stolen 2018 tax return refund payments.

It has come to my attention that the U.S. Department of the Treasury and the United States Internal Revenue Service is blatantly lying about not receiving by hard copy mail, fax, and email my 2018 individual and business tax return documents and is wrongfully not acknowledging the need for processing or the need of releasing the expected refund payment due. This extended period of wait time which I have been subjected to by the IRS in expectation and waiting for financial, tax and economic tax relief was done under falsehood and deception and has only caused more extreme economic and financial hardship for this individual and the company for which I am employed.

The U.S. Department of the Treasury and the Internal Revenue service and its employees and it's agents are falsifying the information within my Internal Revenue Service Master file Tax Account records. It is my belief and understanding that the IRS is lying to me about claiming to be processing my 2018 tax return submitted documents and is intentionally not processing, updating, nor acknowledging the corrected IRS tax forms documentation and information submitted to the IRS for the tax account(s) in question nor has the United States Department of the Treasury Internal Revenue Service released the missing 2018 tax return refund as the IRS said they would.

And even though it appears in the U.S. tax law, rules, and guidelines to be used as an available tax credit to stem equal access to funding for those who would be people of color, discriminated against, disenfranchised, and/or have been otherwise conventionally not able to access funding for business investing, and development in new Community Development Entities, the IRS does not have to acknowledge or recognize the NMTC program at all.

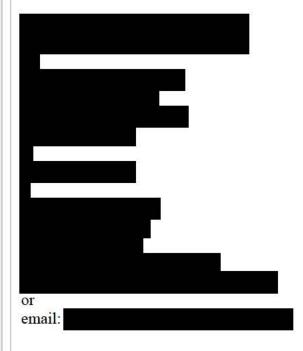

This prolonged issue and not allowing or providing at least some financial relief for the individual taxpayer and/or the company has only caused more damage to me personally, socially, financially, economically, tax wise and the etc.... And till this very moment, I still have yet to receive any assistance with my individual and business tax issue., nor have I been afforded any protections under the law for tax and financial relief as every other American has been able to benefit, and still no-one has done anything to assist. I'm expecting the full release of my/my company 2018 tax return refund payment(s) immediately.

I'm right and they are wrong! They have no real good reason to be continually holding my/my company tax return refund payment(s). I'm in complete tax, financial, social, economic distress and currently one very pissed off individual.

They have something that belongs to me and are wrongfully holding it. It has now come to my attention that these federal agencies are all involved with denying my rights as a U.S. Citizen, a U.S. Taxpayer, a U.S. Small Business Owner, and my rights as a human being.

Thank you for your response, and your assistance.

Association Between Racial Wealth Inequities and Racial Disparities in Longevity Among US Adults and Role of Reparations Payments, 1992 to 2018

Abstract

IMPORTANCE In the US, Black individuals die younger than White individuals and have less household wealth, a legacy of slavery, ongoing discrimination, and discriminatory public policies. The role of wealth inequality in mediating racial health inequities is unclear.

OBJECTIVE To assess the contribution of wealth inequities to the longevity gap that exists between Black and White individuals in the US and to model the potential effects of reparations payments on this gap.

DESIGN, SETTING, AND PARTICIPANTS This cohort study analyzed the association between wealth and survival among participants in the Health and Retirement Study, a nationally representative panel study of community-dwelling noninstitutionalized US adults 50 years or older that assessed data collected from April 1992 to July 2019. Participants included 7339 non-Hispanic Black (hereinafter Black) and 26 162 non-Hispanic White (hereinafter White) respondents. Data were analyzed from January 1 to September 17, 2022.

EXPOSURES Household wealth, the sum of all assets (including real estate, vehicles, and investments), minus the value of debts.

MAIN OUTCOMES AND MEASURES The primary outcome was all-cause mortality by the end of survey follow-up in 2018. Using parametric survival models, the associations among household wealth, race, and survival were evaluated, adjusting for age, sex, number of household members, and marital status. Additional models controlled for educational level and income. The survival effects of eliminating the current mean wealth gap with reparations payments ($828 055 per household) were simulated.

RESULTS Of the 33 501 individuals in the sample, a weighted 50.1% were women, and weighted mean (SD) age at study entry was 59.3 (11.1) years. Black participants' median life expectancy was 77.5 (95% CI, 77.0-78.2) years, 4 years shorter than the median life expectancy for White participants (81.5 [95% CI, 81.2-81.8] years). Adjusting for demographic variables, Black participants had a hazard ratio for death of 1.26 (95% CI, 1.18-1.34) compared with White participants. After adjusting for differences in wealth, survival did not differ significantly by race (hazard ratio, 1.00 [95% CI, 0.92-1.08]). In simulations, reparations to close the mean racial wealth gap were associated with reductions in the longevity gap by 65.0% to 102.5%.

CONCLUSIONS AND RELEVANCE The findings of this cohort study suggest that differences in wealth are associated with the longevity gap that exists between Black and White individuals in the

Key Points

Question What share of the longevity gap that exists between Black and White individuals in the US is explained by differences in wealth, and to what extent might reparations payments to Black individuals close this gap?

Findings In this cohort study of 7339 Black and 26 162 White middle-aged US adults. differences in survival were largely mediated by differences in household wealth. Simulations suggested that reparations payments aimed at closing the wealth gap between Black and White individuals could markedly reduce racial inequities in longevity.

Meaning These findings suggest that reparations payments may be an effective strategy to reduce racial inequities in longevity.

JAMA Network Open. 2022;5(11):e2240519. doi:10.1001/jamanetworkopen.2022.40519

Introduction

In the US, Black individuals have a higher mortality rate than White individuals, ¹ a difference that reflects the pervasive effects of structural racism. Indeed, some scholars view "group-differentiated vulnerability to premature death" as a definition of racism² and suggest that inequities in excess deaths should serve as a metric of progress in eliminating racism.³

Racial health inequities in the US are shaped by structurally driven differential access to economic resources. Although the role of income in mediating racial health inequities is well-documented, differences in income understate the extent of overall economic inequality. Although the median income of White familes is 1.65-fold higher than that of Black families, the difference in wealth (the value of all assets owned by a household) is 8-fold. Because wealth is transferred intergenerationally, racial wealth gaps better reflect sustained economic disadvantages than do gaps in income or other measures. However, because wealth data are less commonly collected in surveys, few studies have examined the role of wealth in racial health inequality.

Current racial wealth inequities arose from centuries of government policies, including 250 years of slavery, rescission of the 1865 Field Order 15 (the promise of "40 acres and a mule" to formerly enslaved people), Black codes and Jim Crow laws, official tolerance of and participation in vigilante violence, exclusion of most Black workers from New Deal programs such as Social Security, discriminatory application of the homebuying provisions of the GI Bill, government-sponsored redlining that excluded most Black families from federally guaranteed mortgages, discriminatory criminal punishment, and lax enforcement of Civil Rights era laws designed to end discrimination in employment, policing, housing, health care, and lending. 12-14 The ideology of "colorblindness" has helped to perpetuate the effects of these policies into the present. 15

Reparations payments to Black individuals have been proposed to redress these injustices and, consequently, narrow racial wealth and health gaps. ^{3,16,17} Such payments would be in keeping with past instances of reparations, such as the US government's reparations to Japanese Americans interned during WWII and the German government's payments to Holocaust survivors under the Luxembourg Agreement. ¹⁸

To assess the role of wealth in mediating racial longevity gaps—and whether narrowing wealth differences with reparations payments might mitigate racial mortality differences—we analyzed longitudinal data on middle-aged and older adults from the Health and Retirement Study (HRS), which collects information on both mortality and wealth. We first examined the extent to which racial differences in wealth explained observed racial inequities in survival. We then modeled how reparations payments might affect racial mortality differences.

Methods

The University of Pennsylvania does not require institutional review board approval or informed consent for analysis of deidentified, publicly available data. ¹⁹ This cohort study follows the Strengthening Reporting of Observational Studies in Epidemiology (STROBE) reporting guideline.

Data and Study Population

The HRS, sponsored by the National Institute on Aging and conducted by the University of Michigan, is a nationally representative longitudinal study of community-dwelling noninstitutionalized US adults 50 years or older. The HRS has collected demographic, economic, and health data since 1992. Participants, who enter the study at different times, are surveyed every 2 years in waves until death or loss to follow-up.

The RAND HRS Longitudinal File 2018 (V1), ²⁰ which we analyzed, includes data on 42 233 respondents. Our sample included respondents from all waves of data collection between April 1992 and July 2019 (the most recent year for which data are available). Although the HRS also collects information on respondents' spouses, we excluded spouses owing to higher rates of missing data and loss to follow-up. Because our analysis focused on wealth and health gaps between Black and White US residents, we included only US-born respondents self-identifying as non-Hispanic/non-Latino Black or non-Hispanic/non-Latino White. Our final sample included 33 501 (7339 Black and 26 162 White) participants from all HRS waves between 1992 and 2019. Although some participants missed some waves of data collection, values for all demographic variables were drawn from the earliest wave of study participation, minimizing missing data.

Wealth and Income Measures

The HRS calculates wealth at the household level as the sum of all assets minus the value of debts. Assets queried include the net value of primary and secondary residences; other real estate; vehicles; businesses; individual retirement and Keogh accounts; stocks; mutual funds; investment trusts; checking, savings, and money market accounts; certificates of deposit; government savings bonds; treasury bills; bonds; bond funds; and other savings. Debts queried include mortgages and land contracts on residences, home loans, and other debt.

For each wealth component, respondents are asked whether they own the given asset and, if so, its estimated value. If the respondent does not know the value, the interviewer uses an "unfolding brackets" technique, asking a series of questions about the value of the asset that becomes more specific based on the respondent's answers. The HRS uses these answers and data from other study waves to impute the value of assets when necessary. Since 2002, the HRS has asked respondents to confirm or correct the value of wealth components.

Because costs associated with illness (eg, medical bills, lost wages) might depress income and wealth over time while also contributing to early mortality, we used figures for household income and wealth at study entry. Due to the highly skewed distribution of wealth, we analyzed wealth using deciles. All dollar figures were adjusted to 2018 US dollars using the Consumer Price Index.

Mortality

Our main outcome was survival conditional on entry into the HRS. The HRS derives the month and year of death from postmortem interviews with family members and the National Death Index.

Reparations Payments

Reparations advocates have suggested different figures for the appropriate amount of reparations payments. Marketti²¹ estimated the value of wages denied to enslaved workers at $2.1 to $4.7 trillion in 1983, approximately $211 000 to $473 000 per Black individual in current dollars. ²² Craemer et al¹² have suggested figures as high as $300 million per person, based on the value of lost freedom, wages, and assets, with compound interest. Darity and Mullen²³ have advocated closing the mean pretax wealth gap via payments of approximately $800 000 per Black household.

Most scholars have benchmarked their estimates to the amount required to equalize the per-household wealth of Black and White US residents. Hence, we modeled the longevity effects of reparations payments equivalent to the mean 2019 household wealth gap of $840 900 ($828 055 in 2018 US dollars). Oscillatory 255

Statistical Analysis

We examined the association between longevity and race using parametric Weibull survival models. All models were adjusted for self-reported race. Initial models included adjustment for age, sex, marital status, and number of household members. In the HRS, sex data are derived primarily from self-report.

To examine the extent to which wealth explained associations between race and survival, we then adjusted for wealth deciles. Studies of intergenerational wealth transfers suggest that household wealth is a major driver of offspring's incomes and educational achievement, and that income and educational attainment may therefore mediate the effects of wealth on health. Hence, our primary analyses modeled the effects of reparations without adjusting for income and educational attainment (ie, assuming that reparations would, at least in the long term, attenuate observed racial differences in educational attainment and income). However, we conducted sensitivity analyses that also adjusted for income deciles and level of educational attainment. The estimates from these sensitivity analyses may represent a lower bound, because they impose the likely inaccurate assumption that wealth does not influence income or educational attainment.

To account for the nonlinear association between age and survival and for differential timing of entry into the HRS, we adjusted for age at study entry and age at study entry squared in our Weibull survival model. We also conducted a sensitivity analysis using semiparametric Cox proportional hazards regression models that, beyond adjusting for age at baseline, explicitly accounted for left truncation (ie, the fact that individuals who died before reaching the age of study entry were not included in the sample). Because Cox models generate proportional hazards (rather than absolute risks or hazards), outputs from these models cannot be readily used for predictive modeling, such as our simulation of reparations payments. For this reason, our primary analysis relied on parametric Weibull survival models.

We used the coefficients from our survival models to estimate survival for Black participants after adding reparations payments of $828 055 (in 2018 dollars) to their household's wealth at study entry. ^{28,29} We calculated the difference in median survival between Black and White participants after reparations, expressed as a percentage change from the difference without reparations. We conducted this exercise using 2 sets of models. In the first, we adjusted for demographic characteristics, educational attainment, and household income; in the second, we adjusted only for demographic characteristics and did not include educational attainment or household income.

Owing to small numbers of Black participants in upper wealth deciles, using Black individual-specific regression coefficients to derive our projections generated wide 95% Cls. Therefore, we used regression coefficients derived from the entire study cohort in our principal analysis, a strategy that incorporated the disputed assumption that Black and White individuals experience the same health benefits from a given level of wealth.³⁰ In sensitivity analyses, we conducted simulations using the subsample of Black participants only.

Analyses were performed with SAS, version 9.4 (SAS Institute Inc), 31 and RStudio, version 2022.02.3 + 492 (R Project for Statistical Computing), 32 using survey procedures that account for the complex sample design and HRS-provided weights that yield national estimates. Two-sided P < .05 indicated statistical significance. Data analysis was conducted between January 1 and September 17, 2022.

Results

Our final sample consisted of 33 051 participants (14 706 men [44.5%] and 18 795 [56.9%]; mean [SD] age, 59.3 [11.1] years); their characteristics and weighted percentages are displayed in Table 1. A total of 7339 participants were Black and 26 162 were White. Compared with White participants, Black participants were younger (mean [SD] age, 58.2 [6.1] vs 59.6 [6.8] years), more often female (4383 [54.7%] vs 14 412 [49.7%]), and more likely to be unmarried (4063 [52.0%] vs 9402 [30.2%]) and had lower levels of educational attainment (bachelor's degree, 600 [9.5%] vs 3568 [16.6%]). Black participants' median life expectancy was 77.5 (95% CI, 77.0-78.2) years, 4 years shorter than the median life expectancy for White participants (81.5 [95% CI, 81.2-81.8] years).

The household incomes of Black participants were lower; 1445 (20.6%) of Black participants fell in the lowest income decile, and only 413 (6.1%) in the top decile. In contrast, only 1582 White participants (6.0%) had incomes in the lowest decile, and 2464 (16.1%) had incomes in the top decile. Consistent with prior studies, ¹¹ we found even larger racial differences in wealth; 1539 Black participants (22.7%) vs 1769 White participants (7.3%) lived in households in the lowest decile of wealth, and 88 Black participants (1.5%) vs 2840 White participants (12.0%) lived in households in the top wealth decile. The median wealth of Black households was $31500 (IQR, 0-$130 050), compared with $215 785 (IQR, $64 410-$536 105) for White households.

Table 2 reports results from the Weibull survival models, adjusted for (1) demographic variables only, (2) income, (3) educational attainment, (4) household wealth, and (5) wealth, income, and educational attainment. In all models, being male (hazard ratio [HR] adjusted for wealth, income, and educational attainment, 1.60 [95% CI, 1.54-1.66]) was associated with greater hazards of death, whereas being married or partnered (HR adjusted for wealth, income, and educational attainment, 0.94 [95% CI, 0.89-1.00]) was associated with lower hazards of death. Models without adjustment for wealth, income, or educational attainment revealed a significant racial gap in survival, with Black participants having an HR of death of 1.26 (95% CI, 1.18-1.34) compared with White participants.

Adjustment for wealth entirely attenuated the estimated racial gap in survival with the HR for Black individuals, decreasing to 1.00 (95% CI, 0 92-1.08). In contrast, in models adjusted for income or educational attainment alone, Black participants continued to have significantly greater hazards of death (HR, 1.09 [95% CI, 1.02-1.16] when adjusting for income; HR, 1.12 [95% CI, 1.05-1.20] when adjusting for educational attainment). The hazard of death decreased with each higher wealth decile, although the largest decreases were observed for the bottom 7 deciles (eFigure 1 in the Supplement).

In the final model, which adjusted for educational attainment, wealth, and income, Black individuals' hazard of death was not significantly different from that of White individuals (HR, 0.95

Table 3 reports the median survival of Black and White participants with and without reparations payments of $828 055 (in 2018 US dollars) to Black households (eFigure 2 in the Supplement for prereparations and postreparations wealth distributions for each racial group). These projections, derived from regression coefficients from the Weibull survival models, suggest that reparations payments might shrink the gap in median survival from 4 years to 1.4 years (in models adjusting for income and educational attainment) or even –0.1 years (ie, Black median survival might slightly exceed White survival) in models excluding income and educational attainment (ie, reduction of longevity gap by 65.0% to 102.5%). eTable 2 in the Supplement shows the same estimates derived from models constructed with Black participants only, which are similar in magnitude but with wider 95% Cls. Consistent with these findings, the Figure illustrates the simulated effects of reparations payments across the entire survival distribution, using models with and without adjustment for income and educational level.

Discussion

The findings of this cohort study suggest that Black middle-aged and older adults have median survival 4.0 years shorter than their White counterparts. Our analyses suggest that differences in wealth account for a considerable portion of these inequities in survival, and that closing the wealth gap with reparations payments might substantially diminish inequities in longevity among Black and White individuals.

Our findings are concordant with previous studies documenting a strong association between wealth and health. 33-35 A meta-analysis of 29 studies 33 found wealth was associated with better health, even when controlling for other measures of socioeconomic status. Another study 34 found that wealth was associated with self-reported health. One analysis 35 estimated that individuals with negative wealth had a 62% higher risk of death than those in the highest wealth quintile. In line with the present study, simulations by Richardson et al 16 suggested that reparations payments to Black individuals might have reduced rates of COVID transmission in Louisiana. Studies of cash transfers in low- and middle-income countries have similarly found health benefits for both children and adults. 36

Wealth may improve health through stable access to health care, housing, food, and education, while offering protection from chronic stress associated with economic uncertainty. Parental wealth plays a key role in children's educational and economic opportunities. The benefits of reparations payments might be amplified by neighborhood-level effects; because of residential segregation, reparations payments would be concentrated in Black neighborhoods, boosting community-level resources (eg, supermarkets, well-funded public schools) that support health. A 37

Moreover, transferring wealth to Black US residents would likely aid Black-serving institutions such as historically Black colleges and universities and safety-net hospitals, which have fewer resources than their White-serving counterparts. Secondary Scholars have also theorized that reparations might have psychological benefits for recipients.

However, reparations payments alone would not fully address structural determinants of health that would continue to be operative, such as political power, social capital, incarceration, policing, and discrimination in health care. ⁴¹ They could not fully repay Black people for the harms their ancestors experienced during enslavement; loss of connections to one's lineage, land, and indigenous knowledge cannot be restored with cash. Moreover, without eliminating ongoing practices that harm Black households, such as discriminatory lending and disproportionate burdens of penalties and fines, the benefits of one-time reparations payments would likely erode over time. ^{14,42}

Limitations

The most important limitation of our study is that our findings merely document the association between wealth and survival, and any causal interpretation rests on the unproven assumption that greater wealth improves health. Although analyses of wealth shocks or other quasi-experimental variation might support a causal relationship, such analyses may fail to capture the effects of overall racial wealth inequities, which are largely inherited (eg, through the inheritance of property or educational opportunity), reflecting the long-term effects of structural racism. ^{7,12,14,21,23,24,42} Because our interest was in capturing the consequences of historically mediated wealth gaps, we opted for a more associational approach. We note that our approach, by focusing on wealth at baseline, addresses (at least in part) concerns related to reverse causality (ie, that robust health facilitates asset accumulation). ⁴³

The HRS does not identify Indigenous individuals (eg, Native American, Alaskan Native, Native Hawaiian) who, like Black individuals, have a well-founded claim to reparations and markedly reduced longevity. ⁴⁴ The small number of Black participants in upper wealth deciles precluded using Black-specific survival models to derive our estimates of the effects of reparations, requiring the use of regression coefficients derived from our entire population. If, as some suggest, higher socioeconomic status results in fewer health benefits for Black individuals than for White individuals, the survival benefits of reparations could be lower than we project.³⁰

We note that, owing to the highly unequal distribution of wealth in the US, reparations would result in most Black households having greater wealth than the median White household. We are unable in our analysis to fully explore how reparations-induced changes in the overall US wealth distribution, and concomitant sociopolitical changes, might affect the longevity of Black individuals.

Because the HRS enrolls older adults, our analysis is restricted to survival among adults 50 years or older. Black individuals who survive to 50 years of age may have unique traits that support health despite the deleterious effects of structural racism. Moreover, although more than 90% of deaths among both Black and White individuals occur after 50 years of age, mortality at younger ages is 52% higher among Black individuals. 45 Wealth transfers to younger Black individuals might attenuate differences in early deaths, causing us to potentially underestimate the salutary effects of reparations.

The life expectancy of US residents of all races, particularly poor residents, has declined in recent years⁴⁶; hence, the health benefits of wealth redistribution programs may extend beyond reparations, a question not explored in our study. Finally, many reparations proposals call for comprehensive redress beyond wealth transfers, including free higher education and forgiveness of student loan debts, land grants, investments in Black cultural assets, educational materials reflecting accomplishments of Black people and communities, corporate regulation, and a guaranteed living wage. 47 The potential effects of such programs and of reparations payments of alternative amounts or dispersed over different periods represent an important avenue for further investigation. 14

Conclusions

Racism harms the health and well-being of Black individuals through multiple mechanisms. Our study explores the importance of one mechanism—wealth inequality—through which past and present racial injustices increase mortality. Reparations payments are a means to redress the harms of enslavement and other racist policies and practices. Our study explores the importance of one mechanism—wealth inequality—through which past and present racism is associated with increased mortality.

son takes written examinations and is tested on samples. The written examinations measure the person's scholastic achievement and vocational aptitude. The work samples imitate specific job skills and compare the person's performance with standards in that career. A job-placement specialist helps people with disabilities schedule job interviews and obtain work suited to their vocational interests and skills.

Vocational rehabilitation programs in the United States developed during the late 1800's, when various government agencies tried to help disabled veterans find jobs. But little else was done until Congress passed the Civilian Vocational Rehabilitation Act of 1920. Since then, numerous federal laws have helped establish vocational rehabilitation as a profession.

In Canada, the Vocational Rehabilitation of Disabled Persons Act of 1961 sets guidelines in the field of vocational rehabilitation. This law encourages Canada's provinces to develop complete vocational rehabilitation programs. Federal and provincial governments split the cost of the programs.

Today, the demand for qualified vocational rehabilitation specialists exceeds the supply. Careers in vocational rehabilitation generally require at least a bachelor's degree, and most require a master's degree. College students who wish to enter the profession major in rehabilitation, and their courses include counseling, human relations, industrial psychology, statistics, and testing. An internship also is part of the course work.

Vocational rehabilitation specialists may work for public or private agencies. The public agencies consist chiefly of state-operated vocational rehabilitation programs and those serving disabled veterans. Private agencies include nonprofit hospitals and rehabilitation centers and for-profit companies that work with insurance firms representing clients who were injured in industrial accidents.

Vodou, voh DOO, is a term used to describe a set of beliefs, traditions, and practices taken largely from traditional African religions and Roman Catholicism. Vodou comes from a word in the Fon language of west Africa meaning spirit. It is sometimes incorrectly spelled Voodoo. People practice various forms of Vodou in west Africa, the Caribbean, Brazil, and parts of the United States.

Followers of Vodou are called Vodouisants. They believe in a creator being and many spirits. Each person has a protector spirit, usually inherited from an ancestor. Protector spirits can reward individuals with luck or wealth. They can also punish people with misfortune or illness. Vodouisants believe that spirits commonly possess people and can speak, give advice, and tell stories about the past. Vodouisants also believe that after people die, they go to Nan Ginen, meaning in Africa. Followers of Vodou sometimes picture Nan Ginen as being under the sea.

In Haiti, Vodouisants organize themselves into temples. An oungan (priest) or manbo (priestess) heads each temple. The oungan or manbo leads prayer services for the congregation, called a society. Assistants known as laplas and ounsi help the leader in these ceremonies. Prayer services might celebrate one of the spirits, who are often the same as particular Catholic saints. Services also might initiate somebody into Vodou or many someone to a spirit to bring that person extra luck

Vodou began in Benin and nearby areas. In the 1701s, French colonists brought Africans to Saint-Domingue (now Haiti) as slaves. The slaves shared their beliefs and practices with one another. They fought against French rule from 1791 to 1804, when Haiti became independent Oral histories tell of spirits aiding the slave revolt.

French colonists and, later, ruling-class Haitians and the Roman Catholic Church tried to keep people from practicing Vodou. The upper class and church leader saw Vodou as a threat because it was the faith of the majority of the people who were poor. They feared the poor would use Vodou to organize against them. False ideas circulated that Vodou was black magic and that members stuck pins in dolls. In 2003, the Haitian government officially recognized Vodou as a religion.

But most higher animals can bark, cry, howl, groan, growl, chirp, or make some other noise. Many of the animals use their voices to communicate with one another. Birds can make music with their voices. Dogs can express several feelings with their voices. They whimper when begging or when they feel guilty, they growl when angry, and bark eagerly when they are happy. Several of the zon animals, such as the chimpanzee, also make various sounds to show different feelings. However, no animals voice is as highly developed as the voice of a human

The human voice can express ideas through a variety of arrangements of consonant and vowel sounds it can also be used for singing. The human voice can combine speech with music, and sing words. Because the human voice is so highly developed, people have been able to create elaborate languages. These languages alow people to tell one another their detailed thoughts and actions.

It is my b ief

he way to nsure that America can ive up to its nam and truly become what it is meant to b is that we must amend our constitution with a preamble prime directiv of this land and mandate with zero to ranc that hate towards your llow members o mankind and racist disregard or human ife is not allowed within the borders of the UNITED States o America (Amexum).

This mandate should inc ude in the written law that Forced Deportation will be an option o United States o Am rica's Local, State, and Federa Courts o Law to satisfy the rules of punishment for those ound in vio ation.

he re should also be sweeping changes in our entir Local, State, and Fed ral Government offices, including a other-public o icials as well. All Senators, and All Congressman and Congresswoman should be reviewed for their past records and performanc as a public of icial and current persona demeanor in regards to race.

he rea ity is that ther ar a ot of covert racist peopl working throughout our local, State, and Federa Government Offices and hold positions o authority and power over the people of color of this country, and us this power to hinder and destroy a social conomic aspects of ife for the African American community, and have been doing it since or ver.

Hate is of an evil spirit that plagues the gift o i it's se, and manifests itse through racism. It embodies the bias man wearing a crooked badge over a hidden cold hearted disregard o basic human ife and ki s or something as dumb as having a differ nt color skin. It is this hate that is made visible by officers of our oca po ice departments all throughout this country. he police are supposed to be ther "NOW"..., to serve and protect! Not to continu to put their knee on my neck..., until I die! Not to shoot me down, and ki me ike an animal when I didn't v en have a gun and was running away! Racism is a Vira M nta Health Issu that needs to be addr ssed here in America and around the wor d!

It is my be ief that if you are a racist, or have racist tendencies, you have no business working or or being hired to work or the Federa Government of the United States of America, or any other State or Loca Public Of ice of any kind in any capacity anywhere-in the U.S., and should be with government-reform for those found in violation be swept out of their official positions immediately. This should be don'through out a finite official positions immediately. This should be don'through out a finite official government, the House of Representatives, and the White House right down to our ocal policy departments all over the U.S. and hopefully ventually through out all official government offices of the world.

Systematic racism, hate, vio nee and the p rpetuation of discrimination, inequality and th economic moratorium on th African American and th Peop o and of Africa around the world and must end now!

What's going on outside with a of the prot st is not a Am rican Revo ution but an American Evolution. And, together as a nation and more importantly as a peop who trust in God we have to volve to become who and what w ar meant to b or perish into a hell and damnation.

Hello. This is a great opportunity and organization.

My people have been in the USA since around 1822 in the South.

I am first generation in NYC.

The racism is unbearable.

Me and other black tech ppl have been trying very hard to get funding for more than 5 years.

Since 2017 I have had investors, VC ppl tell me to my face we don't invest in companies where the ppl don't look like us ie white men. When you are rich you can say anything.

Black Americans get less than 1% of investment.

Funny how come Ukraine quickly gets $billions ????

My tax money. We are each due $4M, this is not a billion dollars.

Banks in the US and England can be sued for role in the slave trade.

I hope to raise money by Jan.

 Land & housing programs; Under Freedmen's Bureau or other Black-led community housing systems & organizations, support restorative housing justice for BlackLA. A program that supports Black LA residents & works to return/give land & housing back to Black owners, to Black-owned CLT's, & co-ops. Working with Black banks for any financing, to discuss homeowner's budget/affordability. Consider 1st-time homeowners & long-term LA County residents.

- Support land back programs for Black Native & Native Americans that allow for selfdetermination
- in tribal-like communities that are based on a set of given principles. Communities for Native people to the U.S that are "de-tribed" due to systematic displacement. EX: Freedmen towns

• Follow up with motion "surplus housing/land within Los Angeles City, within Los Angeles county"

• from Bonin, Raman, and Harris of Los Angeles City council. Availability should be under SB679, to be distributed in an equitable & just way to supposed marginalized groups like Black /Native Americans, to long-term residents of LA County & 1st-time homeowners, • etc., etc.

 Support tiny affordable homes & supportive communities on vacant land plots. Support residents

• that already have tiny homes or want them but need somewhere to place them. Outline guidance & responsibilities for tiny home communities and encourage community-based safety systems.

- Establish guidelines for SB679 & declare that all vacant public land in Los Angeles county is under
- the land use authority of SB679 which is an LA county-wide affordable housing agency that has the responsibility of maintaining community-owned mixed-income rental housing. All homeless & housing spending for LA county must be placed into ONE TRUST account
- that regularly provides a measure of accountability for public spending as it relates to housing & homeless services. SB679 will have the responsibility of structuring housing & non-profit teams while making certain that money is being spent adequately & that
- temporary housing/dwelling is available until enough housing becomes available. To be clear, SB679 must keep public land under a municipal, CLT, or co-op trust account. Municipal trust must maintain a set percentage of affordable mixed-income rental housing
- in Los Angeles county. This includes PSH but PSH should be a specific coordinated team that is under SB679 (restructure agencies already working in that area). SB679 will be accountable for responsible land use when it comes to concerns of "climate justice"
- and building smarter communities that aren't car-dependent.

of 70,000+ homeless residents. SB679 must have land use authority on all public land in Los Angeles county, must be able to call authority to all housing & social service/non-profit teams. Around the date of Oct 9th 2022, former Los Angeles city council president Nury Martinez was heard on audio conspiring against specific groups of residents including Black Americans, renter groups, and Afroindigenous populations. Early in Sept of 2022, a rep from How The West Was Saved, Tieira Ryder, sent an email to the state attorney general and the state housing authority, alleging that Nury Martinez was acting in bad faith against specific groups of residents. Los Angeles residents must have accountability to affordable housing systems and to fair land use. Poverty is a failed policy choice! In the time that Nury Martinez was on the LA City council, poverty went up by over 50%. Rent went up by over 65% with no rebuttal for a large majority class of low to middle-income residents like students, retirees, teachers, & single parents. We are requesting that the criminalization of homeless residents ends & that a fair & just housing system is created for a majority class in need of safe, clean, and affordable housing. A class that is being violently displaced because of an intentionally created unjust housing system where local Los Angeles county cities have been able to uphold illegal segregation as it relates to race and class.

• Establish guidelines for SB679 & declare that all vacant public land in Los Angeles county is under land use authority of SB679 which is an LA county-wide affordable housing agency that has the responsibility of maintaining community-owned mixed-income rental housing. All homeless & housing spending for LA county must be placed into ONE TRUST account that regularly provides a measure of accountability for public spending as it relates to housing & homeless services. SB679 will have the responsibility of structuring housing & non-profit teams while making certain that money is being spent adequately & that temporary housing/dwelling is available until enough housing becomes available. To be clear, SB679 must keep public land under a municipal, CLT, or co-op trust account. Municipal trust must maintain a set percentage of affordable mixed-income rental housing in Los Angeles county. This includes PSH but PSH should be a specific coordinated team that is under SB679 (restructure agencies already working in that area). SB679 will be accountable for responsible land use when it comes to concerns of "climate justice" and building smarter communities that aren't car dependent.

Los Angeles County housing advocates are requesting a call to order for all "housing & home services" in Los Angeles county. A streamlined structural system is needed in order to address the housing crisis of 70,000+ homeless residents. SB679 must have land use authority on all public land in Los Angeles county, must be able to call authority to all housing & social service/non-profit teams. Around the date of Oct 9th 2022, former Los Angeles city council president Nury Martinez was heard on audio conspiring against specific groups of residents including Black Americans, renter groups, and Afro-indigenious populations. Early in Sept of 2022, a rep from How The West Was Saved, Tieira Ryder, sent an email to the state attorney general and the state housing authority, alleging that Nury Martinez was acting in bad faith against specific groups of residents. Los Angeles residents must have accountability to affordable housing systems and to fair land use. Poverty is a failed policy choice! In the time that Nury Martinez was on LA City council, poverty went up by over 50%. Rent went up by over 65% with no rebuttal for a large majority class of low to middle income residents like students, retirees, teachers, & single parents. We are requesting that the criminalization of homeless residents ends & that a fair & just housing system is created for a majority class in need of safe, clean, and affordable housing. A class that is being violently displaced because of an intentionally created unjust housing system where local Los Angeles county cities have been able to uphold illegal segregation as it relates to race and class.

A program that supports Black LA residents & works to return/give land & housing back to Black owners, to Black-owned CLT's, & co-ops. Working with Black banks for any financing, to discuss homeowner's budget/affordability. Consider 1st-time homeowners & long-term LA County residents.

 systematic violence based on the concept of "race" and "class". Consider specific

- Follow up with motion "surplus housing/land within Los Angeles City, within Los Angeles county" from Bonin, Raman, and Harris of Los Angeles City council. Endorsement of the Interim Report of the California Reparations Task Force created pursuant to AB3121

The National Conference of Black Lawyers (NCBL) endorses the interim report of the California Reparations Task Force created pursuant to AB3121. We applaud the California Legislature for seeing the importance of creating a task force to discuss the need for reparative justice to African descendants in the United States (African Americans) and make recommendations for reparations. The interim report is commendable because it describes the breadth of Black people who were injured by enslavement and the policies and practices that continued after the legal end of enslavement that are its legacies. The interim report's recognition that enslaved Africans and their descendants are not the sole victims of slavery and its legacies for whom reparations should be provided, honors the truth that Black people generally have been injured by enslavement and its legacies. It recognizes that those identified as African were subjected to cruel treatment during enslavement based on being African even if they were so-called "free". Likewise, the interim report recognizes that the legacies of slavery seen in virtually all aspects of life including health, the criminal legal system, and, education and employment, affects all those identified as Black or African American even if they cannot prove, and, in fact may not be descended from an enslaved African or a "free" African living during the period of enslavement. The California Reparations Task Force's interim report is a step forward in obtaining reparative justice for African descended people in the United States.

Good morning,

First off, thank you for being part of the solutions to ensure an overdue debt is paid to the Black/ African American community.

I am a current student at California College of the Arts, and will be graduating this semester. I just want to recommend a Facebook or Instagram page with updates for us to follow. I'll be reviewing past meetings to see where we are on the process.

For my final thesis project, my focus is on reparations. My goal is to share the existence of the task force, and raise awareness so the communities can give their input as well in part of your research.

To raise awareness, I'm creating some augmented reality images that can be accessed at various locations in Oakland. My focus is on education as one of the components for reparations. I will also be raising awareness for the California Reparations Task Force, as well as HR-40. I hope to attend upcoming meetings after my graduation, because this isn't just a school project.

Other than what's available on the website, is there any additional information I could include?

Americans are not the o	only minority to suffer tremendous injustice at the hands of those whom called themselves

Her daughter my great great grandmother whom is on the rolls to this day, suffered like many African Americans as they shifted my maternal ancestors out of their land in Oklahoma.

My grandfather a Kentucky son of civil war fighters for the North, married into my grandmothers family and together they came to California and started a new life with barely the clothes on their back and a promise of land through the homestead act.

They settled in a remote canyon where they lived and raised

They had a son whom died before he was 1 years old due to sickness.

They settled up in that canyon where the rest of the "okeeys" or "okies" had also found a plot of land to patent and live

My generational family lived there for over 40 years in the same spot, teaching their daughters to drive by the time each was 10 years old, in case they needed to get out of the canyon where fires were notoriously dangerous.

My mama was born in Santa Monica Ca and she attended and graduated from Taft High School .

My grandparents were called okies and topanga canyon was where all the poor working people and farmers lived.

40 years they lived at now called .

That is where all the POOR people of Los Angeles County lived.

Up in the foothills and canyons away from the wealthier families down in the valley .

They were dirt poor.

But that home was theirs and land he built that shack on also theirs, until the wealthy stars and elite decided that canyon was rather nice and so the state of California "bought" lower topanga canyon and began to set fires to the shacks and "evict" those too poor to suddenly pay money for something that was already rightfully already theirs.

They got evicted, they got burned out, they were intimidated, they were killed, threatened and hustled off of their land and out of their homes.

In the 40's it was like the Wild West up there folks trying to hang on to their homes and survive.

There's news articles with headlines "LET THE CANYONS BURN" in efforts to draw those okies out of their homes and off their land patents, records lost and forged and misappropriated towards the wealthy whom now wanted that canyon.

When you say reparations are just due to only black folk I must strongly disagree because like black folks, the poor were also treated unfairly and stolen from.

Generational ties and hope for wealth forever broken and severed, where rightful people had made a home meant for their heirs and survivorship rights which were grossly disrespected and tossed out like garbage!

My grandparents lived on the state of the events in person as to how they were unfairly and illegally forced out of their home.

My family has had their CIVIL RIGHTS SEVERELY ABUSED and the results still affect through generational theft of what was meant for our family , yet stolen to make room for wealth and land investors greed disguised as the state of California .

I am formally applauding your group for banding together to raise awareness of many violations but at the same time, when I READ THAT THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA HAS VOTED AND CLOSED ALL DISCUSSION OF REPARATION FOR ALL OTHERS EXCEPT FOR BLACK FOLKS

Then I must stand up and say NO!

Color and situational history cannot take precedence over ANY INDIVIDUAL CIVIL RIGHTS REGARDLESS OF RACE OR COLOR

IF AN INDIVIDUALS CIVIL RIGHTS HAVE BEEN violated and scars remain As a result of those violations then it is very misaligned of our state to claim no responsibility when indeed responsibility exists .

Now I know the rightful patents and deeds claims etc have all been neatly rearranged to reflect present ownership of a strip of land now worth millions and prime real estate for the state of California .

I also KNOW historical records if not already disposed of , will be , with my declarations.

I understand just like my grandparents understood that I'm just a little nobody with nothing in a big attorney filled bubble of protection for those whom resold land that was not rightfully theirs to take and sell to begin with!

But I'm telling you now that I am seeking litigation and I am seeking reparation and I will find others that were burned out of their homes, evicted and forced out of our canyon to make room for those with wealth and influence and greed!

I have federal census records and I will find more and I will also find more "poor" folks who suffered at the hands of greedy land grabbers, oil companies, government who suddenly took an interest in our land and forced my family Out of TOPANGA CANYON.

And just like the INDIANS the State and Federal government "fixed" ownership papers to fit THEIR agenda while grossly violating my family's civil rights!

You do not get the monopoly on reparations and I don't care what it takes but belonged to my family and here I am and I intend to seek retribution compensation reparations and acknowledgements of the generational ties that were irrevocably severed illegally.

The suffering of generational bonds meant for one's heirs and survivors just yanked out from under them without so much as a admission of guilt is inexcusable.

Please forward my email to the proper channels as I know you have a inside line to exactly who needs to reads this and thank you for becoming a part of my history , as we all journey towards respect and the indisputable right to be treated fairly and justly in all matters of the home and of the heart!

Respectfully yours,

ReparationsTaskforce

Attachments: (1) AARS Reparations will Benefit Everybody.pdf; (2) Example of the Wealth Generating

Programs.pdf

EXTERNAL EMAIL: This message was sent from outside DOJ. Please do not click links or open attachments that appear suspicious.

Dear Potential AARS Associate Group Members & Fees,

11-30-22

The wealth generating programs are the most lucrative business in the world, therefore, there are many fraudulent companies. There are only a few companies and managers who have experience. These programs were used to rebuild Germany after WWII, and they are used today to build, develop, and maintain high tech industrial zones and infrastructure projects. Black people were prohibited from engaging in these programs, just like restricted housing areas, and country clubs, so we are pioneers in economics, utilizing these wealth generating programs for global reparations.

(Clients open an account at a major bank with the contract amount, or block that amount in their account. The clients bank has to send a swift to confirm that amount is on hold, for the contractual time, to perform business operations), so clients cannot lose their money in these programs. They are secured and guaranteed by company banks, credit lines, and their managers, so they are legit and yield high profits, with no risk of losing money. That is why we should use these programs for reparations.

It will take $650T to fund AARS. The governments and all guilty groups should be quick to engage, because it's in a manner of great debt relief and they profit, but it is still our duty to relentlessly pursue them, to demand they pay for their crimes against humanity! We also ask rich blacks, and those with compassion for blacks to engage, to raise the $650T. Please consider endorsing AARS as an AARS associate group, for due credit and compensation. That is best for the global black family.

We give credit to Sista Callie House and Queen Mother Moore for their ideals of a pension fund, and reimbursements. We give credit to Dr. Mustafa Ansari for the ideals of securing an Injured and Indigenous Status, via the Plebiscite Vote for all African-Americans, and all Black people at home and abroad. We honor Dr. King for the ideal to improve integration. We give credit to Dr. Ezrah Aharone for the ideal of embracing sovereignty. We hold Marcus Garvey in high esteem for the ideal of repatriation, and we give credit to Dr. Jim Clingman for the ideal to prioritize economics.

I, personally would like to thank everyone receiving this email for your time to help us improve AARS, and/or your efforts to help our people via your plans and/or fighting for reparations. It took decades in studies and prayers to amend AARS with many ideas, and various ideals to produce AARS. So, AARS is truly of the people, by the people, and for the people. It would be a good idea for us to endorse AARS as a group as is, or with ample time for provisions, to include all other good ideals.

Kamm, we had a couple of good talks. I hope we resume talks and include everyone receiving this email. We would initiate undoing thousands of years of divide and conquer, by those who hate, deceived, enslaved, exploited, and murdered black people. When people on this list start talking, we will build a superior reparations force. Kamm, I am addressing you because you are the one the government and the Vatican apparently chose, to represent blacks for reparations. Pay close attention to doc (2) attached. It shows you how we generate $650T for reparations, over the next four 50-year terms, 200 years.

It is a serious crime for others to keep getting help and reparations, while denying blacks. Others were not hurt nearly as bad, or long as were blacks, but their leaders united to demand reparations. Blacks have been intentionally and purposely divided and conquered. It is our right as freedom fighters, and duty as reparations activists, to unite by any means necessary! Since AARS funding comes as a business model, we get a nice legal commission fee for our services. Everybody Please Call me to Discuss AARS and the Programs to Generate Wealth.

The African-American Independent Union (AAIU) and 11-30-22 The African-American Reparations/Sovereignty (AARS) Global Black Reparations Plan

It took more than 40 years of research, for the AAIU to produce their AARS global plan. It is a complete plan that requires $650T to fund, the following (4) basic reparative measures; to repair the black family, back to their peaceful and progressive status they were in, prior to slavery. (1) savvy companies to generate wealth from seed funds (SF), in safe programs to offer emergency relief, (2) government(s) grant prime land to build safe cities at home and abroad, (3) amenities for healing emotionally, and repairing vast damage, and (4) processes and services to form a will to love and improve self, declare global unity, and request reconciliation with all nations and races.

{(A) The government(s), relatives of enslavers, and all guilty groups}, {(B) those with compassion for blacks, and all rich blacks}, should engage the wealth generating programs ASAP, to fund the AARS reparations plan. Blacks should get reparations immediately, because all the others who got reparations, were not hurt nearly as bad or nearly as long as blacks, and that is not fair. Note clients cannot lose their SF in these programs. The (A) groups send $5B-$500B cash, or open a new account in that amount, that will be designated as SF, at an operating black bank. Then one person becomes a client by opening a new account with $5B, at a major bank, from the SF, to engage the programs. (B) groups open an acct. or block $100M-$5B. 2 $500M, a $1B, and $5B are available.

We are using this funding source because these programs are managed and secured by system banks, and their banking managers. They are guaranteed and secured, as contracts are created from budgets for projects, that must be completed for a purpose. Our purpose is to provide the four basic reparative measures mentioned above via AARS. We are asking Warren Buffet to do due diligence with your team and my team, not alone. Those at war may even consider AARS as a civil solution, because instead of war, we generate wealth together, then share profits to facilitate reconciliation.

Three beautiful services of AARS are giving black folks time to revive personally and collectively, and developing a desire to grow spiritually. Blacks must learn to love and trust one another, and prosper in sovereignty, as they get control of their own land, cities, social institutions, and lives. So, the government(s) and all the guilty groups agree to atone by offering a sincere apology, and committing to AARS to enable mutual respect and benefits for descendants of slaves/offspring of deities. We deploy a process to form better images and race relations in the now, and for the future.

"AARS includes a Kwanzaa project to read all docs on the homepage at https://aaiuendracism.org AARS is the last doc. We engrain a transforming period in the minds for all people to stop thinking about, and treating blacks so badly". EXTERNAL EMAIL: This message was sent from outside DOJ. Please do not click links or open attachments that appear suspicious.

The subject of reparations could be a controversial issue. If I had the power to legislate a bill to pay reparations I would make the bill applicable to both qualified African-Americans and Native Americans. To equalize the social and economic injustice experienced by both groups we, as a nation, could offer free college/vocational school tuition to any state college, university, or vocational school in the nation for any African-American and Native American student graduating from high school. The tuition would include an education through the Master Degree. The tuition would be paid for with federal dollars.

There is no better way to equalize social, financial, or economic injustice than to offer these two groups the key to social-economic equalization and success. This would enhance the lives of both groups for many generations and have a true long term impact on their careers, and financial well being.

Parents would also benefit as a result of this type of reparation as there would be no need for African-American and Native American parents to save money to pay for the education of their child or children.

The bill could be very specific in regard to who qualifies and could be time limited for a few generations.

Will you offer reparations to all the Mexican-Americans whose land wall stolen thru racist California laws during the 1850's?

Afternoon,

I'm an observer following some of the developments of the reparations initiatives, including California's. In discussions on and off line, there are some things I wanted to be clear on so that those that I talk with are doing so from an informed standpoint. One point of clarification relates to the full extent of repair necessary to adequately compensate African-Americans. I recall it being said by either your Chair, or someone else on the task force that California's budget would not allow for the extensive reparations package necessary for repair; that as a result, a national reparations package would be necessary. Is this accurate?

Secondly, I've asked your Chair via social media whether the task force, as an entity or as individual Black Americans have considered the likelihood and probability of reparations on a national level not being achieved. Within this context, I asked what would be the next steps and/or contingencies discussed to repair African-Americans if the nation fails to "cut the check?"

I was pleased to read that my tax dollars are funding this effort to provide reparations for our collective unjust treatment of our Black population. At the same time, I wonder, what about our indigenous population, who suffered perhaps even more in our quest to populate the state?

Sorry... my grandparents game to the country as poor people from Ireland. I don't want a dime of my tax dollars going to reperations. This is ridiculous. You want to give every person $200,000 of tax payer dollars? I noticed all the committy members are rich blacks people. Why don't they focus on slavery in Africa?

Good Morning,

First I want to say thank your for moving forward with making sure African Americans get reparations for the 400 years of slavey, jim crow, and discrimination we have endured for many many years.

I want to say that I hope the task force is looking at ways to close the gaps in wealth, education, health, and employment that our children and communities are facing daily. I also want to say that getting a check is not good enough; there needs to be some structural changes so African Americans as a people can close those gaps that keep us in poverty and unemployed.

These are a few things that your task force should be pushing for:

- 1. Free Education (College, Trades, AA, BA, MA. PHD)
- 2. Students Loan Forgiveness (for all African Americans regardless of income)
- 3. No interest Home Loans
- 4. No paying of state taxes for 10 years or more
- 5. Free Health Care and Mental Health Care
- 7. Property Taxes $100 (like they pay in Hawaii Natives)
- 8. Schools Programs with 10% or more AA children that promote Science, Math, Technology
- 9. Summer Programs for AA Children
- 10. Guaranteed Employment after completion of school

Subject: The truth about slavery

EXTERNAL EMAIL: This message was sent from outside DOJ. Please do not click links or open attachments that appear suspicious.

I am of Slavic descent. The word slave came from the word Slavic. So that means my relatives were held as slaves hundreds of years before any slavery in the US. So I guess all of us of Slavic descent should sue for our ancestor's enslavement, whether they were slaves or not. This is all being done to tear down the US and bankrupt the country even more.

Slavery was all around the world and still going on today. If people really cared they wouldn't be concerned about reparations but to actually work to wipe out slavery where it exists today. People that want reparations are just being greedy and led by politicians that want to tear down our country.

People should read the book "White Cargo: The Forgotten History of Britain's White Slaves in America" by Don Jordan and Michael Walsh. Indentured "servants" were actually treated as badly as black slaves but the important part of the book is that white people were the first slaves that were shipped to the US, before blacks were brought to the US.

When blacks were brought, they and white slaves got along and were getting along so well that plantation owners had to find a way to make them go against each other so as not to rise up against the "masters". (Similar as to what the well-known race-baiters of today do and now you know why.) Indentured slaves were lied to and many times never got out of their indentureship or if they did were too poor to even have the land they were promised to be surveyed so, they had nothing after their servitude.

This eye-opening book reveals that we have been lied to about much of our early US history. And they are still attempting to divide the races for their political purposes and wealth. Watch the video of Benny Johnson, a black man with no mother nor dad (grandmother must have raised him), who earned two medical degrees, putting himself through college. Benny Johnson states they are using Critical Race Theory to make black and white children hate each other.

Angola slaves were shipped to Brazil and the West Indies. Look at a map to see why. Straight and shorter boat ride to Brazil and West Indies where 12 million black slaves were shipped vs the 388,000 that were shipped to America. Plus more money could be made shipping them to Brazil to work in the sugar cane fields.

Many children were shipped from Britain to America to clear up the British streets of poor children. One year, of the 300 children shipped to the US, only 12 survived.

There's more about the truth of the US and slavery in this book. The US education has fed Americans much to feel guilty about but no one mentions Brazil. Why no outcry for Brazil to pay reparations to blacks sent there?

So all people have paid a price (Irish were shipped also with the jailbirds of Britain) to build America and it wasn't just built on the backs of the black slaves sent from Africa, who arrived later than white slaves.

Lastly, we need to admit that the US was not the only country to have used slave labor. Slavery has been in all countries around the world since the beginning of time. And, it is still going on in China and elsewhere. Slaves are making Nike shoes now and LaBron James is still collecting his big bucks from Nike and saying nothing about those slaves. What a hypocrite. People's time would be better spent addressing the slavery going on today instead of just ignoring il t.

To whom it may concern,

My name is a California native that currently resides outside of the state.

My question to the Task Force Members:

How would I qualify for reparations under the current guidelines if I were born and raised in the state of California, attended college/universities in the state of California, joined the military from the state of California and raised children there but currently reside outside the state?

My family have been California residents since the mid - 1950's.

I do hope consideration will be given to those of us that have left the state due to the cost of living and/or financial hardships.

Your attention to this matter would be greatly appreciated,

Hello Reparations Task Force, my name is and today I heard there was proposal for reparations and thought to myself finally. Some progress on issue that should have been rectified so many decades ago. But when I heard the dollar amount, it left a lot to be desired.

Reparations to me means to repair. To do whatever needs to be done to repair the damage caused to a people. For us (Blacks) I feel like its not a dollar amount you can put on it. Its not even about money. Its about Whatever needs to be done to repair a people that was damaged. And from what I heard, we really missed the mark.

1st off to take reparations is a dicey thing to me. After it is accepted its like thats it. Can't complain anymore. We (yt folk) did X, you (Black folks) took this as payment and retribution, and thats it. And if thats the case it should definitely be worth it. Because, I'm not sure, but after its accepted, I doubt if we are able to come back to the table and negotiate for more. Look how long it took to get this far.

Now I don't have the scholarship and the credentials you all have. Nor the education. But when asked to me what would be fair? Or what would it take to repair a people who've been treat the way we (Blacks) have in this country? There would be a dollar amount attached to it. And I'm not sure what that amount would be. I'm sure it would be way north of what was proposed by The Reperations Task Force. But I would also include Land, tool to work the land. We shouldn't have to pay taxes. All debt should be whipped out. Free education. Free healthcare. Including mental health. And we should get the last 5 mentioned for 400 yrs. The time spent to get us where we are now. Now I'm sure there are a few other things we deserve. But thats a good starting point. If they really want to repair. With that we can really start to heal and build. Build our own institutions where we can take care of ourselves.

If we all just simply get 200k in our account, a lot of us with the lack of education and experience with that type of money would only give it back to the source. And it up right back at square one. Nooo. This seems like a bad move.

I'm not sure who outside of you all was consulted on this. But I implore you to calibrate with the likes of Dr. Claude Anderson, Dr. Kneely Fuller, Dr. Leonard Jeffries, Professor James Smalls & Rev Fred Hampton Jr. These are people (who maybe like yourselves) have dedicated their entire life to the Black race. Brilliant people. In the area of history, politics, finance, and activism. I'm not saying you can't get it done yourselves. I'm only asking you include some of those who's been in the fight longer than I've been around. I'm 41 btw.

In closing, I would just like to thank you all for your efforts. And really hope this finds you all well and you take my words to heart. We are with you. And may the spirits of Ancestors be with you as well.

Im emailing to share my concerns about the recent vote. Im very concerned that people on the commity would vote for payments to be for housing and school......

- 1.) Payments for housing woud go into white intistutions and would not make a dent in a month to month mortgage in the state of california and actually cause mote damage than good. The average black house hold earns $42 a year. As a example a $500k mortsge with the average rate 6% plus is easily $4k a month with taxes and fee's.
- 2.) Payments for school... people who are already have a degree or who are older and dont have the desire makes no sense tp force these things upon them especially when the stats of black people getting employment with a degree vs there white counter parts without is not to attractive......
- 3.) Empowering black people with cas payments allows them to make there own decisons to start a business invest etc which is a longterm strategy makes more sense. I cant see why putting out reparations and them making people use it a certain way which isnt proven to work makes no sense. When the japanese were given reparations were they told how to use it? Are the indians that are given and monthly payments told how to use it. As African American. I deserve an awnser as to why this is even a discussion....

I am a citizen of California since 1978! I have never owned a slave! I have never reaped the benefits of any slaves work! Yet you think I owe them something they haven't earned! Do you really think money will fix anything?? My people were enslaved as well! Have you thought about how you will offer reparations for the Irish or the Chinese or the Japanese! Why is this task force comprised of only black people and one Japanese? Where is this money coming from? Considering the state already lies about taxes now! We increased gas taxes and use the money for things other than what it was to go to! My guess is if this goes through there will be a large revolt by this state's taxpayers! Oh you learned folks who think you know more than everyone else! Your panel is a joke! A task force should include multiple races! personally I don't have a problem with any race! I deal with multiple races daily and have my whole life! I am no better or worse than anyone! I grew up poor like a lot of baby boomers after WWII! I worked hard and educated myself! I couldn't finish college! No money!! I got a job starting at the bottom! I worked hard often 12 hour days to prove I was worthy of moving up! I at one time earned 250,000.00 a year without a degree! I worked crazy hours to prove my worth! I got that big house on the hill that the rich kids grew up with! I'm not sure it was worth it! All anyone has to do in this country is work hard and prove yourself! Handing our $223k for reparations will send the opposite signal you seem to think a group of people who were never slaves deserve! You people on this task force all seem to have learned the lessons I did! Work hard prove yourself and no one can ever take that away from you! I apologize if I offend any of you! Not my intention! My intention is to have a task force that combines all of us! You are only going to divide us further! God bless us all

Where does it stay in the California state Constitution or in our Nations Constitution that government holds the right to use Taxpayers money as a form of Charity??

NOWHERE.

Any person with a brain knows that the state of California is going to pay these reparations by using funds given to them by Washington. Which means that though I dont live in your state, you are punishing me, a living man of 2022 for things I did not do and giving this money to someone who has not one damn thing to to do with Slavery. This is sick as hell and an insult to the entire citizenry of this country. I'm the son of a combat vet, who's family has gone through hardship due to my fathers p.t.s.d. Are you going to give people like me, who suffered in our time, 200,000 $?? Of course not, and nor would it be appropriate to take other peoples tax money and use it in that manner.

It's 2022. look forward rather than in the past. This crap you people are doing will do nothing but cause division, Though I believe that is what you are actively trying to do.

Subject: Major racism issue Reparations Task Force ignores

EXTERNAL EMAIL: This message was sent from outside DOJ. Please do not click links or open attachments that appear suspicious.

Hello Reparations Task Force members,

With all the accusations from the Reparations Task Force of systemic racism against Blacks and other minorities (not supported by the facts there's a growing movement to have a Thank You White People Day

- White people created the very high standard of living all races in the USA enjoy
- They allowed non-Whites from all over the world to immigrate to the USA
- By 2044 Whites will no longer be the majority (Census Bureau) in the highly advanced country they created, extremely generous of them
- Many immigrants don't want to assimilate (destroys the cohesiveness and harmony of a country)

The USA was almost 90 percent White until the deceptive Immigration and Nationality Act of 1965 (proponents claimed it would not change demographics) flooded the country (chain migration big factor) with non-White immigrants (the USA became an economic superpower by about 1890).

White people created the government, the corporations, industries, technology, healthcare system, the banking system, the universities, made the US dollar the international currency etc.

The ubiquitous word "diversity" in the media, education and politics supports discrimination in hiring in companies, organizations, government agencies and education (especially management positions) against heterosexual White males and in many cases White females.

The ubiquitous phrase "people of color" intentionally divides society and marginalizes White people, Caucasians in one group and everybody else in another group. White is a color, White has 52 shades.

These days, there is more racism among the minority groups than from Whites to any minority group. For example, go to a Black neighborhood and tell them the Mexicans and the Vietnamese are moving in and see what happens.

Canada, Australia and many European countries, such as Sweden, Germany, Great Britain and France, are also generously allowing a vast number of non-White people to immigrate to their countries (huge amount of problems including financial and violence), perhaps they should also have a Thank You White People Day.

Are any non-White countries with an above average standard of living such as South Korea, Japan or Uruguay opening their countries to poor people of all races from all over the world? No, just White countries, yet White people are called racists, it's absurd.

White people have sent billions of dollars to Africa and a vast amount of food and medicine and other vital items.

They also created the Affirmative Action program in the 1960's so companies could hire Blacks based on their skin color and colleges could enroll Blacks based on their skin color.

Due to all the inaccurate information about White people (the most generous race in the world), perhaps California can create a Thank You White People Day to show appreciation for their enormous generosity; they allowed millions of poor non-White immigrants (expensive) from all over the world to immigrate to their country and enjoy a high standard of living even though they're going to become a minority in the United States.

Best,

Hi,

Is there any research being done with regard to all the other races who live in the country (outside of black), that were impacted by land/wealth gap? I'm white and grew up right next to poor blacks; making me realize I was also poor. I don't understand how being black "made you poor" but being poor and white or Asian or Mexican doesn't seem to stick. I don't see how reparations for folks based on economic impact don't cross race lines. I have black friends who are nurses and doctors and are much better off than me. Why? They worked harder to get ahead. I don't feel I deserve something for not working as hard.

Hi there. My name is and I am writing to express my concern about the proposed reparations program for black citizens in California. I am opposed to this idea, while acknowledging the 100s of years of systemic oppression against ethnic minorities in the United States. Here are the reasons I am opposed to reparations:

- 1. It will create more injustices. For example not all black people are poor, so should Lebron James or other wealthy black persons get financial reparations? Or what about convicted felons, should California tax payers be responsible for giving money to those who may have committed rape or murder?
- 2. The program will have other persecuted minorities file claim to reparations as well. For example should Native Americans also get reparations, after all their continent was stolen? Or what about Japanese Americans whose business and land were stolen during WW2 as they were put in internment camps? Or Chinese Americans who were victims of the Chinese Exclusion Act? Or Jewish people who have governmental antisemitic laws dating back to 1862 when Ulysses Grant evicted all Jews from Tennessee, Mississippi and Kentucky, and are still the the most targeted victims of hate crimes per capita in the United States, according to FBI statistics? Or how about Mexican Americans, who lost over half their territory in the Mexican American War and thus were greatly inhibited from immigrating to their former land?
- 3. The money spent on reparations could be better spent on improving California schools, where many students are failing and schools don't pay enough to attract qualified teachers and staff.

Reparations are an attempt to right the past, but is not the correct way forward. Many if not most groups of people have been persecuted, murdered and excluded throughout human history. Weather it be the Aztecs conquering and murdering neighboring tribes, or Ghengis Khan murdering 10s of millions of people, life has been unfair for many groups. The way forward is teaching people how to be successful themselves and that starts with making our schools the best schools in America, so that our children can be successful and build generational wealth.

Thank you for listening to my concerns

I am a privileged white person who would like to see the Reparations Task Force create a fund for accepting donations from the public (in addition to having a checkbox on California tax returns to allow for donations).

I have been looking for a place where I could donate whenever I give money to a family member so as to, at a minimum, avoid further perpetuating white privilege because I am able to help my family members.

Thank you for your consideration of this suggestion.

Subject: Daughter of a Share Cropper

I was born in East Oakland , a triplex my mom owned behind a liquor store.

My mother was born a share cropper in Louisiana and fled the cotton crops to California as soon as she was old enough and able to. Born in a slave house there. She heard California's streets were paved of gold...and that's why she chose CA.

She got there with not much to make do with and stayed with family members until she got a job and went to Laney College.

She was redlined when buying her first house and that's why I had to grow up where I did.

Behind a liquor store, on the hottest dope spot, and went to the roughest schools there.

We moved to Washington state when the Alameda Naval Base closed. The only job application she didn't want to fill out accepted her when all others in CA turned her down. The job was at The Army Core of Engineers in Seattle which uprooted me from my birthplace in Oakland and sent my life in a nee direction. I was 17 going to The Fashion Institute Of Design and Merchandising in San Francisco. Only child and not grown enough, I had to move with her to this new state.

She raised an artist. I was able to make my name and fame in WA.

Mom is now retired and owns two properties here.

I created a product that went viral.

That allowed me to open a second location back near where I was born in Martinez California. I've had the place 8 years now.

I did not want my mom to be forgotten or me in this reparations act.

To whom it may concern,

I am an African American California resident, what process will I need to complete to prove my lineage. I have been searching for years to figure out when, how and if our reparations will ever be given. Finally the day has come but there is little to no information to the "how's" or "what to do". I can be very sure that I am and will not be the only one trying to figure out why it's so difficult to find information. Will this information and process be hidden and and or hard to find for our people? It seems as though this process is going to be unfortunately missing everyone who can't find the correct information.

Public Record.

ATTENTION:

AB3121 Reparations Task Force,

The California Task Force to Study and Develop Reparation Proposals for African Americans, with a Special Consideration for African Americans Who are Descendants of Persons Enslaved in the United States, in the course of determining Residency requirements should consider the following criteria:

- Recipients must be Freedmen by lineage, insofar as such lineage can be traced to the 1870 U.S.
 Census. Although the U.S. Census was first taken in 1790, enslaved African Americans and their descendants were not listed by name until after the passing of the 13th Amendment that abolished slavery. It is precisely this class of individuals, who were listed in the 1870 U.S. Census but not in any previous U.S. Census, who are legally defined as Freedmen.
- 2. Recipients must be either Native Born Californians who resided in the state long enough to have graduated from a California High School or migrated to California during the Great Migration. Starting around 1910 and continuing up until approximately 1970, Freedman fled from their rural southern homelands to the North, Midwest and West in droves due to the poor social and political living conditions resulting from the post-slavery economy. Although African Americans migrated to California between 1910 and 1940, the majority came during the Second Great Migration between 1940 and 1970. This group contributed greatly to the California economy via their roles as laborers in the burgeoning defense and transportation industries and in the skilled trades as electricians, plumbers, and carpenters
- 3. Upon consideration of the previous two criteria's, a tier system can then be used to determine the monetary payment based on the length by month and years of residency in the State Of California for each American Freedmen. A lump sum following with monthly payments for the remainder of our lives. Lastly, it must be MANDATED a percent from each recipient must go towards an established Freedmen Bureau State Agency designated to purchase land and commercial property for economic growth to sustain wealth within the freedmen community aka (Black Wall Street).

Thank you for your time.

Subject:	An idea

Hi, I heard about your task force from Brian Lehrer's radio podcast last Friday. I was wondering if you had considered interest free mortgages as a course of action.

Home ownership is a key part of generational wealth, and also a specific dimension of the horrible that occurred throughout the last century. Perhaps offering interest free financing and real estate tax supplements, to the descendants of black Californians throughout the country (moving to California) who were affected, could be a good initial remedy. And for those already in homes and not planning to move, reparations could offer money to refinance into the program with a principal down payment that refunds previous taxes and interest paid.

Maybe this could be financed by a real estate transaction tax that scaled based on the home value sold. Homes above the median value could be taxed, with rates higher and higher as their value moved further above the median. If the tax assessed values of all California residential properties were available, and some measure of home sale trends, this could be a straightforward math problem to see what rates of tax bring what pools of money to work with.

Anyways, I know you all are busy and that reparations is an unfortunately thorny political issue. The idea above seems like one that should be largely acceptable since it avoids a broad general tax or use of public funds that gets some elements of the political conversation in an uproar. And who knows, maybe there's enough money to expand the program to blacks without historical connection specifically to California, to other benefits like tuition loans, and maybe to even the larger housing challenges in your state.

Thanks for the work you're doing and I wish you all the best of luck.

Dear Professor ,

Thank you for your article, "Reparations for Black Americans can work – if they are reimagined," appearing in the Sunday Opinion section of the Sunday, November 27, 2022 issue of The Washington Post.

You present a perspective that provides guidance for an approach for "reimagining" the provision of Reparations for Black Americans in acknowledgement of the need to address the effects on African Americans of their history in America of experiencing the "crime of slavery as well as its long aftermath of racial subjugation."

As you point out, there are related complexities and difficulties for efforts to institute Reparations. I suggest to you that for facing and resolving these questions and issues, there is a framework for an approach that provides guidance for the dispensation of Reparations within the context of advancing freedom, democracy and justice for African Americans, indeed for all Americans, in the context of the advancement of America. Also, in building with this framework, we can identify and account for the effects of "missing steps" in the building of the "birth" of America, the effects of which America can "progress to free itself."

In light of accounting for these "missing steps," I am recommending that the framework of A Call toLeadership can provide a context for the "Reimagination" of and distribution of Reparations to African pursuit of freedom, equal rights and opportunities extending to this day.

Within the context of "A Call to Leadership" African Americans indeed to varying degrees all Americans, have a basis to take "Leadership" responsibility for the freedom, growth and advancement of African Americans, all Americans and their future generations. Also, within this context, African Americans, all Americans have the basis for the growth of America, to strengthen part of the foundation of freedom and democracy to "move on" with that which was missing in the "birth" of America.

As a continuation of this communication below, I am providing you with a copy of my paper that presents the Leadership Framework:

"A Call to Leadership: Fulfilling the Inalienable Challenge for America"

I believe you will find this "Platform Paper" to be a resource for the efforts to design and implement a framework for the provision of "Reparations" for African Americas" as a foundation for expanding freedom, growth and advancement for African Americans, indeed all Americans for the growth of and the advancement of America.

With this foundation framework, the basis for enhancing the success of this undertaking is the responsibility to be identified and accepted for the Inalienable Challenge of A Call to Leadership for African Americans, indeed all Americans.

A Call to Leadership: Fulfilling the Inalienable Challenge for America

by

https://www.academia.edu/85688668/A Call to Leadership Fulfilling the Inalienable Challen ge for America)

An Overview: Leadership for America

America is struggling for a direction for fulfilling the identified intent of America to build human freedom for the growth of America and all Americans. As a country, America has accomplished much. However, America has a history of difficulty in providing democracy and freedom for all Americans. This difficulty has been and continues to be a barrier for America to fulfill its potential as a nation for human growth, achievement and freedom for America, indeed all Americans.

With The Declaration of Independence, The Founding Fathers of America established that "All men are created equal" and that they are "endowed by their creator" with The Inalienable Rights to which they are entitled as citizens of America. These Rights are Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness. To secure these Rights, government is established among citizens who derive their just powers from the consent of the governed citizens.

From The Founding Fathers, the entitlement of these Rights is Inalienable or "inseparable" in that these Rights are not to be taken away from or given away by, their "possessor," the American citizen.

The underlying belief for America is that the strength of, the security of and the growth of the Democracy of America, is dependent upon the extent to which all Americans receive their Inalienable Rights to which they are entitled. However, the question exists as to whether just the possession of The Inalienable Rights alone, is enough for all Americans to benefit from and support the overall intent of America. Or, does this national "mission" require the involvement of all Americans in taking responsibility for contributing the effort needed for the ongoing building of human freedom, growth and advancement for all Americans, indeed all America?

With regard to this question it appears that The Founding Fathers of America established that with their creation of the framework for democracy, American citizens, supported by the possession of The Inalienable Rights, would both possess and employ that which is required for all American citizens for fulfilling the growth and advancement of all America.

However, this assumption, as an expression of the beliefs of The Founding Fathers, remains to be examined. The question that exists is whether the possession of The Inalienable Rights by Americans was and is enough for Americans to provide the participation in and the support required for sustaining the full growth of the democracy for America? Is it possible that with the guidance developed and implemented by The Founding Fathers for the birth of our nation, with the statement of The Inalienable Rights in the context of the Declaration of Independence leading to the establishment of a framework of democracy, structured with The United States Constitution, thereby providing freedom for all Americans, there was and is guidance enough to have established the basis sufficient for all citizens to both benefit from and support the growth and advancement of all America?

Indeed, might there have been underlying, unattended to, unresolved issues with regard to human growth and freedom that at the time of forming a "framework" of freedom and democracy for America, The Founding Fathers failed to address? A significant example of such an unresolved issue with regard to human freedom that was "overlooked' by The Founding Fathers in the framework of democracy for the new nation, was the participation of some of The Founding Fathers in seeking economic gain from early America's African American enslavement. Indeed, was this a demonstration on the part of some of The Founding Fathers, of a failure to provide the leadership within an emerging framework of democracy, required to guide American citizens in supporting the growth and advancement of all Americans, of all America?

With The Inalienable Rights, Americans have secured their identity as American citizens within America. However, is securing identity as American Citizens with The Inalienable Rights, enough for securing the growth of America for the benefit for all Americans and all America? In this context, the critical suggestion is that given the profound challenge for the effort to build and advance a nation in the pursuit of freedom growth for all citizens, indeed for the nation overall, might there be a need for an identified basis for building and implementing the requirement for American citizens that is important for helping to Lead the growth and advancement of the emerging nation? Might it be that with the receipt of The Inalienable Rights, Americans also have a requirement to contribute to the guidance of and growth of America for all Americans? Is it that Americans have a responsibility for Leadership to guide and contribute to the growth of America? Indeed, is that responsibility Inalienable for the American citizens and that it should accompany the possession of The Inalienable Rights by Americans?

To ensure the growth of and "success" in the fulfillment of the intent of America, might it need to be established that American citizens, while in receipt of their Inalienable Rights, also have a responsibility that is Inalienable or that which is unable to be taken away from or given away by their "possessor," the American citizen. Given the significance of this responsibility for the "growth" of American citizens and the growth of America, this responsibility for the American citizen can be established as that of a Call for Leadership to all American citizens, that is Inalienable or inseparable from the possession by American citizens as is the possession of The Inalienable Rights of Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness.

With relation to the historical and current circumstances of the emergence of America, Leadership refers to and is inclusive of all citizens of America, regardless of their "background, circumstances or position." These citizens of America as individuals seek, first and foremost, to accept The Inalienable Challenge for self, others and our country.

The Inalienable Challenge involves recognizing and taking responsibility for the Freedom to Think from the perspective of "the high ground" or the ideals and values we cherish for the possession of all Americans for America, to build with Human Effectiveness to identify the changes and growth needed to support America's pursuit of freedom and growth for all Americans, indeed all America.

1. A Call to Leadership

With an evolving perspective of the guidance provided by The Founding Fathers for the emergence of America, it might be said that in the process of creating a direction for the new nation, The Founding Fathers failed to account for presenting an Inalienable Challenge within both their leadership for America as well as their guidance for the leadership from the citizens of American.

With an emphasis on only The Inalienable Rights, The Founding Fathers "missed" a step in Leadership for themselves as Leaders of America as well as providing the step for Leadership, for all the citizens of America, to be taken in fulfilling The Inalienable Challenge. Indeed, for moving forward in advancing the growth of America, All Americans must be guided in accounting for and fulfilling this "missed step."

This is the Call to Leadership for all Americans! America has and continues to maintain an emphasis on providing the freedom available in The Inalienable Rights for all Americans. Also, America lacks the framework for guiding Americans in fulfilling leadership responsibility for The Inalienable Challenge for supporting the growth and advancement of all Americans and America. As a result, historically to the present time, America and Americans, have not been able to provide fully for and benefit from their potential contributions as Americans for America.

Under these circumstances, to varying degrees, many if not all Americans have struggled. In particular, African Americans, while establishing an extraordinary foundation of contributions to and growth for the emerging America, have had a profound struggle for their freedom as Americans. They have "struggled" for and "challenged" for their "freedom" in America, from their conditions of African American enslavement, through the "movements" for the abolition of slavery and African American freedom and through the long history of and continuation of activism for Civil Rights. This Call for Leadership can support the freedom and advancement of all Americans as well as build with the strength and leadership capacity for all Americans for the ongoing future growth and advancement of America.

This Call is an intended communication with those who, regardless of background, circumstances or position, are willing to be Leaders by choosing to accept the Inalienable Challenge for self. Also, those who are willing to be Leaders, take responsibility for guiding themselves, others and our country overall, in accepting this Inalienable Challenge that accompanies the receipt of the Inalienable Rights as a citizen of America.

With a direction, Leadership can create the full emergence for African Americans, indeed for the full range of human diversity of all Americans. This "American" achievement is possible as Leadership receives support for freedom, emergence, growth and prosperity for advancing in citizenship to contribute to the strength of America. In this way Leadership is providing for the support of and growth for, indeed, the full emergence of America.

Leadership requires a direction or guiding framework for those who choose to provide Leadership in America for fulfilling the Inalienable Challenge. Through Leadership, America can free itself and its citizens from a history and the related pervasive effects of taking action to secure a position as a nation "free" from England while "on the one hand" establishing a Declaration of Independence for the freedom of all Americans while at the same time, the Signers of the Declaration of Independence choose to maintain the institution of slavery, with the enslavement of African Americans, for their economic prosperity and growth and that of the new nation.

The enslavement of African Americans was a major deprivation of freedom for African Americans. For a society engaged in the enslavement, there is a loss for freedom for the enslaved. Also, there is a subtle loss of freedom for those in American society who, might not be enslaved, but who are loosing freedom. This loss of freedom is that of The Freedom to Think. The loss is that of not having the opportunity to enhance their experience with relation to the freedom and growth by using their freedom to think to identify and learn about Human Effectiveness and implement Human Effectiveness for the growth, enhancement and benefits of their country. With enslavement, to varying degrees all citizens, whether "free" or "enslaved" loose their freedom and opportunity for growth and advancement for the benefit of all in the society thereby loosing the growth of advancement of all Americans for all America.

A Direction for Leadership is needed. There is a Direction available in a Call for Leadership. This Direction is available to be identified and implemented for the full freedom and advancement of African Americans, all Americans, indeed America.

2. My Call to Leadership

This work that I am sharing is a presentation of my Call to Leadership and my effort and work to fulfill this Call." As I put forth a Call to Leadership to others, I identify the elements that form the basis of my Call to Leadership to myself. These elements are a part of "my origins" or early life experiences with which I have identified and established a direction as I have emerged into my adulthood. "My origins" are a source of "building blocks" with which I create a direction that is my Call to Leadership to myself.

A. My Parents

My Parents, Alice and Ralph Banks, provided "life nourishment" to me and my sisters and brothers. In addition, as adults in our community, they conducted activity that demonstrated leadership that was an example for our family as well as a contribution to our community and beyond. My mother and father created family-based businesses to provide both for the economic support of our family and to provide for the strength and growth of our community. Some of this activity included providing a community grocery store, a community credit union, homeowners insurance services, and assistance with real estate acquisition.

My parents provided additional community involvement for the support of and the growth of the community. My parents taught Sunday school classes and were members of community clubs devoted to the growth of the community. My parents would go to the administration of the local public schools to insist that a schoolbook with an "N" word be removed from the school and classes. My father wrote and published a community newspaper called The Community News, that was intended to identify for the public, the community services available as well as provide news and perspectives regarding the issues facing the community. Some of these issues were with the challenges of African Americans in education and employment in our neighborhood as well as around the greater geographical regions of our country.

My parents provided awareness of and leadership with relation to the significant issues impacting African Americans in our country. They demonstrated the importance of African Americans recognizing and using their Freedom to Think in facing the challenges of race relations in America. For example, my parents helped lead the recognition of the contributions of African Americans in the history of our country being sure to celebrate the contributions of African American heroes such as Crispus Attucks, who in "The Boston Massacre", was the first American to die in America's Revolutionary War seeking freedom from England. Also, my parents helped with the recognition of the contributions of Harriet Tubman who led many African Americans along "the Underground Railroad" from enslavement to freedom.

With the concerns my parents had for the greater national issues for African Americans, they were members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP). In his young adult life my father had the experience with a mentor for leadership, William Monroe Trotter. Known for his outstanding leadership for African American freedom, Trotter was called the "Guardian of Boston." Also, Trotter was identified in his family history as a great, great grandson of Thomas Jefferson. In his leadership, Trotter joined with the outstanding African American leader, WEB DuBois, to form the Niagara Movement for supporting the rights of African Americans. With the leadership of DuBois and Trotter, The Niagara Movement led to the founding of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the NAACP.

With a wide range of initiative and activity, my parents provided our family with a sense of and a perspective for the importance of Leadership.

B. My Experience of Navigating Diversity Issues and My Reality of Race Relations

With my completion of the sixth grade of public elementary school, and because of my elementary school academic achievement, I was eligible to attend the Boston Latin School. This prestigious school is the oldest public school in the United States, founded in the year 1635, one year before the founding of Harvard University in the year 1636.

My Boston Latin School was for boys only. Also, a Girls Latin School was created in the city of Boston. My School included grades 7 through 12. In addition to the typical middle and high school courses, I studied the classical school curriculum of six years of the language of Latin to which I added 2 years of the Ancient Greek language. My starting class as a student in grade 7 had about 600 students with about 12 African American students, including my self. At graduation from Boston Latin School 6 years later I was one of 7 graduating African American students within an overall Boston Latin School graduating class of about 200 students, the number of graduating students remaining from the overall number of students who had enrolled 6 years ago at the time I started the School.

As an African American I was a minority at the School and this identification brought with it the issues and difficulties of diversity to be navigated at the school.

The Boston Latin School had an atmosphere and perspective drawn from the founding traditions of the new nation, America. I sensed the blessings for the Boston Latin School from "America" with the fact that five signers of the Declaration of Independence attended the Boston Latin School. They were: Benjamin Franklin, Samuel Adams, John Hancock, Robert Treat Paine, and William Hooper. I often wondered if their presence was represented in the large portraits of "distinguished older" men that hung high on the walls of the school auditorium to oversee the welcoming ceremony for new seventh grade students myself included, and to serve as watchful witnesses to our attendance and academic work at the school for our six years of enrollment.

At the Boston Latin School I was introduced to a view of quality education.

A View of Quality

Young men. Look at the person sitting to your left. Now look at the person sitting to your right. Of the three of you, only one will graduate from this fine institution."

This was the stern welcome for the incoming seventh grade class from John Joseph Doyle, Head Master of the Boston Latin School. It seemed that his words echoed from the portrait images of some of the School's distinguished graduates that hung around the top of the walls just below the ceiling of the old auditorium.

As I peaked from the corner of my eye to my left and to my right I began to calculate the odds of my surviving the next six years of education to reach graduation. With the quality of my grammar school grades I had met the requirement for admission within the school district-wide admissions process. I had earned my way into the ranks of a select group of Boston school students. But that fact brought me little reassurance. I was one of a few African American young men sitting in the collection of over 600 students that day. I wondered if I belonged in those hallowed halls as I looked again at the faces of the old, distinguished white men that hung high in the auditorium in judgment of the huddled mass of thirteen year olds. I felt a glimmer of hope as I reminded my self that my older brother had graduated from this school the previous May.

I undertook the challenge. Among other things I studied six years of Latin, four years of French, and two years of ancient Greek. I read the classic literature. More than anything the experience exposed me to the value of knowledge. After six years I found myself standing in the ranks of the over 200 student graduating class. I stood as one of seven African American young men, a number rarely if ever present in any of the school's graduating classes.

This was my introduction to a "quality" education. I earned my high school diploma from the Boston Latin School, the oldest public school in the United State of America. It was founded in 1635, one year before the establishment of Harvard University. Of the fifty-six signers of the Declaration of Independence, five had been pupils of this school:

John Hancock, MASSACHUSETTS, Samuel Adams, MASSACHUSETTS, Benjamin Franklin, PENNSYLVANIA, Robert Treat Paine, MASSACHUSETTS, William Hooper, NORTH CAROLINA.

Truly, with the reality of my experience as an African American attending the Boston Latin School, I experienced a view of "Quality Education" as well as the issues and challenges of the search for learning and growth in America's schools, thereby posing a challenge to the emergence of and support of Diversity to America.

The Boston Latin School experience, endorsed for America in part by the signers of the Declaration of Independence, with their attendance at the School, presented a context for and a question of whether in my expanding experience in society, through the Boston Latin School, I would be supported for my diversity within the larger "arena" of America facing its challenges.

I was dealing with diversity issues as well as positive relationships. Over time, at the Boston Latin School, as one of a few African American students, my experiences acquainted me with the importance of my establishing my basis of relating to this sample of "America's diversity issues" as I grew up in America facing this challenge of diversity.

This challenge provided me with a basis for developing my approach to diversity and the issues that existed and that continue to exist to this day in the Challenge of Diversity for America.

C. My Relationship with Human Effectiveness

As an African American in my early youth, I experienced the challenge to my African American diversity, indeed for all African Americans. Experiencing Diversity in backgrounds of others, I Learned how to relate to, build with and grow with others.

Simultaneous with my Boston Latin School diversity experiences and challenges, I became involved in an experience that would help to build my awareness of the importance of and my capacity to relate to the broad range of human diversity in our society. This experience provided me with a foundation for relating to the diversity challenges in my Boston Latin School educational experience.

As I was beginning to make a transition from early to later youth, I began an experience that extended into my young adult years. This opportunity would provide me for a foundation for learning to relate to, learn from and build with other young people from a range of diverse backgrounds.

This early "growth" experience was at Camp Union in Greenfield, New Hampshire, a summer camp program sponsored by The Young Men's Christian Union of Boston, Massachusetts.

This experience was identified with the contact our family had with Bill Roper, a friend of my brother William. With Bill Roper's assistance, I had the opportunity to begin a summer camp experience as a camper at the Camp Union location in Greenfield, New Hampshire in the Monadnock region of Southern New Hampshire.

This experience of summer activity extended for me as I was involved in my public school education that extended from grade 7 through grade 12, and through my undergraduate years of study at the University of Massachusetts. For that period of time my camp activity included, three summers as a camper, two summers as a junior counselor, two summers as a counselor for camp cabins of young people, to two summers as a part of the summer camp leadership for the three levels of the summer camp experience for campers. Also, I had a year of leadership as a camp director for a unit of four summer camp cabins of young people.

The camp program was under the direction of Waldo Stone and his adult camp counselor team of which I was a part. Under the leadership of Waldo Stone, I and the other adult counselors and the many campers, had an extraordinary growth experience that was preparing all of us with a foundation for relating to and working with a full range of diverse people in our society. For me it was truly a blessed, extraordinary growth experience.

At a timeframe that was running parallel with my summer camp experience as well as my educational advancement, America was continuing to move significantly into its "Diversity Challenge" of addressing the issues of Civil Rights for African Americans. A landmark challenge was unfolding for America with the existence of racial segregation and the fulfilling the requirement for racial integration as profoundly stated through the landmark U.S. Supreme Court of Brown Vs. The Board of Education of Topeka, a decision addressing racial segregation for America's public schools.

As I was beginning to feel and learn about the struggle with race in America, I was blessed to begin to find a sense of direction that would be an extraordinary support for me.

I Began to Recognize "Human Effectiveness" for Building and Growing.

Parallel to and building with my expanding capacity to relate to others from my Camp Union experience I began to have observations of an emerging important ingredient critical for supporting my relationship with diversity in humankind. I Began to Recognize "Human Effectiveness" for Building and Growing.

I began to identify this factor as I was beginning to watch America in the struggle for equal rights and opportunities for African Americans. For America in the 1950's, I was learning that organized professional sports were an important activity and an American "pastime." Within these circumstances, the issues of race with which America was struggling, were present with a strong influence on Americans. It was while observing these national activities that I was beginning to see the presence of racial issues as well as the influence of the factor of Human Effectiveness.

This discovery appeared for me in two major national sports for America. The first sport was Major League Baseball. In the 1950's America was becoming more involved in the full grip of the challenge of providing civil rights and equal opportunity.

From a view from my family and community, I was learning that Major League Baseball did not have African American baseball players even though there were African American baseball players available. The Brooklyn Dodgers started the racial integration of baseball with African American players with the involvement of Jackie Robinson. What I learned most with observing those circumstances was that Human Effectiveness was the most critical factor in the issue of racial integration. Jackie Robinson was not only the first Black baseball player in major league Baseball. He brought Human Effectiveness. As the Dodger's first black baseball player, he helped lead the Dodgers in 1955 to their first World Series Championship. What dramatized Jackie's Human Effectiveness for me was that under extraordinary pressure, helping to lead the Dodgers under trying circumstances, was his "stealing home plate" from third base, in "game 1" of the 1955 series, sliding under the tag of the Yankee catcher Yogi Berra who jumped up and down in outrage at the umpire's call of "safe" for Jackie Robinson, while I, who was watching the "steal at home" on television, jumped up and down with great joy, at Robinson's effective steal of home plate.

For me, another significant demonstration of Human Effectiveness in the presence of racism was in Boston, Massachusetts, where there were issues of racism for the Boston Celtics basketball team in the 1950's. The city of Boston had a history of struggling with racism related to "inclusion" of African Americans in professional sports as well as with African Americans overall in the history of the city.

The Boston Celtics had Chuck Cooper, the first black basketball player to play in The National Basketball Association (NBA). Shortly after the arrival of Chuck Cooper, the Celtics selected the black basketball player, Bill Russell. Whatever the racism existed in Boston at that time, supported by the Celtic ownership of Walter Brown and the coach and general manager, Red Auerbach, Bill Russell, as a player, led his Celtic team of black and white basketball players to the outstanding performance of winning NBA championships for a record 11 out of 13 years. In the last 3 years of the Celtics "record performance", Bill Russell fulfilled the remarkable leadership position of player-coach. Clearly, for me, Russell's leadership demonstrated the power of Human Effectiveness in the presence of formidable issues of racism and diversity.

A perspective for my Call to Leadership emerges for me as I form a Direction. As an African American, I, my family and countless numbers of African Americans and other Americans from differing backgrounds, historically and to this day, know the experience in America of being deprived of freedom as Americans, which includes the denial of the receipt of The Inalienable Rights. My recognition of and acceptance of the Call to Leadership for the growth and advancement of all Americans, indeed all America, is no less of a responsibility for me because of my identity as an African American and the history of America's unfair treatment of African Americans. As I have illustrated in my Call to Leadership description above, I take responsibility for a Direction for fulfilling my Call to Leadership as an African American, indeed as an American. My view is that there is a responsibility for the Call to Leadership that is incumbent upon all Americans!

3. Building a Direction for My Call to Leadership

Using my Freedom to Think, I review My Origins that are the source of my "Building Blocks," to form a basis for a direction for my action that I take to begin to fulfill my Call to Leadership.

My "origins" include my parents, my family, my community and other experiences I had as I was "growing up." From these origins I was in receipt of love and other elements with which I could begin to develop a sense of myself, most importantly, my emerging sense of direction for Leadership. From these origins I can identify elements for myself such as, for example, the modeling of leadership and the Freedom to Think, as I learned from my parents the value of experiences of relating to and learning from others to build the capacity for positive relationships. I learned to see and build with the challenge of relating to others in settings where there is less value seen in diversity in backgrounds of others, and observing powerful, dramatic demonstrations of the value of human effectiveness in successfully contending with the racial bias and related issues of diversity in America.

From thinking about my "origins", I see that with my Call to Leadership, I have a responsibility to use my Freedom to Think to identify and implement a direction for action, for myself and possibly working with others, for addressing circumstances which require change for the benefit of humankind.

For establishing my direction for action, I start my planning with the process of science. With my intent to use my Freedom to Think, I have, with science, a foundation that is simply and systematically, human information processing or "thinking."

Within the context of science, my thinking can be defined as relating to information about phenomena, either human or otherwise, in my experience. With that information, I can form tentative representations or pictures that organize the information to which I am relating and that provide me with a tangible basis for reviewing that information. With this view of information, I have the start of possible theories and hypotheses that guide me to take action to achieve the results that I desire with relation to the phenomena I seek to influence.

This thinking process of The Freedom to Think enables me to work with "My origins" to see the action that I can take to resolve difficulties, thereby providing me with a direction for action. It is the basis for my taking action. Also, it is the basis for my challenging the perceived presence of racism. With these two elements, it is possible for me to establish and implement a position of Leadership. Therefore, for me, there is a Call to Leadership.

With my identified Call to Leadership, I can use my Freedom to Think to begin to build my Freedom Framework. The Freedom Framework is my starting point for my thinking. I create my Freedom Framework to enable me to systematically engage in the process of Science to support my leadership thinking and efforts with relation to the effects of the Leadership actions I will be designing and implementing. In this way I can guide myself to account for the critical elements and their relationships for America's pursuit of the fulfillment of freedom as a tentative translation of an approach for supporting America's pursuit of the fulfillment of freedom.

My Freedom Framework is an example of possible representations or images that I can create through the process of science or thinking, involved in the experience of America's pursuit of the fulfillment of freedom. Indeed, my Freedom Framework is guided by the potential of America to demonstrate "the elevation of humanity."

4. Building My Freedom Framework

With my Freedom Framework I am taking responsibility for The Freedom to Think from the perspective of the "high ground" to identify the changes and adjustments needed to support America's pursuit of the fulfillment of freedom for all Americans. I have a direction!

The United States of America has been and is now identified as "The Great Experiment in Freedom." Within that context, I am considering America's pursuit of the fulfillment of freedom in order to confirm a direction for the achievement of that fulfillment. I start with the question: "Where is America in its pursuit of the fulfillment of freedom?"

A. Starting My Thinking with My Freedom Framework

Within my Freedom Framework I can picture or represent the "The Great Experiment in Freedom," and I have the guidance of the process of science with which to consider the questions about America's pursuit of the fulfillment of freedom.

"With my Freedom Framework as a context of science, my thinking can be defined as relating to information about phenomena, either human or otherwise, in my experience. With that information, I can form tentative representations or pictures that organize the information to which I am relating and that provide me with a tangible basis for reviewing that information. With this view of information, I have the start of possible theories and hypotheses that guide me to take action to achieve the results that I desire with relation to the phenomena I seek to influence."

With my Freedom Framework as a foundation of science, I have the capacity to observe and think about the flow of the American experience of freedom from its origins in The Declaration of Independence and the supporting United States Constitution and the "birth" of the new nation, through to its unfolding up to the present time. From this Framework I have the capacity to consider the flow of freedom in America including its effect both favorable and unfavorable, the encountering of unforeseen or unattended to factors, and establishing the extent of fulfillment of freedom for all citizens and the country overall. From these considerations within a Framework of science, I have a basis for identifying critical adjustments that are needed for the fulfillment of the great "Experiment in Freedom." Indeed, collectively, these adjustments from our science or human thinking, have the potential to serve as a direction for my view of guiding America in identifying, developing and implementing tangible efforts that lead to the pursuit of the fulfillment of and advancement of freedom for all citizens and America overall.

With this Framework as a reference point, I can consider the question of America's pursuit of the fulfillment of freedom. I do this not with the intent of only to criticize or "find fault" with America's pursuit of the fulfillment of freedom. I can use this Framework for an objective reference point for the full range of questions and issues identified at this time. With these considerations, I have a basis for identifying and defining a direction for advancing America's pursuit of the fulfillment of freedom for every American and America overall.

With my Framework of science, I can account for a critical element in the formulation of a direction for supporting America's pursuit of the fulfillment of freedom that is the original perspective from which our efforts flow for the development of a direction. I can review the origin of America's approach to freedom that emerged from the perspectives of The Founding Fathers of our nation. Their views led to the articulation of freedom for Americans in the terms of The Inalienable Rights as stated in The Declaration of Independence and secured by the United States Constitution and a democratic government.

The Framework is an example of possible representations or images that I can create through the process of science or thinking involved in the experience of America's pursuit of the fulfillment of freedom. The Framework attempts to account for the critical elements and their relationships for America's pursuit of the fulfillment of freedom as a tentative translation of an approach for supporting America's pursuit of the fulfillment of freedom. Indeed, The Freedom Framework is guided by the potential of America to demonstrate "the elevation of humanity."

With my Framework of science or human information processing, I have the potential to review the perspectives from the Founding Fathers from "the high ground" they took for giving "birth" to a new nation. With my Freedom Framework I can move also to "the high ground" perspective for a consideration of a direction for supporting America's pursuit of the fulfillment of freedom. This perspective includes not only the receipt of The Inalienable Rights but also the recognition of and the responsibility that I, and all Americans have, to fulfill The Inalienable Challenge. This Challenge is the Leadership responsibility for me, along with all of us, to continue with our perspective from the "high ground," to support America's pursuit of the fulfillment of freedom for all Americans as a follow-up to the "high ground" perspective of The Founding Fathers.

From the "high ground" of a Freedom Framework I can have "Founding Father" perspectives for America with the knowledge that from such a vantage point it is possible for me to identify, develop and implement elements for a direction for America's pursuit of the fulfillment of freedom. Further, from the "high ground," I am in a position to identify significant adjustments needed to the fulfillment of freedom especially in light of the American's history of the failure to provide freedom for all Americans in the context of America's promise of freedom for all Americans.

I have this Framework available to support my acceptance of the responsibility of The Inalienable Challenge and move to the "higher ground" of perspective and the thinking of science or human information processing to help identify and implement a direction for supporting America's pursuit of the fulfillment of freedom for every American and America overall.

B. Organizing My Freedom Framework Perspective

I create my Freedom Framework as my starting point for my thinking about America. At this point I identify the purpose of my Freedom Framework as the following: Through a Democratic form of government, I build Emergence, Growth and Prosperity inclusive of all Americans and America overall, while accounting for Diversity, Equity and Inclusion, for all Americans.

Democracy: Emergence, Growth And Prosperity
For All Americans
Accounting for Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion

The Freedom Framework is from the book:

"From the Inalienable Rights to the Inalienable Challenge: America's Pursuit of the Fulfillment of Freedom - A Guidebook for Leadership"

by Dr. George P. Banks At Amazon Books: https://www.amazon.com/Inalienable-Rights-Challenge-Fulfillment-Leadership/dp/B08C3VLBLQ

The purpose of my Freedom Framework is initiated through the identification of and the adherence to by America, of the Terms of Freedom identified as The Inalienable Rights of Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness. Pursuant to the Declaration of Independence, the Terms of Freedom are to be provided to all Americans from the identification of The Inalienable Rights at the earliest origin of America, to the present time. Indeed our country's history of extraordinary difficulty with the issue of freedom, remains, with significant effects, at the present time in our country. From The Founding Fathers and the "choices" they made in building democracy, there has been a legacy of Incomplete Terms of Freedom for some Americans, indeed, to varying degrees, for all Americans.

In my Freedom Framework I see that the source of the presence of Americans is that of the involved, complex history of settlement of the land of the New Nation leading to the creation of The United States of America. I see that Settlement reflects accounting for the people who were the original inhabitants of the land, the people who came to the land from many sources seeking "freedom of choice," to those people being brought to this land through no "freedom of choice" but to be exploited for the economic gains of others and America overall.

At this point, the human basis for the emerging nation was forming with people from a complexity of origins. This phase of Settlement of the land included people who, over a period of time, engaged in the Emergence, Growth and Prosperity for all Americans.

I see that moving from Settlement to the formation of the New Country, the experience for Americans has been varied and again complex. This experience is represented in patterns of Settlement, Bondage and Slavery, in particular for African Americans, who have existed to varying degrees without the direct benefits of democracy. Within the Freedom Framework I see the varying distances Americans are from the receipt of the Inalienable Rights. My image of The Freedom Framework is only a simplification under which there is considerable variation in the extent of receipt of Inalienable Rights for Americans.

C. Identifying Possible Actions from My Freedom Framework

With my Freedom Framework as a reference point, the experiment of science receives some structure and guidance for a direction to be pursued. Was the statement of The Inalienable Rights enough to guide America and its citizens in the expression of freedom for all Americans? Might there have been and still be a void for Americans and America overall as to what is freedom and how to pursue it?

For me with my responsibility of a Call to Leadership, The Freedom Framework is my picture for viewing and thinking about freedom for America. Within my Freedom Framework, I have the Terms of Freedom that are enabled by my Freedom to Think that I identify and take responsibility for as my Freedom Extension in support of the fulfillment of Democracy: Emergence, Growth and Prosperity building with the elements that are expressed in the Declaration of Independence as the Inalienable Rights of Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness. From a basis of democracy, America provides the terms of freedom in order to promote Emergence, Growth and Prosperity for all Americans.

With my Freedom Framework I have a view to identify and consider the discrepancy between African Americans and Americans in the receipt of the terms of freedom, the Inalienable Rights. Further, to varying degrees, there is an issue of the receipt of the Terms of Freedom not just between the "African Americans" group and the "Americans" group, but also within both groups.

Also, within the "Americans" group in general and the "African Americans" group, I can identify issues regarding the Inalienable Rights based on factors within the group such as economic or educational background. To varying degrees across and within groups, there may have been and continue to be issues for people with regard to The Inalienable Rights for the overall pursuit of freedom. To varying degrees there are gaps for "African Americans" and Americans in receipt of The Inalienable Rights, having a history of arriving in America, at various times, from varying countries, cultures and circumstances.

From the phase of Settlement, I can see that members of some of these groups were brought to this land under conditions of slavery and bondage. However, The largest number of enslaved people who came to the new land, were from Africa. Also, there were people from other than African backgrounds, who were in circumstances of bondage and slavery.

For the view within this Freedom Framework, two groups are identified. There is the "African Americans" group whose experience in this country has been based on and influenced by the circumstance of enslavement. Also, there is the "Americans" group whose experience with some possible relatively minimum Slavery and Bondage, includes a wide variety of experience in "settling" this country.

D. Seeing the Foundation of Leadership from The Freedom Framework

The foundation of The Freedom Framework is that within the guidance provided, Leadership uses its Freedom to Think, applied to Human Effectiveness, to develop the specific guidance framework, to define, implement, assess and revise approaches to implement Analyzing (Problem Solving) and Building Initiatives for supporting Diversity, Equity and Inclusion leading to the achievement of Democracy: Emergence, Growth and Prosperity.

Within The Freedom Framework, at a basic level, a demonstration of Human Effectiveness can be an expression of and an engagement by Leadership, in human thinking or information processing within science, for movement toward intended outcomes. The significance of the use of the element of Human Effectiveness is expressed in the following possibilities.

From my Freedom Framework, Leadership can approach any set of circumstances with the critical element of the capacity to build with Human Effectiveness. With this capacity, Leaders can achieve desired outcomes as they account for the important relationship between levels of Human Effectiveness, on the one hand, and human problems, issues or difficulties, on the other hand.

Human Effectiveness becomes a translation into human behavior and action as an expression of and fulfillment of a value, belief, or religious, philosophy we seek to implement.

Within my Freedom Framework, from my base of the Freedom Extension, I use my Freedom to Think for the analysis of Human Effectiveness, to identify and implement interventions for both (Analyzing) Problem-Solving and Building for Human Effectiveness for facilitating America's Pursuit of the Fulfillment of Freedom.

E. Analyzing to Solve Problems/Issues or Build Initiatives for Growth

African-Americans and others with "rights denied" in any set of circumstances, can use their Freedom to Think, to resolve problems and issues. By taking the initiative, they can first examine underlying assumptions about underlying effectiveness. Based upon that examination, they have a foundation for challenging the underlying ineffectiveness related to the problems or issues they seek to resolve.

As a larger example, in public education, African-Americans and other minority groups, face the problem or issue of student achievement gaps in education. These issues have existed since I went to school. To begin to resolve these problems or issues, African-Americans and other minority groups must use their Freedom to Think to take the initiative to challenge assumptions about underlying effectiveness in education. For example, they need to challenge the failure of public education to implement operational definitions of teaching effectiveness and student learning effectiveness. They must challenge the failure of public education to conduct criterion-based validation studies for all standards-based assessments with regard to School Reform and overall Standards-Based Education. As African-Americans and other minority groups address these issues of underlying ineffectiveness they establish a basis for resolving these problems and issues and they increase the quality and overall effectiveness of public education for all students.

(Please see the paper: "A Standard for Quality Education" at the following link: https://www.academia.edu/45001715/A Standard for Quality Education)

Within the view of The Freedom Framework, there is a critical consideration with regard to accounting for Human Effectiveness. This factor is the strong tendency for humankind to assume or take for granted, that which is represented by any reference, direct or indirect, to Human Effectiveness. In this way Human Effectiveness is not examined for clarification and or specification.

F. Seeing the Relationship Between Levels of Human Effectiveness

Another consideration with relation to Human Effectiveness is a failure to recognize the relationship between levels of Human Effectiveness on the one hand, and on the other hand, the presence of human issues or problems including racism or other elements that interfere with human actions and results leading to the achievement of desired and intended outcomes.

This relationship is represented in the following two images that might reflect any set of circumstances for people working with each other in a variety of possible contexts.

At low or dropping levels of Human Effectiveness, there is a greater likelihood of high or rising levels of problems or issues, thereby leading to the failure in the achievement of intended outcomes for any particular set of circumstances.

At high or rising levels of Human Effectiveness, there is a greater likelihood of low or dropping levels of problems or issues, thereby leading to the achievement of intended outcomes for any particular set of circumstances.

In using The Freedom to Think, Leadership is developing and implementing the process of science or human information processing or thinking. This includes thinking about the elements or the phenomena of the circumstances to be addressed to develop and implement the specific guidance framework for both Problem Solving and Building Initiatives. This thinking is important to identify, define, implement, assess and revise the terms necessary for supporting Diversity, Equity and Inclusion leading to Emergence, Growth and Prosperity for all Americans.

For me, The Freedom Framework can serve as the basis for guiding my Leadership as identified or configured, for example, at the level of individuals or groups of individuals or a community, in implementing the process of science for supporting Diversity, Equity and Inclusion for all people.

Overall, with The Freedom Framework, I can define and implement actions for follow-through to achieve the overall intent of The Freedom Framework. Emerging from a history of slavery, the gap is greater for African Americans.

I see that without the thinking process with a structure and specification to be tested or used in the "experiment," there is less of a direction for the fulfillment of freedom. Indeed, there is a greater likelihood of the existence of a void for a direction for the fulfillment of freedom for every American and America overall. Within this void many questions might be asked and go unanswered. Within this void the questions can easily be raised: Where is America going with relation to providing freedom? Does America and its citizens really know what freedom is and how to us?

From My Call to Leadership, I see that certainly America's history in providing freedom and the current changing circumstances are a challenge to and a test of America's sense of direction with regard to freedom. How do Americans define freedom? Is freedom defined as just freedom of choice or just freedom of speech? I see that with a direction guided by The Freedom Framework, I have a basis for helping to answer questions for supporting America's pursuit of the fulfillment of freedom.

From My Call to Leadership with an approach to freedom, there is an increased likelihood of creating a direction for supporting America in its pursuit of the fulfillment of freedom. We have a Direction!

5. Confirming Human Effectiveness

Human Effectiveness consists of the identified and defined behaviors or actions with which humans achieve intended results or outcomes. It is possible to identify multiple levels of complexity for a description of Human Effectiveness. It is the potential complexity of Human Effectiveness that provides the context for the implementation of The Freedom Framework.

The Freedom Framework can lead Americans through the element of Human Effectiveness. With this requirement, Leadership can help Americans review, analyze, define and implement Human Effectiveness to provide actions for supporting African Americans, indeed all Americans, indeed America overall in Democracy: Emergence, Growth and Prosperity.

Obviously, Human Effectiveness is essential for the survival and growth of humankind. However, in our society, the presence of Human Effectiveness is often assumed or taken for granted in circumstances that tend to be general in description. Circumstances of this nature, within a range of areas of human functioning in our society, include, for example, leadership, education, authority, philosophical perspectives, and democratic government.

With the acceptance of The Inalienable Challenge, Human Effectiveness is a basis for all Americans for helping them to define and implement the values, beliefs, or faith that they feel are essential to the individual and collective experience of growth and advancement for all Americans, indeed America. Indeed, Human Effectiveness is the basis of my Leadership efforts for providing a direction and guidance for the benefit of America.

6. There is a Direction – Fulfilling My Call to Leadership

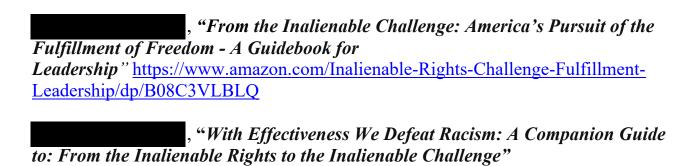

In my experience I have been identifying and building with my Call to Leadership represented in Chapter 2 and moving forward in Chapter 3 with Building a Direction for My Call to Leadership, unfolding with my Freedom Framework in Chapter 4 and the identification of and accounting for Human Effectiveness in Chapter 5.

I am continuing my fulfillment of my response to my Call to Leadership with my undertaking of major initiatives a sample of which are the following:

, "Building with History for the Growth of America" (With student achievement outcome data" available at the following link: https://www.academia.edu/80143389/Building with History for the Growth of America)

A DIRECTION

Once again it must be stated that The Founding Fathers of America missed a big step in establishing the democratic framework for America. They accounted for The Inalienable Rights of Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness for American citizens. They failed to account for freedom for all people including, in particular, the enslaved African Americans. Also, as a fundamental basis for the growth of democracy for benefit of all Americans, indeed all America:

They failed to account for the The Inalienable Challenge of the Call to Leadership as the responsibility for all Americans.

There is a Direction for Building the Human Growth of America!

The following is a sample of Leadership results from my implementation of major leadership initiatives.

EXTERNAL EMAIL: This message was sent from outside DOJ. Please do not click links or open attachments that appear suspicious.

Good morning,

I'm reaching out to see if you may be able to help or offer some guidance. My family was the first black family to own a home in Piedmont, California, and was forced out by a mob 500 residents and city officials. The city of Piedmont has acknowledged its wrongdoing and named the park across the street from the home' "Sidney Dearing Park", which I am working to have renamed, "The Dearing Family Memorial Park"; the City is also going to place a memorial in the park.

I understand that I may be considered for reparations as the home should still be with our family - might you be able to help or provide some guidance? Here's a link to a webpage created for my great-grandparents: https://www.sidneydearing.com/about-sidney.

Any assistance you can offer would be greatly appreciated.

Good evening,

, and I am a resident here in California. I stumbled upon your email contact after learning My name is that my state seeks to give thousands of dollars to people of African American descent as reparations for slavery and inequality. First of all, nobody alive today was a black slave in America. Black Americans living today have never been slaves, so why should they be treated like ones? Why should we be giving money to people for things which they have never experienced? Does this mean black millionaires will get money? What, are Japanese Americans going to get reparations? They were put into internment camps. Native Americans? Hispanic Americans? What about Italian Americans, who also faced discrimination. Even the Irish Americans faced discrimantion. If you keep giving money to people who don't deserve it, we will become even more in debt than we already are. Money does not grow on trees, and nothing is free. Where will this money come from? Your bank accounts, right? Of course not, it will come from California taxpayers. It disgusts me that elitists in my state want to give money to people as "reparations" for things they never even went through. The past is the past, it is time to move on. Black Americans have just as much opportunity as anyone else, all you have to do is work hard. Black people are not victims, and it's time to stop treating them like ones. Giving black people money due to slavery hundreds of years ago is like punishing white people now for owning slaves. People have been racist to me because I am white. Do I get money? If this legislature passes, I hope every single person who enabled it to pass loses their job or gets voted out. This is ridiculous. I am not sending this email to be rude, but I am voicing my concern and anger over such a terrible and racist proposal. This state is already in shambles, so why make it worse than it already is? Why do you think people are leaving in droves? It's because of politicians like you who push their radical ideologies on the rest of us. STOP giving our money to people who do not work for it. Thank you for your time.

Subject: Letter to the Editor (205 Word Count) ... Let The Democrats Pay

Dear Editor;

Democrat Governor Gavin Newsom's California Reparations Task Force has proposed reparations of $223,000 per recipient according to their recent report.

The task force was created by AB-3121 to mollify the grievances of African American descendants of antebellum slaves. The grand total for these California reparations is estimated at $569 billion.

This exorbitant sum is in addition to post November 8 Election news that California projects a $25 billion budget deficit despite a recent $76 billion surplus.

Adding insult to injury is the contradiction that California, a Free State since statehood, could pay over a half trillion dollars for the sins of slavery.

If such reparations are indeed made, then let's bill the guilty party responsible for slavery, Jim Crow discrimination, and the KKK terrorism inflicted upon freed slaves and their descendants.

Of course this would be the Democratic Party, whose sordid history is consistently wrong on race.

This task force should stipulate that all reparation funds will be collected from the bank accounts of the Democratic Party, all Democrat subsidiaries, and all leadership and members. These monies would then be disbursed to eligible recipients.

Anything else would be a whitewash, and another exercise in Democrat gaslighting of Americans to forget the Democratic Party's racist history.

Sincerely,

Not sure why the current tax payers are held accountable for this proposal. If I'm not mistaken but California was owned by Mexico till 1855 and then came into the union as a free state. Shouldn't families who owned slaves be held responsible. My understanding that the fast number of families who held slavees constituted around 1 percent of the US population. Shouldn't this task force be tracing down their linage and enforcing financial compensation from them.

Hello, I hope all is well. I don't know if this is in the section for housing discrimination, but I think it should be researched. My home was not properly appraised when I went to refinance my loan. After a Doubling the size of the living room and nearly doubling the size of both children's bedrooms the appraiser lowballed the value of my home.

In the comps a smaller house and one less bedroom sold for more then the value they assigned to my house. Thes actions add thousands to my loan and a higher interest rate. Can't even count the wasted money unnecessarily spent on mortgage and mortgage insurance.

Just my two cents. Good work and Thank you for your efforts.

Hello, Thank you for efforts. I understand that we cannot be compensated for all wrongs perpetrated on Black people, however I believe it should be acknowledged that we are aware of the unfair treatment of Black people in the workplace.

Second year Black middle school teacher is assigned 26 far below basic students while the other 2 non-black teachers were assigned 2 fbb students with a total class size of 36.

Just another area we're you know what going on but how do you quantify such situations. Also, all the Black people that had to leave jobs to keep from going crazy or going to jail. Thank you again,

Also, the internet can be wrong but it says that you guys have your own government. If that is true, will this meeting and decision impact those of us that live in Southern California or is there a task group here as well?

Subject: Who is Shawna Charles?

Greetings Commissioners,

As we are a week away from the AB3121 California Reparations Task Force hearings I am wondering who is Shawna Charles? Charles Communication Group was announced at the Los Angeles hearing as the new Communications Firm for this task force.

As a fairly active member of the public and as a member of a Coalition for a Just and Equitable California aka CJEC I have to admit I expected anchor organizations to have some insight into the heavy lifting that would be required for the last stretch of this taskforce with the announcement of a new Comms firm in September. I thought we might receive a social media toolkit with some messaging around this hearing or at a minimum a graphic for this December hearing - no such document was received. I personally have been posting articles and whatever Chair Moore posts regarding hearings and I am concerned.

After the debacle earlier this year with Communications, I thought okay new firm, things will be better. I went back to my emails and found that I made two recommendations back in April with firms that were reputable with active websites. Outside of a Linked in for Shawna I cannot even locate a working website for Charles Communications Group.

This taskforce has a duty to Californians and most specifically the Descendants of persons enslaved in the United States. I do not know who Shawna Charles is. I also do not want the last six months of this task force to be undermined with poor communications. Very early on in this process the grassroots organizers asked for a Communication Liaison position to be created within the DOJ for this task-force and that did not happen and here we are.

I am VERY concerned that the ball is about to be fumbled again. Commissioners have emphasized the lifting that will be required once legislative recommendations are publicised - I see no major shift in Communications with this new firm on board or pro-active engagement with anchor organizations to maximize reach across the state.

That said - I am ringing the alarm again. Who is Shawna Charles?

Attachments: REPARATIONS Pamphlet.pdf

Greetings Task Force,

Do you have a postal address?

I want to send copies of my reparations pamphlet. See PDF attachment.

For our people,

by Electing an Official BLACK BOARD Now!

As part of its PROACTIVITY CAMPAIGN, BLACQUITY.net is ready to lead the way to elect an official BOARD for BLACK REPARATIONS. We can accomplish nothing without leadership (effective leadership), without organizing, and without a plan to make it all come together. Action without planning is failure waiting in the wings...planning without leadership is a ship running in circles...and eventually aground. ALSO...plans and actions initiated without input from the population collective are not official...and do not legitimately represent the desires of the affected sector.

If you're a living/breathing bro/sis, no way in Hell you ain't heard cries of: "Pay us NOW!"..."Cut the check!" or any other such statements. But it all don't mean st without a consensus—an official proclamation composed and rendered by popular vote by the Black descendants of slavery of this nation...as our cries also remain mute unless we list a clear set of demands agreed upon by our majority.

BLACQUITY will now repair this defect in our scheme by launching a campaign to find those men/ women our people deem most capable to manage our "Reparations Distribution Network" ("RDN")—our means of distributing our compensation in the most efficacious of manners, leading to our most rapid and beneficial rise as a people.

BLACQUITY.net therefore now puts the ball into your hands—the affected ebon sector of a nation so much in denial—to search the available field of potential candidates in order to find and nominate those whom you feel are of the most intellectually gifted and spiritually magnanimous...those possessing the greatest of abilities to plan the establishment of our RDN, appoint its personnel, and supervise its support branches in the areas of Agriculture/Sustenance, Financial Services/Investments, Housing, Education, Industrial Development, Land Acquisition/Development, Medical Facilities/Services, International Relations/Investments, Correctional/Supervisory Operations/Facilities, and so on.

And the only "Cut me a check!" done will be that of Financial Services/Investments giving you a loan or grant for your registered business, organization, and/or for some other significant/essential need or purpose. Never will there be "rain money" poured directly into your personal hands so you can go buy that luxury SUV or sparkly Bling Bling. The RDN rewards will go only toward Black Sustenance and Growth. All other, luxurious/nonessential, gains will be awarded as profit as a result of one's industrial use of the RDN. (As I've mentioned in the past, Dave Chappelle did a brilliant skit about mishandling reparations.) But...if you feel my way stinks, and you want that "GIMME MY MONEY" platform for reparations, then go start your own damn campaign. This one's for those who know collective compensation is the absolute superior way our people can be compensated for the horrible wrongs we suffered. It is for those knowing there will be buzzards—greedy, racist, rapacious, resentful...whatever—waiting in the wings to employ all sorts of tactics to get it all back as quickly and ruthlessly as possible...leaving us right back where we started...and, thus, who understand that collective control and manage of the funds is the absolute best way to ensure that our official compensation will be protected from those vampires and will be invested in the most universally beneficial of ways for our people as a whole.

So...for my ebon allies of the cause, if you're ready to make real progress in achieving governmentally mandated compensation for systematic historical/current atrocities, put your pen to paper, or fingertips to keyboard, to compose your list of preferred candidates you want to see sitting on the Board for Black Reparations. Use the Nomination Guide on the next page.

NONIMATION GUIDE: BOARD for BLACK REPARATIONS (BBR)

The purpose of this guide is to allow United States citizens—who are officially identifiable as Black descendants of Black slaves of the United States as well as victims of anti-Black persecution and oppression of all eras within the United States...and who believe in collective, instead of individual, recompense regarding such—to nominate those Black individuals whom they feel would best manage any official reparations received by the affected Black populace. Any willing, resulting, candidates would then be subject to election to determine who is most preferred by Black U.S. citizens to serve as members of a Board for Black Reparations, whereby said Board would possess all official rights to implement policies that determine a person's qualifications for receiving reparations and that spread the benefits of reparations as efficaciously and collectively beneficial as possible throughout the entire affected Black populace.

Examine the departments below and then determine, and/or give your own nominations of, the members of the affected Black community whom you feel are most qualified to chair the BBR and/or supervise the various departments—those whom you consider as the ones most capable of granting the beneficiaries of reparations the most complete platform for Black socioeconomic independence and prosperity. BLACQUITY's (BQTY) Suggestions are included below. (Note: Some of you may feel more departments are needed; however, those can be added if/when reparations are indeed granted unto us. The ones below are the most needed now.) Email your legal name, statement/evidence verifying that your are indeed of the affected Black sector, and preferred candidates to: BLACQUITY@mail.com. (If necessary to further verify legitimacy, more info may be requested.)

CHAIRPERSON: Will serve as the official face of the BBR, conduct Board meetings and votes, police activities, steer the overall direction of reparations investment/contribution. BQTY Suggestions: Dr. Claud Anderson, Prof. William A. Darity Jr., Robert Smith, Thasunda Brown Duckett.

VICE-CHAIR, FINANCIAL RESERVE & INVESTMENTS: This department will store all economic reparations received from government and from BBR investments/endeavors. Will also represent the overall reparations-affected community regarding significant legal maters in general. BQTY Suggestions: Kimberlé Crenshaw, Sue-Ann Robinson, Zulu Ali, Professor Catherine Powell, Joseph K. West.

Once we have our elected BBR in place, we then democratically determine our reparations demands—including our consensus reparations-total estimate (e.g. $10 trillion)—and put them into an official proclamation that we present to Congress and that we publicize nationwide for support. Our next step would be to aim our consumer and political support toward those in favor of our cause and away from those antagonistic toward this economic justice...and, along the way, we make intermediate deals with our acquired base of allies so that we can make economic gains no matter the governmental...or "mainstream"...outcome.

In Closing:

saying, "Instead of this 'bloated bureaucracy,' sure would be a hell of a lot easier just to put a check in everyone's hands...and let us have our right to spend it AS WE LIKE!" Well...that "AS WE LIKE" is the problem...because, more than likely, it's not going to be AS WE NEED. And, if we don't spend-invest-it as we NEED, that money's going to end up going straight out of the Black Community...right back into the hands of those who have developed an industrial base that they control and we patronize. Then they could sit back...and laugh their ravenous white (or whatever hue) asses off: "Ignorant niers. We gave them what they wanted, and look who's got it now."

Understand, the non-Black world looks at all of us through only one microscope—not as individual human beings with individual thought—no matter how successful some of us may be. They're going to see how \underline{you} ("we") wasted the money given to you ("us"), that it's all right back \underline{in} their hands...where it originally was... \underline{and} that we are indeed the mindless beasts they always $\underline{thought}$ we were...giving them an even more "justified" excuse to revive the White Superiority Movement more virulently than \underline{ever} $\underline{before!}$...because you've proven, without a \underline{shadow} of a doubt, \underline{YOU} ("WE") \underline{ARE} STUPID! And I, for one, $\underline{don't}$ want to be lumped in with your ignorant mentality regarding this likely, and horrifically tragic, scenario...as you're pushin' that depreciating new Benz you just bought down the street to buy that 40 from that Korean liquor store.

But, if push comes to shove, and the adult Black Community can't agree on collective compensation or individual payment, we could always offer another option: individual choice. Each qualified Black individual would sign up for either the collective option (BBR) or the individual-payment option. If reparations are granted, those signing up for BBR leadership would be eligible to take advantage of all its benefits. Those who don't wouldn't—but would receive their portion of the reparations in a cash payment. BBR members would receive a membership card and be on its records, whereby they and all their qualified certified-Black posterity would be eligible for BBR benefits in guaranteed perpetuity...whereas, the descendants of *cash recipients would be at the mercy of inheritances regarding any remaining funds bequeathed to them...that haven't been mismanaged, recklessly spent, and/ or rapaciously retrieved by non-Black predators. (*Of course, conditions would apply to various situations regarding juvenile posterity. For example, if two parents split their vote, their children would have the right to choose BBR benefits for themselves and their posterity upon reaching adulthood.)

But...rest assured...when the collective option does indeed prove its superiority—and I'm sure it would—I wouldn't be without mercy. Those missing the deadline to sign up for the BBR would be allowed to come into the fray—for a price. They'd pay a continual fee for its services..."Black Taxes"...and all their affected posterity would as well.

Still, there would be the question of, who determines who's eligible for reparations? My way has already been identified: the BBR, who would examine each case on an individual basis. Those on the other side would have to trust the government or establish their own means.

I pray you'll wake up and see the light that is collective strategic economic action...and the lonely train wreck that is individual precarious expenditure. Dave Chappelle GOT IT RIGHT!

Greetings,

I would like to make the following comments at the upcoming task force meeting. Is there a process for signing up to make a public comment?

Thank you, Erika

Visiting Assistant Professor U.C. Berkeley Goldman School of Public Policy

I want to underscore an aspect of Darity and Mullen's book, From Here to Equality, in which they provide a reparations framework through a process they call ARC--Acknowledgement, Redress, and Closure.

I want to highlight the role colleges and universities can play in the first step of this process: acknowledgement. Having taught much of the history that has been hidden about race and racism in the United States to undergraduate students, I can say with certainty that our students are hungry for the truth. Although progress is being made on this front, I think we can all agree that the severity of the problems described in the taskforce's report warrant a more urgent response.

In my teaching, I have found that when students learn about the extent of human trafficking and enslavement, about failed reconstruction, voter suppression, mass incarceration, health disparity, and about all the ways Black Americans were failed by the New Deal and housing policy, support for reparations bubbles up organically from engagement with the facts of our history.

For too long, engagement with these truths has been limited to Ethnic studies departments. While the work of these departments is critical and trailblazing, this torch needs to be carried and passed on to all departments. Once we engage with how white supremacy has thwarted the work in each of our departments, we will be better for it. Our scholarship will improve, and our students will finally be able to shift their full attention to the vexing policy problems of our time rather than trying to fix our curricula.

How might we support a systematic truth telling process among institutions of higher learning?

One possibility would be California setting an example for the rest of the country by mandating that U.C.s and USCs to take a hard look at how white supremacy has shaped our curricula and how we might finally stop teaching racist ideas.

I agree with the taskforce's findings that the U.S. government bears primary responsibility for slavery and its aftermath, and should be the primary actor in a reparations program. At the same time, when we consider that the majority of Americans do not currently support reparations, it's clear that we have work to do in telling the truth of our nation and our state. UCs and CSUs can play a key role in this truth telling.

I question the quotes of Mr. Michael Shifter...

The Biden's administration decision to turn down the requests for troops isn't surprising given the U.S. withdrawal from Afghanistan, analysts said.

"I don't think sending U.S. troops to Haiti is a good idea or a politically feasible one," said Michael Shifter, head of the Inter-American Dialogue, a Washington-based think tank. "Biden has made it clear the U.S. is not in the business of nation-building."

I completely disagree with the opinion of Mr. Michael Shifter.

It would be a good idea for the US, to go into Haiti and a politically feasible one as well.., unless your position of rational is that of a bias one with complete disregard for the history US/Colonial slave trade of the people of Haiti/and the land of Africa.

Racism, bias, bigotry, and the history of evil workings of hate and discrimination is at the very core of the still current civil unrest for the people there in Haiti and here in America.

son takes written examinations and is tested on samples. The written examinations measure the person's scholastic achievement and vocational aptitude. The work samples imitate specific job skills and compare the person's performance with standards in that career. A job-placement specialist helps people with disabilities schedule job interviews and obtain work suited to their vocational interests and skills.

Vocational rehabilitation programs in the United States developed during the late 1800's, when various government agencies tried to help disabled veterans find jobs. But little else was done until Congress passed the Civilian Vocational Rehabilitation Act of 1920. Since then, numerous federal laws have helped establish vocational rehabilitation as a profession.

In Canada, the Vocational Rehabilitation of Disabled Persons Act of 1961 sets guidelines in the field of vocational rehabilitation. This law encourages Canada's provinces to develop complete vocational rehabilitation programs. Federal and provincial governments split the cost of the programs.

Today, the demand for qualified vocational rehabilitation specialists exceeds the supply. Careers in vocational rehabilitation generally require at least a bachelor's degree, and most require a master's degree. College students who wish to enter the profession major in rehabilitation, and their courses include counseling, human relations, industrial psychology, statistics, and testing. An internship also is part of the course work.

Vocational rehabilitation specialists may work for public or private agencies. The public agencies consist chiefly of state-operated vocational rehabilitation programs and those serving disabled veterans. Private agencies include nonprofit hospitals and rehabilitation centers and for-profit companies that work with insurance firms representing clients who were injured in industrial accidents.

Vodou, voh DOO, is a term used to describe a set of beliefs, traditions, and practices taken largely from traditional African religions and Roman Catholicism. Vodou comes from a word in the Fon language of west Africa meaning spirit. It is sometimes incorrectly spelled Voodoo. People practice various forms of Vodou in west Africa, the Caribbean, Brazil, and parts of the United States.

Followers of Vodou are called Vodouisants. They believe in a creator being and many spirits. Each person has a protector spirit, usually inherited from an ancestor. Protector spirits can reward individuals with luck or wealth. They can also punish people with misfortune or illness. Vodouisants believe that spirits commonly possess people and can speak, give advice, and tell stories about the past. Vodouisants also believe that after people die, they go to Nan Ginen, meaning in Africa. Followers of Vodou sometimes picture Nan Ginen as being under the sea.

In Haiti, Vodouisants organize themselves into temples. An oungan (priest) or manbo (priestess) heads each temple. The oungan or manbo leads prayer services for the congregation, called a society. Assistants known as laplas and ounsi help the leader in these ceremonies. Prayer services might celebrate one of the spirits, who are often the same as particular Catholic saints. Services

Vodou began in Benin and nearby areas. In the 1701s, French colonists brought Africans to Saint-Domingue (now Haiti) as slaves. The slaves shared their beliefs and practices with one another. They fought against French rule from 1791 to 1804, when Haiti became independent Oral histories tell of spirits aiding the slave revolt.

French colonists and, later, ruling-class Haitians and the Roman Catholic Church tried to keep people from practicing Vodou. The upper class and church leader saw Vodou as a threat because it was the faith of the majority of the people who were poor. They feared the poor would use Vodou to organize against them. False ideas circulated that Vodou was black magic and that members stuck pins in dolls. In 2003, the Haitian government officially recognized Vodou as a religion.

But most higher animals can bark, cry, howl, groan, growl, chirp, or make some other noise. Many of the animals use their voices to communicate with one another. Birds can make music with their voices. Dogs can express several feelings with their voices. They whimper when begging or when they feel guilty, they growl when angry, and bark eagerly when they are happy. Several of the zon animals, such as the chimpanzee, also make various sounds to show different feelings. However, no animals voice is as highly developed as the voice of a human

The human voice can express ideas through a variety of arrangements of consonant and vowel sounds it can also be used for singing. The human voice can combine speech with music, and sing words. Because the human voice is so highly developed, people have been able to create elaborate languages. These languages alow people to tell one another their detailed thoughts and actions.

Are there any task force members that are against reparations? Is there room for opposing viewpoints? Why are there no whites, fiscal watchdogs or conservatives on the task force? Isn't this issue significant enough to include a cross-section of all Californians on the task force?

The deck is already stacked from the outset- of course the current task force will approve of reparations as there is likely no dissenting opinions.

This A.B.3121 is about as retarted as it gets.

Well whites should get repressions too. Because my race (white) was once slaves in this country too. And yes, after 1776.

And there is history that proves it.

Jovan Scott Lewis, figuring you're the head cheese of this retarted pheasco, you need to soak your communist head for about five years.

The modern day white persons DO NOT, NOT, NOT, NOT, owe the modern day black person one lousy copper sent, from the misfortunes of the black persons past history from this country.

That problem was resolved through the civil rights movement.

If the black or brown persons couldn't make it as a have, that is their own dam fault.

In present day (2022) the issue of the haves, and the have nots, knows no color, race, spiritual faith beliefs ect.ect.

Trump 2024, Let's go Brannon, Drive on Kid Rock. And May the evils, of this country like, the F.B.I. the I.R.S., the A.T.F., and the C.D.C. be abolished from this country for all eternity. May God have mercy on this nation?

Subject: AARS Global Reparations Now!! or CA Task Force AB 3121 Redundant Divisive Delays

EXTERNAL EMAIL: This message was sent from outside DOJ. Please do not click links or open attachments that appear suspicious.

"The CA Reparations Task Force Role, Study, and Timeline" & their AB 3121 Delays & or "The African-Studies American Independent Union (AAIU)"

& their African-American Reparations/Sovereignty (AARS) Global Black Reparations Plan

This letter is from the Task Force - Notes behind red numbers & in red letters are from and for AARS}.

The California Reparations Task Force is a non-regulatory state agency in California, established by California Assembly Bill 3121 in 2020, to (1) study and develop reparations proposals for African-Americans in CA only, mainly those who are direct descendants of blacks enslaved in CA. 1. There should be Plans for a Global Civil Rights Movement, if any Black Person in America, or Globally is Denied Reparations! Racisms Legacy and Losing Africa Entitles all Blacks to Reparations !!!!

- 1b. The task force or any proposal for a study is delaying, and denying blacks reparations. The only thing the task force should be doing is evaluating reparations plans. They will save a lot of time and money if they read AARS. AARS was written to benefit all blacks, and everybody else via its economic model to generate wealth.
- 2. Find the formula for all blacks to benefit from reparations on page 8 of the AARS plan. Find the plan at https://aaiuendracism.org AARS is the last of 5 docs on the homepage. The 1st 4 docs are on Black History, the AAIU, their front line soldiers the Sports Entertainment and Education Group (SEEG), and the Kwanzaa Reparations Project (KRP). After reading the docs you will know the AAIU and AARS are very valuable assets. You can easily read the docs over the weekend if you have no prior engagements.

California's reparations task force includes a pastor, an anthropologist, a psychologist, and an attorney, as well as State Senator Steven Bradford and Assembly Member Reginald Jones-Sawyer. The group is set to release an interim report to the Legislature by June 1, 2023, that spans 13 chapters and is 600 pages long. If a document is 50,000-pages, that does not make it better than the 600-page report. Just as the 600-page report, is not better than the 55-page AARS plan.

The 600-page report says nothing about repatriation, like AARS, to reunite the Global Black Family, or stipulating sovereignty, to guarantee black people get their own land, to build their own new, elite, and safe repatriated and sovereign cities, to remove themselves from racism and police terrorism; to form their own government, write their own laws, and control, own and operate all affairs, businesses, systems, and institutions, within their city limits. That is how blacks get control of their lives. That is how blacks stop others from harassing, killing, and treating them like animals and property. That is the only way to stop the police and white supremacists from killing innocent and unarmed black people!! It is extremely traumatizing every time we see a police terrorist murder a black person, or group of black people, like the latest church attack.The task force can and should stipulate ratifying AARS to fulfill their obligation.

- 3. They will be respectfully justified because AARS was produced after more than 40 years of in-depth research, by groups of black historians, who had a track record of helping black folks, and racially mixed reparations activists, who examined and compared reparations acts for others. AARS is only 55 pages, because it is written in least common denominator terms}.
- 4. AARS like all other good reparations plans, does outline damage to be repaired, deception and oppression to stop, and reuniting and preparing all blacks for sovereignty}. Slavery disconnect blacks from homeland, culture, and family, but even worse it deposesd blacks of their autonomny, solidarity, and sovereignty. So, a good reparations plan will have solutions for these complicated and sophisticated problems in place, like AARS.
- 5. Better yet, AARS identifies many more areas, to inspect, to reveal vast damage, and lingering problems, in order to adopt and create programs for healing, recovering, repairing, restoring, and transforming. That is why AARS is the full, most comprehensive, and best reparations plan by far!!!! AARS offers social processes, programs, services, and therapies to assure all questions are answered, all damage is repaired, all problems are solved, and leaves no room for deviation.

6. Now the greatest benefit of AARS, is we generate our own wealth for reparations ourselves from seed funds}!!

7. That should be the deciding factor in choosing a reparations plan, to inspire everyone to endorse, and ask the government to ratify AARS, ASAP; so that all black people are guaranteed benefits, and truth and reconciliation with all nations and races.We have got to stop others from harming blacks, after blacks inquire about others harming them, because others are abusing their power, while blacks have no power. AARS will unite blacks and give them status and power.}!

- 8. Therefore, the task force and everybody else should stop searching for ways, to qualify some blacks for reparations, while eliminating most blacks, as others continue hurting blacks.}!! 9. Is it a coincidence that all this covid stuff came out when they started talking about awarding black people reparations}?
- 10. The Task Force is aware of recent reports of various posts, which are sharing false information about some blacks qualifying to get reparations in CA. That info is misleading, and there is no such process in place with the Department of Justice, or any other state agency. 11. Under AB 3121, any reparations plan in CA must be enacted by the Legislature, and approved by the Governor. 12. The Task Force's role is to make recommendations for future legislative action. 13. After the Task Force, Legislature, and Governor reads AARS, in their honest opinion, they should move to quickly stop AB 3121, and collectively endorse, promote, and ratify AARS}. It is not possible to produce a better reparations plan than AARS. AARS is viable, and the most thorough, comprehensive, and complete reparations plan for rapid action.
- 14. So, the various posts are meant to inspire the government to quickly ratify a reparations plan, (like AARS), instead of having more studies like AB 3121. Blacks needed and should have gotten reparations right after slavery, so anybody doing anything to delay reparations for black people, is being unfair to the entire black race}! Task Force meetings will go throughout next year, but we encourage them, and everyone in America and the world, 18 and older, to take the time to read the AARS plan. It is only 55 pages describing awful transcending, past and current crimes, damages, problems, mental trauma; and remedies required for restitution.
- 15. After reading AARS they will realize it benefits all black people, and everyone else in America and globally, via the economics model to share profits, so, we plan for a 2nd Civil Rights Movement if needed, to get AARS ratified, ASAP, no more delays, lies, or studies}!

IN SUMMARY

California's first-in-the-nation task force to identify/create reparations said business loans, housing grants, tuition, and wage and job protections, could provide redress for African-Americans. 16. They list a few good areas, but overlook key and significant areas like FACILITATING SPIRITUAL GROWTH, TOOLS TO FORM & MAINTAIN UNITY, benefit from reparations, not limited to a few blacks they qualify!!!!

California's reparations task force released its first of two reports detailing the state's history of slavery and racism, and recommending ways the Legislature might (2), begin a process of reparations for Black Californians, including proposals to offer housing grants, free tuition, and to raise the minimum wage. 2b. That is futile and redundant. They identify damage, and recommend areas for restitution, just like all other reparations plans. The problem is they downplay damage and injuries, and they fall way short of listing crucial family and social service areas required for recovery, like we list in number 16 in the previous paragraph.

The 500-page study describes decades of state and federal government actions that harmed Black-Americans - from slavery to the more recent redlining, mass incarceration, police actions/terrorism, and the widening wealth gap between blacks and whites. 17. All black people were harmed and exploited in this manner, all across America and globally. So, the reparations plan should work to repair and reunite; and provide emergency cash relief, justice, and satisfaction for all black folks}!

After police terrorist killed George Floyd, and the subsequent nationwide protests erupted and intensified, Gov. Gavin Newsom signed legislation in 2020, establishing the task force to study and develop x a plan for reparations in the state x. The law gave "special consideration" to Black-Americans who are direct descendants to enslaved black people. 18. That is another divisive act, designed to save money, because no black person should be omitted from reparations. Racism, colonialism, the middle passage, and slavery still have an unruly impulse, and negative impact on the entire black race, so all black folks deserve, and are entitled to reparations}! The only thing a black person has to prove for reparations, is they are black by birth certificate}. 19. Any person producing a false birth certificate will automatically go to jail for the rest of their life}!!

The task force report proposes dozens of recommendations, including that the Legislature (3), "implements a comprehensive reparations scheme." The final details including the exact monetary amount & x the number of black people eligible x - will be in a second report due to the Legislature by July of 2023. 3b. That is another divisive act, because we have the AARS SOURCE, to GENERATE WEALTH FOR REPARATIONS, SO THAT ALL BLACK PEOPLE ARE BENEFICIARIES}!!!

- 20. The task force recommends establishing 10 NEW OFFICES within the state government, to oversee administration of reparations, including an Office of African-American/Freedmen Affairs, to help people file claims for compensation, and an Office of Freedmen Genealogy, to help people prove their eligibility with genealogical research. That is where the corruption will overtake any plan. THEY ARE MORE CONCERNED ABOUT SAVING & SPENDING MONEY, SO, THEY REFUSE AND HAVE NO DESIRE TO REPAIR AND REUNITE THE GLOBAL BLACK FAMILY!! 21. That is another very divisive act, because it will eliminate most blacks from receiving reparations. With AARS we form the AARS Congress as a Power Base and Independent-Government Agency to Amend, Oversee, and Implement the AARS plan}.
- 22. 10 NEW OFFICES COULD BE VERY DANGEROUS. THE PEOPLE WHO POPULATE THOSE POSITIONS AT THE 10 NEW OFFICES WILL CONTROL THE REPARATIONS FUNDS, PROGRAMS & SERVICES. THAT IS WHY THEY REFUSE TO DISCUSS REPARATIONS OPENLY & HONESTLY AS THEY SHOULD. THERE SHOULD BE CONSISTENT TALKS, NOT ONE OR TWO MEETINGS HERE OR THERE. THERE SHOULD ALSO BE A CONSTANT NATIONAL AND GLOBAL DISCUSSSION, SO WE FOCUS ON THE AFRICAN-AMERICAN REPARATIONS/SOVEREIGNTY (AARS) GLOBAL BLACK REPARATIONS PLAN, TO GUARANTEE TRANSPARENCY IN ALL REPARATIONS PAYMENTS, TO BENEFIT ALL BLACKS AS PLANNED WITH AARS; AND PROCESSES, PROGRAMS & SERVICES, TO REPAIR, REUNITE & TRANSFORM THE GLOBAL BLACK FAMILY; BACK TO THEIR PEACEFUL & PROGRESSIVE STATUS THEY WERE IN, PRIOR TO INVASIONS, COLONIALISM, THE MIDDLE PASSAGE, SLAVE BREAKING COLONIES, SLAVERY, SEGREGATION & PREMATURE INTEGRATION.

From Slavery to the KKK

It's unclear how many blacks would qualify for reparations, with the task force. 23. Let us reiterate all blacks will benefit from AARS}. They estimate that with California's anti-slavery constitution, about 1,500 enslaved blacks were in CA in 1852, so only their genealogy line qualifies. 24. Now let us reassure you all blacks in America and globally qualify with AARS}!!

After slavery was formally abolished, California became a breeding ground for the Ku Klux Klan (the KKK). The report says in the 1920s the KKK hosted more events in California, than it ever Louisiana Mississippi. the police did in In Los Angeles, or department joined/cooperated with KKK groups, to wreak havoc. 25. And never forget corruption of the criminal LA Police Chief Darryl Gates, including killing thousands of blacks in jails, and Battery Ramming homes in Los Angeles \! 26. In Kern County both guilty groups routinely beat and kidnapped black and latino residents. Stop putting others in the category with blacks for reparations. Immigration is clear and present danger for blacks in LA and across the U.S. They just fired latino congress people in LA, for making racist remarks against black people, so you know most latinos really do hate black people.

(4). The report also lists numerous cases of segregation and restrictive housing-covenants across the state. It outlines the wholesale destruction of many black towns. The city of San Francisco leveled Fillmore in the 1950s, a black business district. They destroyed 883 black businesses, and displaced about 20,000 black people, from about 5,000 homes}. 4b. Yes, and once again, please never forget, that black people have experienced these types of attacks nationally and globally, since 332 BC! so all black people deserve and are entitled to reparations}!!

The task force proposes that black people who lost homes to government seizures, urban renewal projects, freeway construction, eminent domain, or racist attacks, become eligible for housing grants and zero-interest loans. Their proposals aim to not only address, and rectify specific instances of violence, or prior harm, but also to support future generations of Black Californians, to 27. gain access to freedom, justice, equality, and safety via improved integration, expanding repatriation, and creating sovereignty, yes, all 3 with AARS}. 28. It is a noble move by the Task Force to continue on with AB 3121, to guarantee blacks redress, but it is best to consider reading and ratifying AARS, ASAP, because all blacks will get rewarded and satisfied, and everybody else in America and on earth, will also reap great benefits.

29. "Black economic growth and prosperity have been critically severed, by racist policies, aimed at suppressing all African-Americans, even after slavery ended"! 30. "In knowing this is true, it confirms the fact that all black people deserve and are entitled to reparations, not just a few blacks in a few areas, who the task force or anybody else qualifies by their terms"!! In conclusion everybody 18 and older will benefit by reading AARS.

In Memory of the Civil Rights Movement,

My parents bought and paid for this house over time- initially paying approx. $18,000. It has been valued now at approx. $1,157,000. I feel that my mother who died age 92 was drained of all of her assets- bank account and this house was stolen by my sister, her Sri Lanka husband, etc.

I am being denied access to the house and my 1/3 share as the legal beneficiary and again, at risk for homelessness due to all other resources being denied, delayed and FEMA denial currently in arbitration that may take at least 60-90 days. Dear Reparations Taskforce Chair Moore & Members:

I noticed in the agenda for the 12/14 meeting that the City of Berkeley was not listed on the Panel Witnesses. Is this an oversight or intentional?

Berkeley's history includes one that at one time was the most diverse city in the State of California, was severely impacted by Eminent Domain dividing the city into the Black side of Berkeley (where the railroad was constructed, and now dismantled in the South and West Berkeley areas), had rent control provisions in tact to protect the diversity of the city, and now is one of the least diverse in the state. There were multiple businesses and the community has thrived so much so that the UC Regents are now one of the largest real estate owners in the city. The University has displaced our people, and there has been no recourse to address the displacement, suppression of Black Businesses and educational tracking that negatively impacted any move towards equity.

Please advise.

I anxiously await your response.

Is there still slavery today in many countries?

"An itinerant con man. A gullible eyewitness narrator. Voices spanning continents and centuries. These elements come together in Impostures, a groundbreaking new translation of a celebrated work of Arabic literature. Impostures follows the roguish Abau Zayd al-Saraujaiin his adventures around the medieval Middle East-we encounter him impersonating a preacher, pretending to be blind, and lying to a judge. In every escapade he shows himself to be a brilliant and persuasive wordsmith, composing poetry, palindromes, and riddles on the spot. Michael Cooperson transforms Arabic wordplay into English wordplay of his own. Featuring picaresque adventures and linguistic acrobatics, Impostures brings the spirit of this masterpiece of Arabic literature into English in a dazzling display of translation"--

One might describe al-Ḥarīrī's twelfth-century Arabic classic as 'Melville's Confidence-Man meets Queneau's Exercices de style, 'but in this remarkable Oulipean carnival of a translation by Michael Cooperson, there are so many other voices--and languages: Singlish, Spanglish, Shakespeare, middle management-speak, Harlem jive, the rogue's lexicon, Naijá... Impostures is a wild romp through languages and literatures, places and times, that bears out and celebrates Borges's dictum: 'Erudition is the modern form of the fantastic.'--Esther Allen, translator of Zama, winner of the 2017 National Translation Award

The author's 12th-century Arabic masterpiece, the Maqamat, is a feast of stories, told in a bewildering variety of voice and registers, and in this, the best translated work of 2020, Michael Cooperson somehow uncannily manages to go all that rhetorical virtuosity one better. The result is simply astonishing, and almost embarrassingly entertaining.-- "Open Letters Review"

To translate a work that has been called untranslatable for a thousand years requires more than just expertise in languages--it requires wit, creativity, and an ocean-deep reservoir of knowledge of history and literature and humanity. Michael Cooperson has all of that, plus the most essential, and rarest element: the courage to climb this Everest of world literature. The result isn't just a translation--it's a dazzling work of literary creation in its own right, with the linguistic gymnastics of Pale Fire, the genre-switching of Cloud Atlas, and the literary range of 2666.--Peter Sagal, Host of NPR's Wait, Wait... Don't Tell Me!

Wildly inventive, acerbic, and funny .-- "Public Books"

al-Harīrī (Author)

Al-Ḥarīrī (d. 516/1122) was a poet, scholar, and government official from Basra, Iraq. He is celebrated for his virtuosity in producing rhymed prose narratives, the Maqāmāt.

Abdelfattah Kilito (Foreword by)

Abdelfattah Kilito is the author of several acclaimed studies of Arabic literature, including Arabs and the Art of Storytelling and a study of the maqāmāt genre. He is the recipient of the Great Moroccan Award, the Al Owais Award for Criticism and Literature Studies, and a Prix from the Académie Française.

Michael Cooperson (Translator)

Michael Cooperson is Professor of Arabic in the Department of Near Eastern Languages & Cultures at UCLA. His translations include The Life of Ibn Ḥanbal by Ibn al-Jawzī for the Library of Arabic Literature, and The Author and His Doubles by the eminent Moroccan literary critic Abdelfattah Kilito.

The story of Santa Monica's Inkwell beach sounds like something out of the Jim Crow South. During the 1920's, the 200-foot-long strip was one of the only beaches in the county--save for a sliver of Manhattan Beach--where African-Americans were allowed to enjoy the ocean.

The beach started out as a hangout for members of Phillips Chapel CME Church.* The black community was forced to find their own piece of beach to feel safe at after a horrific incident at Santa Monica Beach. Arthur Valentine, a black chauffeur, and his family and friends went to a whites-only area of Topanga Canyon and were forced off of the premises by the police, according to historian Alison Rose Jefferson. Police beat and shot him, but when he filed a complaint, authorities charged him with assault of a deadly weapon.

So the black community settled on Inkwell Beach, a polluted and abandoned area that nobody else would have wanted at the time, according to LA Observed. The beach

AFRICAN METHODISM IN THE SOUTH; OR, TWENTY FIVE YEARS OF FREEDOM

Atlanta: Franklin Publishing House, 1890. First edition. Original publisher's cloth binding with gilt to spine and front board. An exceptionally pleasing copy, square and tight, with the gilt just a touch faded to spine and rear corners gently bumped. Contemporary ownership signature of North Carolina clergyman and AME member W. E. C. Barham, dated Raleigh, NC Nov. 1891 to both endpapers. Some offsetting to title page. Collating complete including engraved frontis: xxii, [2, blanks], 305, [1, blank]. The only copy on the market, this early Blackauthored history of the AME's work for abolition and equality in the South has appeared only twice at auction.

*African American Methodists developed an emancipationist ethos drawn from the democratic principles embedded in American civil discourse and in Wesleyan theology," a sector of Protestantism that welcomed their membership even before the Revolution (Dickerson). The A.M.E [African Methodist Episcopal] Church thus became a central space for community identity and organization for people in the South seeking to move past enslavement, navigate the indignities of systemic racism, and expand their economic, political, and social opportunities. Gaines, himself a formerly enslaved person, was well aware of the realities of the Antebellum, Civil War, and Reconstruction eras. Education and theology provided spaces where he could assert his humanity, guiding others to do the same. The present work is his history of the A.M.E. Church's work in the South, a celebration of a quarter century of its post-Emancipation accomplishments. "In undertaking this work I have had in mind to present to my readers and to the A.M.E. Church a brief but comprehensive survey of the work of our church in the South...It has been my aim to touch upon the adjoining States to Georgia... It has been my purpose to make mention of all growth as far as I could find accurate data for it, and to bring before my readers the men whose entrance into the church work has caused this growth." Gaines also wants readers to consider this growth and how it raises questions about the future. "The fact that the color question is the question of the day, attracting more or less attention throughout our entire country -- North, East, West, South -- makes everything pertaining to the Negro -- his past, his present, his future, his educational, his moral, his financial status -- all the more important....Suffice it to say, however, despite the discussions, despite the differences of opinion, the Negro intends to hold his own. He has a future, and that, too, in America." A history and a call to action for the Black American communities across the nation, and a timely reminder of all accomplished and all left to do.

IOLA LEROY, OR SHADOWS UPLIFTED

Philadelphia: Garrigues Brothers, 1892. First edition. Original publisher's cloth binding with gilt to spine and front board. Yellow floral endpapers. A pleasing copy of an incredibly scarce book, with a bit of rolling to spine. Discreet restoration to cloth at spine ends and corners; hinges strengthened. Contemporary ownership signature of Addie L. Lacy to front endpaper and a bit of offsetting to pastedowns, else fresh and unmarked internally. Considered the first novel published by an African American woman until the 1980s, Iola Leroy remains a literary landmark for BIPOC authorship. Copies are rare on the market, with this title appearing only twice at auction.

In its own time, lola Leroy was recognized as a major literary contribution that reshaped the American novel. Reacting to popular sentimental and sensational texts of the time, which so often "sexualized female racial embodiment through a lens of male desire," Frances E. W. Harper drew on her own experiences to instead present "a biracial woman's point of view" (Rosenthal). Following lola Leroy's discovery of her own biracial heritage, the novel emphasizes the heroine's empowerment in embracing her Black identity rather than the privilege and systemic violence represented by whiteness. "By titling her novel after her heroine rather than after a duty larger than the individual, Harper further announced the importance of a single character, a woman" and racial identity as importantly individual as well as communal (Rosenthal). Like the author who created her, Iola Leroy ultimately chooses to live within, support, and act on behalf of the wider Black community.

Of over 7,000 volumes selected for the Women's Building exhibition at the 1893 World's Fair, six were authored by Black women — and of these, two including Iola Leroy were written by Frances E. W. Harper. Her novel urged in readers a recognition of systemic violence; but more importantly it also made visible Black people's — and particularly Black women's — ability to create change in the coming generations. An exceptional novel, among the first published by a Black woman, which used a popular form to emphasize Blackness and Black identity in America.

FYI- I worked as a federal disaster assistance financial consultant/advisor on call for approx. twenty years.

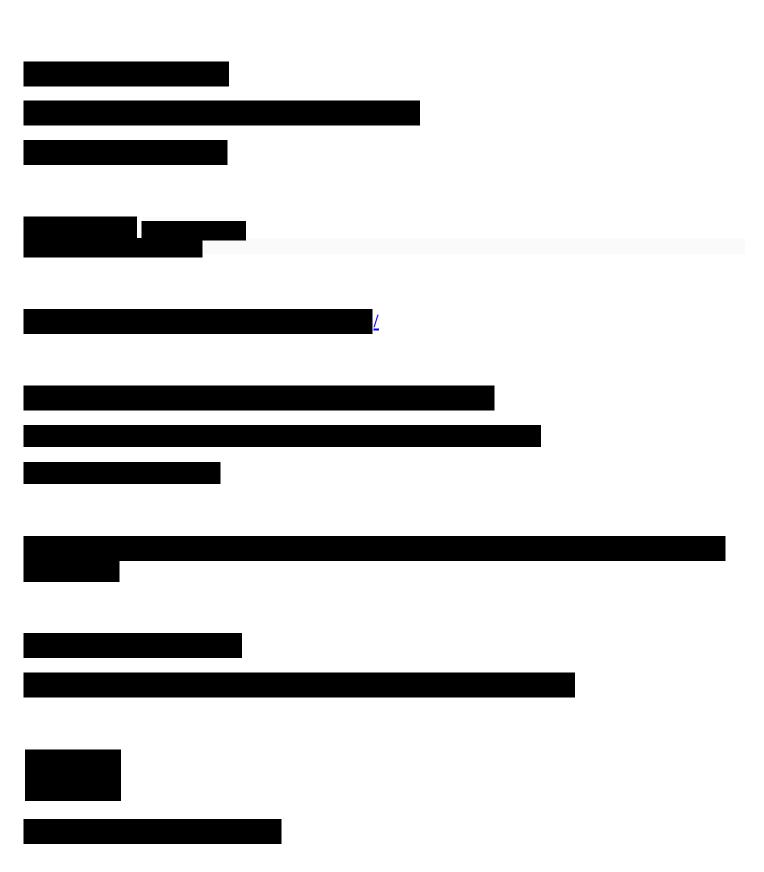

One of my first assignments was in Sacramento, CA for the LA Uprising (riot)- We worked 80 hours per week, 12 hour days.

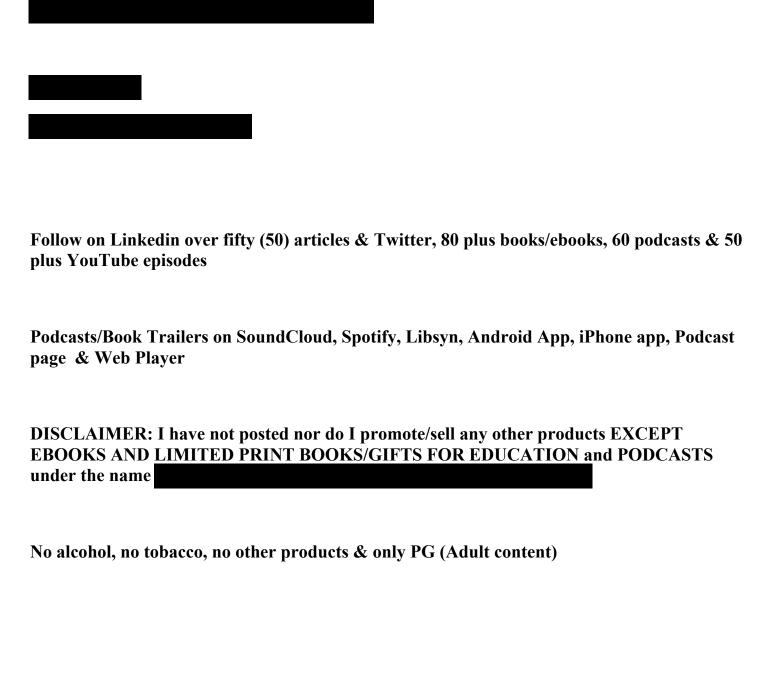

I spent additional time and energy 'explaining'/defending the black owned businesses that burned and were destroyed. Management would often dismiss, make jokes about, make light of black owned businesses that I personally knew about for many years- all of my life.

A review of the loan/assistance FEMA/SBA denials by federal disaster programs for the LA uprising (riots) vs the rubber-stamp like approvals for businesses burned/destroyed in Koreatown- other, primarily non-black owned businesses may be a useful data sets and also, a review of the amounts approved for black owned businesses.

Good morning,

I have been hearing about the great work your task force is doing and I had some suggestions to share. In order to avoid fraud, I think the process of providing funds should be discreet and a very personal process—you should hold lengthy interviews and investigations into each candidate to ensure they truly are descendents of slaves and are actually African American/ Black. The process needs to be discreet because non-Black groups will be extremely angry and hostile about reparations and Black folk will need to be protected. There need to be agreements signed that candidates will not discuss their funding online or publicly in order to avoid backlash. Prepare to have security, preferably armed guards to protect the entire process, as white terrorist groups will definitely seek revenge over this.

My prayers are with you all. God Bless

Best,

The 1850 Census

The 1850 Federal Census data of the Ocean Springs area indicates a Caucasian population of less two hundred. There were about fifty-two bondsmen or 22% of the local population. Of the thirty-six households surveyed in the village, only ten possessed slaves. The majority of these indentured people were employed as domestics in the large waterfront estates of the wealthy. Only about 25% of the local slave population was used in servile labor-primarily as sawmill workers on Old Fort Bayou.

A summary of slave owners in the Ocean Springs area was taken from the 1850 Federal Slave Census of Jackson County. Since slaves were considered chattel, not people, only their number and sex were recorded.

Martha E. Austin (1818-1898) was born Porter in Tennessee. She was the wife of Dr. W.G. Austin (1812-1894) of New Orleans, who founded the Ocean Springs Hotel, which gave its name to Ocean Springs in 1854. The Austins maintained a home here and at New Orleans. She owned two male and three female slaves.

Philip P. Bowen (1799-1871) was a Baptist minister from South Carolina, who is credited with discovering and developing the mineral springs near Old Fort Bayou in 1852. He served the Tidewater Baptist Church congregation from 1847-1859. Reverend Bowen possessed five male and two female slaves. He expired in Clarke County, Mississippi.

Abram Davis (1811-1850+) was a Mississippi native and farmer. He possessed four slaves-a male and female Negro, and a male and female mulatto.

Andrew B. Dodd (1806-1850+)-was born at Kentucky. He was a physician and an associate of W.G. Kendall. Dr. Dodd owned three male and two female slaves

Edgar James (1797-ca 1858)-was a carpenter born at South Carolina. He possessed four male, two female, and a male mulatto bondman.

William Gray Kendall (1812-1872)-was born at Kentucky. He and his family resided at New Orleans where he was an attorney and served as postmaster. The Kendall summer home at Ocean Springs was situated where "Shadowlawn", the exquisite Nancy and Bill Wilson residence and tourist home, is today on Shearwater Drive. In 1850, Mr. Kendall was also the largest slave-holder in Harrison County, Mississippi. He operated a brickyard on the old Moran tract at present day D'Iberville where he worked 162 slaves. At Ocean Springs, the Kendalls owned three female and two male slaves.

George Lynch (1815-1850+) was born in Maryland. He operated a sawmill on Old Fort Bayou. In order to process his logs to make lumber and run his household, Mr. Lynch utilized thirteen male, one female, and a female mulatto slave. The village was called Lynchburg Springs in 1853, when the US Post Office was operated by Robert Little.

Warrick Martin (1810-1850+) was a native of Pennsylvania. He was an attorney and land speculator and resided on Biloxi Bay. The Martin household had a male and female slave.

William L. Porter (1811-1850+) was a merchant from Tennessee. His sister was Martha E. Austin (1818-1898), the spouse of Dr. Austin. Mr. Porter possessed one female and one female mulatto. Porter Avenue is named for this family.

Jean-Baptiste Seymour (1812-1887) was the owner of a 13-acre tract of land at Ocean Springs Jean-Baptiste Seymour, which he purchased from Dr. Andrew B. Dodd (1806-1850+), in September 1849. The Seymour tract ran from Government Street to LaFontaine Avenue and was only 150 feet wide, except on its southern termination near present day LaFontaine Avenue, where it widened to 165 feet. Its western perimeter began 200 feet east of Dewey Avenue. Seymour paid Dr. Dodd $11.54 per acre for this land. He owned a male slave.

I commend you for your powerful work to illuminate and quantify racial harm to Black Californians and particularly for calling out the possibility of compensation for the atrocities of mass incarceration.

I recently completed a 5-year study of economic harms to Black individuals, families, and communities from racially targeted mass incarceration, released in a peer-reviewed book, Stolen Wealth, Hidden Power: The Case for Reparations for Mass Incarceration endorsed by Sandy Darity, Rashawn Ray, and others. My estimates point to a staggering national sum, $7.16 trillion—much of which is likely driven by California.

Providing evidence in support of reparations for mass incarceration is a driving passion for me and I would be glad to be of service to the task force in precisely quantifying these harms. Please let me know if I can be helpful.

During the summer, the police of New Orleans have entered churches and broken up the meetings of humb Christian worshippers. So great appeared to be the antagonism exhibited by these men toward the liberty en by the colored population of the city, that they used their clubs upon the floors of the meeting-houses, creati such a noise as to break up the meetings and send the poor people home in a state of fright and discourage When the police were asked for their authority, they showed an order signed "J. Burke, Chief of Police," and a further investigation, it was found that the Chief received his orders from the Mayor.

The conclusion which I am compelled to draw from the conduct of the State authorities towards the freedment is simply this: that if the freedment were left to the mercy of the people who formerly owned them as slaves, of officers of their selection, we might with one count of the fingers of our hands number the years which the rawould spend with us.

There was nothing unusual about the transaction between Franklin and Lizardi. The sale of Andrew was just one of tens of thousands conducted in New Orleans in the 19th century. Nevertheless, what stands out is how brilliantly the notarial act recording the sale—a copy of which can be found in THNOC's Slavery in Louisiana Collection (MSS 44)—encapsulates the global, cultural, and financial reach of New Orleans and the slave trade before the Civil War. Here was a man of African descent brought to New Orleans by an Anglo trader from Maryland. There, he was purchased by a second Anglo trader from Tennessee, who in turn sold that man to a partner in a merchant firm that had offices and business interests strewn across the Atlantic world. That partner had a Basque surname, and a notary recorded the name of his firm in Spanish. The notary was himself a Creole and often wrote his notarial acts in French.

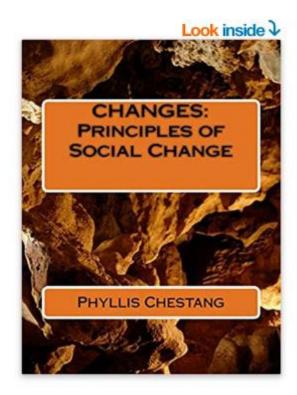

The domestic slave trade is often viewed as a phenomenon contained by the boundaries of the United States, one that sprung up to replace the importations from Africa during the colonial and early national periods. In truth, slavery remained an institution that transcended national borders. Andrew, like many other enslaved individuals, was entangled in webs of economic production and trade that continued to stretch around the world. —JOSHUA ROTHMAN he used him as a personal servant or had him work at one of the numerous properties the firm owned in the city. Lizardi and his brothers were also proprietors of several sugar plantations in the parishes, and he may have sent Andrew to labor on one of them. Danse Macabre

The French Quarter is full of stories of the supernatural, but Louisiana history offers plenty of non-spectral frights. The yellow fever epidemic of the 19th century, which killed more than 40,000 people in New Orleans between 1810 and 1900, was only one of many diseases that beset Louisianans through poor sanitation and lack of public health information. Mourners memorialized the dead through rituals, such as stopping clocks and covering mirrors in a deceased person's home, or by creating remembrance objects known as immortelles.

NOVEMBER

Free People of Color

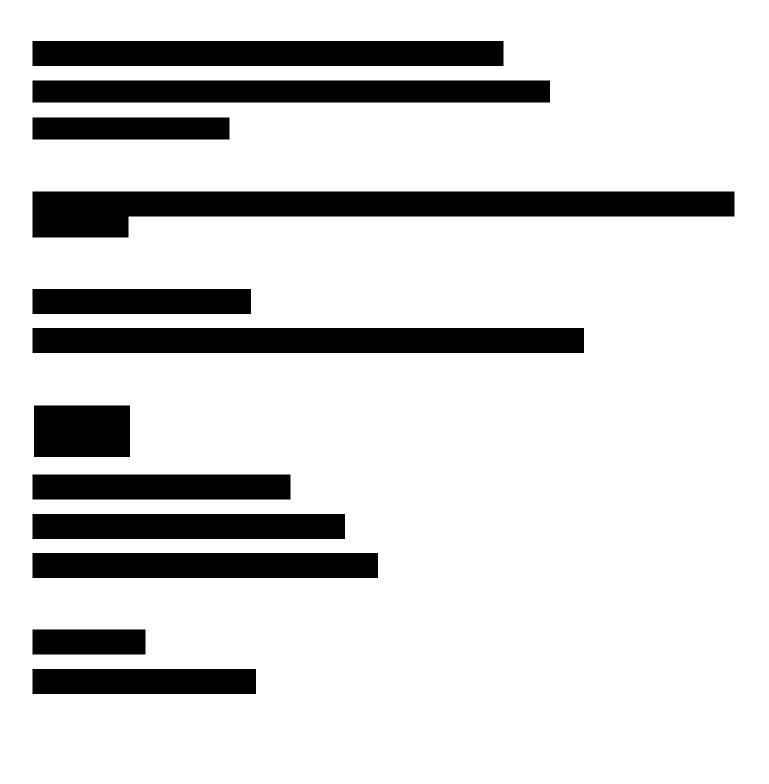

Unlike British colonies, Louisiana under the French and Spanish granted property and legal rights to a growing nonwhite populace. In 1830 gens de couleur libres (free people of color) formed over a third of the city's population, though they faced more stringent regulations and discrimination in the decades prior to the Civil War. Starting in the late 18th century sumptuary laws required women of color to cover their heads with wraps, or tignons, as seen in the History Galleries portrait of a free woman of color known as Betsy.

the boards, selling the paintings at affordable prices. Similarly, during the 1884
World's Industrial and Cotton Centennial Exposition, Walker is believed to have set up his easel in Exposition Park (now Audubon Park), selling his paintings of sharecroppers as souvenirs. Other scenes were painted on copper plates and wooden palettes; many depicted iconic sights such as steamboats at the levee and expansive cotton fields filled with workers. These romanticized images of the South held appeal beyond Louisiana; many of his tourist clients were from the North.

Like other artists of his time, Walker expressed a gentle vision of sharecropper life, one that softened the emotional and physical toll of a lifetime of hard, daily agricultural labor. His placid figures are sturdy, strong, and colorfully dressed; they stand in cotton fields where the sky is bright and the harvest plentiful. In all, Walker strived to capture the peaceful and predictable South that existed in his memory, of contented workers, beautiful landscapes, and abundance. —MACLYN LE BOURGEOIS HICKEY

Walker's smaller canvases typically show a single foreground figure, posed frontally, of a sharecropper, often standing in a cotton field. Their faces are deeply lined, and their clothing is ragged and colorful, with bright patches. They wear hats or tignons; some smoke corncob pipes, sit astride horses, or carry bags of cotton slung over their shoulders. With such similar stance, dress, and placement, as well as titles such as Male Itinerant and Female Cotton Picker, the figures appear as stereotypes rather than individuals. His bucolic sharecropper cabin scenes also share similar compositions, with a dirt lawn in the foreground, a cabin placed frontally at midground, and figures and farm equipment scattered about.

We have been hearing a lot about your wonderful work on the east coast. I am looking forward to participating and getting the results of your upcoming meetings. Thank you for allowing my participation, as a presenter at the LA reparations forum.

Please see our recent letter to President Joe Biden below. We have around USDA a slave mentality (those lining their pockets) at the expense/pain & suffering of others. They are saying great things about USDA civil rights that are unfounded.

However, we will not be silent.

What more can we do to support you? Please freely share your thoughts.

Keep up the fine work.

Dear Mr. President:

Congratulations on the gains the Democrats have made during this election campaign cycle, especially the win in Georgia. However, we are troubled by the policies and actions which are harmful to America's Black farmers under the leadership of Secretary Tom Vilsack.

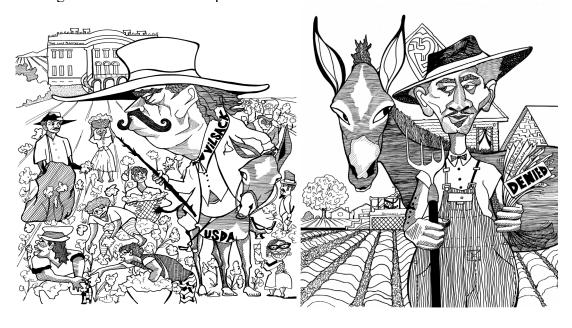

The Congressional Black Caucus (CBC) has weighed in and found Vilsack's policies seemingly inadequate. The CBC requested that $1B be allocated on tier two for Black farmers in the next round of grants and Vilsack responded with justification for only $300M. Secretary Vilsack indicated that if they have further questions, they can call the USDA's Office of Congressional Relations rather than his office, relegating the CBC to lower-level staffers to show his disrespect. It is clear that he's always had his feet on the hose. The Congressional Black Caucus letter is found here. Vilsack's inadequate response is found here.

You signed the Inflation Reduction Act of 2022 (IRA of 2022). We, in good faith, hoped for good things to happen despite the race neutral language of the bill. In the IRA of 2022, $3.1B was allocated to "distressed" farmers and ranchers. How much more distressed does one have to be than Black farmers who are holding on to their land by the skin of their teeth. Only a few Black farmers have received debt cancellation. USDA is "cherry-picking" farmers while Black farmers are losing their land, wealth, and heritage. Secretary Vilsack is in charge of these processes that deny Black farmers their justice.

The IRA of 2022 also allocates for $2.2B for discrimination. Again, Black farmers are languishing on their lands while USDA and Tom Vilsack are pontificating about process.

Ramsess, a Los Angeles artist has captured in political satire the truths of the current situation within USDA as the "last plantation" focusing on Tom Vilsack. Here are some of his more poignant pieces. The symbolism is riveting. Please click on and expand for more detail.

Mr. President, this has created an opportunity for you to work to rectify the misdeeds at USDA. We are relentlessly staying the course as we spelled out our expectations in our previous correspondence.

How could legislation come out of the heart and mind of a candidate for the presidency, Elizabeth Warren, who has few Black farmers in her state? How can she care more about Black farmers while others are benefitting from their pain and suffering? How can so many be feeding from the trough, their bank accounts bulging at the seams like never before? How can those organizations that claim to care about Black farmers continue to say great things about Tom Vilsack while Black farmers continue to suffer as they wait? Banks are profiting and white farmers are benefitting while debt relief remains a painful experience for Black farmers.

The people in Georgia have spoken, and so have the American people during this election cycle. And we know that equity, accountability, transparency, and justice are things that the people demand from you and your White House. Debt cancellation and taxes that are incurred for Black farmers remain a top priority for us. In addition to these, we remain focused on eliminating systemic racism throughout USDA. Resolving cases for both employees and farmers and the county committee system are two examples of systemic discrimination.

Time is short. Black farmers do not have the luxury of time.

We invite you to review our letter to you written September 28, 2022 for a more thorough understanding of what is important to us.

We continue to wait for your decision to meet with Black farmers and their advocates.

Hello!

I'm ecstatic that this task force has been formed, but deeply saddened that I think I may have a claim to file against a major sporting company that has discriminated against me, terminating employment without a single word of explanation, causing me deep anguish and harm to my mental health the past 3 months. Please inform me the steps I need to take should I choose to file a claim against them.

I stumbled on your existence on Spectrum1 so yayyyy on our amazing local news channel in California!

Thank you so much for consideration I might be afforded here.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

November 13, 2022

The Association of Black Psychologists, Inc. (ABPsi) Board endorses the work of the California Task Force to Study and Develop Reparations Proposals for African Americans and its interim report.

FT. WASHINGTON, MD – During its October 2022 meeting, the Board of Directors of the Association of Black Psychologists, Inc. (ABPsi) endorsed the work of the California Task Force to Study and Develop Reparation Proposals for African Americans, and the Task Force's interim report.

On September 30, 2020, California Assembly Bill 3121 established (8031.1a) and charged the Reparations Task Force with "studying the institution of slavery and its lingering negative effects on living African Americans, including descendants of persons enslaved in the United States and on society (8031.1b)." In addition, the Reparations Task Force issued an interim report recommending "remedies of compensation, rehabilitation, and restitution for African Americans, with a special consideration for descendants of persons enslaved in the United States (8031.1c)."

"From a psychological standpoint, we contend with the legacy of the enslavement era every day. There is a throughline from that period to the social determinants of health and social disparities currently. The work of the California task force is important to connecting all the historical and contemporary dots as we move forward." said Donell Barnett, President of the Association of Black Psychologists.

On June 1, 2022, the Reparations Task Force presented their interim report. The nearly 500-page interim report is a general survey of enslavement, continuous racial terror, and its historical and lingering harm on the lives of African-descended people in America. The report also includes a set of preliminary recommendations for policies that the California Legislature could adopt to remedy those harms.

The report affirms that the institution of slavery has had incalculable and continuing adverse effects on African Americans' economic, health, educational, social, physical, and psychological well-being. Those actions have led to an intergenerational legacy of trauma further perpetuated by present-day oppression and institutionalized racism.

The Association of Black Psychologists (ABPsi) was founded in 1968 and is the first national ethnic psychological association in the United States. ABPsi has a legacy of addressing significant social problems affecting the Black community.

"Honoring Henrietta Wood (who won reparations compensation as an African-descended woman from federal court in 1870) and Callie House (famous for her efforts to gain reparations from the US for African-descended people in 1897), ABPsi commends and stands in solidarity with the crucial work of the California Task Force to Study and Develop Reparation Proposals for African Americans," said Sharon Bethea President-elect ABPsi.

RE: Summary of Discussion and Recommendations

Hello,

Please accept this account documenting thoughts and ideas including recommendations and foundational considerations from members of the ABSW-GLA Listening Group and Reparations Committee. Several committee members provided submissions which have been unaltered and includes the name of the committee member. (Five in total) ABSW-GLA held two listening groups on October 13 and November 4, 2022. The Committee met on two occasions December 1 and December 7, 2022. The Listening Group and Committee are Black individuals from a variety of professions with most being social workers. Social workers included students, working professionals and retired individuals. There was dynamic dialogue about how reparations may be distributed and who would be the recipients.

Foundational Considerations

When considering reparations distribution, we recommend:

- Any collection of data be gathered, screened and interpreted by Black people. Evaluative tools created by Black people
- Programs that prove to better the lives of Black people such as the Federal Child Tax Credit are never in jeopardy of being removed.
- In every industry there is an accountability task force that explores and addresses systematic processes that harm Black people, and that Black people staff the task force. Those that have been harmed have timely knowledge of the outcome and without retaliation. The consequence has a bite such as loss of employment, loss of income. In every industry there is a place one can seek support and to report harm.
- Reparations assume all forms, not just monetary.
- Programs are robustly financed to ensure longevity and that all recipients have equitable access.
- All Black persons to be considered for reparations access as all Black persons are subject to bias and racism. (Such as free health care for all) Want to avoid creating an illusion of favoritism that mirrors White dominance such as the Paper Bag test, field slave vs house slave.

Recommendations

- Free education
- HBCU in California
- Black/Cultural Health/Medical Advocates to act as translators during health/medical visits

- Black people guaranteed health care for life
- Real estate appraisals: Black appraisers to report wealth objectively
- Need unreasonable empathy for the group you oppose
- Remove slavery language in the Constitution (slavery in prison-slave labor)
- Do not erase historical documents/monuments of slavery and racism so no one forgets
- Black history taught and integrated throughout all education and industry/profession

Additional thoughts

- Black trauma-discomfort with being who you are
- · Biases against ourselves
- Gov't formed ghettos
- stereotypes, etc.
- Blacks generally don't have wealth or inheritance
- Black people not taught true history
- Racial health gap, education veterans, prisoners,
- Social workers do harm? Need guidelines for social workers/how providers should behave
- Need legislation re: this
- Look at how folks in US look at reparations
- We need to develop national report
- Affirmative Action about justice not just diversity
- Scholarships to Black students
- Develop Black colleges/universities
- DCFS/DMH policies full of racial bias, worker behavior racist
- How should MH services be delivered?
- Bonta- truth and reconciliation re: slavery

Committee Narratives

First Narrative

Descendants of slaves should be able to use calif scholarship money to attend HBCU colleges for tuition. Our ancestors came to calif because of great migration and Jim Crow laws. We had a secondary status to calif now. Very low admission to college. Most state and calif UC campus do not have an office for African American student affairs. There is for immigrants. Consider that we were house keepers in calif, janitors construction workers. Many of our parents went on to become middle class. We should still be eligible to send our children to school for free regardless of our income. African am families can't afford to send our children to college because of our student loan debt. We were forced to overcome barriers and still succeed. Today there is a lawsuit to force UC to sue federal government to allow calif to pay for immigrant to receive federal funding for college. Remember the sacrifice of former slave families. Even when we came to calif there was laws to try to send us back to slave states.

District attorney bias against African American by giving preferential treatment to noncitizens that commit a crime and don't add legal enhancement for non-citizens. Filing of criminal charges should be the same so African Americans are not disadvantaged.

Homeless

We need qualified therapist that are fully trained and supervised by culturally competent staff. This will assist us in overcoming large number of African American that are homeless. Maybe a law to pass so there are mandated levels to supervise clinicians or those working to become a clinician. No lived experience because our families are suffering from severe mental trauma. You would not let a dental assistant pull you tooth or give you a dental implant.

~Deborah Cotton Thomas

REPARATIONS RECOMMENDATIONS

Public School Funding

Currently California Public Schools, like many public schools across the nation, are funded with funds from property taxes. As such, those who live in a high-income area versus those who live in a low income area, have a higher allocation of funds given to public schools. This historically has led to a funding disparity in predominantly Black neighborhoods.

All people, regardless of race, should be entitled to a free QUALITY primary and secondary public-school education. Those attending public schools in Black areas that are deemed to be subpar by parents and educators alike are given the option of developing and attending a charter school in that area. Charter schools are funded in part with public school funds.

The concept of charter schools is misguided. Instead, the public funds used to develop charter schools, should be reallocated to enhance existing public schools, recruit qualified teachers, as well as raise teacher salaries. Funds from reparations awards should also be used for this purpose. Finally, using property taxes as a criterion for determining the funding of public schools, should be abolished. Some states recognize that these inequities exist and have developed alternative solutions to provide equitable funding to all seeking quality primary and secondary education. For example, California can earmark additional state funds to areas with low property taxes or if possible, centralize school funding and equalize funding levels across the state.

Teaching Real/True History

Public primary and secondary schools as well as universities should teach students true, historically accurate history of the Black experience, as should be the case for all ethnic and racial groups. True Black history is not admonishing all white people for oppressing Black people. Many scholars and historians, Black and white, such as Henry Louis Gates, Robin DiAngelo, Tiya Miles, Tim Wise, Eddie Glaude, etc. are able to contribute to the effort of sharing accurate information regarding the Black experience, both past and present.

Third Narrative

AN UNJUST LEGAL SYSTEM/SLAVERY

- In the past, "Black men and boys were frequently arrested on vagrancy charges or minor violations, then fined, and forced to pay their fines in a new system of enslavement called CONVICT LEASING. To date, only four states have eliminated this practice.
 California is not one of them. I am requesting that this be added to the Reparation report as a course of action that California should formally eliminate immediately.
- 2. A Black judicial officer from Boston and her colleagues visited other countries to learn aspects of their legal systems. While meeting with judicial officials in Germany, she recounted asking them at what point are the German prisoners allowed to regain their voting rights. She stated that at first, they could not understand her question. After discussing it among themselves to understand what she meant, she said that they answered by stating that the prisoners never lose their right to vote whether incarcerated or not and stated that 'they are still citizens and they maintain their voting rights'. In the U.S., incarcerated citizens for felonies are denied their voting rights. This is another form of voter suppression. U.S. citizens should have the right to vote while incarcerated.

HEALTH. MENTAL HEALTH AND THE BLACK COMMUNITY

- It has been stated that the law and structural racism has critically impacted the Black community. Not only should health care professional attend mandatory cultural sensitivity training before serving populations of color, but also, they should be made aware of stereotypical thinking within the health care industry such as Blacks can tolerate pain more, therefore should not be administered sufficient & appropriate pain meds.
- 2. Racism- structural and institutional is the foremost reason for the abundant prevalence of mental health symptoms. Therapists, as I, are tasked with diagnosing patients/clients. These diagnoses may label the mental health of patients for the rest of their lives. I contend that the DSM (Diagnostic & Statistical Manual) include racism as possible underlying causes of depression, anxiety, bipolar, and other diagnoses when a person has experienced trauma that can be traced through generations of ancestors' negative racial experiences.

Faye Mandell, LCSW ABSW-GLA

Additionally: Trauma should be considered and documented in every diagnostic formulation as every Black person has ancestral trauma, cultural trauma, intergenerational trauma, Include post traumatic slave syndrome in the DSM.

~Diane R. Griggs, LCSW

Fourth Narrative

RE: Recommendation to Reparations Committee of ABSW-GLA 12/8/2022 Submitted by Jill W. Boyer, MSW

In 1865 the 13th Amendment to the US Constitution set out to abolish the chattel slavery of Black People

This amendment nevertheless retains as legal, the enslavement and involuntary servitude, of persons convicted of a crime.

Last Juneteenth, members of Congress reinstated a resolution to eliminate the loophole in the 13th amendment allowing modern day slavery.

A joint resolution before the Senate Judiciary Committee could close the exemption loophole. However, the bar for passing constitutional amendments is high, requiring at two thirds vote by the House and Senate as well as ratification by three fourth of all state legislatures. Thus, this resolution has not gained much traction.

Because of this federal inertia, some states have been driving efforts to eliminate slavery in their states' prison systems through ballot initiatives by amending their own constitutions. This November, voters in Tennessee, Oregon, Alabama, and Vermont voted to remove the exemption and to abolishing slavery.

Since 1865, there have been established systems in law to arrest, convict and imprison large number of African American men: Black Codes, Convict leasing, vagrancy laws Jim Crow Laws, the War on Drugs and the increase of for-profit prisons have all contributed to the US having the highest incarceration rate and the largest number of incarcerated people in the world. Today the incarceration rate for African Americans is 5X that of whites. Furthermore, African Americans comprise 48% of prisoners with Life Sentences. The racial disparities of arrests convictions and imprisonment are well documented and staggering. Today, there are still incarcerated African Americans picking crops across the country.

For these and other documented injustices in the criminal justice industry, we recommend the following:

The mounting of a California campaign to place the Abolition of Slavery on the ballot. Citizens should be allowed the opportunity to eliminate modern day slavery in the state.

A coalition of community organizations, faith-based groups and law makers are urged to initiate and support all efforts to vote to close the loophole of the 13th amendment.

Respectfully Submitted by Jill W. Boyer, MSW

Fifth Narrative

Among the many key people nationally in the field of Black racial disparities in health today include:

- 1. Camara Jones, MD, PhD, former president of American Public Health Association
- 2. Vijaya K. Hogan, PhD, MPH, works on racial health equity, especially Black maternal and infant health
- 3. Diane Rowley, MD, MPH, works on racial health equity, especially Black maternal and infant health

The following text touches on a few of the many hundreds of studies that cover Black racial disparities in health. It is from a paper that I (Pauline Brooks) drafted 15 years ago but never published or completed. It is entered here for examples only—more as a place holder than anything else.

Health Status Outcomes (up to around 2007)

"At no time since their arrival in the Americas have African Americans shared equal health status or outcome with other Americans. While the sanitation, nutritional, and environmental health conditions African Americans were forced to live under were responsible for much of their health condition, an ever growing responsibility for their unfavorable health picture based on race can be laid squarely at the feet of the health system." (Byrd & Clayton, 2002, p. 79)

"The much bewailed racial health gap is not a gap, but a chasm wider and deeper than a mass grave. This gulf has riven our nation so dramatically that it appears as if we were considering the health profiles of people in two different countries—a medical apartheid." (Washington, 2006, p. 20)

The following barely scratches the surface of the numbers and types of documented racial inequalities/disparities in health in the United States. The reader is referred to the numerous articles in the American Journal of Public Health, the work supported by the Kaiser Family Foundation and the following other sources for further exploration of this most fundamental aspect of life: e.g., Bach (2004); Committee on National Statistics (2004); Ferrer (2004); Gibbs (1988); Intercultural Cancer Council (2001); Smedley et. al, (1999); Ma & Henderson (1999); Braithwaite & Taylor (2001); Washington, 2006.

Racial disparities in health have been documented, statistically estimated and/or extrapolated since the period of the Civil War in the United States and onwards. For example, in the transition from the 1880s to the 1900s, White life span was placed at 49.6 years, and Black life span "...no more than 30 to 32 years." (Byrd & Clayton, 2002, p. 80)

Part of the racialized scientific thinking of social Darwinists and some physicians of the post-Civil War era was that the ending of slavery would mean the elimination of people of African descent:

"From their viewpoint, Black elimination through poor health outcome was evidence that slavery had artificially ensured Black survival and that Blacks were failing in open racial competition with Whites. Excess health-related deaths became a remedy to the American Negro question..." (Byrd & Clayton, 2002, p. 77)

There were even physicians that argued to assist the eventual elimination of Black people in the United States, in that the expected (anticipated/hoped for) natural process would be too slow (Byrd & Clayton, 2002, p. 78).

In 2002, 20% of Blacks and 14% of Whites were without health insuranceⁱ. In 2001, neonatal-, infant- and maternal deaths were each close to three times as likely for Blacks than Whitesⁱⁱ. These types of numbers reflect not just recent happenings, but long-term happenings. Trends of excessive infant and child mortality rates for African Americans were documented a century ago in 1901. Similarly, in the early 1920s, maternal mortality rates were found to be three to four times as high for African American women compared to Whites (Byrd & Clayton, 2002, p. 81) and continue to present day across the United States.

For the 40-year period between 1960 and 2002, both Black males and Black females had the highest rates of death: In 2002, for example, death rates were 1,338 for Black males and 900 for Black females, per 100,000; 995 for White males and 703 for White females. Interestingly, for this same time period, these figures were 796 and 580 for American Indian males and females, respectively; and 576 and 396, respectively, for Asian/Pacific Islander males and females.ⁱⁱⁱ

For the 30-year period 1970 to 2000, at birth, Whites had a life expectancy that was 5 to 8 years longer than Blacks: more specifically, 5-8 years longer for White males and 5-7 years longer for White females. By the year 2010, there is a projected gap of more than 5 years longer life for White males compared to Black males, and more than 3 years longer life for White females compared to Black females.^{iv} In the larger context of other nations, the United States ranks 24th out of 193 countries that track and make public their statistics on life expectancy (Gumbel, 2007).

In the area of infant mortality, even when years of education and household income are statistically controlled for, African Americans still have substantially higher rates of infant mortality compared to Whites: In fact, African Americans with 16+ years of schooling had a higher rate of infant mortality than "White Americans < 9 years of schooling"; infant mortality also remains higher for Blacks compared to Whites when there are controls for smoking and first trimester prenatal care (Ferrer, 2004).

Patterns similar to the foregoing national patterns are also commonly found at local levels. The city of Boston, for example, has collected detailed public health data on local communities by race. The numbers in Table 7 have been extracted from the Boston Public Health Commission's table of data showing selected health status by race for the Boston area (Ferrer, 2004, p. 1).

Note. Table 7 was adapted from Ferrer, B. (2004). Taking action—the Boston Public Health Commission's efforts to undo racism. Paper presented at the 9th Biennial Symposium on Minorities, the Medically Underserved & Cancer, March 24-28, 2004, Washington D.C., Intercultural Cancer Council and Baylor College of Medicine.

Printed with permission by author circa 2004.

Geography and occupation contribute to disproportionate health outcomes by race. People of Color, historically, have been disproportionately relegated to occupations near the lower rungs of the occupational/economic ladder of society. For instance: African Americans, who comprise 12.7% of the U.S. population, account for 20% of non-private household cleaning and building service occupations, 29% of textile pressing machine operators, 20% of laundering and dry-cleaning machine operators, 30% of bus drivers, 30% of barbers, and 20% of mail services. (Workplace & Cancer, 2004, p. 2)

For many, these types of occupations translate into not only lower wages and fewer benefits like health insurance, retirement savings plans, vacations, maternity leave and sick days, but also increased exposures to unhealthy environments. A 1998 study demonstrated that cancer in Hispanic and African American males, the groups traditionally employed as farmworkers in California, correlates strongly with the use of the perticides atrazine and captan....

In a mailing sent to communities in December 2007, the Chairman of the Board for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), Julian Bond described some of the environmental conditions facing African Americans (Bond (undated), mailed from NAACP in December, 2007):

"The sad truth is that we live in a country that routinely dooms its African-American citizens to chronic diseases and early deaths from toxic soil, polluted water, and air that is foul and contaminated. Consider these facts:

-  African Americans and other people of color make up the majority of residents living within two miles of the nation's hazardous waste facilities.
-  African Americans are 79% more likely than whites to live in neighborhoods where industrial pollution is suspected of posing the greatest health danger.
-  African Americans have the highest asthma rates among all racial and ethnic groups in the U.S. and are three times more likely than whites to die from asthma.

And in New Orleans, after two years and about $7 billion in levee repairs, we learn that the water-ravaged, black neighborhoods of the Ninth Ward received little or no improved flood protection, a fact that will seriously jeopardize rebuilding because of insurance concerns." (Bond (undated) mailed from NAACP in December 2007)

Urban low-income groups in the U.S. often have health statistics that look similar to those found in low income groups in Asia, Latin America and Africa. At the end of 2007, the science section of the Los Angeles Times reported:

"Roundworms may infect nearly one-fourth of inner-city black children...."

(Los Angeles Times, Science File, December 29, 2007, A12.)

Healthcare Treatments and Services

In a brief review of the public health literature on the current status of the health of racial/ethnic minorities in the United States, the U. S. Department of Health and Human Services (PA-05-006, 2004) writes that findings from several major studies show the following:

Racial/ethnic minorities also less frequently receive appropriate care which has an adverse impact on their health outcomes including higher recurrence rates, morbidity and mortality. The IOM report [Institute of Medicine, 2002] concluded in part that: "(1) Racial/ethnic disparities in health care occur in the context of broader historic and contemporary social and economic inequality and evidence of persistent racial and ethnic discrimination in many sectors of American life. (2) Health systems, healthcare providers, patients, and utilization managers may contribute to racial and ethnic disparities in health care. (3) Health provider bias, stereotyping, prejudice and clinical uncertainty may contribute to racial and ethnic disparities in health care." A more recent report from a Trans-US Department of Health and Human Services Health Disparities Progress Review Group (Health Progress Review Group, 2004) recognized the need to discuss the impact of racism [emphasis added] as a fundamental cause of health disparities. (U. S. Department of Health and Human Services, PA-05-006, Part II, Section I., 1. Research Objectives, ¶ 1, 2004)

Bach et al. (2004) found that "black patients generally receive lower-quality health care than white patients" (p. 575). As explanation, those researchers hypothesized that "Black patients may receive their care from a subgroup of physicians whose qualifications or resources are inferior to those of the physicians who treat white patients" (Bach et al, 2004, p. 575). Reporting in 2004, a different research study found that over 880,000 Black deaths in the United States during a recent decade could have been averted if the age-specific rates of mortality for Blacks and Whites had been comparable (Woolf et al, 2004). Those researchers explained:

Improvements in the technology of care did save lives during 1991 to 2000, but the deaths averted were considerably fewer that the potential lives saved by reducing the mortality rate of African Americans to the rate of Whites. Five deaths could have been averted for every life saved by medical advances. (Woolf et al., 2004, p. 2079).

Smedley et al. (1999; 2002) provide a comprehensive review of racially unequal health care in the United States. Commonly referred to as the Institute of Medicine (IOM) report, some of the many findings in this comprehensive review of the health care literature were the following:

... blacks, and in some cases Hispanics, have been deprived of medical care that most whites take for granted. Minorities are less likely than whites to receive proper heart-disease medication, bypass surgery, dialysis, kidney transplantation, maternal and child health services, mental health and intensive care....

Racial disparities persist even when researchers take into account variations in health insurance, income, age and medical history. In some cases, minorities are more likely to undergo certain procedures. For instance, a previous study shows that blacks undergo amputations at triple the rate of whites. (Sternberg, 2002, p. 6D)

Blacks are less likely than Whites to receive certain types of specialty procedures in health care, such as angioplasty, coronary artery bypass graft surgery, hip fracture repair and mammography. Blacks are also far more likely than Whites to have amputations of all or parts of limbs and bilateral orchiectomy. (Ferrer, 2004; KPFK news, 2005b)

Concerning the health care treatment that racial minorities receive, there are healthcare systems-level factors—such as how systems are organized, financed, resourced and the services that are made available—that contribute to racial inequalities in health outcomes. (Smedley et al, 2002)

Among the many key people nationally in the field of Black racial disparities in health today include:

- 1. Camara Jones, MD, PhD, former president of American Public Health Association
- 2. Vijaya K. Hogan, PhD, MPH, works on racial health equity, especially Black maternal and infant health
- 3. Diane Rowley, MD, MPH, works on racial health equity, especially Black maternal and infant health

The following text touches on a few of the many hundreds of studies that cover Black racial disparities in health. It is from a paper that I (Pauline Brooks) drafted 15 years ago but never published or completed. It is entered here for examples only—more as a place holder than anything else.

Health Status Outcomes (up to around 2007)

"At no time since their arrival in the Americas have African Americans shared equal health status or outcome with other Americans. While the sanitation, nutritional, and environmental health conditions African Americans were forced to live under were responsible for much of their health condition, an ever growing responsibility for their unfavorable health picture based on race can be laid squarely at the feet of the health system." (Byrd & Clayton, 2002, p. 79)

"The much bewailed racial health gap is not a gap, but a chasm wider and deeper than a mass grave. This gulf has riven our nation so dramatically that it appears as if we were considering the health profiles of people in two different countries—a medical apartheid." (Washington, 2006, p. 20)

The following barely scratches the surface of the numbers and types of documented racial inequalities/disparities in health in the United States. The reader is referred to the numerous articles in the American Journal of Public Health, the work supported by the Kaiser Family Foundation and the following other sources for further exploration of this most fundamental aspect of life: e.g., Bach (2004); Committee on National Statistics (2004); Ferrer (2004); Gibbs (1988); Intercultural Cancer Council (2001); Smedley et. al, (1999); Ma & Henderson (1999); Braithwaite & Taylor (2001); Washington, 2006.

Racial disparities in health have been documented, statistically estimated and/or extrapolated since the period of the Civil War in the United States and onwards. For example, in the transition from the 1880s to the 1900s, White life span was placed at 49.6 years, and Black life span "...no more than 30 to 32 years." (Byrd & Clayton, 2002, p. 80)

Part of the racialized scientific thinking of social Darwinists and some physicians of the post-Civil War era was that the ending of slavery would mean the elimination of people of African descent:

"From their viewpoint, Black elimination through poor health outcome was evidence that slavery had artificially ensured Black survival and that Blacks were failing in open racial competition with Whites. Excess health-related deaths became a remedy to the American Negro question..." (Byrd & Clayton, 2002, p. 77)

There were even physicians that argued to assist the eventual elimination of Black people in the United States, in that the expected (anticipated/hoped for) natural process would be too slow (Byrd & Clayton, 2002, p. 78).

In 2002, 20% of Blacks and 14% of Whites were without health insurance^v. In 2001, neonatal-, infant- and maternal deaths were each close to three times as likely for Blacks than Whites^{vi}. These types of numbers reflect not just recent happenings, but long-term happenings. Trends of excessive infant and child mortality rates for African Americans were documented a century ago in 1901. Similarly, in the early 1920s, maternal mortality rates were found to be three to four times as high for African American women compared to Whites (Byrd & Clayton, 2002, p. 81) and continue to present day across the United States.

For the 40-year period between 1960 and 2002, both Black males and Black females had the highest rates of death: In 2002, for example, death rates were 1,338 for Black males and 900 for Black females, per 100,000; 995 for White males and 703 for White females. Interestingly, for this same time period, these figures were 796 and 580 for American Indian males and females, respectively; and 576 and 396, respectively, for Asian/Pacific Islander males and females.

For the 30-year period 1970 to 2000, at birth, Whites had a life expectancy that was 5 to 8 years longer than Blacks: more specifically, 5-8 years longer for White males and 5-7 years longer for White females. By the year 2010, there is a projected gap of more than 5 years longer life for White males compared to Black males, and more than 3 years longer life for White females compared to Black females. Viii In the larger context of other nations, the United States ranks 24th out of 193 countries that track and make public their statistics on life expectancy (Gumbel, 2007).

In the area of infant mortality, even when years of education and household income are statistically controlled for, African Americans still have substantially higher rates of infant mortality compared to Whites: In fact, African Americans with 16+ years of schooling had a higher rate of infant mortality than "White Americans < 9 years of schooling"; infant mortality also remains higher for Blacks compared to Whites when there are controls for smoking and first trimester prenatal care (Ferrer, 2004).

Patterns similar to the foregoing national patterns are also commonly found at local levels. The city of Boston, for example, has collected detailed public health data on local communities by race. The numbers in Table 7 have been extracted from the Boston Public Health Commission's table of data showing selected health status by race for the Boston area (Ferrer, 2004, p. 1).

Geography and occupation contribute to disproportionate health outcomes by race. People of Color, historically, have been disproportionately relegated to occupations near the lower rungs of the occupational/economic ladder of society. For instance: African Americans, who comprise 12.7% of the U.S. population, account for 20% of non-private household cleaning and building service occupations, 29% of textile pressing machine operators, 20% of laundering and dry-cleaning machine operators, 30% of bus drivers, 30% of barbers, and 20% of mail services. (Workplace & Cancer, 2004, p. 2)

For many, these types of occupations translate into not only lower wages and fewer benefits like health insurance, retirement savings plans, vacations, maternity leave and sick days, but also increased exposures to unhealthy environments. A 1998 study demonstrated that cancer in Hispanic and African American males, the groups traditionally employed as farmworkers in California, correlates strongly with the use of the pesticides atrazine and captan....

In a mailing sent to communities in December 2007, the Chairman of the Board for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), Julian Bond described some of the environmental conditions facing African Americans (Bond (undated), mailed from NAACP in December, 2007):

"The sad truth is that we live in a country that routinely dooms its African-American citizens to chronic diseases and early deaths from toxic soil, polluted water, and air that is foul and contaminated. Consider these facts:

-  African Americans and other people of color make up the majority of residents living within two miles of the nation's hazardous waste facilities.
-  African Americans are 79% more likely than whites to live in neighborhoods where industrial pollution is suspected of posing the greatest health danger.
-  African Americans have the highest asthma rates among all racial and ethnic groups in the U.S. and are three times more likely than whites to die from asthma.

A year after Seale's conviction, Congre enacted the Emmett Till Unsolved Civi Crime Act, which directed the Departn Justice to identify, review, and where prosecute "civil rights cold cases" fron civil rights-era. The law, known as the Till named for Emmett Till, whose racially motiv murder in 1955 highlighted injustice in the le system and was a pivotal part of the burgeon rights movement. The law covers only civil r offenses that occurred before 1980 - typical crimes where the victims were killed becaus race or color, or because they were advocate advance the cause of civil rights. The Depart most recent report to Congress summarizing of cold cases under the Till Act was issued in 2010.

Since the passage of the Till Act in 2008, the Department has opened 132 matters, involv known victims, for review.

Of the 132 matters identified to date, the Department has fully investigated and resolved 116.

Reviewing and Investigating Cold Cases

The Department's Civil Rights Division works closely with the FBI to identify and investigate racially motivated murders committed long ago. The public has an important role to play in the efforts to right the wrongs of the past. Historians, advocacy groups, filmmakers, and victims' family members have referred matters for the Civil Rights Division to review. Anyone with information related to a civil rights-era cold case—even those cases considered closed—should contact the Civil Rights Division (see end of article) and share that information.

Civil Rights Division attorneys with experience in investigating cold cases identify potential suspects and witnesses, obtain records from any previous investigation and prosecution, review news coverage from the time of the incident, and determine whether the Department can bring charges in federal court. Sometimes, FBI agents will interview suspects and witnesses, collect evidence, and conduct forensic or other scientific examinations.

Where possible, the Department will bring a case in federal court or refer the matter to state investigators. If the case cannot be prosecuted under federal or state law, the Civil Rights Division writes a memorandum explaining the facts of the case, the investigative steps taken at the time of the incident and under the Cold Case Initiative and Till Act, and the reasons for closing the investigation. These memoranda are available on the Division's website and, if possible, delivered to the victims' next of kin.

Barriers to Successful Prosecution

Prosecutors cannot use modern-day hate crime laws to prosecute someone for conduct that occurred before those laws were enacted. The absence of federal hate crime laws is often fatal to bringing federal charges.

Unfortunately, the Department has closed almost all of these matters because of legal and evidentiary barriers that are common to most cold cases. In a large number of cases, all identifiable subjects have died. In other cases, the death of key witnesses or the destruction of important evidence prevents prosecutors from proving beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty of a civil rights-era homicide.

Another hurdle is that prosecutors can only bring charges using laws that were in force at the time of a crime. The first hate crimes laws were not passed until 1968. Prosecutors cannot use modern-day laws, like the comprehensive hate.crime.law.enacted.in.2009, to prosecute someone for conduct that occurred before these laws were enacted.

Moreover, the statute of limitations—a legal deadline for the government to charge someone for criminal conduct—has often passed in these cases.

How to Get Involved

Despite these barriers, the Department is committed to devoting its resources to ensure that these terrible crimes are identified and investigated. Our duty is to prosecute any cold case in which living subjects exist and where the law and facts warrant prosecution.

The Department can provide presentations on the Till Act to community groups, universities, local law enforcement agencies, and anyone else interested in learning more about the Department's cold case efforts. Those interested in requesting a presentation can do so here. Due to resource constraints, we are unable to provide presentations for groups with fewer than 20 people.

If you or someone you know has information about a civil rights-era cold case, please contact your local FBI office, or contact the Civil Rights Division at (202) 514-4609, (TTY) (202) 514-0716, or CRT.CRM@usdoj.gov.
