What Happened? We recently discovered that your personal information may have been exposed in July and August 2016 as a result of an incident currently under investigation.

What Information Was Involved? The incident may have exposed your personal information, including payment card information and user names and passwords.

What Are We Doing? We are requiring that all Beyond Yoga customers reset their passwords. Effective immediately, your password is no longer valid and access to your Beyond Yoga account will be disabled until a new password is set.

What Can You Do? We recommend that you review your online accounts for suspicious activity and change passwords for any other accounts that you use the same or similar information as your Beyond Yoga account. We also recommend that you review your payment card accounts for unauthorized transactions.

We thank you for being a loyal Beyond Yoga customer and assure you that customer privacy and security is our main priority.

For any questions or concerns, contact privacy@beyondyoga.com.
