and thereby exposing consumers and the general public to chemicals listed below and designated by the State of California to cause cancer, without first giving clear and reasonable warning of that fact to the exposed persons (Health & Safety Code Section 25249.6). A “consumer product exposure” is an exposure which results from a person’s acquisition, purchase, storage, consumption, or other reasonably foreseeable use of a consumer good, or any exposure that results from receiving a consumer service. Coal Tar is a consumer product which contains chemicals listed below and designated by the State of California to cause cancer. The sale, purchase and the reasonably foreseeable use of Coal Tar result in exposure to chemicals listed below and designated by the State of California to cause cancer through inhalation and dermal contact.

All persons in the course of doing business, who manufacture, produce, assemble, process, handle, distribute, store, sell or otherwise transfer a consumer product must comply with Health & Safety Code Section 25249.6. Specifically, the violator has been manufacturing, producing, handling, distributing, storing, selling or otherwise transferring roofing products including, without limitation, Coal Tar, in violation of Health & Safety Code Section 25249.6. Furthermore, a Proposition 65 notice of violation is not required to contain the specific retail outlet or time or date at which any product allegedly violating the Act was purchased. (California Code of Regulations Section 12903(b)(4)(A).)

This notice alleges the violation of Proposition 65 with respect to occupational exposures governed by the California State Plan for Occupational Safety and Health. The State Plan incorporates the provisions of Proposition 65, as approved by Federal OSHA on June 6, 1997.

This approval specifically placed certain conditions with regard to occupational exposures on Proposition 65, including that it does not apply to (a.) the conduct of manufacturers occurring outside the State of California; and (b.) employers with fewer than 10 employees. The approval also provides that an employer may use any means of compliance in the general hazard communication requirements to comply with Proposition 65. It also requires that supplemental enforcement is subject to the supervision of the California Occupational Safety and Health Administration. Accordingly, any settlement, civil complaint, or substantive court orders in this matter must be submitted to the Attorney General.

The route of exposure for Occupational Exposures and Environmental Exposures to the chemicals listed below has been inhalation and dermal contact. For each such type and means of exposure, the violator has exposed and is exposing the above referenced persons to:

CARCINOGENS

Benz[a]anthracene	Benzo[a]pyrene

Proposition 65 requires that notice and intent to sue be given to the violator(s) 60 days before the suit is filed. With this letter, Consumer Advocacy Group, Inc. gives notice of the alleged violations to the violator(s) and the appropriate governmental authorities.
